Communication From San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

The following was read into record in connection with foregoing:

July 11, 1933.

Honorable James E. Power, Jr., Chairman, Public Welfare Committee, City Hall, San Francisco.

Dear Mr. Power: I have for acknowledgment your letter of July 7, in which you ask the Chamber of Commerce for an expression of its opinion regarding the advisability of holding an exposition in San Francisco upon the completion of our two bridges.

Several months ago the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce instituted a fact-finding survey in order to develop the costs of various types of celebration and the obligations that they would impose upon public and private resources.

We believe, particularly in these times, that any celebration which would call for extraordinary expenditures should be given very serious consideration and that all available facts should be presented to those who in the final analysis would be called upon to foot the bill.

Within the very near future, and I hope before your meeting of July 17, we will present the Board of Supervisors through you a report covering the results of our investigation. Copies of this report also will be sent to the Boards of Supervisors of all the Bay counties, Chambers of Commerce and the Down Town Association of San Francisco which is cooperating with us.

A world's fair, comparable to the exposition of 1915, is a large order; larger than any organization could consistently advocate until all of the facts had been studied and approved by the business leaders of our entire Bay area. Once these facts are known and approved, however, it will be our desire to be as helpful as possible in carrying the project to a successful realization.

Copies of the survey, to which I have referred, will be sent to members of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and the Down Town Association within the next few days outlining the costs of various forms of celebration similar to the exposition of 1915, the Portola of 1909 and the California Diamond Jubilee of 1924. Accompanying this survey will be a questionnaire through which our business leaders will be given an opportunity to say what form of celebration, if any, they desire.

The policy of the Chamber of Commerce will be determined largely by the response to this questionnaire and I will be glad to advise you when the returns are in.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE J. PRESLEY,
Executive Vice-President.

Southern Pacific-Golden Gate Ferries, Ltd., Agreement in Re Ferry Slips.

The following communication was presented by Supervisor Colman, read by the Clerk and accepted by the Board of Supervisors, ordered placed on file and entered at length in the Journal:

July 22, 1933.

Mr. Andrew J. Gallagher, care Board of Supervisors, San Francisco, California.

My dear Supervisor Gallagher: This will confirm my verbal statements to you and the Board of Supervisors on July 17, at the time of adoption of Resolution No. 914, authorizing the revised plan for ferry slips at the foot of Hyde street.

The Ferry Company expressly agrees:

First: That the Ferry Company agrees to maintain the slip and breakwater until such time as the Railroad Commission might determine that the public convenience and necessity no longer require the use of the new ferry slip.

Second: At that time, if the City does not decide to take over the slip and breakwater, the Ferry Company will remove it at its own expense.

Third: If the City should apply to the Legislature for a grant from the State of the property at the southwesterly corner of Hyde and Lewis streets, which was omitted from the previous grant, the Ferry Company will make no objection to such grant by the Legislature.

I believe the foregoing statements cover our verbal understanding of the matters which were not expressed in the resolution itself, and I have no objection to your filing this letter with the Clerk of the Board as a permanent record.

With sincere appreciation of your helpful cooperation in working out this problem, I am

Very truly yours,

E. J. FOULDS.

Whereas, General Italo Balbo, the intrepid leader of this gallant band of flying envoys, has won for himself and his comrades a niche in the hearts of the American public; and Charges Relative to Mal-administration of Relief.

Hearing on Sunset Courier charges relative to alleged mal-administration of Citizens Unemployment Advisory Relief Committee funds; also consideration of complaint of Adolph Uhl, representing Good Government League, relative to alleged increase in salaries to persons on Unemployment Relief.

Statement of J. H. Stephenson.

The following was read by the Clerk:

San Francisco, Calif., July 31, 1933.

Honorable Board of Supervisors, City and County of San Francisco, Calif.

Gentlemen: As a citizen and taxpayer of San Francisco I respectfully present to your Board, with the urgent recommendation that they be fully investigated, what I believe to be deplorable facts in the administration of relief to the unfortunate and needy of San Francisco during the past several months.

Following careful investigation, it is my belief that the relief administration under the supervision of C. M. Wollenberg has been particularly shameful, grossly inefficient, and in some instances, provable by the records and other evidence, worthy of a Grand Jury investigation.

I specifically call to your attention case 49,854.

Although it is a rule supposedly closely followed, where a man and wife without children, seeking relief, shall not be allowed more than $3.50 per week for rent, in this case we have an instance where a relative of C. M. Wollenberg, Director of Relief, who is manager of an apartment house owned by Mr. Wollenberg at 845 Hyde street, in violation of this rule has been receiving from City relief funds not alone groceries, milk, meat and bread checks but $40 additional for payment of rent.

For the information of your Board, this relative of Mr. Wollenberg, who has been receiving free sustenance and $40 additional for rent, with his wife, have been the managers and have lived all during that time in an apartment house at 845 Hyde street.

A relative of Mr. Wollenberg, whom we referred to, has been receiving free sustenance—groceries, milk, meat and bread checks, and $40 per month for rent since September, 1931. Prior to that time the same party was the recipient of favoritism to the exclusion of others in more needy circumstances by being employed with City funds in the distribution of relief employment.

It is my belief that investigation by your Honorable Board of the records in this case will prove more than passably interesting. The form covering the distribution of relief in this case bears the notation, written across the face of it, "This man not to go through Social Service Register. Working at Laguna Honda Home. By order of (signed) C. M. Wollenberg."

Investigation of this case is supposed to have been made by Miss Katherine Felton, a director of the Associated Charities. The record itself bears the notation "Felton" written upon it. Miss Felton has subsequently stated that, while she endorsed this record extending relief in food and for $40 additional per month for rent to a relative of Mr. Wollenberg's family, and the manager of Mr. Wollenberg's apartment house, it was at the request of Mr. C. M. Wollenberg, Director of Relief, that such endorsement was made. Miss Felton also has stated that she did not make any visit or any other investigation of this case.

It might be well for your Honorable Board also to investigate other records of Mr. Wollenberg's office to determine what other relatives of the relief director's family have received preferential relief.

I would also respectfully call to the attention of your Board the purchases of fruits and vegetables for relief distribution from the Elite Produce Co. Frequent charges have been made that such purchases have neither been made impartially nor to the City's best advantage, and it also has been alleged that the Elite Produce Co. has been the recipient of favors to the exclusion of other reputable and deserving business concerns of San Francisco.

Charges have been made that Miss Marion Henderson and Mr. E. J. Berg of the City Purchasing Department secured employment for James Cross, who at the time was getting relief from the City, with the Elite Produce Co., and that subsequently the City Purchasing Department commenced giving to this firm the largest purchase orders for fruit and vegetables of any concern in San Francisco. Records show that from last February—about the time Mr. Cross secured employment with the Elite Produce Co.—the City Purchasing Department's orders jumped from $1,588 in February to $8,091 in March and to $8,563 in April.

Investigation has also shown that, while boxes in which relief supplies furnished the City by other firms were subsequently kept and sold by the City, boxes coming from the Elite Produce Co. were ordered returned to them without charge.

I also recommend to your Honorable Board a thorough investigation of the purchases made from the Pacific Box Co. Certain ugly facts in connection with this matter already have been presented to a sub-committee of the Citizens Advisory Relief Committee. Testimony was given before the sub-committee that a Mr. Kruger of the Pacific Box Co. had been paying money to a Mr. Griffith, a messenger in the employ of the Citizens Agency. Investigation, I believe, will show that the Pacific Box Co. has been and still continues to be the recipient of preferential favors from those directing box purchases for City relief purposes.

I also respectfully call to the attention of your Honorable Board the apparent need for a thorough investigation of the purchases of all canned goods distributed to the poor and needy. Literally thousands of complaints have been made by people receiving such canned food that they were of such grossly inferior standard as to be unfit for human consumption. This matter has already been called to the attention of the sub-committee of the Citizens Advisory Relief Committee and the admission made by the Director of Relief to the sub-committee that such sub-standard canned goods had been purchased and distributed in the past, but promised that more care would be utilized in such purchases in the future.

Recently the Good Government League of San Francisco, through its president, Mr. Adolph Uhl, sent to your Honorable Board a communication calling attention to the steadily mounting cost of relief work to taxpayers of the City, so I am informed, although the peak load of relief distribution was met and handled last March and has steadily declined in volume since that time.

Investigation of relief distribution records will show, among other things, that during last October when 59,807 relief cases were handled that the City paid only $18,934.88 in salaries to so-called "welfare workers," while in June just ended salaries totaling $47,216.70 were paid for the handling of 59,412 cases—or $28,281.72 more for handling 395 less cases than were handled last fall.

Mr. Uhl's letter, as president of the Good Government League, also called attention to the fact that while 74,800 relief cases were handled last March—the peak month—at a cost to the taxpayers of $39,862.38, during the month of June it cost taxpayers $47,216.70 to handle 59,412 relief cases, or $7,354.32 more for the handling of 15,388 less cases.

In connection with this steadily mounting cost of relief work, I would recommend to your Honorable Board an immediate investigation to determine the amount of San Francisco relief funds paid to, and the number of non-residents who are on the salary rolls of the City and County.

In submitting the foregoing recommendations to your Honorable Board, it is with the belief that all the facts set forth are susceptible of the fullest proof. Should your Board see fit to make this investigation, I would be glad to furnish the names of witnesses, and such other information as may be helpful.

Respectfully,

J. H. STEPHENSON.

Privilege of the Floor.

Section 6. Unless otherwise provided by ordinance, no person, firm or corporation, after the date of the passage of this ordinance, shall operate any motor vehicle for hire unless and until such person, firm or corporation shall

(a) File with the Police Commission and thereafter keep in full force and effect a policy of insurance or bond in such form as the Commission may deem proper, and executed by a surety or sureties approved by the said Commission insuring the public against any loss or damage that may result to any person or property from the operation of such vehicle or vehicles; provided, the minimum amount of recovery in such policy of insurance or bond specified shall not be less than the following sums, i. e.:

In the event of the return unsatisfied of any execution issued on any final judgment from which an appeal may be taken without bond, rendered against any such person, firm or corporation in any suit for damages on account of injury to person or property occasioned by the operation of any such motor vehicle, such person, firm or corporation shall, within ten (10) days after the return of such execution unsatisfied (provided said judgment is still unpaid), increase the amount of his bond by the amount of such judgment, and failing to do so shall forthwith cease the operation of motor vehicles in San Francisco until such additional bond is deposited or said judgment is paid.

All policies or bonds shall contain a provision for a continuing liability thereunder up to the full amount of the penalty thereof, notwithstanding any recovery thereon.

Provided, that any association or organization of owners of vehicles for hire, as specified in this ordinance which shows a cash reserve on the 1st day of August, 1933, of $10,000, and thereafter shows a monthly increase of $500 until the sum of $25,000 shall have accrued and at all times thereafter the cash reserves in said organizations is the sum of $25,000, shall be deemed a compliance with the provisions of this ordinance. Said reserve as herein provided for shall be used for the purpose of satisfying and liquidating claims for damages to persons and property arising out of the negligence of the operators of said association, and shall be subject to execution in satisfaction of final judgment rendered against any operator or member of said organization or association after execution has been levied and returned, unsatisfied against a member of said organization on a final judgment arising out of the negligent operation of a member's automobile, and such organization or association shall on the 1st day of each month, after the 1st day of August, 1933, advise the Police Commission the amount of such reserve, and where the same is on deposit.

It shall be unlawful for any owner to operate or cause to be operated any vehicle without having a policy or bond as described in this section in full force and effect at all times during the operation of such vehicle.

Denial of Application for Federal Loan for Food Terminal at Marina.

(Code No. 13.02)

The following was presented by Supervisor Stanton and referred to the Industrial Development Committee:

Resolution No. 942, as follows:

Whereas, it has been the policy of this Board of Supervisors for several years past, as evidenced by Ordinances Nos. 8140 and 8710 (New Series), to prohibit the erection, maintenance or operation of warehouses, food and ferry terminals, airplane and hydroplane landings and certain other types of industrial and heavy commercial projects in the Pacific Heights and Marina districts, or more specifically, upon all that property bounded by Van Ness avenue on the east, Lyon street on the west, Jackson street on the south and San Francisco Bay on the north, and to preserve this district inviolate from this type of activity, and

Whereas, this district, embracing almost exclusively first and second class residential properties, is devoted entirely to home purposes together with those commercial activities which constitute a necessary adjunct thereto, and

Whereas, this district, both from a climatic and aesthetic point of view, is one of the best in the city and is particularly valuable and desirable because of its proximity to the commercial and financial centers, and

Whereas, a large proportion of this district was developed and built up upon the assurance that the residential character of the district would be preserved intact, and

Whereas, the sponsors of this resolution have been reliably informed that an application has been submitted to the administrators of the National Industrial Recovery Act for the purpose of procuring a loan with which to build a wholesale food terminal on the private property known as Gas House Cove, between Marina Park and the United States Docks, and

Whereas, at the time of the last application for a permit to construct a wholesale food terminal upon this property, an ordinance was unanimously passed by this Board of Supervisors expressly prohibiting this type of endeavor in the district, and

Whereas, it is the intention of the Park Commission to acquire this property as soon as possible, consistent with economic conditions, for the extension of or an annex to Yacht Harbor, and

Whereas, there are other sites on the waterfront which can be acquired and devoted to the purposes of a wholesale food terminal, and where the erection of such an institution will in no way jeopardize the residential districts or park system of our city; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors does hereby memorialize

the administrators of the National Industrial Recovery Act and does most emphatically urge that body to deny any application for a loan for the purpose of constructing a wholesale food terminal in the Marina District of the City and County of San Francisco, and be it

Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to President Roosevelt, and to the administrators of the National Recovery Act in Washington, as well as to their local representatives.

Bill No. 369, Ordinance No. 11.01115, as follows:

Amending Subdivision (B) of Section 6 of Ordinance No. 11.0111 entitled "Providing for the issuance of certificate of public convenience and necessity in connection with the issuance of licenses and permits for the operation of motor vehicles engaged in the business of or used for transporting passengers for hire and providing a penalty for any violation thereof, and repealing Ordinance No. 9045 (New Series)," by designating cash reserves for self insurers, and repealing Ordinance No. 11.01113.

Section 6. Unless otherwise provided by ordinance, no person, firm or corporation, after the date of the passage of this ordinance, shall operate any motor vehicle for hire unless and until such person, firm or corporation shall

(a) File with the Police Commission and thereafter keep in full force and effect a policy of insurance or bond in such form as the Commission may deem proper, and executed by a surety or sureties approved by the said Commission insuring the public against any loss or damage that may result to any person or property from the operation of such vehicle or vehicles; provided, the minimum amount of recovery in such policy of insurance or bond specified shall not be less than the following sums, i. e.:

For the injury of any one person or the death of any one person in any one accident, $5,000.

For the injury to two or more persons or the death of two or more persons in any one accident, $10,000.

For the injury or destruction of property in any one accident, $500.

Provided, however, that for vehicles having a seating capacity of more than ten persons the limit of liability for death or injury in any one accident shall be $20,000 instead of $10,000 as hereinabove specified.

Where such person, firm or corporation owns or offers for hire only one such motor vehicle, said bond shall be in the sum of $10,500.

Provided, however, that for vehicles described in Section 1 hereof, having a seating capacity of more than ten persons, said bond shall be in a sum double that prescribed in the above graduated scale.

In the event of the return unsatisfied of any execution issued on any final judgment from which an appeal may be taken without bond, rendered against any such person, firm or corporation in any suit for damages on account of injury to person or property occasioned by the operation of any such motor vehicle, such person, firm or corporation shall, within ten (10) days after the return of such execution unsatisfied (provided said judgment is still unpaid), increase the amount of his bond by the amount of such judgment, and failing to do so shall forthwith cease the operation of motor vehicles in San Francisco until such additional bond is deposited or said judgment is paid.

All policies or bonds shall contain a provision for a continuing liability thereunder up to the full amount of the penalty thereof, notwithstanding any recovery thereon.

Provided, that any association or organization of owners of vehicles for hire, as specified in this ordinance which shows a cash reserve on the 1st day of August, 1933, of $10,000, and thereafter shows a monthly increase of $500 until the sum of $25,000 shall have accrued and at all times thereafter the cash reserves in said organizations is the sum of $25,000, shall be deemed a compliance with the provisions of this ordinance. Said reserve as herein provided for shall be used for the purpose of satisfying and liquidating claims for damages to persons and property arising out of the negligence of the operators of said association, and shall be subject to execution in satisfaction of final judgment rendered against any operator or member of said organization or association after execution has been levied and returned, unsatisfied against a member of said organization on a final judgment arising out of the negligent operation of a member's automobile, and such organization or association shall on the 1st day of each month, after the 1st day of August, 1933, advise the Police Commission the amount of such reserve, and where the same is on deposit.

Provided, however, that any policy of insurance or bond heretofore filed with and approved by the Board of Supervisors pursuant to Ordinance No. 9045 (New Series) shall be deemed a compliance with the provisions hereof, and the Board of Supervisors shall, within five days after the effective date of this ordinance, transmit all such policies of insurance and/or bonds to the Police Commission.

It shall be unlawful for any owner to operate or cause to be operated any vehicle without having a policy or bond as described in this section in full force and effect at all times during the operation of such vehicle.

Section 2. Ordinance No. 11.01113 is hereby repealed.

SPECIAL ORDER—3:30 P. M.

Consideration of report of Citizens' Unemployment Relief Committee (Hon. M. C. Sloss and Chas. Wollenberg, Superintendent of Relief) on charges of "Sunset Courier" on mal-administration of relief funds.

Report of C. M. Wollenberg, Director of Relief, on Complaints of Administration of Unemployment Relief.

The following was presented, read by the Clerk and ordered spread in the Journal:

Laguna Honda Home

San Francisco, Calif., July 14, 1933.

Citizens' Advisory Relief Committee, City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen: I have carefully gone over certain charges appearing in the Sunset Courier of July 13 and have analysed them in connection with transcripts of evidence brought out at two hearings before your sub-committee of June 14 and June 28, and I find that the editor of this paper has ignored the evidence presented at the hearings, publishing as excerpts from the transcript his conclusions, generally false and misleading.

These hearings, as you are aware, were called to investigate charges, or insinuations, first brought by Mr. Leo. P. Lee, secretary of the so-called Good Government League. Although these hearings were called at the request of Mr. Lee, he refused to appear or to send witnesses. In the absence of Mr. Lee, your sub-committee took up the complaints of Mr. George W. Peak and a group of his witnesses.

Let me say at the outset that the hearings have revealed that not one accusation of Mr. Peak is based upon facts; that his suspicions, if any, were totally groundless; that his manner of questioning witnesses, to say the least, was leading and irregular; that he made no effort to get at the facts, and that his main purpose appeared to be to leave questions only partly answered, thus attempting to create an impression of laxity and inefficiency on the part of employees of the Citizens' Agency for Social Welfare, whereas a complete reply would have cleared up fully the matter at issue.

It is interesting to note at this point that many of the witnesses called by Mr. Peak were men discharged by the Agency for cause; that they came to the hearing with personal grievances to air, rather than in a sincere desire to correct any irregularities or to improve the efficiency of the relief service. In brief, they were what are legally known as "willing witnesses," or industrially termed "disgruntled employees."

Mr. Peak and associates attempted to question the quality of foods purchased under the direction of Mr. Edgar J. Berg. Although he failed completely to discredit Mr. Berg or any of his associates or to show any foods not up to standard specifications were being distributed by the Agency, I went further into the question, obtaining a report from Dr. K. F. Meyer, food expert of the University of California.

(I am attaching Dr. Meyer's letter.)

(See Exhibit A.)

Mr. Peak endeavored to show certain canned goods purchased by Mr. Berg had been packed at least twelve years. His judgment of these commodities was based solely on labels of a defunct firm of canners, and not on an examination of contents of can. My investigation showed that the labels of this company had been taken over by reputable California companies and used later on their products; that other labels stressed by Mr. Peak as indicating certain canned goods were not California packed were placed on the can at the plants at which the fruits were packed in this State. In some instances, these fruits are never packed in the states from which the cans were labeled. I have the advice of Federal and City food inspectors, disinterested canning experts, and can manufacturers, that none of the goods of which Mr. Peak complained was more than two years old. In other words, it was the latest pack, that of 1932. All of the goods were standard quality, as called for in specifications of the Agency.

Further, I desire to call your attention to a statement of Mr. Berg appended hereto and marked Exhibit B. Also to a letter of Mr. Joseph Geitner, marked Exhibit C. Mr. Geitner is manager of the canned goods department of Haas Brothers, and is known as an outstanding expert on canned goods.

Testimony on the subject of canned goods is too voluminous to repeat in full, and the intimations of Mr. Peak are almost too ridiculous to justify denial.

The same can be said of his efforts to cast reflections on the integrity and character of virtually every executive in the relief organization. However, his insinuations were so startling, and the hearings failed so utterly to substantiate any of his charges that I deemed it advisable to appoint trained investigators to take up and run down, point by point, every detail of the intimations made by Mr. Peak. The report of these investigators serves only to confirm my impressions gained after an analysis of the testimony—that the charges are without foundation in fact; that the welfare work of the City and County of San Francisco in this period of extreme emergency has been administered honestly, conscientiously and economically; that the work and private lives of those under attack are beyond reproach, and that San Francisco's administration of relief will compare favorably with that of any city in the world. In brief, there is not an iota of truth in the insinuations of Mr. Peak or any other person who would seek to discredit the work of this organization.

In its bitter attack on the organization, the Sunset Courier published thirty-eight questions, all of them calculated, by inference, to cast reflections on the organization as a whole and on certain officials in particular. I am taking up these questions one by one, answering them briefly, and giving my authority, either from testimony at the hearing or from the report of my neutral investigators.

Before going into these questions, I wish to call attention to the case of Mr. Archibald Ferguson. Mr. Ferguson was key witness for Mr. Peak, in fact one of his most ardent supporters at the outset. He went into the inquiry in good faith, believing in the sincerity of Mr. Peak and that there was evidence to substantiate at least part of his accusations. The hearings have convinced Mr. Ferguson, to use his own expression, that "Mr. Peak has not a leg to stand on." Mr.

Ferguson adds: "Furthermore, I am now in doubt of the sincerity even of Mr. Peak's motives."

I now take up and answer the Courier's thirty-eight questions:

Q 1—Are their witnesses intimidated?

A—No. On the contrary, witnesses were assured by me and by Mrs. Ainslie that their testimony would in no way influence their status of employment. They were requested particularly to answer all questions fully and to cooperate to the utmost in an effort to get at the facts. As a refutation of the charge of intimidation of witness: Mr. Ferguson, key witness and at the outset chief aide of Mr. Peak, is still on my payroll and so far as I know will remain there indefinitely.

Q 2—If so, what is being done about it?

A—Covered by answer to Question No. 1.

Q 3—What about the $50,000 thrown away on the trucking contract so forcefully brought to their attention by Mr. Peak and his aides?

A—Trucking contracts are let on competitive bids. The present contract is at 15 cents per stop. Bids have been made at a lower figure, but the bidders were unable to comply with their agreement. I can find no irregularity whatever in the trucking contract, and when a lower bid is obtained from a bidder who can fulfill his promises the job will be let to the best interests of the City.

Q 4—What about the sub-standard canned goods? City bids call for standard goods.

A—All our canned goods are up to specifications. I refer your attention to an appended statement by Mr. Berg (see Exhibit B; also Exhibits A and C).

Q 5—What about people on two payrolls?

A—In one instance, only, has the name of an employee appeared on two payrolls. Due to a bookkeeping error two checks were issued to Mr. E. A. McManus, the total of which amounted to his complete salary. Adjustment was made immediately on discovery of the error.

Q 6—What about personal friends and relatives of higher public officials on the payrolls of the relief organization?

A—Need of relief and fitness to fill the position are requirements that determine the personnel of this organization.

Q 7—Why didn't Wollenberg want his books looked into?

A—My books are open to any properly authorized citizen at any time.

Q 8—What about non-residents on the payrolls?

A—There are no non-residents on the City payrolls. In a very few instances the names of persons residing in the East Bay or Peninsula districts appear on the Community Chest or Associated Charities payrolls. In every instance these persons are holding key positions calling for specialized training.

Q 9—How long has Mr. E. J. Berg, purchaser of relief supplies, lived in San Francisco?

A—He has been a business man in San Francisco for many years, with residence across the bay. He is now and has been for several months a resident of San Francsico. Early in 1931, Mr. Berg, at that time a resident of Berkeley, tendered his services free to the Associated Charities. His previous experience as purchasing agent for a large transportation company made him invaluable in his present position.

Q 10—What is the insurance racket?

A—I quote Dr. Katherine Felton, secretary of the Citizens' Agency for Social Welfare and formerly managing director of the Associated Charities: "Social welfare workers are notoriously lax as chauffeurs because of the nature of their work. In the past, accidents have not been uncommon. Board companies, though not exactly rejecting our business, have certainly not solicited it. To the individual worker rates were high, so I conceived the idea of a fleet rate for our organization. As none of the board companies seemed solicitous of the business, I approached Mr. Fred G. Ainslie, husband of our controller, whom I knew to be the representative of a board company. At that time our organization was in the red. Because of Mr. Ainslie's knowledge of and belief in the necessity and urgency of the service we were rendering during this unemployment crisis, he accepted our business against and over the advice and objections of our controller.

A flexible system of service, impossible were it not for his personal interest, was arranged by Mr. Ainslie. In this connection let me cite an example of what this special service, impossible from a strictly commercial standpoint, meant to our organization. In July, 1932, our purchasing department effected a tremendous economy in apricots by purchase of an 11-acre tract on a "run of orchard" basis. Warned that the cots were fast ripening, it became necessary to dispatch overnight a truck bearing our pickers to the orchard. The truck, drafted on notice of two hours, carried only the usual "ten and twenty" personal and public liability insurance. At 11 o'clock on the night before its scheduled early morning start for the orchard, I aroused Mr. Ainslie from bed by telephone. A brief explanation resulted in full coverage of personal indemnity of the cot picking crew. Service of this kind cannot be commercially interpreted in dollars and cents.

Q 11—What is the carfare racket?

A—Complete investigation of records of the organization failed to disclose any irregularities in the issuance of carfare to employees. The charge of Mr. Hammerstad that his carfare was paid at a time he was not working has no basis in fact.

Q 12—Where do the medicines come from and what price is paid?

A—Medical supplies are purchased from wholesale houses at less than the regular wholesale price. Prescriptions are bought on bids.

Q 13—What is the clothes racket?

A—Thousands of persons, men and women, are afforded almost complete wardrobes as a result of efforts of the clothing bureau staff at the Lilienthal School and other agencies. At these agencies skilled unemployed women rehabilitate clothing donated for the purpose, and this, in turn, is distributed according to needs, which are determined by the social worker.

A large supply of overalls recently obtained from the Federal government was distributed to men working for relief. A careful check of different jobs insured distribution of one pair only to each workman.

Q 14—What is the gas and light racket?

A—Continuance of gas, light and water services to persons served with shutoff notices is obtained through this department. Under the system of bookkeeping it would be impossible for any "racket" to exist. Books of the department, like those of all other departments, are subject to periodical audit by city accountants.

Q 15—What is the rent racket, where some are paid $60 or $70 for rent, others more in need cannot get $15 or $20?

A—Maximum rent allowance is $20 per month. There is no record of any person being allowed in excess of $20 for one month's rental.

Q 16—What is the empty box racket?

A—There is no empty box racket. We purchase hundreds of thousands of boxes essential in the delivery of foods. It is inevitable that some of these are returned to the commissary in bad condition. Some are repaired and some are beyond repair. The organization is purchasing its boxes at the lowest market price. A daily checkup is kept of outgoing and incoming boxes, a nominal allowance being made for return of empties in good condition.

Q 17—What are all the charges of bribery that are flying thick and fast?

A—Two employees of the commissary department accepted liquor from one of the successful bidders on empty box orders. The testimony disclosed this bribe, and the services of the men involved were discontinued. One of these men was a principal witness of Mr. Peak.

Q 18—What became of the Hearst meat donation to the needy of this City?

A—Every pound of the Hearst meat is accounted for. The J. K. Moffat Company slaughtered the steers, after which they were turned over to butchers for conversion into cuts and parcels adequate to family needs. This distribution was by regular grocery box routine so long as the meat supply lasted.

Q 19—What is the visitors' racket?

A—There is no visitors' racket, and nothing was brought out at the hearing to reflect on the integrity and sincerity of any visitor.

Q 20—Are all people treated alike, or is this a political friendship racket?

A—The meaning of that question is obscure to me. I know of no political friendships playing any part in the administration of relief work. In fact, I believe the entire organization is free from any taint of politics or political favoritism.

Q 21—Are people required to take milk from a certain dairy that furnishes inferior milk, and if so, who owns that dairy?

A—An applicant for relief may select the dairy from which milk is to be delivered. In instance of no choice being designated delivery is made from one of several different dairies. An effort is made to pro rate the milk business fairly and impartially among several dairies that have consented to accept our orders at a rate below their usual charge for delivery. All milk must come up to a Department of Health standard.

Q 22—Is milk paid for after delivery is stopped?

A—No. A stop order is delivered by messenger and payment automatically ceases at the date of notice.

Q 23—How do some private projects obtain men to work for them from the relief lists, and what is this racket?

A—No man on relief and working for his food has been employed on a private project. In one instance men were sent to clear a roadway across part of the Crocker Estate at Twenty-seventh avenue and Sloat boulevard. The Recreation Commission was giving a public concert for the benefit of the unemployed in Sigmund Stearn Park Grove, and to provide a roadway giving access and egress to the grounds, I obtained permission from the Crocker Estate to make a roadway on what is an accepted and dedicated street. It was a good job, and one that will be repeated if the interests of the general public will be served.

Q 24—Why do some men have to work for their food while others do not?

A—In some instances men applying for relief are physically unfit for work. In other instances the man of the family has full time employment, but at so small a wage that his family could not exist without outside aid.

Q 25—Is relief given to some who are employed full time in their vocations without working for it?

A—See answer to question No. 24.

Q 26—Is it permissable under our City Charter for people to accept pay from the City and from the Community Chest for the same services?

A—Yes.

Q 27—Is it true that a woman official conducts searches of men employed in the grocery department, without a search warrant or legal authority?

A—No. All employees of the commissary go to work with the understanding they are subject to search at the discretion of officials. This system was inaugurated to stop reports of pilfering.

Q 28—Is she still an official?

A—Yes. The woman who sponsored the search-by-consent plan has been with this organization more than twenty-three years.

Q 29—Is this a crime under our laws?

A—No; in view of employee's consent to search.

Q 30—Is it true that an inexperienced woman buys fruits and vegetables in large quantities, approximately $15,000 per month?

A—No. Mrs. Marion C. Henderson is our fruit and vegetable buyer on the open market. Her ability as a buyer has been questioned only by Mr. Peak. The answer to him is given by commission men with whom Mrs. Henderson trades.

Mr. Julius Zentner: "Mrs. Henderson buys as cheaply as any person could buy. In fact, a large part of her purchases are under the regular market price. She is conscientious and efficient, and one of the best buyers that comes into our establishment."

Mr. Bert Jacobs: "Mrs. Henderson is well qualified. 'Knows her onions.' She never makes the same mistake twice. She knows quality and price. I would feel safe in hiring her to buy for this company."

Mr. Sam Rogers: "You can't beat her. She knows the game from A to Z. Invariably we get more from the trade than we get from Mrs. Henderson. She is a credit to the City and organization."

Peter Carcione: "There is no better buyer in California than Mrs. Henderson."

Al Moreggia: "For the time she has been in the service, Mrs. Henderson has done remarkably well. She has become a very shrewd buyer and a good judge of quality."

Q 31—Does she get a salary; has she any dependents?

A—Yes.

Q 32—Is her husband also on the City payroll?

A—Yes.

Q 33—Is the lady in charge of the inventory office a sister of a Community Chest official?

A—Yes.

Q 34—What is her salary and how long has she lived in San Francisco?

A—Salary nominal; residence twelve years.

Q 35—Did the committee hear a man testify that his three children had been compelled to live on flour and water for the previous month?

A—This witness was John McDonald, 1023 Wisconsin street, who came to San Francisco from Ohio. Mr. McDonald has a wife and three children. We offered him transportation for self and family back to his place of legal residence. This offer was rejected. He received food up to the date he refused to return to his home in Ohio.

Q 36—What has the committee done about it?

A—The offer to Mr. McDonald remains open.

Q 37—Are the citizens of this community interested in starving children or only in the friends and relatives of only a few officials?

A—The work of the organization is my answer to that question.

Q 38—What is the pension racket?

A—Pension funds, so-called, come through an order of the Juvenile Court. They are designed primarily for the benefit of half orphans whose parent is unable through circumstances or health to provide proper food, clothing and shelter. In cases where the pension is inadequate for necessities, supplemental relief is extended. There is no pension "racket."

Yours respectfully,

C. M. WOLLENBERG,
Director of Relief.

Dr. Sol Hyman, care of Associated Charities, San Francisco.

Dear Mr. Hyman: I am in receipt of a report from Mr. M. P.

Duffy, Chief of the Bureau of Food and Drug Inspection, California State Department of Public Health, which reads as follows:

"With reference to your inquiry of a few days ago, I ascertained that the can of peaches labeled 'Diadem Brand, Schrill and Company, Indianapolis,' was packed by a California canner in the Sacramento Valley. The can was manufactured by the American Can Company at its Sacramento plant in 1932.

"With reference to the can of pears, coded M2H32, labeled 'Packed by McCarthy Brothers, San Francisco,' this material was also packed by a Sacramento Valley canner in 1932.

"The reason the can of peaches was vented was, no doubt, due to the fact it was a hydrogen swell and had been vented so as to release the hydrogen."

From this report it is quite obvious that the peaches as well as the pears were packed in California.

Very truly yours,

(EXHIBIT B)

San Francisco, July 3, 1933.

C. M. Wollenberg, Director of Relief, San Francisco, California.

My Dear Mr. Wollenberg: Although the charges brought against me and the department over which I preside are too ridiculous to need reply, I feel in justice to myself and associates that I should explain some things not fully brought out at the Peak hearings.

As far as the purchasing department was concerned, Mr. Ferguson had no authority to pass on the quality of any purchase, nor personally to reject the same without first bringing it to the attention of myself, Mr. Sapp, Mr. Jilge or Mr. Coyle.

When on several occasions Mr. Ferguson took it upon himself to call up the vendors and advise that he was rejecting a delivery, I told him that this could not be continued without following my instructions.

When he did bring to my attention a poor quality in a certain shipment, I returned what I considered was not up to specifications. At no time did Swift & Co., nor any other concern, refuse to take back any articles that I considered not up to requirements.

I am of the opinion that Mr. Ferguson notified the Board of Health that we were not receiving standard bacon, for on several occasions an inspector from the Board of Health called, saying he had been sent for. In questioning me at the hearing Mr. Ferguson stated that the inspector told him that if one package in a case of sixty pounds was bad, it would contaminate the balance of the carton. On the strength of this and against my wishes, he rejected practically a complete delivery of several thousand pounds.

I have since been advised by Mr. G. Hansen, Chief Meat Inspector, Department of Health, that as frequently as he inspected deliveries of bacon at our food depot, he never found any actually bad. Also that a few pieces of bad bacon could not contaminate the whole carton.

It was claimed at the hearing that purchase was made of pears twelve years old. I have in my file an affidavit from the vendor stating that these pears were packed in 1932. The labels of a defunct corporation were used on the cans, and Mr. Peak evidently failed to investigate, then professed to believe the pears were packed by the canners whose name appeared on the label.

Specifications for the purchase of butter, cheese and eggs call for daily inspection by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and every case accepted has to be stamped by the inspector no earlier than twenty-four hours prior to delivery, with the exception of Monday's delivery, which must bear the inspection of the previous Saturday. If any other quality is delivered other than called for in the specifications it is the duty and responsibility of the U. S. Department inspectors to find it.

The men in charge of the dairy products department are advised to put aside for return and credit any article that does not come up to specification. We have on occasion found pullet eggs mixed with the others. These are promptly returned for credit, and at no time has any concern refused to accept them.

On May 15, Swift & Co. was awarded on advertised public bids a contract for twelve tons of Acron shortening to be delivered during the month of June. This purchase was ready in Swift & Co.'s warehouse on June 1, and we took delivery of the lot on June 3. When the weather became warm, part of the shipment was returned to them for refrigeration.

On or about July 1, at the suggestion of the City Chemist, I had Mr. W. C. Owens, laboratory inspector, Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, test the shortening and his report was "No rancidity; perfectly edible and very fair quality."

I have a statement from Mr. Joseph Gaitner, manager of the canned goods department of Haas Bros., considered one of the best informed canned goods men in San Francisco. Mr. Gaitner says, "From 90 to 95 per cent of the canned merchandise you are receiving is the latest pack."

In a pamphlet distributed by the National Canners Association, Washington, D. C., entitled, "Here Are the Facts," the question how long will canned goods keep is answered as follows:

"Properly processed, they will keep indefinitely without spoilage as long as nothing happens to the can to make it leak."

A statement made a few years ago by Mr. Phelps, president of the American Can Company, was, in effect, that he had shared with some friends a can of corn which was 32 years old, and was just as edible as when sealed in the can.

Yours sincerely,
EDGAR J. BERG, Purchasing Department.

Mr. Edgar J. Berg, 901 Potrero avenue, San Francisco.

Dear Mr. Berg: Supplementing conversation of even date, in answer to your question as to the pack of respective canned goods items purchased by the City Department, it is the writer's belief that you are in 90 per cent to 95 per cent of the cases securing merchandise of the latest pack.

The canned goods situation has been particularly strong during the last six months and there has been an absolute clean-up of practically every item of old pack merchandise. This includes nearly every item in the canned goods line.

We might mention at this time for your information and guidance that items of the latest pack are rapidly being cleaned up and we are going into new pack with practically no stocks in the hands of canners.

Very truly yours,

San Francisco, July 21, 1933.

Mr. C. M. Wollenberg, Director of the San Francisco Relief Home, Laguna Honda, Seventh avenue and Dewey boulevard, San Francisco, California.

My Dear Mr. Wollenberg: Dr. Sol Hyman has asked me to give you the views, interpretations and experiences of those connected with the supervision of canned food in its relation to nutrition and food poisoning. In particular, if I understand him correctly, he requests a statement concerning the wholesomeness and safety of canned food which has developed hydrogen gas.

It is a well-known fact that not infrequently acid foods scientifically and properly canned, attack the tin or iron and thus generate hydrogen in the container. This condition in no way impairs the food value, soundness, wholesomeness and safety of the product. According to the best of my knowledge, no cases of food poisoning have ever been traced to such products. I personally have tested and eaten foods from containers which had developed hydrogen gas. No particular effects were noted.

In view of this evidence it is quite customary to reprocess these springy or swollen cans by heating, venting, resealing and again sterilizing. This practice is approved by the Federal Food officials, provided it is proven that the production of gas leading to bulging is not due to bacteriological decomposition of the food. So-called vented cans are regularly found in the trade.

Deterioration of properly processed food in tin or glass containers is invariably the result of improper storage. Cans which have been properly sterilized and have no seam leaks remain wholesome indefinitely. The experts of the National Canners Association report on this question as follows: "Properly processed food will keep indefinitely without spoilage as long as nothing happens to the can to make it leak."

I hope that this is the information which you desire. If I can be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to call on me.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) K. F. MEYER,

Report of Hon. C. M. Sloss, Chairman of Citizens' Committee.

Citizens' Advisory Committee on Unemployment Relief

July 24, 1933.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, City Hall, San Francisco, California.

Gentlemen: I have received a copy of the resolution adopted by your honorable Board on Monday, July 17, 1933, reading as follows:

"That charges made in the Sunset Courier against the administration of unemployment relief be considered by the Citizens' Advisory Committee, and said charges and accusations reported upon to the Board of Supervisors at its meeting on Monday, July 24, 1933."

The communication from your Clerk transmitting the above resolution was accompanied by a copy of the issue of the Sunset Courier of July 13, 1933.

By reason of the want of a quorum, the Citizens' Advisory Committee has not had a meeting since the adoption of your resolution.

The issue of the Sunset Courier to which your resolution refers purports to be based in large part upon the evidence produced at two hearings held by a sub-committee of the Citizens' Committee on June 14th and June 28th. The sub-committee consisted of Mr. Colbert Coldwell, Mr. R. B. Carpenter and the undersigned. The testimony presented at these hearings was reported stenographically, the two transcripts covering almost 100 pages. It is the purpose of the sub-committee to render a full report regarding the hearings. It has, however, not been possible to prepare this report up to the present time. In order that your honorable Board may have the requested answer for consideration at its meeting of today, I give herewith my individual statement as chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Committee and of the sub-committee in answer to the so-called "charges" contained in the July 18th issue of the Sunset Courier.

Most of the matter appearing upon the first page of the paper consists of insinuations so vague and indefinite and so lacking in any evidence to support them that they are not capable of being answered. Under the heading, "Just a Few Questions," appear a number of queries which do not involve any specific charge or statement. Most of them assume or imply that proof has been offered of wrongdoing in the administration of relief, but nothing definite is charged or said, and nearly all of the insinuations are entirely without foundation so far as any evidence presented to the sub-committee goes to show. Such questions as "What is the insurance racket?"; "What is the carfare racket?"; "What are all the charges of bribery that are flying thick and fast?"; "Are all people treated alike, or is this a political friendship racket?" do not deserve serious attention.

The only matters which attempt to be in any way directed to specific accusations of misconduct or irregularity are those appearing on page 4 of the paper, under the heading, "Excerpts from Transcript." The transcript referred to is the transcript of the two hearings before the sub-committee.

Not a single one of the statements termed "Excerpts from Transcript" is or purports to be a quotation of any testimony offered or of anything appearing in the transcript. These statements are merely the conclusions drawn by the individual or individuals who prepared them, and the conclusions are, in most instances, unsupported by anything that appears in the transcript. Seventeen numbered paragraphs appear in this part of the publication. I shall refer to them separately.

1. Whether or not James Coyle was guilty of a violation of the Motor Vehicle Act is a matter which has no bearing whatever upon the administration of food relief, which was the subject involved in the inquiry regarding Coyle.

2. It is not true that Edgar Berg, purchasing agent, admitted the receipt of canned goods below standard quality or the distribution of the same to unemployed families. The evidence on this subject is too long to be quoted in this answer. It will be fully discussed in the report of the sub-committee. At this time it may be said that in spite of persistent and not entirely candid efforts on the part of Mr. Peak to show the purchase and distribution of inferior canned goods, the evidence demonstrated that the goods were purchased by the City Purchasing Department on public invitation for bids, according to specifications, that the bids were accompanied by samples and that each delivery was inspected to determine whether it came up to sample. Generally speaking, the food supplies purchased were of good quality. There were a very few instances of purchases of canned goods not coming up to the definition of "standard pack." Even in these instances the goods delivered were equal to the sample which had passed the scrutiny of the Purchasing Department, and in these few instances the contents of the cans were edible and fit for human consumption. In this connection attention may be called to the insistence of Mr. Peak that certain canned pears were twelve or fourteen years old, although the evidence demonstrated to the satisfaction of the sub-committee that this charge was absolutely unfounded.

3. It is here stated that Edgar Berg denied that he had ever received any pay from the City and County of San Francisco. The evidence was that Mr. Berg is not and has not been on the payroll of the City and County, but has been paid by the Citizens' Agency, a private organization.

4. Butter and eggs are sometimes found to be below standard, although a rigid inspection is made of all deliveries. The writer of the charges omits to state the important fact that when articles are found to be below the standard called for by specifications, they are returned to the contractor and replacements required.

The same statements apply to deliveries of poor bacon.

5. There was no admission by Berg, as stated in this paragraph, with regard to one Green. There was no evidence of any charges against Green.

6. The shortening in question was purchased by the City Purchasing Agent at low prices then available. The delivery was of shortening already purchased, and held by the seller to be delivered as called for. If any favor was shown to the salesman for the vendors, it was merely in taking delivery in larger quantities than immediately required. The course pursued is probably open to criticism and steps have been taken to correct the irregularity.

7 and 8. These specifications are essentially untrue, in that they mislead by suppressing or omitting an essential part of the story. A symphony concert was to be given for the public, without charge, in the Sigmund Stern Grove, off Nineteenth avenue. On a former occasion it had been found that great congestion occurred by the fact that there was only one driveway for automobiles entering and leaving the grove. In order to relieve this situation unemployed men were put to work grading a driveway to the west through the Parkside Tract. The work was done on land dedicated as a public street. The grading was for the convenience of the public and not to benefit the owners of the adjacent property, who included others as well as Crocker Estate Company.

9. Through some error the name of McManus appeared on two payrolls. The fact was discovered by the secretary of the Director of Relief and when discovered was immediately corrected.

10. Larsen himself testified that he had solicited gifts of liquor from each of seven or eight concerns doing business with his department, and that each of these concerns delivered liquor to his home periodically, without charge. He was discharged for this reason and, in the opinion of the sub-committee, was properly discharged.

11. The alleged "admission" is grossly overstated. The transcript shows that the insurance placed through F. G. Ainslie was not "all insurance," but only insurance on automobiles, and not all of that. However, the Director and the members of the sub-committee felt that this insurance should not be placed through relatives or connections of persons employed in the relief program. Arrangements are therefore being made to place this insurance through the purchaser of supplies of the City and County in the future.

12. Seventy-five dollars of Mrs. Ainslie's salary is carried by the City and County. The Community Chest meets the balance of her salary. There was no question about the facts, and the use of the word "admission" is unfair and misleading in this instance, as in others where it appears.

13. A few checks were stolen. The City and County was reimbursed for the loss.

14. The evidence was that no man was searched without his consent. A search was thought necessary to check pilfering by men working in the grocery department. Men who did not consent were not searched. Relief was not denied to men who refused to permit a search. They were merely transferred to other work. So far as the committee is advised, there was no violation of law in this procedure.

15. There was nothing to show that Mrs. Henderson did not perform her duties in the purchasing of produce honestly and efficiently. On the contrary, all the evidence before the sub-committee indicated that she was both capable and conscientious. Her increased purchases from the Elite Produce Company were made for reasons which the members of the sub-committee deemed sufficient and satisfactory and which are fully set forth in the transcript.

16. The trucking has been in the hands of the Purchasing Agent of the City and County since the beginning of the year. In January the Purchasing Agent made a contract with one Cole at 15 cents a delivery. In April new specifications were prepared and bids were called for to be submitted on June 15th. Various bids have been put in and are now under consideration. The low bid was 9 cents, but the bidder withdrew his deposit and refused to go on. The remaining bids were for 12¼ cents and 12½ cents, respectively. The award has not yet been made, as the Purchaser of Supplies is investigating the ability of the low bidder to carry out the contract.

It may be pointed out here that the advertising for bids and the consequent lower price offered were not the result of the activities of Mr. Peak or of anyone connected with him. The advertisement for bids was put out before any suggestions or criticisms from Mr. Peak were presented to the committee.

17. This heading relates to the allowance of "extra bags." It has to do with an adjustment of food allowances to properly supply families consisting of a larger number of adults than other families. It is based on the Jaffa Budget. Possibly there are some inaccuracies or inequalities in the method of allowance and the matter is now being studied with a view to perfecting the adjustment. The estimate of a possible saving of $75,000 a year on this item is a wild conjecture, without any substantial or reliable basis.

In conclusion, I wish, on behalf of the Citizens' Committee, and of those in direct charge of the administration of relief, to enter an emphatic protest against publications like the one in question, and against the actions of those who inspired it.

The Sunset Courier purports to base its "disclosures" and "charges" upon evidence produced at a hearing before a sub-committee. The evidence so produced is not set forth. Instead, the paper is filled with insinuations and misrepresentations, with half-truths and unfounded inferences. No one will contend that in a work of this magnitude, carried on under emergency conditions, mistakes have not occurred. Indeed, some mistakes are unavoidable in any organization of any size. But the claim of those who undertook to present charges to the sub-committee was that they could show serious and extensive dishonesty and inefficiency in the administration of food relief. In this they totally failed. The evidence established, to my mind, that, with very few and minor exceptions, the food purchased and distributed is of good quality and sufficient in quantity; that it is bought at reasonable prices; that, except for perishable fruits and vegetables, it is bought on competitive bids; that deliveries are carefully inspected, and, when found to be defective, are returned and replaced by proper goods.

The Sunset Courier claims (p. 1) to be "backed by affidavits and sworn statements containing the facts . . . ." No affidavit or other sworn statement was presented to the sub-committee, or has come to my knowledge. None is quoted or set forth in the issue of the paper.

In justice to the Relief Administration, and to the Citizens' Committee, one thing more should be said. The Sunset Courier makes repeated references to Mr. George Peak. It says, among other things, that "Mr. Peak has forced the committee to hold a public hearing," and that he and his associates, "with the perseverance and courage of the early vigilantes, persuaded the—committee—to listen." The statement that a hearing of charges or complaints was forced upon an unwilling committee is absolutely without truth or justification. At its weekly meetings for months past the Citizens' Committee has heard anyone who had any complaint to make. With reference to the hearings of June 14 and June 28, the attitude of the sub-committee is clearly shown by the statement made by the writer at the opening of the first hearing. I quote from the transcript:

JUDGE SLOSS: "This is a meeting of a Sub-Committee of the Citizens' Advisory Relief Committee, called to hear any testimony that might be produced bearing upon suggested irregularities and improprieties in the administration of relief, particularly with respect to the distribution of food. The meeting was first requested by Mr. J. P. Lee, secretary of the Good Government League, who informed one of the members of the Committee that he had charges that he wished to bring before the Committee, and wanted to know whether he could have a hearing. The Committee appointed this Sub-Committee, which fixed last Wednesday, June 7, as the time for hearing Mr. Lee and any witnesses that he might bring. Mr. Lee was informed of the appointment of the Sub-Committee and of the time and place of meeting several days in advance. He did not appear, nor did any witnesses appear, on the 7th. A letter was subsequently sent to him informing him that the Committee desired a hearing, and insisted that he present any evidence he had, and informed him, also, that the Sub-Committee would meet again tonight for that purpose. He informed the Committee today, in writing, that he would not appear, giving as his reason that the hearing was not to be public. His first request of the member to whom he spoke was that the meeting should be private.

"In the meantime others have stated that they had matters to present, and the Committee is meeting now to hear any evidence that may be produced. I need hardly say that it is the desire of every member of the Committee to be informed of any facts bearing upon the administration of relief and, if there are any improprieties or if there is any wrongdoing, we want to know it, so that we may be in a position to correct it. We want everyone who has anything to present to speak fully, frankly and fairly, and we will give fair consideration to whatever is brought out.

"The two gentlemen in the room, Mr. Peak and Mr. Ferguson, have informed us that they have evidence to produce bearing on these matters, and we would like you, Mr. Peak and Mr. Ferguson, to now tell us what the matters are that you wish to bring out and the general nature of the evidence."

I also attach, for the information of your Honorable Board, a copy of a letter from Mr. Peak to me, dated June 14. This letter, when read in connection with the newspaper publication, may throw some light on the methods and purposes of the Sunset Courier and of those in whose name it claims to speak.

Respectfully submitted,

M. C. SLOSS,
Chairman, Citizens' Committee.

San Francisco, Cal., June 14, 1933.

Hon. M. C. Sloss, Chairman, Citizens' Advisory Committee, 85 Post St., City.

Thanking you for courtesies extended to us, I am,

Very truly yours,

Final Passage.

The following matters, heretofore passed for second reading, were taken up and finally passed by the following vote:

Beverage Ordinance.
(Code No. 3.041.)

On recommendation of Committee on Fire, Safety and Police.

Bill No. 374, Ordinance No. 3.04127.

Creating the Board of Beverage Commissioners; regulating the retail sale, service and dispensing of beverages in excess of half of one per cent of alcohol by volume and not in excess of three and two-tenths per cent of alcohol by weight; providing for licenses to dealers; providing for the granting, denying and revoking of permits; and prescribing penalties for a violation of this ordinance.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco as follows:

Section 1. The Board of Beverage Commissioners of the City and County of San Francisco is hereby created, which said Board shall consist of three members, one of whom shall be a member of the Health Advisory Board of the City and County of San Francisco, one of whom shall be a member of the Police Commission of said City and County, and one of whom shall be a member of the City Planning Commission of said City and County. The Mayor shall select and appoint the member of the Health Advisory Board, the member of the Police Commission and the member of the City Planning Commission, who shall serve on said Board of Beverage Commissioners, and said persons so appointed shall serve thereon at the pleasure of the Mayor. When any member of said Board of Beverage Commissioners shall cease to hold office which made him or her eligible to membership on said Board his or her membership on said Board shall automatically cease. When any vacancy shall occur on said Board of Beverage Commissioners the Mayor shall fill said vacancy by appointing thereto some person possessing the qualifications herein provided for the original appointees. The members of said Board shall serve without compensation as such.

Section 2. The Mayor and Chief Administrative Officer shall have full power and authority to transfer or assign to said Board of Beverage Commissioners such employees of the City and County of San Francisco as they may deem necessary for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this ordinance and performing the duties incident thereto.

Section 3. The said Board of Beverage Commissioners shall regulate the retail sale, dispensing and serving of beverages in excess of half of one per cent of alcohol by volume and not in excess of three and two-tenths per cent of alcohol by weight, and this ordinance shall govern and control only the retail handling of such beverages.

Section 4. Application for a permit to engage in business as a beverage dealer under the terms of this ordinance must be made by filing a written application therefor, together with a filing fee of five ($5) dollars, with the Board of Beverage Commissioners, on a form provided therefor, designating the location of the place where the business is to be carried on and the full name and address of the applicant and the nature of the business to be conducted. Section 10. Licenses granted under Section 7 shall be due and payable quarterly in advance, and fall due on the first day of January, the first day of April, the first day of July and the first day of October in each calendar year, depending upon the particular quarter in which the licensee begins business. Section 16. The occupying, setting up, conducting or maintaining of any such premises or fixed place of business with the intent to sell, serve or dispense any such beverages in violation of the terms of this ordinance is hereby declared to be a public nuisance. This ordinance is passed under the permit, license and police power as they exist independently of each other Allocating $1,700,000 to Complete Yacht Harbor and Aquatic Park Projects.

(Code No. 23.03)

Resolution No. 850, as follows:

Whereas, Aquatic Park and Yacht Harbor constitute two of the most important recreational developments in the City and County of San Francisco; and

Whereas, these two projects, when completed, will afford pleasure to a multitude of sports lovers, including fishermen, yachtsmen, oarsmen and swimmers; and

Whereas, the maintenance of an adequate yacht harbor will be an inducement to outside yachtsmen to visit and remain for a time in San Francisco and will, in some measure, aid our merchants; and

Whereas, the estimated cost to complete these two projects is set at $1,700,000; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors does hereby pledge itself to allocate the sum of $1,700,000 from the sum to be received as a loan from the Federal government for the construction of public projects, for the purpose of completing the Yacht Harbor and Aquatic Park projects.

Board of Supervisors Memorializes Administrators of National Industrial Recovery Act to Deny Application for Loan to Construct Wholesale Food Terminal in Marina District.

(Code No. 13.02)

On recommendation of Commercial Development Committee.

Resolution No. 942, as follows:

Whereas, it has been the policy of this Board of Supervisors for several years past, as evidenced by Ordinances Nos. 8140 and 8710 (New Series), to prohibit the erection, maintenance or operation of warehouses, food and ferry terminals, airplane and hydroplane landings and certain other types of industrial and heavy commercial projects in the Pacific Heights and Marina Districts, or more specifically, upon all that property bounded by Van Ness avenue on the east, Lyon street on the west, Jackson street on the south and San Francisco Bay on the north, and to preserve this district inviolate from this type of activity; and

Whereas, this district, embracing almost exclusively first and second residential properties, is devoted entirely to home purposes together with those commercial activities which constitute a necessary adjunct thereto; and

Whereas, this district, both from a climatic and aesthetic point of view, is one of the best in the city and is particularly valuable and desirable because of its proximity to the commercial and financial centers; and

Whereas, a large proportion of this district was developed and built up upon the assurance that the residential character of the district would be preserved intact; and

Whereas, the sponsors of this resolution have been reliably informed that an application has been submitted to the Administrators of the National Industrial Recovery Act for the purpose of procuring a loan with which to build a wholesale food terminal on the private property known as Gas House Cove between Marina Park and the United States docks; and

Whereas, at the time of the last application for a permit to construct a wholesale food terminal upon this property, an ordinance was unanimously passed by this Board of Supervisors expressly prohibiting this type of endeavor in the district; and

Whereas, it is the intention of the Park Commission to acquire this property as soon as possible, consistent with economic conditions for the extension of or an annex to Yacht Harbor; and

Whereas, there are other sites on the waterfront which can be acquired and devoted to the purposes of a wholesale food terminal, and where the erection of such an institution will in no way jeopardize the residential districts or Park system of our City; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors does hereby memorialize the Administrators of the National Industrial Recovery Act and does most emphatically urge that body to deny any application for a loan for the purpose of constructing a wholesale food terminal in the Marina District of the City and County of San Francisco; and be it

Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to President Roosevelt and to the Administrators of the National Recovery Act in Washington, as well as to their local representatives.

JOURNAL OF PROCEEDINGS BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

TUESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1933, 2 P. M.

In Board of Supervisors, Tuesday, August 8, 1933, 2 p. m.

The Board of Supervisors met pursuant to recess for the purpose of continuing hearing of charges of mal-administration of unemployment relief.

CALLING THE ROLL.

The roll was called and the following Supervisors were noted present:

Livestock Show.

Before proceeding to hearing of testimony on charges of mal-administration relief, Supervisor Shannon called attention to an editorial in the Call-Bulletin, stating that although the Mayor's Committee on public works has recommended $27,585,000 worth of projects to which the government will make 70 per cent loans and 30 per cent gifts under N. I. R. A. (public works), that the Mayor's Committee did not include the livestock exposition in its recommendations, but did recommend favorable consideration provided that the cost of the project did not exceed $1,500,000.

He asked Supervisor Gallagher if he had seen the editorial, and if so, what is the status of the matter and is there any opportunity for us to have the livestock exposition included in the recommendations.

Supervisor Gallagher: Yes, I am not quite sure that the statement is correct. The Mayor's Committee has endorsed the project unanimously and recommended it provided it does not exceed $1,250,000. The Mayor has the recommendation in his possession and I understand he is taking it up with Mr. Justus Wardell preparatory to recommending it to the Board. The Citizens' Committee is on record as in favor. This Board will have a final decision and the Mayor, I anticipate, will bring us his recommendation within the next week.

On motion of Supervisor Canepa, the following editorial, from the San Francisco Call-Bulletin of August 8, 1933, was made part of the record:

"Shall We Be Livestock Exposition Center of the West?
"Or Shall We Throw Away Our Golden Opportunity?

"Once more we have the opportunity of acquiring for San Francisco a livestock exposition and center that will be of enormous advantage to our city.

"And once more we have the chance to throw that precious opportunity away in apathy and shortsightedness.

"The mayor's citizen committee on public works has recommended $27,585,000 worth of projects toward which the federal government will make 70 per cent loans and 30 per cent gifts under the authority of the Roosevelt public works act.

"That committee did not include the livestock exposition in its recommendations, but it did recommend favorable consideration provided that the cost of the project does not exceed $1,500,000—and the fate of the exposition is now in the hands of Mayor Rossi and the Board of Supervisors.

"The mayor will recommend the projects he considers valuable to the supervisors and they will vote on them.

"Will they include this prize or will they toss it aside, to be picked up by some other section of the state that is keenly aware of the advantage of making itself the livestock center of the West?

"San Francisco is the natural center of the livestock industry. The creation of a livestock exposition here means from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000 added to the annual business of San Francisco in beef, sheep and hogs, and at least $11,000,000 in the trading value of horses. We receive much of this business now; we would receive much more if we would reach out for it through such developments as the San Francisco livestock exposition.

"Two years ago the Legislature voted an appropriation of $250,000, contingent upon an equal appropriation from the city of San Francisco, but San Franicsco did nothing. Some of our supervisors felt that we could not AFFORD this well thought-out and excellently-planned development. So the city's $250,000 was never included in the budget and during the recent session of the Legislature legislators from other sections made a determined effort to withdraw the state's appropriation. Sacramento feared that a livestock exposition in San Francisco would hurt the State Fair; Los Angeles leaders were jealous of any northern growth that might affect their livestock interests. But after a fierce fight the appropriation was saved for San Francisco and it will remain to our credit through the rest of 1933 and 1934.

"What do we do now?

"Do Mayor Rossi and the supervisors act in behalf of San Francisco's interest and prosperity or do they reject our interest and our welfare in behalf of Sacramento and Los Angeles?

"Do we work FOR San Francisco or AGAINST her? Do we abandon the fight at the instant of impending victory? Do we add this livestock exposition to our wealth, or do we surrender our chance for leadership in a great industry?

"Do we give up or do we go ahead?

"It's up to the mayor and our supervisors."

Unemployment Relief Hearing.

Supervisor Canepa suggested that all witnesses to be heard be sworn, that the City Attorney be our legal advisor and rule on questions of evidence and that each witness called shall answer to a specific charge and testify as to charges which are . . .

President Hayden: The President of the Board has requested a representative of the City Attorney's office, Mr. Henry Heidleberg, who is here, to act as our advisor.

Motion.

Supervisor Peyser moved, as a matter of orderly procedure and considering the serious nature of the charges being made, that all of the witnesses be sworn, that the Assistant City Attorney make objections or rulings in view of the fact that the members of the Board are not in a position so to do and if additional counsel is needed that it be obtained.

Amendment.

Supervisor Gallagher moved as an amendment that the witnesses be sworn and subpoenas be issued if needed or asked for in the discretion of the Board and that the chair be authorized to proceed along those lines.

Amendment carried.

Mr. Geo. Peak requested that the complainants be represented by attorney and asked that Jas. Hanley, Sr., be phoned to, which being done, Mr. Hanley sent message that he was not interested.

Witnesses.

Thereupon, the following witnesses were duly sworn and testified, to-wit:

Geo. W. Peak, alleged intimidation of relief work employees by Director Wollenberg.

Archibald Ferguson, watchman, 33 Caselli avenue, with I. Magnin & Co., was ordered subpoenaed.

P. J. Garrison, 282 Guerrero street, charity relief worker.

Mr. Fred Schueszler, 823 Dolores street, charity worker (Case No. 35402), income $45 a month, family of eight children. Exhibited green corn, navy beans, lima beans, canned beans, canned corn, three heads of cabbage. Complained of favoritism, some of the food unfit practically all the time.

Paul Kamengieser, 2777 Bryant street (Case No. 59442), four children, gas off for three weeks, electric lights off, given eviction notice. Wife works two days per month and gets $5 per month.

Phillip W. Thatcher, food inspector under Mr. Berg, 400 Duboce avenue (Case No. 51955), with experience as a grocer, opened canned exhibits submitted and declared that the goods were below standard and unsatisfactory. Filed certificate from Annie McCrea, M. D., of Board of Health, that sample of canned peas were unfit for food. He admitted later that these canned goods were put in the boxes of V. Hammerstad and Mr. Larsen, men on relief, for use at this hearing and that they knew the goods had been rejected and had been set aside to be returned. He also presented as an exhibit a bottle of salad oil containing a spider which he said had been handed out by the relief station.

Supervisor Havenner moved that it be stipulated that nothing said here by employees be made the basis for penalizing them.

So ordered.

Fred E. Homel (Case No. 69703), 128 Caine avenue, assigned to clerical reserve, being duly sworn, testified that Case No. 66692 was getting six checks and six boxes of groceries in one month although others only got one box a week or four a month.

Case No. 66627, people in the Presidio who are getting relief.

Some people are getting $35 and $40 per month for rent.

One card found an error of $23 carried over into grand total (Case No. 20443).

Case No. 67213, $40 rent. I asked for $20 per month and was told they were not paying any rent.

I gave Mr. Wollenberg a copy of these figures on adding machine paper and he promised to look into it right away.

In renting department we had 2981 applications in the month of February. Sixty-nine per cent were paid and 31 per cent were turned down.

Mr. Peter Garrison, 282 Guerrero street, representing Charity Workers' Protective Union, was sworn and testified making charges of inefficiency against foreman of Camp No. 1, on Twin Peaks, when the unemployed were at work cutting down trees.

Mike Dubetz, charity worker, 619 Francisco street, being duly sworn, testified and referred to case of a worker alleged to have been needlessly killed by a falling tree in Camp No. 1, Forest Hill. Moreover, he declared campers and workers are being denied food.

Mr. Dubetz declared that he has been a resident of San Francisco since 1917, has worked in Hetch Hetchy tunnels, at the Western Pipe & Steel Company at South San Francisco for two years, at the Union Iron Works for three years. Has four in family, wife and two children. He complained that a man working on relief in Forest Hill Camp No. 1 was needlessly killed by a falling tree, he urged that the matter be investigated.

He charged that a Mrs. Debose, who has been on relief for eight months and whose husband died last year, was kidnapped by Mrs. Conley, one of the relief visitors, and put in a public institution. He asked that Mrs. Debose, Mrs. Conley and Mrs. Kelly, relief visitor, be sent for.

Supervisor Peyser moved that the persons mentioned be subpoenaed to appear.

So ordered.

John P. Moyle (Case No. 70366), 46 Idora street, was duly sworn and testified. He offered as an exhibit of alleged bad quality of food, a jar of syrup which, he said, was mis-labelled "Best Goods Brand" and asked that it be analyzed.

Jas. Coyle, superintendent of commissary at Sixteenth and Shotwell street and residing at 317 Jackson street, was duly sworn and testified that he had a wife and three dependent children, that he was paid $60 a month and groceries for his work. He declared that the bottle of salad oil with the spider was never on the shelves, that it was found before it was put in stock and that it was placed in a desk drawer to be returned and that it had been stolen from the drawer to make a case against the Relief Administration at this hearing.

The canned goods opened today by Mr. Thatcher had been rejected also by the Relief Administration but put in the boxes delivered to Hammerstad and Larsen by Thatcher himself for the very purpose of discrediting the Relief Administration as demonstrated today.

Gilbert S. Hoover, 1621 Golden Gate avenue, relief worker in the groceteria, was duly sworn and testified that he had passed salad oil like the exhibit presented. He presented a can of "Scotch Thistle Brand" of corn which, he said, was a cheap grade and below standard.

Enoch Bryant, 909 McAllister street, testified that he was on relief. He presented three cans of peas that he had received which, Mr. Thatcher said, were rebuffed cans and below standard grade. Canned spinach was also opened and declared to be unfit for human consumption.

Edgar J. Berg, 3020 Clay street, was duly sworn and testified that he had been employed by the Associated Charities, but had been taken over by the Relief Administration as Purchaser of Relief Supplies, assisting Thos. Brooks, Purchaser of Supplies for San Francisco. He declared that last November a number of cases of spinach were on inspection, found bad and returned to the contractor; that the same thing happened from time to time with canned goods and bacon, but such rejected goods were never put on the shelves for distribution, but set aside for return to contractor for credit.

Adolph Uhl was duly sworn and testified as to the connection between the complainants in this hearing and the "Good Government League," housed in his building at 717 Market street. Moreover, he demanded that Mr. Berg, Purchaser of Relief Supplies, be removed from his position on the ground that he has not been a resident of the city for one year.

Thos. A. Brooks, Purchaser of Supplies, was duly sworn and testified in the pending matters. He explained his relations with the Relief Administration and the means employed to see that the city got standard food for the relief at proper prices.

RECESS.

Whereupon, the Board took a recess until Thursday, August 10, 1933, at 1 p. m.

Supervisor Shannon: I have been informed that some of the men from the commission district have been subpoenaed here today. As they have to attend a meeting at 3 o'clock, I move that they be given the privilege of the floor for the purpose for which they were called at this time.

Edward D. Jacobson, of Jacobson & Seely Co., wholesale grocers, 124 Spear street, was duly sworn and testified as to pears submitted for evidence, that pears were packed in September and October, 1932. Mr. Berg was furnished with signed, certified statement of packer who packed pears. Packed at Mountain View by Parrott Co. That it was practice to put on labels other than their own. Pack identified by star on top of can. Label stated that pears were Washington pears, but witness stated they were California pears.

Mr. Thatcher questioned witness. He stated that pears were in warehouse during latter part of June or July. Witness said pears were delivered to city in the spring of 1933 and were packed in 1932. Mr. Thatcher showed pears to Board and asked if same were standard pack pears. Witness called it standard; Mr. Thatcher denied it was standard pack. Witness stated he believed pears were heated by someone and they went to pulp. Mr. Brooks, Purchasing Agent, stated that he would not pass that pear. Mr. Wollenberg stated that pears had been juggled and handled and shaken to pulp.

Saint Elmo Brand String Beans were supplied by his firm and were above standard grade.

Witness (Mr. Jacobson) stated that beans (Saint Elmo Brand String Beans) were better than the standard brand of string beans. That no cans were rebuffed unless it was so stated in the bid. He stated he did not remember city accepting any rebuffed cans.

Supervisor Peyser asked that Mr. Thatcher and anyone else go with Mr. Brooks and let Mr. Thatcher pick out cans and present them so that the Board will know that they came from the relief groceteria.

Motion.

Supervisor McSheehy moved that Mr. Thatcher and Mr. McGrath go and pick out four cans of pears and bring them to us.

Supervisor Peyser stated that he had already made that motion.

Whereupon, Supervisor McSheehy seconded it.

Supervisor Peyser amended his motion to include peas, corn, salad oil, etc.

So ordered.

Supervisor Havenner: I move that an impartial investigation be made by some independent agency. I have in mind the Federal Bureau of Standards. I want this thing correct. I ask that the Federal Administrator of Relief for this district be requested to make an investigation of the quality of goods, having at his disposal the transcript of this testimony. That he be requested to designate some qualified expert, preferably from the Federal government, that the Bureau of Standards or some similar agency be requested to make an investigation of the charges made before the Board of Supervisors and report to us particularly on these two matters: First, whether goods have been bought and distributed on relief below standard pack, and second, investigation be made, perhaps, by the Controller of the City and County to determine whether there is any foundation for the statements and insinuations that goods have been substituted for the brand of goods that were ordered purchased under the City Purchasing Department. I think we ought to have that determined by an investigation by the Controller of the City and County.

Supervisor Miles seconded the motion.

Supervisor Hayden suggested that the Health Committee be authorized to make contact with the proper department.

Supervisor McSheehy, as member of Health Committee, objected.

Supervisor Roncovieri: It seems to me that a simple letter, asking the Federal Administrator of Relief if he will kindly name some one to do the investigation, is enough. The Clerk can write the letter and we will get an answer here by Monday.

Motion carried.

Supervisor Peyser: In view of Mr. Havenner's motion, I think the matter of quality of foods can be temporarily dismissed.

Mr. H. B. Tiedemann, wholesale grocer, Tiedemann & McMarr, 134 Sacramento street, was duly sworn and testified in re Canal Brand Tomato Puree that he considered it standard pack tomato. Packed at San Jose.

Supervisor Peyser asked for what purpose can was introduced.

Mr. Peak stated that can was introduced as evidence of inferior pack or old pack.

Mr. J. Zentner of A. Levy and J. Zentner Co., 200 Washington street, was duly sworn and testified in re ability of Mrs. Henderson as purchaser of green vegetables and fresh fruits. He stated that Mrs. Henderson is as good a buyer as can be found in San Francisco. Unbiased, always buys the cheapest and best and nothing else. Buys best grade for the price. Products fit for anybody, and same goods as sold to others.

Mr. Albert P. Jacobs of Malcolm & Burke, 101 Washington street, forty-six years in business, duly sworn and testified for Mrs. Henderson. Very good buyer. Observing and quick. Well qualified. Buys goods satisfactory for human consumption.

Mr. Enoch Bryant, 909 McAllister street, previously sworn, submitted oranges.

Mr. Wm. Kidd, attorney, asked privilege of examining witnesses.

Mr. John P. Campodonico of Scatena-Galli, 1256 Francisco street, being duly sworn and testified as to Mrs. Henderson's ability.

Mr. Henry George Hunken, with John C. Hunken, wholesale and retail grocer, 1183 O'Farrell street, being duly sworn, testified as to sauerkraut. Mr. Thatcher stated that kraut was not standard pack. Mr. Hunken denied this. Thatcher called can swellhead. Swellhead indicates possible spoiling and poisoning. Hunken stated kraut was bought from salvage. Packed by Libby but relabeled. Reconditioned; cans rebuffed. Mr. Peak asked that Mr. Brooks be requested to file with Board request for bids and statement of award of contract for spinach.

Supervisor Hayden stated it could be done only on motion of Board. (No motion made.)

F. L. McFarland, on relief, 540 Leavenworth street, was duly sworn and testified that between 200 and 500 dozen cans pears bought monthly.

Mr. Thatcher sought to discredit testimony of witness.

Mr. Hunken questioned by Mr. Peak. Hunken stated that Libby, McNeill & Libby did not want to sell sauerkraut under their own label. This kraut was bought from insurance company. Peak stated it was his contention that if the city has advertised for standard goods it is not required to accept rebuffed cans or salvage.

Mr. Kenneth Bensor of Wellman-Peck Co., 301 The Embarcadero, was duly sworn and testified that Green Glow Early June Pea as standard grade. Pea introduced on account of double label. Can rebuffed. Thatcher stated quality of goods not standard. Bensor stated it was.

Supervisor Gallagher asked Mr. Brooks if specifications allowed double labels and rebuffed cans, who replied that city has bought goods in rebuffed cans.

Supervisor Peyser brought out the fact that "standard pack" refers to quality of food, not to condition of container.

Mr. Brooks questioned qualifications of Mr. Thatcher, who replied that he had been a grocer for about eleven years.

Vernon Hammerstad, 1267 Page street, was duly sworn and testified that he had received can of carrots from groceteria (carrots which Mr. Brooks stated he had no record of buying). He stated that he received carrots about four months ago. Testified as to graft in boxes, etc. Submitted list of non-residents, which was made part of record. Asked especially about residence of Mrs. Ainsley.

Mr. Peak addressed chair on matter of protection of witnesses. Letters read by Clerk and made part of record.

Mr. Roy B. Tedrow, 943 Haight street, was duly sworn and testified that he was receiving clerk since August 14, 1932. Discharged August 9, 1933, by Mrs. Ainsley. Statement by Mrs. Ainsley submitted by Mr. Wollenberg and made part of record.

Supervisor Havenner asked that Citizens' Advisory Committee be requested to make report to the Board on account of this man's dismissal. Asked whether Advisory Committee recommends that he should be dismissed and why.

Motion seconded by Supervisor McSheehy:

Supervisor McSheehy asked that this man and his family be accorded relief at least until such time as Board receives report from Advisory Committee.

Mr. Wollenberg replied, stating that man would continue to receive relief, but would not be reemployed.

Supervisor Havenner replied to Mr. Wollenberg.

Mr. Uhl stated that Director of Relief would make the same statement to Advisory Committee.

Mr. Tedrow explained about bottle of oil. Also stated about 90 per cent of inferior goods (loose cans) are sent to garbage dumps rather than sent back to vendor for credit. Probably about 10,000 cans sent to dumps.

Mr. Berg testified that credit is received although a great many articles are dumped. Records show credit received.

Mr. Tedrow further charged that stale bread was received and delivered to consumer. Also that bread was dumped into garbage cans. Fruit and vegetables also dumped. Bread was dumped by order of Mr. Coyle. City did not receive credit for same. About twenty-five loaves per day, out of approximately 4000 loaves, dumped. Men on relief wanted to take bread home but were not allowed to. (Mr. Wollenberg explained why.) Credit was not received for inferior goods unless demand was turned in. Demand for credit for 6000 cans sent to dump not turned in.

Abram E. Dobrin, 2039 Pierce street, inspector of foods, except green vegetables and fresh fruits, testified. Testified as to shortening. Dobrin stated shortening good. Witness (Tedrow) stated it was bad. About 30,000 pounds bought. Lasted two months. Witness reported inferior quality and short weight in bacon. Stated that Swift & Co. tried to cheat many times, both on quality and quantity. Also mentioned Elite Produce Co. as cheat.

Mr. Billy Moore, 316 Drumm street, representative of Elite Produce Co., sworn and denied charge.

Witness stated that about $900 of shortening went to garbage can. It was ordered that witness be permitted to bring records to Board to substantiate his charges.

Under questioning by Mr. Peak, Mr. Berg stated his salary was $235 per month, paid through Associated Charities. Mr. Peak charged that he was doing city work, which should be done by a Civil Service employee, and was being paid for same by city money (bond money).

Supervisor McSheehy: It is about 6 o'clock. What are we going to do?

Supervisor Spaulding: Mr. Miles and I are leaving tomorrow for Pasadena. I am willing to stay tonight. I would like, if possible, to finish.

Mr. Peak: We have a great many people here. Many people in the audience have been sending messages to me that they want to be heard. I ask that the transcript of hearings (Down Town Association and in Health Center Building) be made a part of the record in this case. I ask that they be filed with this Board.

Supervisor Power: I move that this matter be taken under advisement.

(No second.)

Supervisor Havenner: I see no objection to filing transcripts of the two meetings.

So ordered.

Supervisor Roncovieri moved recess to Thursday, August 17, at 2 p. m.

Roll was called. Six members signified willingness to be present. Not a quorum.

Whereupon, Board continued hearing to Thursday, August 17, 2 p. m.

CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH

7TH AVENUE AND DEWEY BLVD.

August 14, 1933.

Honorable Board of Supervisors, City Hall, San Francisco.

Gentlemen: The hours spent by your honorable body in investigating the charges brought by the Sunset Courier have brought out the fact that the food delivered by the Relief Organization is good in quality, and that an admission was made of a conspiracy to plant defective food in boxes to create unrest and to be used as evidence against the Director of Relief.

Mr. Thatcher, when cross-examined by a Supervisor, admitted that, as inspector of foods, at the grocery located at Sixteenth and Shotwell streets, it was his duty to set aside all spoiled or defective goods; that he had later taken some of the goods so rejected by him and placed same in boxes to go to recipients of relief, naming among others Larsen and Hammerstad; that he had placed them in these particular boxes for the purpose of using as evidence in a future investigation.

Tedrow's testimony was to the effect that he had stolen a bottle of olive oil from a desk where it had been placed to return to the vendor; that this oil had a spider in it and was the only one of some 30,000 bottles of this delivery which had been found to be defective. He claimed, under oath, that he had passed it to Thatcher on Monday or Tuesday.

Later, on cross-examination, he was forced to admit that it was some time during the previous week that this bottle had been removed.

The Tedrow case is more than interesting; he and those presenting the charges knew that we had discovered the theft of the oil on Friday, that Tedrow was asked about it on Saturday and dismissed Tuesday morning.

To protect him and others who stole food, the Supervisors were asked Tuesday afternoon to pass a resolution requesting that no one involved in these proceedings be dismissed from their positions.

After Tedrow had been on the witness stand, had admitted a conspiracy to discredit the Relief Organization, had confessed to theft, and had been proven a perjurer, your Board continued to treat him with all respect, even going as far as to pass a resolution asking the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee to investigate and see whether he should or should not be replaced in his position, and this, after a Supervisor had personally seen the stolen bottle on Friday.

Planted evidence. This is again illustrated by the fresh corn. Eight ears were presented in evidence. Only two were handed to the Supervisor for examination. They were certainly unfit for food, but later on Supervisor Canepa discovered the balance of the corn left on the table to be fresh and in perfect condition.

The above and all the so-called evidence introduced by men, discharged from the payroll of the Relief Committee, and working out of the offices of the Good Government League, Adolph Uhl, President, clearly indicates a conspiracy to discredit, by planted evidence, the Relief Organization.

I have been most willing to cooperate to ascertain if there are any irregularities in the Relief Administration. It has become very apparent, however, from the tactics used in the investigation resulting even in physical violence, that its purpose is not to honestly ascertain facts, but merely part of a political move for personal aggrandizement of certain persons with political ambitions.

The Director of Relief therefore feels that this hearing can lead to no good results, and will attend to the duties incumbent upon him, and, therefore, will not be present on Thursday.

Very truly yours,

C. M. WOLLENBERG,
Director of Relief.

August 11, 1933.

Members of the Board of Supervisors, City and County of San Francisco, City Hall, San Francisco, California.

Dear Sirs: Since the day of the opening of the Community Kitchen and the shelter, which the City so kindly contributed, the supervision under your Director of Relief, Mr. Wollenberg, is in the perfect order and with the fullest satisfaction. I wish to express appreciation of the entire Chinese community to this splendid and generous project.

It is with regret that the public official with such a splendid record as Mr. Wollenberg should be subjected to such a treatment at the Board meeting.

May we hope that his present position be retained as it always has been.

Very truly yours,
CHINESE CONSOLIDATED BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION,

Executive Secretary.

A. L. SCHAFER, Manager

August 15, 1933.

Mr. David A. Barry, Chief Assistant Clerk, Board of Supervisors, Room 235, City Hall, San Francisco.

My dear Mr. Barry: I have received your letter of August 11 communicating the motion adopted at the meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco held August 10, 1933, and reading as follows:

"That an impartial investigation of this matter be made by some independent agency, preferably the Federal Bureau of Standards; that the Federal Administrator of Relief for this District be requested through such Bureau to make an investigation of the quality of foods distributed by the San Francisco Unemployment Relief, and that he be requested to designate some qualified expert, preferably from the Federal Government, to pass upon the quality and quantity of the food in question, particularly as to whether goods have been bought and distributed on Relief below standard pack."

It is contrary to the policy of the Federal Relief Administration to intervene in any local situation unless it is clearly shown that first, the local relief committee and, secondly, the state relief commission are unable to handle the matter complained of.

As the Board of Supervisors doubtless know, there is a committee known as the San Francisco City-County Emergency Relief Committee which not only has executive authority over the administration of relief financed by San Francisco City-County funds, but has also been formally confirmed by the State Relief Commission and the Federal Relief Administrator to administer state and federal funds for relief in this area.

I have referred your letter to Judge M. C. Sloss with the request that he give the matter attention.

Yours very truly,

PIERCE WILLIAMS,
Field Representative, Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

Witnesses.

The following named were duly sworn and testified:

J. H. Stephenson testified that there were non-residents on the Relief Administration payroll and that there were a number of people on two payrolls and one to his knowledge—E. A. McManus—on three payrolls, the Laguna Honda payroll, the Relief payroll and on the Community Chest payroll.

He filed lists of names and schedules showing amounts paid relief employees and funds from which payment is made. He also complained of inefficient management in the matter of installing gas heating plant in the Durant School.

Geo. Peak requested that Mr. Ross of the Controller's office be subpoenaed to appear at this hearing and bring the relief payrolls; also, that Miss Henderson, buyer for the Relief Administration, and Mrs. Ratto of the Italian Board of Relief be subpoenaed to attend this hearing.

Roy B. Tedrow, former receiving clerk of Relief Food Administration. Continuing his testimony from last meeting, declared that he did not know of his own knowledge that hundreds of pounds of bacon and cheese had been thrown in the garbage cans and taken to the dump with getting credit for it as he was not located at the west gate where that was done.

He declared that men were sent out to Parkside to make roads through private property belonging to the Crocker Estate. That is irregular, he said, and the Board of Supervisors should know it. There are other irregularities in the granting of relief in the matter of gas and water bills. The Associated Charities, he said, is a collection agency for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. Being asked from whom he obtained his position as receiving clerk, he declared that he was recommended by Edgar Berg, purchaser of the Associated Charities.

J. P. Courter, publisher of Sunset Courier, was also heard.

Fred L. Nicols, 945 Golden Gate avenue, Citizens' Unemployment Relief, and Arthur Warren, 640 Moscow street, secretary of the Citizens' Unemployment Relief, were also heard.

Adolph Uhl was heard in explanation of the presence of the complaints in the offices of the Good Government League in his building at 717 Market street. He declared that he was not opposed to the Citizens' Advisory Relief Committee, but that it was Director Wollenberg who was at fault. His greatest complaint, he said, was the employment of twenty-four non-residents.

The following was ordered inserted in the record:

On motion of Supervisor Roncovieri, the following from the San Francisco Examiner of August 14, 1933, were read into the record:

"The Low Down on the City Hall.

"The fist of Vernon Hammerstad, smacking into the blue jowls of C. E. Wollenberg, director of relief, did more than jar Charlie loose from the remnants of what little hankering he ever had for his thankless job.

"That short arm jab knocked the props right out from under a none-too-subtle vote-getting campaign earnestly waged by that perennial candidate, Adolph Uhl.

"The sock on the jaw ended one of those long and bitter Donnybrooks in which the Board of Supervisors have been attempting to sift charges brought against the relief administration—charges that the food doled out by Wollenberg and his advisory committee is poor in quality and short in quantity and that the administration is pampering a few favorites.

"As astounded Supervisors pulled the fist-throwing Hammerstad off his victim, Wollenberg's face was red—but Uhl's was redder. And here's the answer:

"Faithful Band.

"For months, Adolph Uhl and his little band of faithful followers have been playing politics by posing as the champions of the jobless. They saw in the 17,000 families on relief a fertile and easily tillable field for some 35,000 votes which might be swung toward Uhl and the four running-mates sponsored by Uhl's own Good Government League for the office of Supervisor.

"It was no trick to spread discontent among the jobless, and no more of a trick to puff up Adolph Uhl as their friend and defender. The Uhl party worked hard at it. They canvassed the relief rolls. Hammerstad—who eventually deflated the entire program with his professional attention to Wollenberg—and other malcontents among the jobless were cordially induced to use the offices of the Good Government League at 717 Market street for headquarters.

"And then the charges flew, until the Supervisors were compelled to give heed in a series of hearings. George Peak, Uhl familiar from way back, acted as "prosecutor."

"Uhl, smart enough to remain in the background in the earlier sessions, eventually succumbed to the lure of the spotlight and stepped forward to demand the head of Edgar J. Berg, advisory purchaser of relief supplies. It made no difference to Uhl that Berg is paid not by the city, but by the Associated Charities. He had to display himself to those potential votes.

"The Uhl charges bogged down from the outset. The series of hearings has showed that there is little discontent among those on relief, that much of the 'evidence' has been deliberately faked, that the 'star' witnesses against the administration are former employees of the relief administration, discharged for cause and disgruntled because discharged.

"Political Gold.

"But there might have been political gold for Uhl in them thar ills —if Hammerstad hadn't upped to Wollenberg.

"Wollenberg's directorship of relief, to begin with, meant many more hours of thankless work for him without added pay and it's a job he would be tickled to death to lose.

"The blow had aroused widespread criticism—even among the jobless who flocked to the hearings. It compelled Uhl and associates to waste much valuable vote-getting time in an attempt to convince a lot of folks that they had nothing to do with it.

"But it's hard to convince those who saw Uhl in earnest conversation with Hammerstad just before the ex-pugilist hung one on Wollenberg.

"Hammerstad, by the way, has been dropped from the relief rolls because he refuses to report for work, one week in four, as all persons on relief are required to do."

"Their Work Is Worthy.

"The brutal attack at the City Hall last week on Charles M. Wollenberg, director of relief, calls attention forcibly to the more insidious but equally disgraceful assaults which are being made on the work of relief in San Francisco. Disgruntled and illogical ambition of politicians is behind these attacks on Wollenberg. Dr. Katherine Felton, director of the Associated Charities, has also had to face unfair and malicious criticisms on her work.

"Both Wollenberg and Doctor Felton have been active in relief work in San Francisco for more than twenty-five years and their records have been stainless, their attitude practically sympathetic to the needs of those they served.

"It is not asked that persons who have benefited by relief administered by the agencies these two leaders represent should be grateful. But they should be fair and just.

"As for the embryonic politicians who are attacking relief work administration, it would take a credulous person indeed to expect fairness from them. Their only political capital is what they can garner in the slime of discontent.

"The criticisms which may come from empty stomachs may be excused, but the criticism inspired by an unappeased appetite for political prominence is unpardonable.

"The whole business should be condemned. It is a poor reward for the unselfish and honest and considerate public service rendered by Charles M. Wollenberg and Dr. Katherine Felton in their thankless task of helping the needy, in doing the city's relief work."

President Roosevelt Memorialized to Give "Small Businessman" Every Possible Consideration in the Adoption of Codes for N. I. R. A.

(Code No. 5.2)

Resolution No. 949, as follows:

Whereas, in the adoption of codes under the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act "Big Business" and the major industries have been accorded the assistance of the President of the United States in his laudable endeavor to carry out his program of stabilization; and

Whereas, his problem to date has been the reconciliation of capital and labor to the codes submitted by them; and

Whereas, the less formidable units of industry might be eliminated or considerably weakened by a code too drastic for their survival; and

Whereas, the so-called "small businessman" has thus far weathered the storm of depression by assuming additional obligations in draining all available resources and is now not in position to adhere to a code adapted to the major industries of the country; and

Whereas, by Resolution No. 627 this Board of Supervisors desired the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to permit loans to the so-called "small businessman" in an amount not to exceed $10,000 on the basis of chattel mortgages or other available securities; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors does hereby memorialize President Franklin Delano Roosevelt to insist that in the distribution of funds under the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act "the small businessman," who is the backbone of this nation, be given every consideration possible in order that he may survive.

Further Resolved, That the Clerk be directed to transmit by air mail a copy of this resolution to the President of the United States.

Fund for Unemployment Relief.

The following was presented and read by the Clerk:

August 21, 1933.

The Hon. the Board of Supervisors, City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen: It is necessary to ask an immediate appropriation of the balance of funds remaining in the Unemployment Relief Bond Fund of $455,000, to take care of the expenditures for the months of July, August and September.

This is necessitated by the fact that the State bond sale will not take place until the end of September and that Federal funds will not be available until the end of this month and then only to one-third of the amount actually expended.

This makes it necessary for county funds to meet the cost of relief for the first three months of this fiscal year to approximately the sum of $1,000,000. On the sale of the State bonds the State will advance to us, not only their share of the last three months but also the share of the county's for the last months of the calendar year. This will bring the expenditures on the three funds, that is, Federal, State and County, into balance, one-third each for the first six months of the fiscal year, as of December 31, 1933.

It is necessary to make this appropriation immediately so that we may have funds to carry on our relief and I urge that it be passed today as an emergency measure.

Very truly yours,

C. M. WOLLENBERG,
Director of Relief.

Approved: R. D. Carpenter,
Finance Committee of the City Emergency Unemployment Committee.

Approved August 21, 1933.

Tax Anticipation Ordinance.

The following was presented by Supervisor Miles and read by the Clerk:

Honorable Board of Supervisors, City Hall, City.

Dear Sirs: At the request of his Honor the Mayor and the Controller, I am herewith transmitting to you an ordinance authorizing the borrowing of $5,135,000 pursuant to the provisions of Section 81 of the Charter. This section authorizes the borrowing from outside sources moneys necessary for the conduct of the municipal government when the same are not otherwise available. I understand that by the 15th of September this condition will exist in the municipal treasury, and will in all probability continue until the first installment of taxes are paid in December.

The ordinance is so drawn that the money will be borrowed and the notes issued only from time to time as the money becomes necessary to meet demands upon the treasury. I am advised by the Controller that in all probability the first money will have to be borrowed in time to meet salary and other demands upon the treasury which will be payable on October 1st. It is therefore urgent that the ordinance should receive your early consideration.

I am also transmitting to you a second ordinance bearing on the same subject, which makes an appropriation from the Emergency Reserve Fund to meet the interest upon any money borrowed under authority of the first mentioned ordinance. This appropriation is necessary for the reason that the money cannot be borrowed unless provision is first made for the payment of the interest to accrue thereon. The last mentioned ordinance to be effective must be passed by a three-fourths vote of all the members of your Board.

Very truly yours,

JNO. J. O'TOOLE, City Attorney.

Passed for Second Reading.

This note and all other notes of said issue are payable exclusively out of taxes levied by said City and County of San Francisco for the fiscal year 1933-1934 without preference or priority of any one note over any other note of this issue by reason of prior issuance or otherwise, and said notes issued and delivered under authority of said ordinance shall constitute a first lien and charge against said taxes collected during the half of said fiscal year 1933-1934 in which the money represented by said notes respectively shall be borrowed and shall be repaid from the first moneys received from said taxes and before any part thereof is used for any other purpose.

Any of said notes not paid at or prior to maturity shall nevertheless be paid out of moneys received from the taxes for said fiscal year 1933-1934, irrespective of the date the same shall be so received.

It is hereby certified, recited and declared that this note is issued in strict conformity with the Constitution and laws of the State of California and with the Charter of the City and County of San Francisco and with proceedings of said City and County of San Francisco authorizing the same and that all acts, conditions and things required to exist, happen and to be performed precedent to and in the issuance of this note have existed, happened and been performed in regular and due time, form and manner as required by law, and that this note, together with all indebtedness and obligations of said City and County does not exceed any limit prescribed by the Constitution or statutes of said State or the Charter of said City and County.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said City and County of San Francisco has caused this note to be signed by the President of the Board of Supervisors of said City and County of San Francisco and by the Controller of said City and County, and to be countersigned by the Treasurer thereof, and the seal of said City and County to be affixed thereto

(d) Said Board of Supervisors, on behalf of said City and County of San Francisco, hereby confirms all recitals, declarations, certificates and promises contained in said notes, and each thereof, issued under and pursuant to this ordinance.

(e) At the time of the sale of any of said notes as hereinafter provided, and prior to the delivery thereof, the Treasurer of said City and County of San Francisco shall date the same as of the date of delivery thereof and insert therein the denomination thereof and the rate of interest thereon as provided by resolution of said Board of Supervisors.

Section 4. The aforesaid notes shall be issued and offered for sale by the Board of Supervisors at such time (prior to December 20, 1933) as may from time to time be provided by resolution of said Board, so as to meet the immediate requirements of said City and County of San Francisco, as aforesaid. Each such sale shall be made to the bidder offering to accept and pay for the note or notes so sold at the lowest net interest cost to said City and County computed from the date fixed for the presentation of bids to December 20, 1933; provided, however, that none of said notes shall be sold for less than the face amount thereof and accrued interest thereon to the date of delivery thereof.

Section 5. The principal and interest of all of said notes issued and sold as aforesaid shall be paid only upon the surrender thereof. All of said notes not sold prior to December 20, 1933, shall be canceled.

Section 6. If any section, paragraph, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be unconstitutional or void, such decision shall not affect the validity of any other portion of this ordinance. The Board of Supervisors hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, paragraph, sentence, clause or phrase thereof irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, paragraphs, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional or void for any reason.

Request for Creation of a New Street Off Wisconsin Street as Entrance to Potrero Playground.

(Code No. ——.)

Resolution No. 979, as follows:

Whereas, There has been presented to this Board of Supervisors and pending in the Streets Committee of same, a petition asking for the creation of a new street off Wisconsin street, which shall serve as an adequate entrance to the Potrero Playground, which new street, including all costs, is estimated at twelve thousand ($12,000) dollars; and

In Memoriam: John Connor.

(Code No. 5.91.)

Supervisor Hayden presented:

Resolution No. 980, as follows:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to call from the scene of his earthly labors, John Connor; and

Whereas, John Connor was a straight, clean public official of the highest caliber. No member of the first Board of Supervisors under the Charter which went into effect in 1900 gave closer attention to the duties of his office, nor discharged them with a finer sense of integrity. He knew, as few men do, the difficult art of warm and intelligent association with his fellow officials. Throughout the three terms that he served as Supervisor there is not to be recorded against him one instance of his failure as a gentleman to treat others with consideration and to respect difference of opinion. He had the high spirits and fighting qualities of his race, and the warmth of heart that goes with those traits. He knew no distinction between men other than their individual value; the segregation of men by race, creed or nationality was foreign to every purpose of his being; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of John Connor we, the members of the Board of Supervisors, realize the loss of a faithful and loyal citizen, and as an expression of respect and condolence, be it further

Resolved, That when this Board adjourns, it adjourns out of respect to his memory, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his bereaved family, and also to each of the surviving members who served with him on the Board of Supervisors.

In Memoriam: John C. Kortick.

(Code No. 5.91.)

Supervisor Power presented:

Resolution No. 982, as follows:

Whereas, Divine Providence has called from this life John C. Kortick, who served as a member of the Board of Supervisors during a period of six years.

His life was one of active business instincts which were applied in his service as an honored public official. His labors and integrity in serving his City exemplified a strong character, mild in manner, courteous, charitable and ever willing to help his fellow man; qualities which endeared him in the hearts of the people. In his death the City has lost a true and loyal citizen. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors does hereby extend its sympathies and condolence, and that when this Board adjourns it adjourns out of respect to the memory of John C. Kortick, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his bereaved family.

In Memoriam: Police Officer Michael J. McDonald.
(Code No. 5.91.)

Supervisor Stanton presented:

Resolution No. 983, as follows:

Whereas, Almighty God, in His Divine Wisdom, has called Michael J. McDonald, Police Officer, to his eternal rest; and

Whereas, in the death of Michael J. McDonald, a brave and efficient officer who gave up his life in discharge of his duties has shown a courage faithful to the principles of a noble character. He was a fond and loving husband, and father of family, and was held in highest esteem by his superior officers and fellow members of the Police Department. He was courageous but tolerant and kind of manner in discharge of his duties, and his untimely death is mourned by our people. In making the supreme sacrifice that others might be protected, he exhibited a true spirit of bravery and loyalty to his fellow man, and has endeared him in the hearts of an appreciative public; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors extends its sympathies and condolence to his bereaved family, and that when this Board adjourns it adjourns out of respect to his memory; and be it further

Resolved, That this resolution be recorded in the Journal, and a copy be sent to the family of the late Police Officer Michael J. McDonald.

Communication from Public Utilities Commission.

The following communication from the Public Utilities Commission was received and read by the Clerk:

CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO
PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION
225 City Hall

August 29, 1933.

The Board of Supervisors, City Hall, San Francisco.

Gentlemen: The Public Utilities Commission of San Francisco is pleased to acknowledge receipt of your communication bearing date August 28, in which you request that the said Public Utilities Commission sit with the Board of Supervisors on Wednesday afternoon, August 30, 1933, at two o'clock, for the purpose of considering the question of using the surplus money derived from the operations of the Water Department to the reduction of water rates rather than to transferring the said surplus to the General Fund.

The discussion at such meeting would, therefore, bear upon and appertain to the question of fixing water rates and, in the fixing thereof, to consider a reduction of the present rates based upon the past earnings in the operation of the system.

The fixing of water rates, and other rates and charges for the furnishing of service by any utility under its jurisdiction, rests with the Public Utilities Commission, under the express provisions of the Charter.

The Charter further provides that before the revising of rates the Commission shall fix a time for a public hearing thereon, at which meeting residents of the City may present their views on the proposed schedule of rates.

The Charter, however, further states that neither the Board of Supervisors nor its committees nor any of its members shall suggest or interfere with appointments, contracts, or other administrative recommendations or actions which are under the respective boards and commissions provided for in the Charter (section 22).

The members of the Public Utilities Commission are unanimously of the opinion, therefore, that any discussion of the question of fixing water rates in this City, either by raising or lowering them, participated in by members of the Board of Supervisors and the Public Utilities Commission, at a joint meeting of said bodies, would contravene the provisions of the Charter.

Very respectfully yours,
LEWIS F. BYINGTON, President.

E. G. CAHILL, Manager of Utilities.

E. G. Cahill, manager of Utilities, was heard in matters pertinent to the question.

Opinion of City Attorney.

City Attorney O'Toole addressed the Board at length and filed the following as his opinion:

Subject: In re Changing at Time of Fixing Tax Rate, Estimated Revenues from Water Department, in anticipation of Reduction of Water Rates.

Dear Sirs: I am in receipt of your request that I advise you if the Board of Supervisors can on the fixing of the annual tax rate, change the estimate receipt of moneys from the San Francisco Water Department, anticipating that the estimate in the annual budget heretofore adopted by the Board would be partially or totally applied to the reduction of water rates rather than to permit it to flow into the general funds of the city. An investigation of your Annual Appropriation Ordinance shows that your Board has estimated that the amount which would flow into the general funds of the city, to be $901,410, and has by Appropriation No. 224, set forth in this ordinance, appropriated this amount to the general fund. The question therefore is, can this estimate now be changed.

Opinion.

When you received the annual budget estimate prepared by the Mayor under authority of Section 72 of the charter, it contained an estimate of the receipts of each department. The section gives to your Board the authority to deal with the budget estimate, with the proviso that you could not increase, or add any new item for personal or contractual service. It was within the power of your Board to accept or reject the Mayor's estimate of the anticipated revenue from each department, and to decrease or reject any item contained in the budget estimate. The section also makes it incumbent on you to adopt the budget estimate as submitted or amended, and to pass the necessary appropriation ordinance which appropriates the revenue of the city to be received from all sources for the current fiscal year. This you did, and as already noted, the appropriation ordinance makes an appropriation of $901,410 from the surplus of the Water Department to the general fund. You could, or could not have made this appropriation, as Section 129 provides that, when the accumulations in the surplus fund of any utility, in any fiscal year, exceeds twenty-five per cent of the total expenditures of such utility for operation, repairs and maintenance for the preceding fiscal year, such excess may be transferred by the Board of Supervisors to the general fund. This you have done by your appropriation ordinance, and the appropriation is effective, in so far as the estimated revenue will become available. See last paragraph of Section 72, Charter, the pertinent portion of which read as follows:

"The several amounts of estimated revenue and proposed expenditure contained in the annual appropriation ordinance as adopted by the Board of Supervisors shall be and become appropriated for the ensuing fiscal year to and for the several departments, bureaus, offices, utilities, boards or commissions, and for the purposes specified."

Your Board could have refused to make any appropriation from anticipated water revenue, and could have left it accumulate into surplus, to later be made the basis of a rate reduction should the Public Utilities Commission recommend and your Board approve such reduction. This you did not do, but saw fit to appropriate the anticipated surplus to the general fund in order to lessen the amount which would otherwise have to be raised by taxes.

It seems to me that this appropriation is now beyond recall. The time for passing an appropriation ordinance has passed, and it only remains for you to fix a tax rate which will produce the amount necessary to meet your appropriations. This duty is imposed upon you by Section 78 of the Charter. It is therefore your duty to levy a tax "the estimated proceeds of which, together with the total amount of receipts and revenues estimated to be received from all sources, will be sufficient to meet all appropriations made by the annual appropriation ordinance." You have already in your budget estimate and in your annual appropriation ordinance made your estimate that the general fund would receive $901,410.00 from the Water Department. This is binding on you unless it could be shown that for some reason this amount will not be received. There is now no such showing before your Board. The mere fact that in your opinion you might believe that a reduction in water rates, the effect of which would be to leave no surplus in the Water Department, would be advisable, is not a sufficient reason to change your estimate, as the reduction of rates does not lie entirely with you but must be initiated by the Public Utilities Commission. Therefore, there is no action which your Board can now take which will make the anticipated revenue of the Water Department unavailable for the general fund.

It is not necessary to determine what action you could now take if the Utilities Commission had recommended to you a reduction in rates, as I understand that such is not the case.

You are therefore advised that unless it is shown to you that the anticipated revenue from the Water Department will not be available as per your estimate, it should be taken into consideration in fixing your tax rate, and your failure to do so may jeopardize the validity of the rate to the extent which said appropriation would be reflected therein.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN J. O'TOOLE,
City Attorney.

Passed for Second Reading.

The question being called on passage of said bill and ordinance, the same was passed for second reading by the following vote:

Ayes—Breyer, Brown, Canepa, Colman, Gallagher, Havenner, Hayden, McSheehy, Miles, Peyser, Power, Roncovieri, Shannon, Spaulding, Stanton—15.

Explanation of Vote, Supervisor Havenner.

Supervisor Havenner presented the following explanation of his vote:

Supervisor Havenner: I desire to have inserted in the record the following explanation of my vote: I voted for the tax rate as submitted by the Finance Committee because of the opinion written by the City Attorney that we cannot legally modify it to permit the use of the Water Department's surplus for Water Department purposes. It will be my opinion at the time of making the next budget to move that the surplus revenues of the Water Department shall not be included in the estimates of revenues for tax-fixing purposes, and in the absence of any emergency which makes such an appropriation imperative I will oppose the further utilization of the Water Department's surplus for tax-fixing purposes.

Explanation of Vote, Supervisor McSheehy.

For the record, I wish to qualify, at least to make a statement, in reference to my vote. I voted "Aye" today, but in doing so I feel that an error has been made to a degree. I am doing so because I cannot do anything else, according to the opinion rendered by the City Attorney, but I will say this: that I will broadcast it throughout this City, whether I am on this Board next year or as a citizen of San Francisco. I will do everything that I can in the making up of the budget next year to see that an appropriation, or appropriations, are considered in such a way that the ratepayers of this city will receive credit for the moneys or surplus moneys that are now being earned by the Water Department, and my principal reason is we are not being fair to the ratepayers, especially the older members of this Board, who were members of the Board at that time and assured the voters that when we bought these properties that the rate would be reduced.

ADJOURNMENT.

There being no further business, the Board at the hour of 4:20 p. m., adjourned.

ROLL CALL FOR THE INTRODUCTION OF RESOLUTIONS, BILLS AND COMMUNICATIONS NOT CONSIDERED OR REPORTED UPON BY A COMMITTEE.

Declaration of Unemployment Emergency.

The following was presented and read by the Clerk:

September 5, 1933.

The Honorable the Board of Supervisors, the Honorable Civil Service Commission, Honorable Leonard S. Leavy, Controller, City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen: You are hereby respectfully requested to take the necessary action to cause the putting into effect of the unemployment emergency provisions of Section 149 of the Charter, which read as follows:

"Whenever the Board of Supervisors by a three-fourths vote of all its members shall declare that an unemployment emergency exists throughout the City and County because of extraordinary conditions due to unemployment, and shall fix the period during which such unemployment emergency shall be officially recognized, the Civil Service Commission shall then have power to exempt from civil service examinations during such emergency period all places of employment that may be created by special appropriation to relieve such unemployment emergency; provided, that no action shall be taken under the provisions of this paragraph that will adversely affect the rights of civil service eligibles for employment in the usual temporary and permanent positions that are provided for in the Annual Salary Ordinance. The Civil Service Commission shall adopt special rules for the government of appointments to the emergency positions that may be created under the authority of this paragraph."

The reasons for making this request are as follows:

As of September 1, 1933, under regulations from the Federal Relief Administration, the City and County of San Francisco took over complete charge, as a county function, of all relief activities.

The Federal Administrator of Relief has issued definite and positive instructions under which the Citizens Emergency Relief Committee acts and, under those directions, the various employees who have been engaged in relief activities of the welfare agencies have been taken over, as well as such other employees as were necessary from the ranks of the unemployed. These employees will have to be paid out of Federal, State and County funds. Under our Charter all payrolls must clear through the Controller's Office, after having been examined and passed by the Civil Service Commission.

The above make immediate passage of this ordinance, as set forth in Section 149 of the Charter, absolutely imperative.

Very truly yours,

C. M. WOLLENBERG,
Director of Relief.

Resolution No. 992 was adopted by the following vote:

Whereas, beginning September 1, 1933, under the regulations of the Federal Relief Administration, the City and County of San Francisco is required to take over supervision and administration of all unemployment relief activities as a county function in order to receive grants of aid from the Federal Government and/or the State of California in addition to the funds provided by the City and County of San Francisco for unemployment relief; and

Whereas, certain duties heretofore performed by the various relief agencies which have required the employment of personnel will hereafter be performed by the City and County of San Francisco and paid for from the said relief funds and the payrolls therefor must be examined and approved by the Civil Service Commission before being approved by the Controller and paid by the Treasurer; and

Whereas, section 149 of the Charter provides in part as follows:

"Whenever the Board of Supervisors by a three-fourths vote of all of its members shall declare that an unemployment emergency exists throughout the City and County because of extraordinary conditions due to unemployment, and shall fix the period during which such employment emergency shall be officially recognized, the Civil Service Commission shall then have power to exempt from civil service examinations during such emergency period all places of employment that may be created by special appropriation to relieve such unemployment emergency; provided, that no action shall be taken under the provisions of this paragraph that will adversely affect the rights of civil service eligibles for employment in the usual temporary and permanent positions that are provided for in the Annual Salary Ordinance. The Civil Service Commission shall adopt special rules for the government of appointments to the emergency positions that may be created under the authority of this paragraph." Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That, solely for the purposes set forth herein, the Board of Supervisors does hereby declare that an actual unemployment emergency within the meaning of the said section 149 exists in the City and County of San Francisco, and such unemployment emergency shall be deemed to continue until June 30, 1934; and be it

Further Resolved, That, in accordance with such special rules as the Civil Service Commission may adopt pursuant to section 149 of the Charter, the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee be and it is hereby authorized to act as the appointing power for the purpose of making such appointments as may be necessary to take over the work of said relief agencies in administering said unemployment relief, all of said employments to be created by special appropriation for unemployment relief; provided, however, that only bona fide residents of the City and County of San Francisco shall ever be appointed to such positions.

Determining that funds are needed for the immediate requirements of the City and County of San Francisco for the fiscal year 1933-1934, in accordance with appropriations made, as authorized by the Charter of said City and County of San Francisco, for said fiscal year; determining that funds therefor cannot be made available as provided in the first two paragraphs of section 81 of said Charter; authorizing the Board of Supervisors of said City and County of San Francisco to borrow on its behalf the sum of $5,135,000 solely for the purpose of anticipating receipt of income, and to cause to be issued notes or other evidences of indebtedness evidencing the amount or amounts so borrowed, which notes shall be payable exclusively out of taxes levied and collected by said City and County for said fiscal year 1933-1934; providing that the repayment of the sums so borrowed shall constitute a first lien and charge against the taxes collected during the half of the fiscal year in which such money shall be borrowed and shall be repaid from the first moneys received from said taxes; and providing for the sale of said notes or evidences of indebtedness as provided by law and for the payment of the principal thereof and the interest thereon.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco as follows:

Section 1. The Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco does hereby find and determine: That the sum of $5,135,000 is needed for the immediate requirements of said City and County in the fiscal year 1933-1934, to-wit: To meet and pay the appropriations heretofore made for said fiscal year as authorized by the Charter of said City and County, and which will become due and payable prior to December 31, 1933, and which may be paid in advance of receipt of the income for said fiscal year; that funds therefor cannot be made available as provided in the first two paragraphs of section 81 of said Charter; that the Controller of said City and County has recommended that said sum of $5,135,000 be borrowed for the purposes herein mentioned, and the Mayor of said City and County of San Francisco has approved said recommendation made by said Controller; and that the estimated tax receipts of said City and County for said fiscal year are $26,000,000 and that said sum of $5,135,000 does not exceed twenty-five (25) per centum of said estimated tax receipts for said fiscal year.

Section 2. The Board of Supervisors of said City and County of San Francisco is hereby authorized to borrow on behalf of said City and County, solely for the purpose of anticipating receipt of income, the sum of $5,135,000 in lawful money of the United States of America, and to issue in the form hereinafter set forth, notes of said City and County for the sum or sums so borrowed payable as hereinafter provided.

Section 3. (a) As evidence of the sum to be so borrowed as aforesaid, there is hereby authorized to be issued by said City and County of San Francisco tax anticipation notes of said City and County of San Francisco in the aggregate principal amount of $5,135,000. Said notes shall be in the denomination of not less than $1,000 each, nor more than $100,000 each, and such denominations shall be fixed by resolution of this Board adopted at or after the time of the public sale of said notes as hereinafter provided. All of said notes shall be signed on behalf of said City and County of San Francisco by the President of said Board of Supervisors, and by the Controller of said City and County, and countersigned by the Treasurer of said City and County of San Francisco, and the seal of said City and County shall be affixed thereto. Said notes shall bear such interest as may be hereafter fixed by resolution of said Board of Supervisors at or after the time said notes are sold, as hereinafter provided, which said interest shall in no case exceed six (6) per cent per annum, and full authority is hereby given to said Board of Supervisors to fix by resolution the rate of interest on said notes and each or any of them. Said interest shall be payable at the maturity of said notes.

(b) The principal amount of said notes, together with the interest thereon, issued and delivered under authority of this ordinance, shall be payable exclusively out of the taxes levied and collected by said City and County for the fiscal year 1933-1934, and shall constitute a first lien and charge against the taxes collected during the half of the fiscal year in which said money shall be borrowed and shall be repaid from the first moneys received from said taxes; and the amount of said taxes so levied and collected shall be applied to the payment of said notes before any part thereof is used for any other purpose. If at the time said notes, or any of them, become due and payable, the funds in the City Treasury available for the payment thereof shall be insufficient for the payment in full of all of said notes then outstanding, such funds shall be applied pro rata to the payment of the principal and interest of all of the notes then issued and outstanding without preference or priority of any one note over any other by reason of prior issuance, or otherwise. Any of said notes not paid prior to December 31, 1933, shall nevertheless be paid out of moneys received from the taxes of the fiscal year 1933-1934, irrespective of the date of the receipt thereof, it being the intent and purpose of this ordinance to provide for the payment of all notes issued hereunder out of the taxes levied for said fiscal year 1933-1934 and to provide that such notes shall be payable out of said taxes for said fiscal year, irrespective of the actual date of the collection thereof.

(c) Each of said notes shall be substantially in the following form, to-wit:

Leaves of Absence to Attend Mayor's Conference at Chicago.

The following was read by the Clerk:

Honorable Board of Supervisors, City and County of San Francisco, City Hall, San Francisco.

Gentlemen: I hereby make application to your Honorable Board for permission to leave the State of California upon official business for the City and County of San Francisco, to-wit: To attend the Conference of Mayors of the United States to be held in the City of Chicago commencing September 22d of the present year.

I would also request your Honorable Board to authorize and direct that Controller Leonard Leavy accompany me to the above-mentioned conference. I feel that the presence of our Controller is necessary at this conference for two reasons:

First—If we are to give the Mayors of our sister cities a full report of our condition and activities, there will be many financial matters arise upon which only the Financial Officer of the City will be qualified to speak.

Second—I am advised that Secretary of the Interior Ickes will be present at this conference, and there may be matters in regard to the financial condition of our City upon which the Secretary might desire information and which might have a bearing upon our future applications for Federal aid for the various improvement projects which will be recommended by the Advisory Board acting under the National Recovery Act. It is needless for me to say to you that the Controller of the City is best qualified to furnish either to the Conference or to Secretary Ickes much financial information regarding our City as either may desire to have.

I am therefore enclosing an ordinance drafted at my request by the City Attorney, authorizing the Controller and myself to attend the Conference, and granting to each of us permission to absent ourselves from the State for a period not exceeding thirty days, and providing expenses incident to the trip.

Yours very truly,

ANGELO J. ROSSI,

Whereas, there is to be held in the city of Chicago, commencing on the 22nd day of September, 1933, a general conference of the mayors of the various cities of the United States; and

Whereas, it will be of material benefit to the City and County of San Francisco that said City and County be represented at the said conference and that the Mayor of said City and County be present thereat; and

Whereas, there will come before said conference of mayors problems in reference to the financial condition of the City and County of San Francisco, which can be best handled and explained by the Controller thereof; now, therefore, be it

Compliance with NRA Codes by Bidders on Municipal Contracts.

Supervisor Havenner moved that the Purchaser of Supplies and department heads who have any jurisdiction over the letting of contracts for public service be requested to make a report as to what provision is being made for compliance with the Codes of the NRA by successful bidders.

In this connection Supervisor Havenner declared: "I am told bids are being awarded at such low figures that the low bidder must not only waive profit, but would find it impossible to comply with the wage provisions of the NRA Code."

Motion carried.

Daly City-Colma Bottleneck.

Supervisor Gallagher asked to be relieved of his membership on the joint committee having to do with the widening of the Daly City-Colma bottleneck and that Supervisor Shannon be appointed in his place.

There being no objection, it was so ordered.

Supervisor Shannon thereupon moved that Mr. T. Steinmann, chairman, be notified and requested to call a meeting at the earliest date possible with a view to expedite the work; also that Messrs. Healy & Phillips be notified to attend.

So ordered.

Passed for Second Reading.

The following matter was presented by Supervisor Canepa and passed for second reading:

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

To the Honorable the Board of Supervisors, City and County of San Francisco, City Hall, San Francisco, California.

Gentlemen: The Committee for the Survey of Unemployment Relief Administration in San Francisco, appointed by the President of your honorable Board, following the resolution of the Board of Supervisors No. 702, Code No. 19,071, and commissioned by the Mayor of San Francisco on April 21, 1933, has the honor to submit its report and recommendations.

A partial preliminary report of recommendations has already been made to the Citizens' Relief Committee following the order of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration requiring immediate transfer of all emergency relief administration from private to public agencies.

In accordance with permission received from your honorable Board, by resolution of August 7, this Committee held a conference with the Chairman of the Citizens' Committee, the Director of Relief, the Assistant Director of Relief, and the Director of the Eureka Benevolent Society, who has since been announced as Director of Family Relief. At this conference the general administrative recommendations, based on our research were presented, and we are gratified to be able to state that several of the fundamental changes suggested at that time have already been made, including decentralizing of relief into districts, centralizing of accounting, in direct charge of the City Controller, and important reforms in the care of single men.

A brief history of the survey follows:

On April 3, 1933, the Board of Supervisors unanimously passed the following resolution, which was given approval by the Mayor on April 4, 1933:

"University Professors to Make Impartial Survey of Unemployment Relief Administration.

(Code No. 19,071)

"Supervisor Havenner presented:

"Resolution No. 702, as follows:

"Whereas, the City and County of San Francisco has for the past year been extending relief to a large group of its residents who, by reason of the present economic conditions, have been unable to obtain employment; and by reason of that fact have been unable to provide for themselves and their families; and

"Whereas, in all probability unemployment conditions will continue to exist, at least to a considerable extent, during the coming fiscal year, and that by reason thereof it will be necessary for San Francisco or other public agencies to care for many of the residents of the City and County during said year; and

"Whereas, the Board of Supervisors is, by the laws of the State, directly charged with the administration of all funds raised by the City and County for relief purposes, and that while said Board has confidence in the administration of the relief funds as carried on by the Citizens' Relief Committee and by Charles M. Wollenberg, Director of Relief, various questions as to the standards of relief to be adopted in the future will arise during the coming year, especially by reason of the fact that application has been made to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for aid in our relief work, and that, therefore, it will be of great benefit to the City that an impartial survey be made as to the standards and methods of relief to be adopted during the coming fiscal year, should said relief continue to be necessary; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That in order that an impartial survey may be made of the standards of relief now in effect and which should in the future be followed in San Francisco, the president of the University of California, the president of the University of San Francisco, and the president of Leland Stanford, Jr., University, each, be respectfully requested to suggest to this Board the names of two disinterested persons skilled in the administration of relief, and that from said persons so suggested, the President of this Board be, and he is hereby directed to appoint three persons to make a full and complete survey of the methods and standards of relief which should be adopted in all future relief work administered under the direction of this Board; and be it

"Further Resolved, That it is respectfully requested that said names be suggested not later than April 15, 1933, and that the persons selected by the President of this Board to make said survey report to this Board at their earliest opportunity; and be it

"Further Resolved, That the Mayor be requested to recommend an appropriation sufficient in amount to enable said persons selected to function for the purposes in this resolution set forth; and be it

"Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Clerk of this Board to the respective presidents of the universities hereinbefore mentioned with the request that each of said presidents suggest names in conformity with the terms thereof.

"Adopted by the Board of Supervisors, April 3, 1933.

"Ayes—Supervisors Breyer, Brown, Canepa, Colman, Gallagher, Havenner, Hayden, McSheehy, Miles, Peyser, Power, Roncovieri, Shannon, Spaulding, Stanton—15.

"I hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco.

"J. S. DUNNIGAN, Clerk.

"Approved April 4, 1933.

"ANGELO J. ROSSI, Mayor."

Pursuant to the instructions of the resolution, and after their nomination by the presidents of the University of California, Leland Stanford, Jr., University, and the University of San Francisco, J. Emmet Hayden, the President of the Board of Supervisors, appointed the following as members of the Committee for the Survey of Unemployment Relief Administration in San Francisco: Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, Dr. William Palmer Lucas, and Mrs. Bernard M. Breeden. Anita Day Hubbard was appointed secretary, and Valeska Bary, of the Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California, was appointed as Chief of Research. A staff was organized which included Frances M. Welch, Dorothy Friedland, Louis T. Campbell, Louise Bennett, Zoe Battu, Robert A. Muir and W. J. Huetinck.

A plan of study was formulated and approved. The actual work of the survey was begun on May 4, with the organization meeting of the Committee.

Following his attendance at the meeting of the Survey Committee on May 23, Dr. Taylor went abroad for the summer and resigned on that ground. Inasmuch as Dr. Lucas had been a nominee of the president of Stanford University and of the president of the University of California as well, it was decided, after conference with the Mayor and the President of the Board of Supervisors that the survey should proceed with Dr. Lucas as acting chairman representing Stanford University and the University of California, and Mrs. Bernard M. Breeden the University of San Francisco. Dr. Taylor returned early in September. Because he was forced to resign from the Survey Committee so early in the work, he was therefore not able to participate personally in the investigation. Dr. Taylor has written a letter of comment on the report. A copy of this letter is attached hereto.

In order to make a thorough survey in the limited time allotted the work was carefully charted. While no time was lost in unnecessary duplication of existing responsible source material, it was found necessary to collect practically all of the data from original sources. Conditions everywhere have been changing from month to month and no adequate reports are being issued on current procedure in other cities with which we might profitably compare the administration of relief in San Francisco. This difficulty was overcome by addressing queries on specific points to the directors of relief in twenty-four large cities. The response to these communications was cordial and cooperative, and in every case the questions were answered carefully and at length. Special acknowledgment should be made to:

Emma O. Lundberg, director of Research and statistics, New York Emergency Relief Administration.

Mary L. Gibbons, director of Emergency Home Relief Bureau, Department Public Welfare, New York City.

We take this occasion to acknowledge in particular the assistance received from:

Inspection and study of single mens' shelters.

Compilation and study of complaints.

Paralleling the intensive survey of different departments of the Relief Administration work, a series of subject hearings were held in which the Committee met with executives and workers of the relief organization, outside agencies, including civic, commercial and quasi-public groups.

These meetings were confined to one subject each.

Careful agenda were prepared with questions for each person to answer and presented to him at the beginning of the meeting. These questions were formulated—first, to keep the discussion strictly to the subject of the meeting; second, to bring out material and suggestions for further research.

Opportunity for frank discussion was given and stenographic minutes were kept for the use of the Committee.

These hearings were particularly valuable in bringing out all of the aspects of the problems under discussion from the standpoint of the public as well as the relief workers themselves. In many cases recommendations presented by this Survey are based on material secured at these hearings.

The Committee is deeply indebted to the public officials, members of private organizations, professional and technical advisors who contributed so generously of their time and information at these hearings and in furnishing supplemental data. The public spirit and willingness to serve the City shown by these individuals and groups convinced the Survey of the importance and desirability of establishing advisory Councils in connection with the administration of relief so that this wide fund of special knowledge might be placed at the service of the Relief Administration. In this connection we wish particularly to acknowledge the assistance of the following persons who participated in the hearings:

LETTER FROM DR. ALONZO E. TAYLOR.

Stanford University, California, September 8, 1933.

The Honorable A. J. Rossi, City Hall, San Francisco, California.

My dear Mayor Rossi: In May I resigned from the Committee appointed by you to investigate administration of relief in San Francisco. I had nothing to do with the investigation. On my return Dr. Lucas has been good enough to lay before me a copy of the report, with a request for an ex parte comment. This I am glad to give.

I find the report discriminating, sympathetic, tolerant, and progressive. Considering the time available to the Committee, the report contains a surprising amount of research. The recommendations strike me as deserving of the most serious consideration. I am sure that when this emergency is past the people of San Francisco will find that a piece of social service has been done which will prove useful on future occasions. I am sorry not to have had the privilege of participating in this investigation and congratulate the authorities of San Francisco and the members of the Committee upon the excellent accomplishment.

I remain,

Very sincerely yours,

A. E. TAYLOR.

FOREWORD.

After a careful study of all of the activities of the Relief Administration under the Citizens' Advisory Committee, which was set up in September, 1932, and after a consideration of the problem of emergency relief as a whole, we find that, always considering the emergency status, the administration of relief in San Francisco has been adequate, comparatively economical, and in view of the enormous problem and the necessarily hurried set-up of administrative machinery, reasonably efficient.

In the administration of emergency relief for thousands of persons, who for the first time in their lives have become dependent on public funds for food and other necessities, it is apparent that a large number of difficulties must arise.

In studying the reports on relief administration from twenty of the largest cities in the country it is evident that San Francisco has had practically none of the major difficulties that have beset other cities during this emergency period.

There have been no food riots, no epidemics, no general violence, no large demonstrations of the unemployed, and according to the statement of the Chief of Police, the City has been a white spot in the entire country for lack of crime increase and other police problems.

It would be unfair to consider the subject of relief administration without keeping these general results in mind, namely, that the needy unemployed in San Francisco have been more liberally cared for than in other large cities at a rather lower rate per capita of population than in other places; that peace and public safety have been preserved, and that there has been apparently no detriment to the general health and morale of San Francisco's relief clients during the emergency period.

We find that practically all of the justified complaints against the present relief administration are due directly or indirectly to the emergency conditions. The lack of uniformity in the giving of relief and the misunderstanding or misinterpretation of rules and regulations relating to relief on the part of both relief clients nad relief workers, from which most of the difficulties have arisen, also can be traced to conditions arising from the emergency status of the administration.

In justice, praise must be given the private agencies which, with limited facilities and administration organization, keyed to the light case load of previous years, undertook to meet the enormous problems arising suddenly, and have carried up to the present time the heavy burdens of the relief problem in San Francisco. The executives and employees of these agencies have worked day and night without rest or recreation in order that the hungry might be fed as well and as quickly as possible. Our Committee wishes to make clear that such criticisms as occur in the following pages are cited to show where improvement may be made in setting up the semi-permanent organization that has now become admittedly necessary, and not to question the diligence or integrity of any of the individuals who have given so unsparingly of their efforts on behalf of the needy and distressed unemployed of San Francisco. From contemporary reports from other cities it is evident that San Francisco stands high in the first line of relief administration at the present time.

With the above statements in mind, but in view of the fact that the status of emergency is no longer tenable, and that some form of relief administration must be in existence in San Francisco for a long time to come, we believe that emergency methods are no longer justified, and that under the new Federal and State regulations regarding relief expenditures certain fundamental changes should be made. That a uniform system of relief should be established so that all citizens, regardless of race, religion or other segregation, shall be treated alike and subject to the same rules and regulations. That careful inquiry into eligibility for relief should be made in all cases, and that all persons for whom relief is not absolutely essential should be dropped as speedily as possible from the relief rolls.

As a general policy, it is recommended: That in every phase of relief work, the existing responsible commercial, professional and civic bodies already established be utilized to the fullest extent. That representatives of these groups be asked to serve as advisory members of councils, coordinated with the Citizens' Relief Committee. That no department or agency be set up by the relief committee to duplicate work that is now being done in a satisfactory manner by commercial, professional and civic bodies. That every effort be made to turn back into the normal channels of technical and commercial operation the needs that arise during the emergency relief period, always taking into consideration the question of eventual cost to the taxpayers.

Agencies Administering City Relief Funds in San Francisco.

Until the present emergency, general family relief in San Francisco has been provided through private agencies, financed mainly through the Community Chest. Each winter the City has granted funds to provide for the usual winter unemployment, which have been administered in connection with the Laguna Honda Home. In addition, a fund, usually about $20,000, has been granted from the Urgent Necessity or Emergency Fund of the City to the Associated Charities for family relief. In previous years these public expenditures have represented only a small fraction of the relief load of the community.

In 1930 the burden of caring for unemployed families became too heavy for the private charities to carry unaided, and in July, 1930, the City adopted the plan of supplementing the funds of the Associated Charities; at first at the rate of $10,000 a month and later in increasing amounts.

In November, 1930, the Board of Supervisors appropriated $50,000 and organized a "Citizens' Committee for the Stimulation of Employment," which established a system of work relief, under which a limited number of days' work was allotted at the rate of $5 a day for men and $4 a day for women.

Current City funds were insufficient to meet the demands for the work relief program and a bond issue of $2,500,000 was voted in February, 1931, to carry on work projects. The expenditure of these bond funds was placed under a group of citizens appointed by the Mayor and designated as "Trustees of the Unemployment Bond Fund."

The work relief program was continued until July 1, 1931, when a system of straight relief was adopted, financed from City appropriations and from contributions made by the City employees. The City appropriations amounted to $350,000 for the first six months of the fiscal year 1931-32, and the City employees contributed one day's pay a month, beginning October 1, 1931.

The actual handling of family relief was entrusted to three agencies: The Associated Charities, the Eureka Benevolent Society and the Italian Board of Relief. Single men were given meals at the Community Kitchen, which had been built and equipped by a private citizen and established in January, 1931. Single women were aided through the Women's Division of the Unemployment Relief Administration, created July 1, 1931, under standards similar to those adopted for families.

In August, 1932, the City voted relief bonds to the amount of $6,500,000, and following passage of the bonds the Mayor and Board of Supervisors appointed the Superintendent of the Laguna Honda Home as Director of Relief and a Citizens' Advisory Committee, charged with the duty of establishing standards of administration. The bond funds were supplemented by continuing contributions from the City employees. In July, 1932, the basis of these contributions was changed from one day's pay a month to a larger percentage of salary. The contributions continued until April 11, 1933, when a general pay cut was voted, reducing the pay of all City employees.

Beginning in April, 1933, the U. S. Reconstruction Finance Corporation reimbursed the Relief Administration for the major part of the relief expenditures. In June, 1933, a State bond issue of $20,000,000 was voted; the proceeds to be loaned to the counties under standards set up by the State Emergency Relief Commission. In July, 1933, under the National Recovery Act, the Federal Relief Administration superseded the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in handling Federal relief funds, and a cooperative arrangement was made for establishing identical Federal-State standards of relief. From August 1, 1933, on, all funds expended by the City in accordance with these Federal-State standards, the City will be reimbursed from the Federal funds for one-third of the allowed expenditures (direct grant), and will be loaned an equal sum from the State Relief Funds.

At the end of July, 1933, the Citizens' Advisory Relief Committee was accepted by the Federal and State authorities as an executive agency, and this reorganization was accepted by the Board of Supervisors on August 6, 1933.

Among the Federal-State standards is the condition that all public relief funds may be expended only by public agencies. In accordance with this condition, the administration of relief by three private agencies was ordered to be discontinued and a public agency created to administer emergency relief.

Expenditures for Unemployment Relief in San Francisco.

The expenditures for emergency relief in San Francisco during the present period can best be understood by comparison with corresponding expenditures for the past five years. Previous to 1930 the care for needy families had been financed by private agencies from private funds. In normal times these expenditures ran under $700,000 a year. In 1930 the burden grew heavy and towards the end of the year the City began to supplement private relief. In 1931 private expenditures increased to over $800,000; the City contributions to direct relief were extended, and a wide work-relief program was undertaken. In 1932 private expenditures passed the million mark but the major part of the load was taken over by the City in the form of direct relief. During the first five months of the present year the City expended nearly $2,500,000, with private contributions amounting to less than one-tenth of the City's share.

The huge increase in expenditures, beginning in 1931, and the shift of the burden of family relief from private to public sources is shown graphically in the accompanying chart. (Chart I, p. 18.)

Following are charts* showing public and private expenditures under the Citizens' Agency (Chart II, p. 19), the Italian Board of Relief (Chart III, p. 20), and the Eureka Benevolent Society (Chart IV, p. 21). The general shift from public to private sources of funds is more marked in the Citizens' Agency and Italian Board of Relief than in the whole picture of family relief in San Francisco (Chart I), and this mushroom expansion in the service of these two agencies explains the emergencies under which they labored.

Chart IV, showing the expenditures of the Eureka Benevolent Society is strikingly different from the charts which precede. It reflects the long time social program of the Jewish Charities, calling for generous expenditures during years of prosperity, but enabling the group to withstand the tide of depression with comparatively little call upon public funds.

*Note—On Charts III and IV the scale is reduced.

Effect of the Emergency Relief Program on Other Public and Private Aid.

To determine whether the emergency relief program was carrying the load of family relief and not throwing unseen burdens upon other forms of public and private aid, complete data were secured covering aid to children, the aged and blind for the past five years. These figures are portrayed graphically on Chart V (see p. 23).

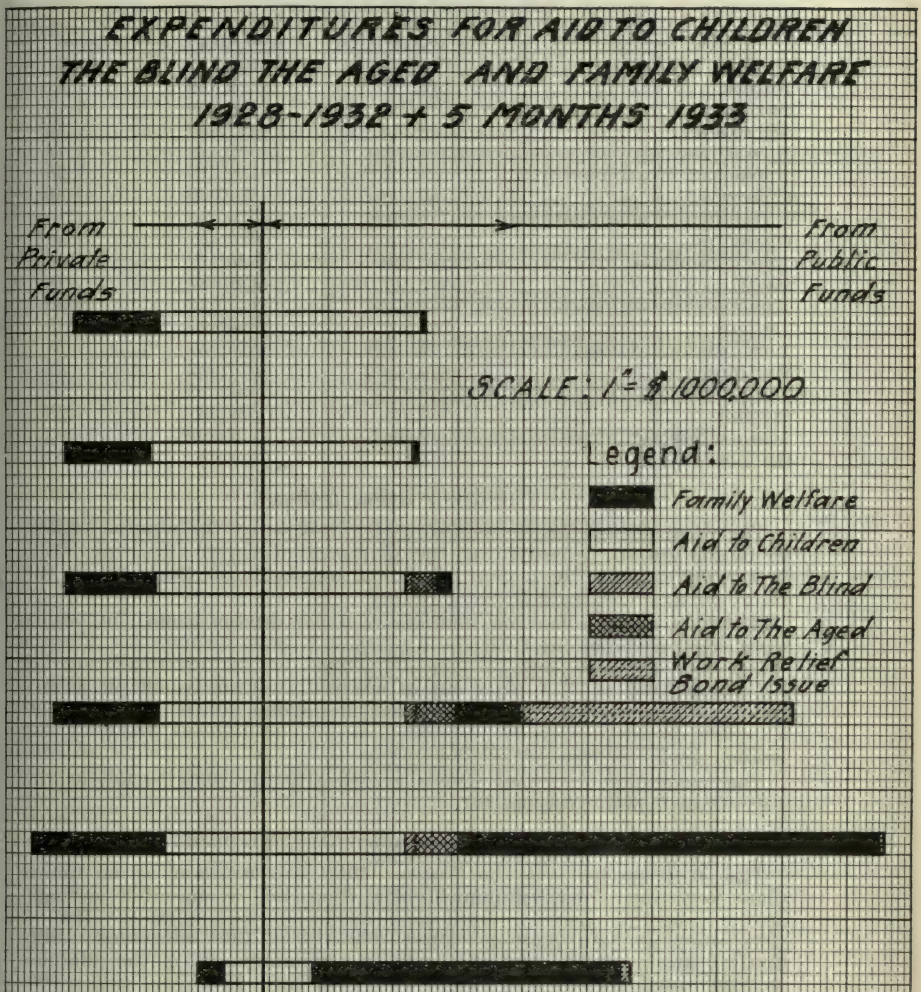
This chart emphasizes the large program in aid of children, carried on year after year. The emergency relief has obviously thrown no extra burden upon this aid as expenditures for children have contracted slightly but definitely. This trend is contrary to the general trend reported by the U. S. Children's Bureau (August, 1933), which indicates an increase in children's aid, averaging 10 per cent for ninety-seven agencies throughout the country. Aid to the aged, while naturally expanding, has increased less than might be expected. Aid to the blind constitutes a small part of the total, and has not been affected measurably.

Relief Expenditures in San Francisco in Comparison With Other Cities.

The average monthly expenditures in San Francisco, per family, during June, 1933, was $27.93, in comparison with a general average for the country of $18.97*. This computation was based upon reports of 569 agencies, many in smaller cities where relief costs are commonly less.

To secure a general comparison of the relief burden in San Francisco and that of other large cities of the country, expenditures were computed for the month of May, in relation to the total population of the area served. San Francisco's relief expenditures for the month totaled $588,112. With a population (1930) of 634,394, the per capita expenditure for May for San Francisco amounted to $0.93. Corresponding per capita expenditures were computed for eighteen other larger and small cities, which would offer a fair comparison. The figures are given in the accompanying table and graphically shown on Chart VI (see p. 25).

With a per capita expenditure of $0.93 per month, San Francisco stands mid-way in the group of cities. On the chart the blocks are cross-hatched where the relief district includes area outside city, and solid where only city area is covered. Naturally the nonurban area showed lower per capita costs, and the larger cities would commonly have heavier per capita costs than smaller cities.



Of the nine cities with lower per capita expenditures, all but three included nonurban area. Baltimore and Philadelphia, whose per capita expenditures were lower than San Francisco, have large colored populations and relief expenditures are commonly less in non-white groups. All but the two lowest of this group of cities are within 15 per cent of the San Francisco per capita.

The nine cities with higher per capita costs included only two with nonurban areas. Cleveland, the lowest of the group, is 12 per cent higher than San Francisco, and the costs of the other cities range up to New York City, with $1.43; Milwaukee, $1.45; Portland, Oregon, $1.49; Boston, $1.62; and Buffalo, $1.87.

The City's Relief Dollar.

The emphasis of the present survey is laid upon the administration of family relief. Subdividing the City's relief dollar for June, 1933, brings out clearly the reason for laying emphasis on this part of the relief program.

Of every dollar spent on emergency relief during June, 79.5 cents were spent through the Citizens' Agency, 2.5 cents through the Eureka Benevolent Society, and 5.2 cents through the Italian Board of Relief; or a total of 87.2 cents out of every dollar was spent on family relief. Six cents was spent on shelter and meals for single men, and 5.2 cents on single women. Clothing, shoes and lunches made up the balance of 1.6 cents.

The accompanying chart shows graphically the distribution of the City's relief dollar (see p. 26).

Decrease in Employment and Earnings.

The stock market crash in October, 1929, was followed by an immediate lessening of employment in San Francisco as in other sections of the country. Locally, work held up fairly well until the fall of 1930, when it again slumped badly. The fall of 1931 witnessed a still further slump which continued, with a temporary lift in the summer of 1932, until bottom was reached in February, 1933. At that point less than 60 per cent of the normal number of workers were being employed.

The accompanying graph (see p. 27) brings out clearly the course of employment in San Francisco, month by month, from January, 1925, to June, 1933. The graph also shows the corresponding course of employment for the state as a whole. The base line of 100 represents the average of employment for the year 1926, which is considered a fairly representative year. From this graph it will be seen that employment in San Francisco during 1927 and 1928 was less than in 1926. The City did not experience the boom which almost all other cities experienced from 1926 to 1929, and as a consequence the slump since 1929 has been less severe.

Comparison of employment in San Francisco with the state as a whole brings out the greater steadiness of employment in San Francisco throughout the year, the absence of boom previous to 1929, and the greater amount of employment since the break. It will also be noted that the pick-up since February, 1933, has been far greater in San Francisco than in the state as a whole.

Payrolls.

The chart of employment should be studied in connection with the chart indicating payrolls during the same period (see p. 29). It will be noted that payrolls have decreased far more than employment, due to pay cuts, staggered work and shortened hours. Payrolls in San Francisco were lower in 1927 and 1928 than the 1926 average. Payrolls rose in 1929, but since the break, payrolls in San Francisco have held up more strongly, although the past year shows less difference. At the low point in January, 1933, the payroll index for San Francisco was only 43, while the index for the state had dropped to 39. June, 1933, shows recovery for San Francisco to 53, and for the state to 47.

With the volume of employment reduced over 40 per cent, and payrolls reduced 55 per cent, the huge task of relief administration becomes apparent.

SECTION II.

Summary and Conclusions.

ADMINISTRATIVE SET-UP.

The following pages contain in detail the recommendations as to administrative changes.

Procedure in the Citizens' Agency, administering more than 75 per cent of the relief expenditures at the present time, has been an enlargement of the personnel of the original administration of the Associated Charities, without the decentralization or delegation of authority as the case load increased. The executive functions remained in a very few officials, and as the volume increased, these executives were burdened with an overwhelming amount of responsibility, impossible of adequate attention. With the added personnel, drawn largely from inexperienced persons, many on relief, and without opportunity for training, the efficiency of the work necessary to care for the enormous burden of families on relief was seriously impaired.

The centralizing of all departments and the multiplication of records added to the confusion. The setting up of various bureaus, functioning, in many cases, quite independently of other departments, made further complications. The enormous accounting and clerical load, incidental to operation of the groceteria, and the delivery of food boxes to thousands of families in all parts of the City, from one depot, increased the difficulties. When to this condition was added the problem of hundreds of messages regarding food, rent payments, light and power bills, complaints of food delivery, and the registering of persons on relief, all concentrated in one central place, with a large staff of unassimilated workers in crowded quarters, some picture of the problem of emergency administration may be imagined.

Recommendations.

The Chart of Administrative Set-Up (Chart X, p. 30) shows the recommended plan for curing some of the difficulties encountered in the past by the Relief Administration.

Fundamental changes include:

Decentralizing into districts for the purposes of registering and visiting persons on relief.

Simplifying procedure, defining functions, and delegating responsibility.

Standardization of personnel under central bureau with uniform ratings of qualifications and salaries.

Centralized accounting, with uniform segregation of accounts to produce: (1) accuracy; (2) availability for statistical study.

Providing for greater responsibility in Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee, through sub-committees and councils, coordinating with civic, quasi-public and commercial agencies of related interests.

Establishment of a Public Relations Bureau for the purposes of research, coordination of the Relief Administration with the general public, and as a clearing point for all publication of information.

Establishment of a Council and Bureau of Complaints, with open, public meetings, to which all relief clients, as well as other citizens, can have easy access for a full hearing.

ADMINISTRATIVE SET-UP.

Emergency Relief Committee.

The Emergency Relief Committee should have final responsibility to the City, the State and the Federal Government for all expenditures of relief funds. The Committee should serve as a final board for decision on all recommendations of the councils and executives.

Director of Relief.

The Director of Relief should be the executive officer of the Emergency Relief Committee. The Assistant Director would serve as a general assistant to the director. The Division of Public Relations, Research, Complaints, Information, Legislation, the Controller, Accounting, Personnel, Equipment, Supplies, the Community Kitchen, and the Division of Transients would come directly under the director.

Superintendent of Work and Rehabilitation.

The Superintendent of Work and Rehabilitation should have charge of the employment and segregation of all men and women on relief. He would have general supervision over all work allotment and work projects on which persons on relief are employed. He would be responsible for safety inspection of all working conditions under the control of the Relief Administration.

The Superintendent should be a person with experience in construction and engineering projects and should have two assistants, one a specialist in employment, and the other experienced in practical construction work.

FUNCTIONS OF COMMITTEES.

Committee on Rules.

All rules and regulations should be submitted to the Committee on Rules before submission to the General Committee.

Committee on Personnel.

The Committee on Personnel should consist of three members of the General Committee, to whom should be referred all debatable questions as to personnel, standards of personnel, rating and salary standards; the appointment of all important department and bureau executives should be passed upon by this committee for formal recommendation.

Committee on Complaints.

The Committee on Complaints should consist of three members of the General Committee. The terms of service of this Committee should rotate so that all members serve on this Committee in the course of a year.

All routine complaints should clear through the regular complaint bureau or department, and no complaints should come to this Committee except on appeal.

The Committee on Complaints should be advertised as easily accessible to any person on relief as a ready court of appeal. The utmost care should be exercised to allow a full airing of grievances, without restraint, and every effort should be made to conduct these hearings in the manner of a dignified tribunal. Constant effort should be made to bring persons on relief who have grievances into contact with the "higher-up" group, especially if the grievance involves personnel. This would serve to eliminate the establishment of self-constituted "defenders of the weak."

No complaints should be heard at the regular meetings of the Committee until they have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Complaints.

Superintendent of Relief.

The Superintendent should be a person having welfare executive experience in relief. He should have charge of all matters pertaining to care given to families and individuals, excepting through the Transient Division. Each bureau should be in charge of a competent person who can relieve the Superintendent of all detail work in connection with his bureau.

Assistant Superintendents.

The Assistant Superintendents should carry the main responsibility for the operation of the district offices. The work of the Assistant Superintendents should be essentially educational. It is recommended that they conduct a weekly staff meeting of Supervisors and Assistant Supervisors at which policy and practice would be discussed so that procedure in all offices would be uniform. They should also conduct a staff meeting once a week in each district office to teach the visitors standards of work, social practice and community resources. They should also prepare a manual for visitors with rules and regulations for procedure, and up-to-date data as to other social agencies, with names, addresses, telephone numbers, and all other data which a visitor might profitably utilize.

District Organization.

In the Citizens' Agency the visiting staff, with the exception of the Chinese and Spanish language divisions, are centralized in the vicinity of Eddy and Gough streets. The study of agency operations has emphasized the ineffectiveness of the present centralization. The intricate system of the agency absorbs a considerable part of the visitors' time in "paper work" and office routine, greatly reducing their time in the field. Distance from their families, along with inadequate motor facilities, cuts down still further on their contacts. If the client wishes to see the visitor, he is obliged to pay carfare or to walk long distances. Of the families visited by the Survey investigators, nearly half reported infrequent contacts with their visitors. As many of the persons on aid have casual work, it is particularly important that the social workers be located where they can have frequent contacts with their families and where they can pick up neighborhood information.

It is recommended that the City be divided into approximately ten districts, and that each district office be established in approximately the population center of the respective district. This would bring all families within walking distance of this office.

The proposed set-up for a district office would include:

1 Supervisor.
1 Assistant Supervisor.
1 Office Manager.
1 Receptionist.
1 File Clerk.
2 Stenographers.
1 Janitor and handyman.
1 Visitor per 100 cases.

The Supervisor or Assistant Supervisor should take all first interviews, thereby having the opportunity of promptly weeding out applicants not eligible for aid, which is not possible when a less responsible person takes the first interview. This should require less than the time of one person so that a considerable part of the time of both the Supervisor and Assistant Supervisor would be devoted to supervising the visitors.

The Office Manager would relieve the social work staff of many interruptions and should carry the responsibility of handling checks, orders and other details. It would possibly be advantageous to have men both for Office Managers and Receptionists.

Functions of Central Office Service Departments.

A sharp division is recommended between the functions of the social service and business functions in the Relief Administration. In order that an efficiency standard equal to that of other public offices shall be maintained, the persons in the service bureaus should be chosen for business experience and training, rather than for social service qualifications.

Public Relations Department.

This department should be headed by a person of long experience in public contacts, fully familiar with the problems likely to be encountered in the relationship of a large public project with all factions of City government and general citizenry.

The head of this department should act as ex-officio member of all councils and should visa all material for publication before release to the press or other publicity outlets. He should have general supervision of a Research Division, Information Division, Complaint Division, and should keep in constant touch with all Federal, State and City legislation affecting the administration of relief.

Accounting Department.

The Accounting Department should be directly responsible to the Controller, in turn, directly responsible to the City Controller. This department should concentrate all financial records for the Relief Administration, including payrolls.

Personnel Department.

The Personnel Department should be headed by an expert personnel manager, preferably of commercial experience, familiar with organizing and standardizing large groups of employees. This department should keep up-to-date records of all personnel, with service and efficiency ratings. All requests for employees should be cleared through the Personnel Department, and, wherever possible, persons of proven efficiency should be promoted rather than drawn from the outside. All recommendations for salary raises, demotions or dismissals should be cleared through this department. Absence records, sick leaves, vacation periods, and all other details relating to personnel should be kept in complete and up-to-date records in this department.

Equipment, Supplies and Purchasing Department.

Functions of this department should be concentrated under an experienced purchasing agent, preferably of experience in public service, and all purchases of inter-office and other supplies and equipment should be cleared through this department. The head of this department should be directly responsible to the City Purchasing Agent.

COUNCILS.

The Councils are designed as advisory, research and coordinating bodies to aid in study and recommendations on particular problems confronting the Relief Administration.

Organization.

Each Council is to be made up of a member of the Citizens' Committee as chairman, two other members of the Citizens' Committee, the Executive Director (ex-officio), the head of the department or bureau dealing with the specific subject of the Council, the head of the Public Relations Department (ex-officio), and technical advisors from outside public and quasi-public groups dealing with the particular subject from a general civic standpoint.

Meetings.

Councils should hold regular meetings and to them should be referred all questions arising in the main body of the Citizens' Committee and requiring special study before decision. One of the serious lacks of the present system, due to the emergency pressure and hurried consideration of important problems, has been the absence of condensed information available after study on various phases of work.

All Council meetings should be held in a public building, easy of access, open to the general public, and held at regular and set times. If executive sessions are necessary for confidential discussion, special meeting times may be set, but it is recommended that all matters relating to relief policy and problems be made as public as possible so that there may be no misunderstanding on the part of the general public.

Functions.

The Councils should make use, for intensive study, of the Research Bureau, set up under the Public Relations Division, before reporting back to the main committee. This arrangement will make possible a complete survey, whenever necessary, of any particular problem without interrupting the executives handling the actual work.

The Council plan will also give each member of the Citizens' Committee a specific chairmanship, and will put the entire Committee in much closer personal touch with the work and general civic problems surrounding it than has heretofore been possible.

Under the new government set-up the Citizens' Committee will be directly responsible for activities of the Relief Administration, and if any member is not able to give sufficient time to the work, he should be replaced by someone who can give the necessary time.

The Councils are planned under the general administration set-up to cover the following subjects, with executive bureaus handling the same problems, coordinating:

Food, clothing, medical care, property, work and rehabilitation, public utilities and fuel, public relations, single men, single women, transients and non-residents.

The individual functions of the Councils will be as follows:

Food Council.

The Food Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives from the Retail Grocers' Association, Wholesale Grocers' Association, Dairy Council, Produce Dealers, Milk Dealers, and Meat Council, a representative of the Food Inspection Department of the Board of Health, and other experts interested in food should be on call when necessary for consideration of any special problem.

The Food Council should discuss prices, commodities, infringement of the food order rulings, changes in rules and regulations relating to food, relief policies on special diet allowances, and should receive all complaints relating to food, which have cleared through the Complaint Council, for final discussion before presenting them to the General Committee for final decision.

Clothing Council.

The Clothing Council shall include, beside the regular set-up, representatives of the Retail Merchants' Association, Retail Shoe Dealers, Men's Clothing Association, the American Red Cross, Parent-Teachers' Association, Neighborhood House Association, Needlework Guild, Catholic Ladies Aid, United States Army Quartermaster Corps, Community Chest, and any other public or quasi-public agencies giving clothing to needy people.

The Clothing Council shall coordinate all clothing problems, plan for budget needs, inspect and specify standard types of clothing to be purchased, and provide ways and means through volunteer agencies, where possible, for the supplying of special clothing necessary to rehabilitation in specific cases not covered by the general rules.

Housing Council.

The Housing Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives from the Real Estate Board, Apartment House Owners' Association, The Central Council of Improvement Clubs, Bureau of Housing Inspection of the Board of Health, the Sheriff's office on evictions, and such other experts as may be called in from time to time to pass on special issues.

The Housing Council shall pass on all problems relating to rent, housing inspection, standardization of cost of housing, sanitary and fire protection, arranging for exchange of work for housing, complaints of tenants, single men's shelters, and separate housing projects for single men and single women, for both the resident and non-resident groups, and all other matters pertaining to the broad subject of housing persons on relief.

Medical Council.

The Medical Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives of the County Medical Association, the Visiting Nurses' Association, Phelan Foundation, the various clinics caring for relief cases, the Medical Department of the Board of Health, the Dental Association, and other such professional experts as shall be needful from time to time to consider special problems.

The Medical Council shall consider all subjects relating to medical treatment of persons on relief, health standards, problems of psychiatry, dental care, and provisions for appliances necessary in special cases (dentures, eye glasses, artificial limbs, etc.).

Property Council.

The Property Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives of the Real Estate Board, Board of Insurance Underwriters, City Assessor's office, Credit Managers' Association, San Francisco Clearing House, and such other experts as shall be called in from time to time to aid in passing on special problems.

The Property Council shall deal with all matters pertaining to rules of eligibility based on property, and shall decide in special cases whether or not assets of clients on relief should be classed as liquid or frozen. All rules of eligibility, based on property, should be submitted to the Council for discussion before being passed on by the General Committee. The Council on Property shall consider the questions relating to insurance policies held by persons on relief, and shall consider, as a Board of Appeals, all special cases regarding property which have not been satisfactorily answered in the Property Bureau, before final ruling is made by the General Committee.

This Council is charged with one of the most important functions dealing with eligibility for relief, and the members should be willing to give more time than in many of the other councils.

Work and Rehabilitation Council.

The Work and Rehabilitation Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives of the State Department of Public Works, the Board of Public Works of the City and County of San Francisco, the Labor Council, the Building Trades Council, Industrial Association, Bureau of Vocational Guidance, Women's City Club, the Employment Aid, State Department of Industrial Relations, including the State employment agencies, the Vocational Guidance Department of the Department of Education, the Community Chest Recreation Council,

San Francisco Department of Recreation, and such other public and quasi-public agencies dealing with employment, public works, vocational guidance, and constructive recreation and related activities, open to persons on relief, and shall provide plans for use of them by persons on relief.

Public Utilities and Fuel Council.

The Public Utilities and Fuel Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives from the Water Department, from the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, Division of Housing Inspection, Board of Health, and shall call upon the State Railroad Commission from time to time as need arises for special rulings and advice.

The functions of the Public Utilities and Fuel Council shall be to pass upon all rules and regulations for payment of public utility bills of persons on relief and to standardize and stabilize such rules from time to time.

Public Relations Council.

The Public Relations Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives of each of the four daily newspapers, the neighborhood papers, foreign press, the radio stations, and other groups of widespread membership which have machinery for publication of material relating to relief problems.

The function of this Council shall be to formulate policy relating to the relations of the Relief Administration to the general public. It shall function also as an agency for disseminating material originating in the Bureau of Public Relations through the General Committee.

This Council shall be used by the General Committee whenever necessary to acquaint the public with a change of rules or other important information incidental to the Relief Administration.

The Council shall probably have a small executive committee which will meet more often than the full Council, and which will be in constant advisory touch with the Bureau of Public Relations.

The Council shall be used by all departments of the Relief Administration for the discussion of policy and public sentiment. Much of the success of the Relief Administration program depends on a thorough understanding and sympathy on the part of the general public, and unless such a relationship is developed and maintained, there will be increased difficulty in securing the funds necessary to an adequate relief set-up, as well as constant opportunity for agitators to make capital of the misunderstanding or misinterpretation of the work of the Relief Administration.

Single Men's Council.

The Single Men's Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives from each of the following bureaus: Food, clothing, housing, medical care, and work and rehabilitation. The Council shall also include representatives from the private agencies housing single men, the Police Department, Division of Housing Inspection, Board of Health, and representatives from other public and quasi-public agencies as are necessary from time to time.

The function of the Single Men's Council shall be to discuss all problems relating to both resident and transient men on relief, and to aid in segregating and providing for the various classifications within the group as to feeding, housing and other relief.

Although the single men's problem is not an economically important one compared with the larger relief groups, many questions of public safety and welfare, and other important considerations are centered in the handling of single men who need relief.

Single Women's Council.

The Single Women's Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives from the Community Chest agencies dealing with women, the Bureau of Housing Inspection, Board of Health, the Police Department, business and professional women's organizations and other such public and quasi-public agencies as may be called upon from time to time to deal with special problems.

The function of the Single Women's Council shall be to deal with all problems relating to single women on relief, and to discuss such individual case problems as cannot be cleared through regular channels, or which require special attention and decision.

This group, while numerically small, represents a variety of difficult problems, and a very large proportion of the cases need psychiatric or other special care.

The Council shall clear all such special problems presented to it by the bureau before submitting them to the General Committee.

More than all other groups on relief the Single Women's Division represents individual case work, and this Council shall serve more in an advisory and research capacity than in an executive sense.

Transient and Non-Resident Council.

The Transient and Non-Resident Council shall include, besides the regular set-up, representatives from the Federal and State agencies handling relief and related problems, as this division of relief is not only a local but also an interstate and inter-community problem.

The Council's functions will be largely those of research and formulation of rules and regulations to coordinate with those of other localities.

THE RULES OF ELIGIBILITY

In September, 1932, the Citizens' Advisory Relief Committee adopted Rules of Eligibility, which, with amendments to date, read as follows:

Residence.

To be eligible for continuing relief:

a. A family which was receiving relief as of September 1, 1932, or a family which, having received relief prior to September 1, 1932, again applies for relief on or after September 1, 1932, shall have been resident in San Francisco for not less than one year immediately preceding September 1, 1932.

b. A family which applies for relief subsequent to September 1, 1932, and which has not theretofore received relief, shall have been a resident in San Francisco for not less than one year immediately preceding the date of application for relief.

Income Qualification.

An applicant otherwise eligible may receive full food relief provided the total monthly family income does not exceed the amounts set forth in the following schedule:

Family of 2 persons	$25.00
Family of 3 or 4 persons	30.00
Family of 5 or 6 persons	35.00
Family of 7 or more persons	40.00

On February 15, 1933, income allowances were changed in the following manner:

For a family of two—$30 instead of $25 previously allowed.

For a family of three—$35 instead of $30 previously allowed.

For all larger families—$40 instead of $30, $35, $40 previously allowed.

If the total monthly income exceeds the amount set forth above, and if the excess is less than the full value of the food relief as such value is from time to time established by the Director of Relief, the applicant may receive partial food relief equivalent in value to full food relief less the amount of the excess income. If the total monthly income of the family exceeds the amount set forth in the above schedule plus the value of full food relief, no relief will be granted.

The amounts set forth in the above schedule are calculated with reference to the cost of rent and other basic necessities, excepting only food. In the case of an applicant who owns his own home outright, or whose interest payment on his home is less than the calculated cost of rent, or who for any reason is obtaining suitable living accommodations at less than the calculated cost of rent, the amounts set forth in the above schedule will be correspondingly reduced.

In computing the total family income, there shall be included not less than 75 per cent of the income of working sons and daughters who are living at home.

Each head of a family who is able to work will give his work in return for food relief at the rate of one week's work for three weeks' relief.

Property Qualifications.

In no case and under no consideration shall relief be granted when such relief will result in increasing the recipient's capital investment in property of any description including homes.

Excepting:

a. An investment in a home designed for single family occupancy and actually occupied by the client and his family.

b. Furniture used by the applicant and his family.

c. Trade equipment and fixtures actually used in the conduct of business.

d. Liquid assets not exceeding $100.

All resources and investments shall have been exhausted prior to the granting of relief.

Owners of insurance policies must apply cash loan value in excess of $100 or in excess of three years' premium, whichever is higher, to family support before becoming eligible for relief.

Miscellaneous.

Written authority to inquire into bank accounts, building and loan investments, and any other forms of investment, shall be required of an applicant for relief. If an applicant for relief has relatives who are required by law and are able to support or provide for the applicant, effort shall be made to induce or compel such legally responsible relatives to make the required provision.

Special Cases.

These rules are subject to exceptions in special cases in which undue hardship would result from their strict observance.

Authority to make exceptions is vested only in a special committee set up for that purpose.

Pending adjudication by the special committee, the Director may order relief to be continued.

The study made of cases on relief indicates that many instances arise under these rules which call for special and individual consideration in order to relieve actual distress. However, the Committee on Appeals has not been brought into action and in many cases the rules have not been followed. Careful consideration of all the conditions has brought the Survey Committee to the conclusion that the principle of the Committee on Appeals must be incorporated into the working machinery of the Relief Administration. The Property Bureau, under the Property Council (which would include three members of the Emergency Relief Committee) would serve as a Committee on Appeals for all matters pertaining to property. The Non-Resident Bureau, under a similar Non-Resident Council, would serve as a Committee on Appeals in matters of residence. On a few additional points the Survey Committee considers that the rules for eligibility should be made more explicit.

The following new rules are suggested, with explanations as to the proposed changes:

RESOURCES.

The present rules would be unchanged excepting that the clause "A single family dwelling occupied by the owner" would be changed to read "Real Property as noted under 'Property.'" The reasons for this change are given under "Property."

The proposed rule as to resources would read as follows:

Resources.

All resources and investments shall have been exhausted prior to the granting of relief, excepting:

1. REAL PROPERTY AS NOTED UNDER "PROPERTY."
2. Furniture used by the applicant and his family.
3. Trade fixtures and equipment actually used in the conduct of a business.
4. Liquid assets not exceeding $100.

Written authority to inquire into bank accounts, building and loan investments, life insurance and any other forms of investment, shall be required of an applicant for relief.

RESIDENCE.

The rules on residence should be rewritten in order to meet conditions explicitly. At the present time great confusion exists as to residence. In past years private social agencies in San Francisco have commonly given aid to non-residents, and in taking over the family relief cases the Relief Administration is confronted with the problem of some families who are, legally not residents of San Francisco but who have lost their former residence through the fact that the private agency policy did not conform to the requirements of legal residence. This is a transition problem and is a condition for which the families involved are not to blame. The Survey Committee therefore recommends that all families who have actually resided in San Francisco for a year, whether or not they have received aid during the year, be blanketed in as residents. Prompt recheck of the active files is urged so that no more families may be permitted to drift into a similar status.

Provision should be made for a Transient Division as well as a Non-Resident Division because of the new Federal regulations. Under these regulations a transient is defined as a person who has been within the state less than a year and the federal government proposes to pay the entire relief bill for this group of persons. However, it is not known how long the government will continue to provide for the transients and the Survey Committee recommends against encouraging transients to remain.

The proposed rule as to residence would read as follows:

Cases Now on Aid.

1. All persons who are now receiving aid who have resided in San Francisco continuously since August 1, 1932, shall be eligible for continuing aid, whether or not they received aid before establishing legal residence.

2. All persons now on aid who can definitely establish legal residence in San Francisco, whether or not they have resided in San Francisco during the entire twelve (12) preceding months, shall be eligible for continuing aid.

3. All persons now receiving aid who cannot qualify under paragraph (1) or (2) above shall be transferred immediately to the Non-Resident Bureau.

Applications for Aid Subsequent to August, 1933.

1. All persons who have resided in San Francisco for the twelve (12) months preceding application for relief shall be eligible for aid, excepting persons who have received relief during that period through the Non-Resident or Transient Bureau.
2. All persons who can definitely establish a legal residence in San Francisco, whether or not they have resided within San Francisco during the entire preceding twelve (12) months, shall be eligible for aid.
3. All persons who cannot immediately establish proof under paragraph (1) or (2) above, shall be transferred to the Non-Resident Bureau.

Non-Resident and Transient Cases.

Prompt determination of residence shall be made on all cases referred to the Non-Resident Bureau. Pending determination emergency aid only shall be given.

Persons who have been in San Francisco less than one year but in the state for more than a year shall be designated as non-residents.

Persons who have been in the state for less than one year shall be designated as transients and immediately transferred to the Transient Division.

Every effort shall be made to return both non-residents and transients to their place of legal residence. Persons who receive any relief through the Non-Resident or Transient Division shall not acquire residence in San Francisco until one year after all aid has been discontinued. All persons receiving non-resident or transient relief shall be explicitly informed of this rule when aid is given.

INCOME.

The income allowances for families on relief cover only basic necessities and essentials. In various cases an individual urgently needs special clothing or other special service to assist in obtaining employment. Under the rules such articles may be accepted by the family but cash may not be received with which the family may make the purchases direct. In practice this rule is violated in many cases. The Survey Committee considers that occasionally such additions to income are essential to the chance of re-employment and recommends that the rules of eligibility be amended to recognize this necessity and to keep its operation under control. This amendment would appear as the final paragraph in the section on income. The whole section would read as follows:

Income.

An applicant otherwise eligible may receive full food relief provided the total family income does not exceed the amounts set forth in the following schedule:

Family of 2	$30
Family of 3	35
Family of 4 or more	40

If the total family income exceeds the amount set forth above, and if the excess is less than the full value of the food relief as such value is from time to time established by the Director of Relief, the applicant may receive partial food relief equivalent in value to full food relief less the amount of the excess income. If the total monthly family income exceeds the amount set forth in the above schedule plus the value of full food relief, no relief shall be granted.

The amounts set forth in the above schedule are calculated with reference to the cost of rent and other basic necessities, excepting only food. In the case of an applicant who owns his own home outright, or whose interest payment on his home is less than the calculated cost of rent, or who for any reason is obtaining suitable living accommodations at less than the calculated cost of rent, the amounts set forth in the above schedule will be correspondingly reduced.

In computing total family income there shall be included not less than 75 per cent of the income of working sons and daughters who are living in the home.

With the written approval of the Superintendent of Relief a recipient of aid may be permitted to accept a gift of money or to have earnings during a particular month, which would bring his total income for that month beyond the income limit as set forth above, provided that the amount of excess income is used for a special purpose approved by the Superintendent.

PROPERTY.

The study of cases in the relief agencies indicates great unevenness in the allowances permitted for property holdings. When the Rules of Eligibility were drafted it was practically impossible to mortgage property at normal rates or for long terms, and the rules very properly omitted mention of mortgageability.

Families are now on relief who own homes of considerable value free of encumbrance. Where such homes can now be mortgaged with safety through the Home Loan Bank or through regular banking channels on a long-term basis, at normal rates of interest, the Committee recommends that on homes exceeding $2,000 assessed value, the value be considered as a cash resource.

In cases of two-family dwellings, the Committee recommends individual consideration of each such dwelling. Many of these houses have little value; the owners are frequently receiving no rent, and in other cases are permitting unemployed persons to occupy the rooms.

In regard to families owning two pieces of property it was found in various instances that the second piece of property consisted of a lot in some remote locality, of almost no value, and quite unsalable.

Equity increases were discovered in nearly half the cases investigated, in some instances plainly violating the rules, but in other cases amounting to only a few dollars. In almost all cases these payments were made to fulfill contract obligations and because of fear of losing the property. The Committee, therefore, recommends that, where an applicant is under contract to continue payments and in danger of losing his home if such payments are stopped, the Property Bureau should give assistance in readjusting the contract so that payments may be postponed.

The proposed rules regarding property would read as follows:

One Piece of Property. Single Family Dwelling.

The ownership of a single family dwelling, occupied by the owner, shall not disqualify an applicant from receiving relief, excepting in the case of property which meets the following three conditions:

1. Free of encumbrance.
2. Assessed valuation of $2,000 or more.
3. Mortgageable through the Home Loan Bank or basis, through regular bank channels, on long term, at normal interest rates.

Two Family Dwelling.

All cases of two family dwellings shall be referred to the Property Division for individual consideration.

Two Pieces of Property.

All cases of applicants having two pieces of property shall be referred to the Property Division for individual consideration. If either piece of property is mortgageable through the Home Loan Bank or regular banking channels, the mortgageable limit shall be considered as cash resources. If the second piece of property (not the home) is salable, the net cash receivable shall be regarded as a cash resource.

Equity Increase.

In no case, under no circumstance, shall relief be granted when such relief will result in increasing the recipient's capital investment. In cases where an applicant is under contract to make principal payments the Property Division will assist in readjusting the contract so that principal payments may be postponed until the applicant is no longer on relief. Pending adjustment, the family may be given emergency relief only.

INSURANCE.

The survey of cases indicated that a large number of the families are carrying insurance policies. As no provision is made in the emergency budget for insurance these premiums can be paid only from the meat check or from excess earnings. The Committee, therefore, recommends that the rules be amplified to bring the matter under proper control.

The suggested rule would read as follows:

Insurance.

No family shall be permitted to take out new insurance while on aid.

All cases in which the family is paying $4 monthly or more on insurance shall be referred to the Property Division for individual consideration.

Owners of insurance policies must apply cash loan value in excess of $100 or in excess of three years' premium, whichever is higher, to family support before becoming eligible for food relief. This insurance premium reserve shall be in addition to the total cash resource permitted.

RESPONSIBLE RELATIVES.

The survey of cases indicated that responsible relatives have not always been investigated or when interviewed, the visitor has frequently accepted a general denial of ability to contribute without definitely inquiring into their income. Also, families are now on aid who have brothers, sisters or other close relatives, amply able to provide, who have not been contacted. Although these relatives may not be legally responsible, effort should be made to induce them to assume and carry their natural responsibilities.

The suggested rule in regard to responsible relatives should read as follows:

Responsible Relatives.

If an applicant for relief has relatives who are required by law and who are able to provide for the applicant, effort shall be made to induce or compel such legally responsible relatives to make the required provision. Definite information shall be secured as to the financial ability of all legally responsible relatives. The legally responsible relatives are: Father, mother, adult children, grandparents and adult grandchildren. Where brothers, sisters or other close relatives are financially able to contribute, effort should be made to induce them to provide.

WORK FOR RELIEF.

In line with the federal recommendations, the Committee recommends that the rules be amplified to provide for relief work performed by skilled workers where working at their own skilled trades.

The suggested rule would read as follows:

Work for Relief.

Each head of a family who is able to work shall give his work in return for relief at the rate of one week's work for three weeks' relief, excepting in the case of skilled workers when required to work at their special trades. In such cases the amount of time required shall be computed on the basis of the amount of relief given in relation to the standard rates of pay established in the given occupation.

FOOD

Methods of Distribution.

At the present time there are four methods of food relief in San Francisco: Direct cash by the Eureka Benevolent Society; grocery order on specified grocers, with cash supplement, by the Italian Board of Relief; grocery order, without cash supplement, on one grocer in the Chinese division of the Citizens' Agency; and in the very large majority of cases in the Citizens' Agency, direct food relief, plus cash supplement.

In this latter group, a groceteria, from which relief clients may choose from a limited list of commodities to the amount of the cash value of the regular ration, is maintained. A mail order system, by which clients may order special foods from a limited list of commodities for delivery, is also available in this segregation.

This difference in method of handling food relief is due to the fact that the private agencies, charged with administering relief during the emergency period, continued the methods which they had been using in the past. Lack of understanding as to the origin of the different methods of handling relief has caused discussion and dissatisfaction among relief clients, and is responsible for much of the criticism which has been directed at executives of the Relief Administration.

Adequacy.

Careful investigation has convinced the Survey Committee that an adequate standard of food relief has been attained under all of these methods of distribution. There is no evidence of food-deficiency diseases in any of the groups on public relief in San Francisco. Constant checks are being made, and apparently the general health status of the relief group is at least as high as that of the general population of the City.

In the case studies made of 100 typical families in the Citizens' Agency no complaint was made as to the general quality of the food except as to green vegetables. Lack of variety and wilted condition was a reiterated complaint in many cases. There were several complaints against the quality of the bacon. A good deal of waste of unused commodities from standard boxes was indicated. In some cases lack of cooking facilities made use of the standard box difficult. There was a rather general feeling that the standard box did not fit individual needs of the family.

In the Italian Board of Relief, the families studied, some objections were made to the grocers on which orders were given, and a rather large number appeared to be buying bread on credit.

In the Chinese group the fact that all orders are given on one grocer created adverse comment.

In the Eureka Benevolent Society group of families which receive cash, there were naturally no complaints against the quality of the food, this being entirely dependent on the purchaser.

Economy.

On the question of costs a sub-committee (Fuller Committee) of the Citizens' Advisory Committee made an elaborate study last January of the costs of food distribution under different systems. Their findings indicated that direct food distribution was more economical than cash or grocery orders, and in accordance with these findings the system of direct food distribution has been continued by the Citizens' Agency.

The Survey started with the assumption that these savings were genuine and considerable, but careful study of the entire administration of family relief has brought us to the conclusion that the apparent savings are not real. Study of agency operation immediately disclosed the fact that the supervisors and visitors were constantly interrupted by emergencies arising out of failures and errors in the distribution of groceries, and these emergencies demanded precedence over the more important work of the staff. Several of the most intelligent supervisors were asked to study this matter of wasted time and they estimated that almost half of the visitors' time was lost by these interruptions and demands. Observation of the daily agency routine confirmed this estimate and led to the conclusion that a large part of entire administration cost should properly be charged against grocery costs.

What is still more important, however, is the attitude of both visitors and families toward the giving of groceries. They seem to feel, unavoidably, that groceries should be given away with far less care than would be exercised in giving cash. It should be remembered that the majority of families have some income, which should be budgeted carefully and frequently, and the family should be given only enough supplemental aid to bring their income up to the standard established by the Citizens' Committee. The study of hundreds of cases showed that this accurate budgeting was rare. If the family was apparently in need of any assistance at all, full food relief was ordered. It might be that ten dollars a month was needed to bring the family income up to standard, but food relief to the value of twenty dollars or more would be ordered.

Comparison of the Relief Administration figures of daily per capita costs under the different agencies does not bear out the Fuller findings. For the past ten months the average daily per capita food cost in families under the Citizens' Agency has fluctuated from 21 to 23 cents. In the Italian Board of Relief, which uses grocery orders, the corresponding per capita cost of food has varied from 19 to 22 cents. In the Eureka Benevolent Society, on a cash system, the per capita cost has ranged from 21 to 25 cents. Detailed comparison of these costs is given on page 114.

Recommendations.

After careful detailed study of the present situation in San Francisco and from detailed information obtained within the past few weeks directly from the administrators of relief in twenty of the largest cities of the country, the Survey Committee recommends the establishment of a uniform system of cash allowance for food relief for all persons on emergency aid in San Francisco; with milk delivered to families which include children.

At the present time in practically all cases a large part of food relief is now given in cash. No additional work would be involved in giving the entire amount in cash. The client would call weekly at the district office for his check and, automatically, far closer contacts would be maintained between the visitors and the families on relief.

In the study made of 100 families on relief through the Citizens' Agency, the most important fact brought out was the lack of essential information and the infrequency of contact between the agency and the families on aid. As a result, families were found to be receiving aid who had resources and income in excess of the standards established by the Citizens' Committee. Lack of information and infrequency of contact were due largely to the great amount of the visitors' time consumed in continual emergencies arising out of the grocery distribution.

Careful study and consideration has convinced the Survey that the greatest possible saving in the administration of relief lies in having frequent and effective contact with the families. The study of families indicated that at least 15 per cent of the families had sufficient income and could have been dropped from aid without hardship. The saving here indicated is so much greater than any saving which could possibly be effected through commissary purchase of groceries that the Survey unhesitatingly recommends the adoption of a system of cash relief as an economy measure.

The system of direct food relief now in force in San Francisco is the only one left in the entire west, and only one or two of the larger Eastern cities are attempting to maintain a commissary. Many of the cities have tried the commissary plan and have discarded it. From our search of hidden costs we are convinced that the apparent economy of the commissary vanishes when the whole problem is considered.

The benefits of the cash system to the client are obvious. The client has a chance to seek bargains and to exert initiative to obtain the best return for his money. There can be no complaint as to quality or service as the client may change his dealer as often as he wishes. The very evident amount of wastage that our Survey has discovered in families where the standard food box is delivered would be completely eliminated. Diet adjusted to the individual needs of the client is made possible. The cash system allows all the types of special diets now laboredly planned for distribution through direct food relief.

With a careful supervision of the families on relief, which would be possible in the district setup, such few families as are not able to handle their money wisely can be segregated and given direct grocery orders for specified commodities. This system for problem cases is in force, as a matter of fact, in all the various agencies which are administering relief in the City at the present time, regardless of the general method which they are using for their regular clientele.

As a reluctant alternate to the cash relief method, the Survey has considered the "Grocery Order Plan," which is in force at the present time in practically every large city in the country not using direct cash. (See page 102 et seq.)

This system provides for an individual grocery order on a list of accredited grocers (on which any dealer may be placed on application) who have agreed to abide by the rules of the Relief Administration. A limited list of commodities is allowed, and monthly bills are presented to the Relief Administration with detailed sales checks. This would establish the responsibility and ability of the grocers to meet the requirements of the Relief Administration; dropping from the list to be the penalty for breach of rules. The Retail Grocers' Association of San Francisco has offered to cooperate with the Relief Administration in the operation of a grocery order system. They have offered to fix prices at regular intervals which would represent a substantial reduction from retail prices, and to cooperate in maintaining agreed standards.

Pertinent to the Survey recommendation that relief be given in cash is a statement made by Dr. Dorothy Kahn, director of the Philadelphia County Relief Board, in a paper presented at the recent National Conference of Social Work:

"Let us take first the human aspects of this problem. The great majority of persons now receiving public relief were, until recently, wage earners. Even those who may have been dependent earlier upon relatives or upon social agencies for support, were accustomed to the use of money. Money for them means the exercise of intelligence and discretion in providing for the fundamentals of existence for their families. It connotes household economy in its broadest sense. Around the family purse centers the education of children in wise and individual ways of spending, thrift, relative values, and the ethics of possession and sharing. There is also a peculiar psychology that has grown up in our monetary system. It warrants some analysis. In America, perhaps more than anywhere else, money represents achievement. It measures earning power. Around money there is a kind of aura of responsibility which does not attach to things. How often in our social work experience have we noted the awe with which clients accept a gift of money and the difference in the spirit of acceptance of a grant in any other form. Is this too subtle a distinction? You put into my hands money. It is purchasing power. I am responsible for spending it. It stimulates my judgment, initiative, skill. It means ability to do something."

From the standpoint of the National Recovery Act, every effort should be made to turn back all work done by emergency organizations into the natural channels of trade wherever the economy factor does not enter too largely.

From our study of the problem of food relief in San Francisco, it appears that the economy argument, the only possible remaining basis for direct food relief, is not justified.

Finally, the fact must never be lost sight of that the vast majority of the clients on emergency relief are not the average charity cases of pre-emergency periods, but merely ordinary citizens whose only social problem is lack of a job. There is no reason to believe that these people, who have all their lives maintained themselves and their families, cannot be trusted to handle cash which is, after all, merely a minimum maintenance wage, in essence presenting exactly the same problems of expenditure which they have met during their entire economic lives.

CLOTHING

Present Conditions.

At the present time and for the past two years, clothing has been contributed to clients on relief largely from salvage material collected by drives through private organizations, and distributed on request of various relief groups. The Needlework Guild, the Parent-Teachers' Association, the American Red Cross, and the News Store have undertaken the heaviest part of this burden.

Women and children have been fairly well cared for. Shoes for boys and men and clothing for men of all classes is practically exhausted. Through the Red Cross, cotton materials of various types have been secured and made into garments by single women on relief, working for their food. The Needlework Guild has contributed many new garments, principally for women and girls. Baby layettes have been furnished from several sources. St. Vincent de Paul Society has provided clothing and shoes for Catholic families.

The greatest praise is due the volunteer groups who have been collecting and distributing clothing throughout the emergency period, and what has now become a recognized necessity that can only be provided for through public funds. Without the help of these agencies, the clothing problem would have amounted, in the past, to a really tragic situation.

There has been no definite plan for providing comprehensively and economically for clothing needs, which this winter will undoubtedly become pressing. Under the Federal rules for the expenditure of public moneys for relief purposes, a budget for clothing is available and this Committee recommends the following:

Recommendations.

That shoes be provided through orders on retails shoe stores with a type and price limit specified. The individual fitting of shoes is not only an economic item, but has a definite health value and a very important psychological effect on the individual. The danger of amateur shoe-fitting to children is particularly emphasized.

It is most important that every school child in the City be decently clad during his attendance in school.

It is recommended that the Parent-Teachers' Association continue its work for the public school children, including salvage shoes, but excepting new shoes. It is recommended that they receive such cash supplement to their own donations as will enable them to provide proper clothing for children attending public schools.

It is recommended that the parochial school groups organize in some similar manner and be given such supplementary cash aid as is necessary.

It is recommended that men's work clothing, men's, women's and children's underwear, all stockings and socks, and all night clothing, be provided through a central distribution point on order from the Supervisors in the various districts. The purchases for this central distribution point should be made on bid estimated far enough ahead to allow proper price advantages.

Individual suits for white collar men, and clothing of special types that are necessary to securing work or the pursuing of an occupation should be provided, where not obtainable through private agencies, through orders on retail stores, subject to discount if possible, the price and type range being specified in the order.

Discretionary powers should be allowed the district workers in providing suitable clothing for clients, and no purchases should be made of shoddy or short-wearing garments merely on the basis of very low price. Every care should be taken on these retail orders to protect the client against exploitation either in the giving of obsolete or unsalable garments, or attempting to extort extra cash for more expensive garments than provided in the order.

A definite rule should be established against sending any client to a place where he expects to get clothing unless it has been ascertained beforehand that the garments are actually available. Many cases have been reported of unfortunate people going from one place to another vainly seeking garments to fit them. This seems a quite unnecessary cruelty, especially in the long distances which these people must cover in many instances without carfare or other means of transportation.

The present agencies handling salvage clothing should be encouraged to continue their work and all donations to relief clients on their part should be cleared through the Relief Administration districts. There is some evidence that unscrupulous clients have secured duplicate outfits from several different sources, and every effort should be made to correct this by close interchange of records.

Women's and girls' outer garments can be fairly well cared for through salvage sources, supplemented by new underwear, stockings and night garments.

The distribution of men's clothing, both old and new, this Committee feels should be entirely in the hands of men.

Bedding can be fairly well covered through present Red Cross supplies issued from a central depot.

As much consideration as possible, commensurate with economy, should be given to individual tastes and needs in the matter of clothing.

Every effort should be made to discourage the issuing of uniform outer garments which might be identified by the general public as relief clothing. The providing of decent and suitable garments is not only a definite part of the immediate relief problem, but a most important item in the rehabilitation and employment aspects.

Perhaps the most pitiful individual problem is that of the white collar man who is forced to wear unmatched coats, vests and trousers, which mark him at once as a charity case. It is hoped that through cooperation with the fraternal service and other organizations that individual gifts of this type of clothing can be made in worthy cases.

The fundamental necessity of clothing for the bare purposes of decent covering and warmth should be provided through relief funds in all cases where other sources are not available. As provided in the suggested rules of eligibility, gifts of money to provide clothing and for other special purposes should be allowed on written permission by the Superintendent of Resident Relief.

RENT AND HOUSING

Present Conditions.

Before discussing the vast problems of housing and rent payments for persons on relief, it seems only proper to state that in no large city in the United States has the rent problem been adequately solved. Although the Federal Relief Administration includes housing as a legitimate relief cost, no definite plan for paying rentals has been formulated.

At the present time in San Francisco the housing of persons on relief is being done in a haphazard manner. A large amount of rent is being paid out with practically no system of equitable distribution, either as to client or landlords. Rent payments are made largely on threats of eviction, resulting in the penalizing of good-natured or liberal landlords and the payment of rent to landlords treating the clients with the least consideration.

The uncertainty of this system has resulted in ill-feeling between landlords and the Relief Administration and a sense of insecurity on the part of the clients.

According to reports of the Sheriff's office, total evictions in San Francisco have climbed from 157 in 1929 to 888 in 1932, with 400 for the first six months of 1933. This number represents actual eviction notices. To this must be added the large number of three-day notices given by the landlords, and a large number of other verbal threats of eviction not legally filed.

The rent situation for the Citizens' Agency at the end of May may be summarized as follows:

Families on relief	12,690
Number owning their own homes	1,432
Number who had earned rent from casual work	3,932
Number who had moved in with relatives	1,286
Number receiving C. C. C. allotment	800
Number on $40 per month basis	500
Number for whom agency paid rent	1,750
	9,700
Number whose rent was not paid	2,990

The percentage of the entire relief expenditures for May, June and July of this year, paid for rent and rent allowances, were as follows:

Agency	May %	June %	July %
Citizens' Agency	19.9	17.4	17.9
Eureka Benevolent Society	14.4	16.2	22.8
Italian Board of Relief	5.5	7.2	6.6

The 100 families studied in the Citizens' Agency are doubtless typical of the whole group on relief. Nearly half of the tenants were behind in their rent payments. Many families had piled up delinquency payments in previous residences and had moved to avoid payment of such debts. One family had moved nine times within two years; another eight times in two and one-half years; several had moved four or five times within a two-year period; seven families reported definite evictions and seven others stated they had received eviction notices before moving on.

It appears that no attempt has been made on the part of the relief agencies to determine, except by accident, whether the homes upon which rent is being paid from public funds are sanitary and proper housing. The trend of families on relief to move into cheaper and cheaper quarters, especially into badly equipped housekeeping rooms, is understandable under the circumstances, but nevertheless deplorable.

Recommendations.

It is recommended that primarily a classification of the families on relief, according to their housing problems, be made and thoroughly studied. That in cases where the rent must be paid a definite arrangement be made with the landlord and tenant in order to relieve the tension and bad feeling which has hitherto existed.

That the proposed Council on Rent and Housing be charged with formulating rules for the payment of rent, possibly on a one-in-three basis.

That uniformity of policy be adopted, and that no partiality be shown in any one case for any reason. Many of the justified complaints we have reviewed arise from the inequitable payment of rents and rent allowances.

That no public moneys be expended for rent until the premises upon which rent is paid have been inspected and passed on by the Housing Inspection Department of the Board of Public Health. It is not equitable that public moneys should be expended to perpetuate conditions which are illegal and against public health and safety. An existing ordinance, which is not being enforced, provides that cooking appliances may not be operated in rooms used for sleeping purposes. We recommend that this law be enforced, at least, in buildings housing families on relief. This inspection would serve another purpose in forcing landlords maintaining bad housing to clean up, thereby supplying employment, possibly in exchange for rent on the part of the relief cases. The second benefit would be to take persons on relief from places unfit for habitation and move them into more suitable quarters whose landlords are now penalized for their higher standards.

A schedule of rents to be paid for certain types of housing should be agreed upon.

FUEL AND PUBLIC UTILITIES

Present Conditions.

At the present time gas service is being paid for in families having no other fuel source for cooking. Coal and wood is delivered to families not using gas but having coal or wood stoves. Electricity is paid for in certain classified groups, with a maximum allowance of $1.52 per month for electricity in any case, regardless of the size of living quarters or number in the family. The gas and electric bills are paid for individually on a threat of discontinuance of service on the part of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company.

Water bills are met in the same way.

Gas service is paid for without work test on the part of the relief client, but where coal or wood is necessary because of a lack of gas appliance, the head of the family is supposed to work in the forestry department cutting wood to pay for his fuel.

Electricity is furnished also without work test to a special group of families.

When the current bills for gas and electric service are paid by the relief agency, the back bills are kept as a charge against the families by the Pacific Gas & Electric Company for payment in the future. When payment by the relief agency is discontinued, the gas and light company tries to collect this back bill before resuming or continuing service. This system has resulted in an incalculable number of complaints. Up to a few months ago a work test for gas and electricity was required, but on account of the many misunderstandings and the difficulty of keeping the records clear the work test for this service was discontinued and only retained where coal is delivered.

The obvious injustice to the family, using only coal or wood, in forcing the head of the family to work for fuel, while gas is supplied to other families without the work test, certainly needs no comment.

The electric light allowance of $1.52, without regard to the size of quarters or family, seems also inequitable. It appears on inquiry that, owing to the rigidity of the rule, it is seldom, if ever, abided by.

Prior to May 13th, Eucalyptus and other newly cut wood was delivered for fuel, after work test, to those families not using gas appliances for cooking or heating. This wood was not satisfactory for lack of seasoning; the kindling supplied was green and would not burn. In many cases visited during the survey the families were using the box in which food was delivered for fuel because the wood supplied for that purpose was unsuitable. In some of the families the money from the meat check was being used for electric service. Three families out of the 100 visited were using neither gas nor electricity.

It appears upon investigation that each bill for utility service, before it is paid, goes through an elaborate and complicated system of bookkeeping-vouchers, endorsements and intervening communications. Each bill is paid as a unit, and as the bills are paid on meter readings taken once every thirty days, dates varying in every part of the city, the confusion incidental to this administrative function is out of all proportion to the problem.

Recommendations.

It is recommended that each district office make an order list of payments for the district relief clients entitled to service, which will be forwarded, not less than once a week, from each district office to the Central Utility Bureau for payment, with group receipt returned to district office for verification and filing. The fact that the Pacific Gas & Electric Company makes its meter readings in each district at approximately the same time each month will simplify handling this matter in the districts.

It is recommended that a uniform method of work test, or the elimination entirely of this requirement for fuel, be instituted so that persons using coal and wood are not apparently penalized for their lack of patronage of the gas company.

It is recommended that the Relief Administration petition the Railroad Commission at once for a ruling on the possible group payment of bills for relief clients on a monthly power load basis, at a reduced cost, instead of on the individual bill basis now in force. The Relief Administration, at the present time, is paying an average of $12,349.55 (May, 1933) per month for gas and electricity service for relief clients on the basis of individual consumer cost of the minimum power load. There is no evidence that a formal application of this sort has ever been made by the City Controller or the Relief Administration, and we recommend that the City Attorney draw up such application for presentation to the State Railroad Commission at the earliest possible date.

It is recommended that in case of payment of electric light bills, a sliding scale of maximum allowance be instituted, taking into consideration the size of the family, the size of the living quarters and other special circumstances involved in the case.

MEDICAL CARE

Present Condition.

In general it appears that the medical care of families on relief has been adequately and efficiently administered, always considering the emergency factor.

There is no evidence of any epidemic, nor of any increase in nutritional diseases, nor any other apparent health problem, in the City which can be traced to conditions arising from the emergency of unemployment. It is impossible, of course, to predict whether the sequel to this emergency period will be a drop in health standards in the general population, but at the present there is no evidence that the group on public relief have suffered any important consequences in the matter of health. Constant attention to the health status of relief clients will provide a definite check on the efficiency of the whole relief system.

At the present time the medical care of persons on relief is centered in the Central Medical Bureau, where diagnosis and first treatment is given. Cases requiring further care are sent to the various clinics throughout the City, at a contract price for each visit, which was 90 cents at first, then 75 cents, and now is 60 cents. All laboratory and other expense on these cases is met by the clinics. A contract price of 45 cents is paid for a prescription for cases visited by the physicians attached to the Central Medical Bureau, and private physicians visiting relief cases without charge.

The system is a coordination of the existing clinics, public health service, and the Central Medical Bureau, originated and maintained by the relief organization through which most cases have been cleared. Some use has been made of the Visiting Nurses' Association, Phelan Foundation, and other private or quasi-public agencies.

Single women have been handled in the same manner as the families. A clinic has been held at the Single Men's Shelter for the homeless men, with two physicians in attendance, and the cases are cleared for other treatment to the clinics, and to the San Francisco Hospital where hospitalization is urgently needed.

Dental care has been provided for a limited number, and only for very urgent cases. Dentures, eye-glasses and surgical appliances, including orthopedic shoes, have been given from private funds in some cases, but this is a woeful need, especially where employment depends on this equipment.

It is probable, however, that in the main the families on relief, save those who had been in very good circumstances prior to the emergency, have been receiving rather more medical care than they have been accustomed to in the past.

In the study of 100 typical cases on relief the general health of the families was good. Public clinics and hospitals appeared to be fairly well patronized in case of illness. Of the 100 families visited, 13 men reported some sort of ailment at the present time; 14 wives were either attending clinics or complained of a more or less serious health condition—2 were diabetic, 2 were pregnant; 14 children were attending clinics; there were several crippled children in the households; and two definite cases of tuberculosis—one a young wife, the other an 18-year-old daughter. Several families reported the need of eye-glasses and many needed dental care.

Complaints were made by some families that clinics did not pay much attention to relief patients; that they could not afford the small fees charged; that they had to wait an interminably long time before being attended to; or that they could not afford to buy the medicines prescribed and not supplied by the Citizens' Agency.

The single women on relief have been relatively well cared for. In the case of the single men on relief, the lack of machinery for providing the special diets necessary to recovery for many of the ailments, is very distressing. It must be remembered that the single men's group is cared for, except in certain cases, as a unit in shelters, and at a common kitchen. The plight of the single man on relief cannot be blamed on any lack of consideration on the part of the medical administration.

The fact that there has been no epidemic, except a temporary one of "athlete's foot", and practically no respiratory diseases in the single men's group, would indicate that the general health conditions in this segregation of relief cases is at least as good as in normal times.

The facilities for hospitalization for the persons on relief have been quite inadequate, but have been used as effectively as possible under the emergency case load.

Recommendations.

It is recommended that the medical care of the persons on relief be handled through district offices as far as possible. In order to facilitate this the physicians from the Central Medical Bureau should hold office hours in each of the districts at least twice a week for the purpose of examining and distributing cases needing special care to the proper clinics or other agencies. Duplicate records should be kept in the districts and at the Central Medical Bureau of all cases receiving medical treatment. The Central Medical Bureau should be concentrated at the Central Office set-up and visits by relief cases should be discouraged; the Central Bureau being used only for record and administrative functions. The doctors assigned from the Bureau to each district should be in constant touch with the district school nurse, Community Center, Baby Clinics and other health agencies through the District Relief Supervisors. This system will serve to centralize the medical cases into their proper geographical locations, and will make possible much more comprehensive care from every angle than has heretofore been the case.

One of the greatest drawbacks of the central system has been the need for long trips back and forth across the city, working a great hardship in many cases.

Where home visits, clinic care or hospitalization are necessary, the physician allotted to the district office shall recommend to the proper agency and clear his records through the Central Bureau.

Under the recommended plan of administration set-up, the single women's group will be segregated into regular district offices, and their medical care should follow the same plan as the family cases.

The single men on relief, housed outside of shelters, will also follow the district grouping.

In the case of single men on relief, housed in shelters, arrangements should be made to provide resting places for convalescent cases, and some method of giving special diet where such treatment is necessary to cure. Additional physicians should be assigned to this group, as it seems impossible for the two doctors now caring for single men to properly diagnose or treat the enormous number of cases allotted them. It must be acknowledged, however, that they have managed to keep this group in very fair condition.

It appears especially important that the foot baths of antiseptic solution recommended and supposed to be supplied in all the shelters but neglected in several of them, be kept in proper condition. The spread of foot infections is a menace and has been out of hand several times.

A Department of Psychiatry should be set up under the Central Medical Bureau for the special care and observation of the many cases of complete or partial breakdown which have been the inevitable result of worry and introspection incident to unemployment. The segregation of these phychiatric cases and the prompt treatment and disposition of them will aid materially. The head of the Psychiatric Department should also provide instruction for visitors in the special handling of these cases when found, and should from time to time meet with the visitors and supervisors for discussion.

A Dental Department should be set up under the Central Medical Bureau to work out machinery for providing ordinary dental care to persons on relief, and to coordinate with private agencies for the provision of dentures, eye-glasses, and other appliances. This last item is of the utmost importance, not only for health conditions, but for the rehabilitation of people who are not employable by reason of unpleasant mouth conditions, need of eye-glasses, and other necessary equipment. If it is not possible to use public funds for this purpose a concerted effort should be made to interest private agencies in supplying this serious need.

The number of industrial accidents occurring on work projects operated for the relief cases on work test suggests the necessity of much more rigid care in this respect. All accident cases of this nature should be cleared through the Central Medical Bureau, and a careful case record kept of treatments and final disposition. The Central Medical Bureau should be in touch at all times with the Work and Rehabilitation Bureau, and should call the attention of the latter bureau to all unusual and apparently unnecessary accidents or other illnesses contracted on work projects. The standard of industrial safety required of commercial concerns should certainly be met by the work projects on which the persons on relief are employed.

We recommend the continued use of the clinics on the basis upon which they are now coordinating with the Relief Administration, and suggest that as much use as possible be made of the existing agencies for public nursing, at least while cases which normally would be given hospitalization are crowded out by lack of facilities and are forced to be cared for in their own homes.

SINGLE MEN

Present Conditions.

At the present time single men are allotted to group shelters following establishment of their eligibility for resident relief. Non-resident single men are given two nights of shelter and told to move on. Upon registering, each man is sent to the clean-up unit, where he bathes, washes his underwear, has his suit steamed and pressed for the purpose of destroying vermin, and then goes to the shelter to which he has been assigned.

A second group of single men, who are able to provide shelter of some sort for themselves, are given groceries.

The remainder of the resident and non-resident single men are fed in community kitchens—two meals a day.

The group furnishing its own shelter and being given direct food relief is growing in numbers, and is made up largely of elderly men, resident in San Francisco for a long time.

Several day shelters have been established where men on relief can spend their time during the day and where limited recreational facilities are provided. Practically all work incident to the care of men in shelters, aside from the actual administration, is done by persons on relief, working on a $40-a-month basis.

The food served at the kitchens is of good quality but very monotonous and, according to the report of the County Medical Society, not adequate from the standpoint of all dietary requirements. Food for men, requiring special diets, because of physical condition, is unobtainable except through the giving of meal tickets on restaurants.

The shelters in which the majority of single men are housed, while undoubtedly equal to similar facilities in other cities, appear to this Survey to be subject to much criticism both from a sanitary and social standpoint. Several official inspections on the part of the Board of Health in February and March of this year showed inadequate ventilation, overcrowding of sleeping rooms, with less than the legal cubic space between each bed.

A visit by a member of the Survey Committee to the shelters between the hours of 2 a. m. and 5 a. m., disclosed that men suffering from coughs and other faulty physical conditions were indiscriminately mixed with other men, in closely crowded quarters.

A rather general prevalence of vermin presented a constant problem to the persons in charge. This condition arises from three causes: (1) The number of vermin-infested men who apply for relief. Rolls of clothing and blankets which these men bring in directly off the road and deposit in the shelters are sources of reinfestation. (2)

Several of the shelters are of crude and unsanitary construction. (3) In spite of the fairly adequate provision for bathing and disinfection, the clean-up unit is closed after 8 o'clock at night. All men registering after that hour, who must be housed, are allowed to go into the shelters without cleaning up. The reason given for closing the clean-up unit so early in the evening is that its operation disturbs men sleeping in adjacent rooms.

Following an epidemic of "athlete's foot," in the shelters, provision was made for the maintenance of foot baths of disinfectants through which each man should be required to walk after his shower. Both the inspector from the Board of Health, in February, and a member of this Committee, making a personal inspection in June, found that only one of the tanks contained the necessary solution. The others were dry and empty.

In several of the shelters the doors are locked on each floor after the men retire, with the attendant fire and earthquake hazards.

Salvage clothing for single men on relief has become practically nonexistent. Trousers, underclothes and shoes present a problem for which there has been, to date, no solution.

In San Francisco the average cost per capita per month for persons on relief in the family group is $9.60. The average cost per single man is $6.15 a month.

It is interesting to note that in the Chinese Single Men's Shelter and Kitchen, operating on a slightly lower per capita cost, the housing is much better and the variety and quality of the food is superior to that in the general group.

The plight of the single men on relief is a tragic one everywhere, for it is generally assumed and accepted that this class should be given the least consideration and care of any of the relief groups.

Justification for this stand is made by the statement that, if conditions are made too comfortable, vagrants will flock from other places and become a burden. Under the new Federal-State-City set-up, transients of all classifications are to be cared for as a separate unit, and their care paid for entirely out of Federal funds.

Recommendations.

Shelters: As long as the shelters are in use they should be maintained in a sanitary condition, according to the City housing laws, and should be regularly inspected by the Board of Health. Especially should ventilation and placing of beds, to provide proper cubic area and air space to each individual, be kept up to legal standards and requirements.

Rigid care as to vermin should be maintained, and such shelters as cannot be kept in proper sanitary condition should be abandoned.

Clean-up units should be kept open each night as long as registrations are accepted. Blanket rolls, clothing, etc., should be disinfected before being allowed in the shelters.

Fire hazards should be watched and eliminated. Doors with appliances for opening outward and allowing them to swing freely in case of earthquake or fire should be substituted for the ordinary doors and locks now in use.

Foot baths of disinfectants should be maintained at all times in all the shelters. Daily inspection of these tanks and their refilling with fresh solution should be part of the daily routine.

Day shelters for single men should be maintained as long as the emergency continues. The main day shelter, in which the men may rest, read, shave or mend their clothes, provides a most necessary adjunct to the night shelters. With equipment and quarters at a minimum cost, this shelter, as maintained at present, is a most valuable and sound social and human project. Perpetuation and extension is recommended.

Segregation of men having infectious conditions, those needing convalescent care and special food, and elderly men who are permanently unemployable into separate units, with suitable kitchen facilities, would clear up the most distressing aspects of the shelter system.

Extension of the group providing its own shelter and being given food for home consumption is urgently recommended. This segregation should be enlarged as rapidly as possible, especially in the case of the elderly men of the "white collar" class, upon whom shelter accommodations work a genuine hardship.

SINGLE WOMEN

Present Conditions.

The single women on relief are handled, at present, as a unit, under the Citizens' Agency, with a special department devoted entirely to the administration of relief for this group. In this classification are included single women without families and single women with one dependent.

These women work one week in three for their food allowance in the various agencies administering relief. Their housing is provided individually in those cases not able to furnish their own shelter. In some cases rent is paid, in some cases room and board, and in some cases housing has been obtained in exchange for services.

This group contains many individual problem cases, and in the main has been handled in a very satisfactory manner. It is interesting to note that the relationship of the clients in this segregation to the relief agency is cordial in practically every case contracted, and that practically no complaints were discovered or voiced against this department.

Recommendations.

It is recommended that a bureau be maintained in the Central Administration set-up to consider special problems arising in this qualification, but that the cases be allotted to the district in which they have residence and handled as part of the regular district family relief load.

It is especially recommended that psychiatric and vocational work be continued in special cases in this segregation.

WORK AND REHABILITATION

Present Conditions.

At the present time each male head of a family receiving relief, who is physically able to do so, is expected to work one week in three for provisions for his family. If fuel, other than gas and electricity is used, he is supposed to work for that in addition.

Single women work three days for three weeks' food.

Single men are not required to do any work for the relief they receive. This is based on the fact that the cash value of the relief given the single men is very much less than allowed for the other classifications.

In addition to this work, several hundred men and women are employed on the basis of $40 and $30 per month, respectively, plus food, for full-time work in special departments.

The work projects upon which the family men are employed are practically all public works under City foremen, with a few projects under Relief Administration foremen. Men are allotted to the various tasks presumably according to their qualifications and physical condition.

The $40-a-month men and women have been employed presumably for their qualifications and efficiency, although their salary has been classed as "rent relief." Originally this group was supposed to be chosen, first, for need; second, for size and family; third, for efficiency. In actual practice little attention has been paid to the first two qualifications, and efficiency has been judged by the individual executive recommending employment rather than by any uniform test as to social or professional qualifications.

In some cases men and women have been employed without much justification, but under pressure of emergency administration, have been drawn into the organization. Many of the justified complaints reviewed by this Survey are directly due to the excessive number of these relief employees and apparently unjustified discrimination in their selection.

Single women have been employed largely as clerical help, for sewing and packing lunches.

In the allotment of family men to work projects little segregation as to suitability has been made. Certain of the projects have been favored allotments, and certain others disciplinary. The executive in charge of work allotments has also been responsible for purchasing food, and has delegated much of the detail to subordinates without executive authority. The foremen in charge of the work projects have failed in many instances to require any degree of efficiency from the men on work test, and have sometimes failed to cooperate in keeping adequate records of the men allotted to them. This may be excused, to some extent, by the natural sympathy aroused in dealing with men entirely unaccustomed to physical labor or in a lowered condition of morale through privation and worry.

It has been customary to allow men to continue on projects as long as they do not complain or ask for transfer, and here, as in other phases of the relief work, the patient and uncomplaining man has suffered in comparison with the more exacting and shrewder ones, who demand special privileges and attention. This is a natural condition, however, in any large group of persons, and should not be criticized too severely under the circumstances.

There has been an apparently large percentage of industrial accidents, many of them avoidable, but unfortunately no exact records have been kept by either the Medical Department or the Work Projects Department. A court decision to the effect that men working for relief do not come under the Industrial Accident provisions of the State law has resulted in very little attention being paid to safety precautions. There have been three deaths, many permanent injuries, and a large number of minor injuries, but without exact figures, it is not possible to determine the relationship of these accidents, numerically, to those on ordinary industrial projects. There is no evidence that a request has been made for a survey of working conditions by the Safety Division of the Industrial Accident Commission or any other official body. While the court decision apparently protects the City against responsibility for these accidents, authorities do not agree on this point. Several attorneys with whom the matter has been discussed believe that such responsibility could be established. The Federal Relief Administration recommends the insuring of persons working on relief projects, but the premiums cannot be paid from State or Federal moneys.

While there has been some attempt at segregation and classification of persons on relief into occupational groups, very little has been done, except in the Single Women's Division, where the Employment Department is an important function, operating with a fair degree of efficiency.

Rehabilitation and Recreation.

From the intensive case study in the various groups receiving relief only a negligible proportion of the families studied were making any use of the general recreational and vocational training opportunities offered by the City Government, Community Chest and other agencies.

This is due to general lethargy and lack of morale incident to unemployment and worry and to a lack of knowledge as to existing facilities. Little attempt appears to have been made to acquaint persons on relief with facilities of this nature. This subsidiary relief can hardly be classed as a primary function of an emergency relief program. However, the question of rehabilitation and maintenance of morale is closely identified with the whole relief problem.

Recommendations.

Work Projects: It is recommended that the work test for relief be continued, but that the allotment to projects be made in a more equitable manner, with a consideration for conditioning the employable men for reabsorption into regular employment. That credit for work be given to either men or women for attendance at legitimate vocational training instruction, either in public classes or private agencies. This vocational training in the case of unemployed persons whose previous profession or occupation will probably not absorb them again will help solve, at least, part of the unemployment problem. The training, allowed as a work test, should be for practical purposes, and should not include merely class attendance at inconsequent courses. Where there is evidence that such persons are not working at their studies or are using the privilege merely to avoid other work, this opportunity should be withdrawn. The right to pursue vocational training should be premised, not only on attendance, but on diligence and passing marks. A study should be made in coordination with the School Department, Community Chest agencies and trade schools for the purpose of determining the possibilities of this project. Utilization might be made of skilled persons, themselves on relief, for training others in specific crafts.

It is recommended that the entire classification of so-called "$40-a-month-men" be eliminated, and that only such persons as are qualified through training and efficiency be employed in the personnel of the relief administration, and that these persons be paid salaries commensurate with the work they are employed to do, and based on a standard scale. (See "Functions of Bureaus Personnel," page 34.)

The classification of the pay given the $40-a-month-men as "rent relief" is in many cases a misnomer, and where rent relief is actually necessary, it should be given according to the need of the family on relief and not confused with personnel.

Most of the justified complaints as to lack of efficiency, discrimination in employment and over-staffed departments may be traced to the evils which have sprung up around this type of pseudo "rent relief" confused with administrative personnel.

Administrative machinery for segregation and rehabilitation of employable persons (see "Functions-Employment and Rehabilitation Bureau") should be set up and a concerted attempt be made to recondition normally employable persons on relief for re-employment as the work and opportunities arise. It is evident from the case studies of this Survey that the morale of some of the persons on relief is low, and many have given up hope of getting back to work. Aside from the humanitarian aspect, this group represents a serious economic problem for many years to come, and justifies a serious attempt to bring them back to a self-supporting status.

A segregation should also be made of permanently unemployable persons and provision made for their care in the most economical manner. By gradual segregation and vocational guidance many families can be salvaged and taken off relief rolls. Every visitor should place in the hands of her clients a list of available recreation and study facilities. Visitors should encourage their clients to make use of these facilities. By checking with the district agencies, offering opportunities, the visitors can do much to bring together the opportunities and the persons needing them so sadly.

The Research Bureau of the Public Relations Department (see "Function of Bureaus," page 34) should be called on for material in this work.

On investigation it was found that a definite prejudice exists against persons on relief in the minds of the personnel managers in many large commercial concerns. Of seven personnel managers contacted, general reactions fell into the following segregations: First, that persons on relief nearly always have something the matter with them, either mentally or physically. Second, that persons on relief believe, as a rule, that they should be given employment and kept at work on account of their need of the wages, rather than on the basis of efficiency. Third, that most of the people who have been unemployed for a long time had forgotten how to work and needed too much supervision to be useful. Four, that they were too easily discouraged. Five, that the commercial organizations resented surveillance on the part of relief workers over their employees. Several other reasons for discriminations against persons who had been on relief were also given. It is unlikely that any attempt at direct employment, through the relief administration, will be very successful on a large scale. It is rather recommended that every attempt be made to recondition and re-educate employable persons and then turn them over to existing public or private employment agencies, where they can receive the same service as persons not on relief.

Especially in the case of middle-aged persons, difficult to employ at any time, any over-emphasis on the relief aspect is practically a prohibition against normal employment.

To sum up the recommendations herein:

Work test should be continued and provision made for crediting vocational and other training as work.

Provision should be made for safety inspection and regulations on work projects in accordance with the State Law.

The so-called $40-a-month-men segregation should be eliminated and rent relief given directly as such.

Segregation and care in allotment to work projects should be increased.

Machinery for rehabilitation and re-education should be established, and contacts made with public and private employment agencies, but not directly with employers, save in exceptional cases.

NON-RESIDENTS.

In the past years it has been the practice and policy of various private agencies in San Francisco to assist non-residents, and the study of cases by the Survey indicated that many families now on aid were dependent before they acquired legal residence in San Francisco. They have now lost legal residence is their former homes and as a practical matter must now be given aid by the City.

At the end of March, 1933, non-resident cases were transferred from the Citizens' Agency to a non-resident department under the direction of the Travelers' Aid Society, and an effective policy has been established for clearing these family cases promptly.

At the Single Men's Registry it has been the practice to require registrants to bring in their own evidence of residence. No investigation of the residence of the men has been made by the Survey, but it appears probable that many of the statements filed as proof of residence have been made by obliging friends.

Under the new program the Federal Government proposes to carry the whole burden of caring for transients, who are defined as persons who have been within the State for less than one year. While temporarily this arrangement would lift the burden of caring for newcomers, the City has no assurance that the Federal Government will continue this assistance beyond the next few months. Also, persons thus assisted to remain in the City will inevitably become a tax upon City aid unless the Government goes in for a permanent relief program.

The Survey Committee, therefore, recommends that the present policy of returning non-residents to their legal residence be continued wherever this can be done; that the administration of Federal assistance to transients be guided by the long range policy for the protection of the City's interests; and that it be clearly understood that no one receiving aid as a non-resident will acquire legal residence until a year after all such aid has been discontinued.

COMPLAINTS

In considering the general subject of complaints arising out of the administration of relief in San Francisco, this Survey has not attempted to consider individual cases, but has studied general types of recurrent difficulties which have arisen because of some curable fault in the methods of administration.

No attempt has been made to pass upon the personal efficiency of any individual nor has the Survey considered it part of its functions to make intensive inquiry into questions involving individual negligence of duty.

The study of complaints has been directed at the source of the difficulty, considering the individual complaint only as an indication of possible weakness in the system, and as a focus of inquiry as to the basic causes.

In every case where a justified complaint has pointed to a remediable condition, a recommendation has been included in the section relating to the general subject under which the complaint falls.

Many of the justified complaints against the Relief Administration have arisen from the conflict and lack of uniformity incident to attempting to administer public relief through private agencies, carrying over a concept of individual giving of charity from private funds to which the charity client had no intrinsic right other than the vague laws of humanity. The transition of private charity into public relief was a very difficult one for many of the workers trained in the old methods. The type of client coming on emergency relief was entirely different from the group to which the older workers had been accustomed. In a majority of families the only social problem involved in the emergency group was lack of employment. The careful individual case work possible in ordinary times had to be discarded for sketchy service. Quite naturally the fact that private agencies were given the work to do perpetuated the methods already in use. This has resulted in misunderstanding, lack of uniformity in the administration of relief, conflict of interpretation of rules and regulations in many of the departments and between many of the workers.

Add to this the strain of overwork, long hours, very small salaries, crowded working places with makeshift equipment, unassimilated, and in many cases untrained, assistants, and a few major executives too busy with the pressure of immediate problems to delegate authority or plan improvements, and another set of trouble-making factors enters the equation.

The overwhelming complications incident to delivering thousands of food rations with untrained, and in some cases irresponsible, workers, themselves on relief, increased the confusion.

The bewilderment and general discomfort arising from unemployment, and the misunderstanding on the part of the general public, the relief clients, and in some cases the workers themselves, of the rules and regulations upon which the relief was administered has been a source of much friction. The liberal policy which San Francisco has always pursued in the giving of charity, even to non-residents, has produced conflict with the rules of eligibility as set up by the Citizens' Committee.

The rent problem has created much bitter feeling between the landlords, the clients, and the Relief Administration, but in no city in the country has this problem been solved, and in most cities not even considered.

The different methods of giving food relief, depending on race and nationality, have produced a quota of misunderstanding. The choosing of the so-called $40-a-month-men from the ranks of the unemployed, without any particular standards of either need or efficiency, has roused antagonism.

The huge number of unassimilated employees in all phases of the work, with the pressure of the work too great to attempt a training period, and the quite unjustified lack of uniform instructions and divisions of functions and authority, has been another sore spot.

Quite naturally in a group of relief clients reaching a peak of 75,000 persons at one time, the usual proportion of maladjusted and non-cooperating types are bound to occur.

In considering the general subject of complaints relating to the administration of relief in San Francisco, this Survey has collected material from four general sources.

First, from intensive studies of typical families in each of the relief segregations.

Second, from organized public, quasi-public, and commercial groups.

Third, from the relief workers in various agencies.

Fourth, from the general public, including organized groups of the unemployed.

Most of the justified complaints are easily classified into a small number of segregations. By far the largest number of complaints from relief clients center around the various processes of food distribution in the Citizens' Agency. Another very large segregation relates to the complications arising around the payment or non-payment of rent and fuel bills.

Another group of complaints circles around the personnel of the Relief Administration, based largely on personal conflict between the relief client and some member of the organization.

The sources of most of the justified complaints are: Lack of uniformity in the administration of relief; conflict of policy between the private agencies, and the new concept of government responsibility for relief; and back of everything the enormous problem of creating an administrative set-up sufficient to care for thousands of persons suddenly plunged into desperate need.

Practically all of the justified complaints for which there is a remedy have been considered in the sections preceding, under the various subdivisions of administration, food, clothing, etc.

This Survey believes that if the recommendations therein are adopted most of the conditions producing complaints will be eliminated.

However, there will always be a certain proportion of maladjustments in any unnatural economic condition, and any method of relief administration must take into account the hidden factors of despair, distress, broken morale, and rebellion, which must occur in the ranks of any group of hitherto self-respecting and self-sustaining persons suddenly cast on public help for their very existence.

Following is a concentrated tabulation of the general groups in which the studied complaints have fallen and their proposed cure:

DIGEST OF COMPLAINTS

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION.
Lack of uniformity in Administration of Relief.	Complaints relating to lack of uniformity are justified. The different methods in different national and racial groups, and the lack of evenly enforced, well-established rules and regulations have created discrepancies in practically every department of relief. See Recommendations on Administrative Set-up.
Non-resident employees.	In the emergency set-up the need for trained experts in social service has been very marked. Trained people have been in demand in every city, and owing to the very low salaries paid in San Francisco for relief workers, the employment turnover has been very great. It has been necessary to draw from every source the best people possible. These non-resident employees have been paid for out of Community Chest funds. Under the set-up recommended in this Survey the functions of social service workers are sharply differentiated from ordinary office and administrative employees. This will limit the use of experts to their own fields and reduce the necessary number. It is proper under the law to employ non-resident experts where no similarly equipped citizens are available.
Persons receiving salaries from both the Community Chest and Public Funds.	The Federal Relief Administration recognizes this practice and allows it in the new rulings. Civil Service rulings require that all public employees paid over $75 a month come under Civil Service rating. It is obviously impossible to secure executives competent to handle the enormous responsibility of relief administration at such a salary. The cost of inefficient executives in any project is overwhelming. In order to supplement the salaries to a reasonable amount the private funds of the Community Chest are drawn upon. This practice seems a reasonable one for continuance, while the relief load is decreasing and when changing conditions make a turnover and readjustment of employment necessary. It does not seem expedient to create a large number of permanent Civil Service jobs during the emergency status of relief. If private funds are used to relieve the taxpayers of this additional load and to preserve relief funds for the direct cost of relief, the practice appears to be justified.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
Favoritism in employment of $40-a-month-men.	This complaint appears to be entirely justified. Lack of centralized authority and responsibility for hiring and discharging employees, setting of salaries, and general control of personnel has resulted in very irregular standards, not only in the employment of persons on relief, but in the general staff. The concentrating of the whole personnel problem in a central bureau and the classification of all employees under efficiency and salary ratings will cure this deficiency. See Recommendations on Administrative Set-up.
Use of volunteer help and persons on relief in general administration work not satisfactory.	This criticism, recurrent from several sources, is in general justified. This Survey recommends decent salary standards for all persons engaged in relief work, not only for the morale of the worker, but in order that a high standard of efficiency may be demanded and enforced. In the expenditure of thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money the waste occasioned by ineffectual help is tremendous.
Investigation inadequate because of lack of trained case workers.	This complaint is justified, largely because of the overheavy case load and the enormous amount of clerical and other work required of the visitors, owing to lack of proper administration organization. In the district set-up and with the simplification possible under the recommended plan, the visitors will have sufficient time to keep a close contact with cases. Efficiency ratings of personnel will standardize efficiency.
No provision for information of public or persons on relief as to the rules and regulations, and reasons for which they have been established.	This complaint is completely justified. There has been no publication or dissemination of information regarding relief administration except in a very limited way. Much misunderstanding has been occasioned by this condition. Recommendations under "Administration Set-up" on "Public Relations Bureau and Council" cover this complaint.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
Lack of coordination by Relief Administration with existing public agencies.	This complaint appears to be justified. Very little cooperation has been asked for or obtained by the Relief Administration from public, quasi-public, or commercial organizations closely identified with relief problems. One of the outstanding results of the Survey investigation was the willingness to cooperate in solving individual relief problems observed at the many "subject hearings" to which not only relief workers but outside agencies were invited. The Recommendations in "Administrative Set-up" under "Functions of Councils" provides for the establishment and continuance of cooperation of the general public in meeting the problems arising in relief administration.
Relatives of well-to-do-persons on relief.	While only a very limited group of relatives are liable under the law for support of their kin, and while brothers and sisters and uncles and aunts do not fall into this legally responsible classifications, a strong moral obligation is involved, and it appears to this Survey that very little attempt has been made to urge morally responsible relatives of ample means to provide for their unfortunate kinsfolk while thousands of small salaried men and women are caring for their relatives and keeping them from the relief rolls, it seems very unfair and unfortunate that persons of much greater income should refuse to take the same responsibility. It appears that many of the so-called "$40-a-month-men" fall into the classification of persons with relatives able to help them. The resentment on the part of other persons on relief and of other citizens caring for their relatives has created much bitterness against the relief administration. The elimination of the "$40-a-month" classification, as recommended, and the persistent attempt to induce well-to-do-relatives to care for their own people, will do much to cure this condition.
Complaints that persons of immoral character are being given relief.	The function of the Relief Administration has been to feed the hungry and not to attempt police or legal jurisdiction of the unemployed. Any citizen, whether a relief worker or not, on observing flagrant breach of law should report the violation at once to the proper legal authorities for action. Where the welfare of children or other helpless persons is endangered, or where deceit or falsification of status is being used to secure unwarranted relief, it is, of course, the function of the visitor to so report, but this Survey believes that relief administration should not usurp or duplicate the functions of the police or other legal agencies charged with public safety and morals. In this connection it must be remembered that the Federal, State and City tax moneys are regularly expended in feeding and housing convicted criminals in jails and other corrective institutions. Neither humanity nor law justifies the starvation of any human being whatever his moral status happens to be.

Unpleasant relationships between visitors and clients.	Only in a very few of the cases investigated did there appear anything but pleasant relationships between clients and personnel of the Relief Administration. Certain visitors appear to have encountered recurrent difficulties with a number of clients. It is recommended in the standardization of personnel under efficiency ratings that careful inquiry be made by the supervisor in each district whenever a visitor is complained of by a client. It is quite natural that in certain cases a client may protest against limitation of relief by a visitor and interpret her rulings as personal rather than official. The irregularity of standards and the lack of uniformity in rules has added materially to this possibility. It is urgently recommended that wherever a visitor appears to have been arrogant or unjust to a client the case should be thoroughly studied by the Complaint Bureau and the visitor reprimanded or dismissed if the complaint has been justified.
Infrequent contacts by visitors of families on relief.	This complaint is quite justified in the groups under the Citizens' Agency, and the Italian Board of Relief. Many cases appear not to have been visited for months and some of them not at all after the first call for verification of eligibility. This subject has been covered quite fully in the preceding sections. The District Set-up recommended, and the elimination of much of the unnecessary office work by visitors, will allow far closer contact with the cases than has heretofore been possible, without increase of personnel. The Federal Relief regulations require that each case shall be visited at least once a month.
Complaints that Chinese Families on Relief do not receive sufficient care.	The visiting staff in the Chinese Division is inadequate and unable to properly conduct the case load. Inclusion of the Chinese Families in a uniform system of relief under District Offices will eliminate this condition.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
(NOTE: Complaints regarding carfare. Around this item many annoyances and conflicts have arisen. Here again lack of uniform policy has created the difficulty.)
Complaints that single women receiving $30 a month do not receive carfare, while men working for $40 a month receive carfare regularly without question.	This complaint is completely justified. The only explanation given being that it has always been done that way, which is obviously an injustice to the women who in many instances have one or more dependents to care for, while many of the $40-a-month-men have only a wife to provide for. Adjustment of this condition should be made at once.
Complaints that money provided for carfare is misappropriated through lack of adequate check.	This condition quite possibly exists and is due again to the impossibility of keeping close track of details under the present cumbersome administrative system. The whole carfare problem will be simplified to a minimum in the districting of relief clients and the consequent elimination of occasions for which relief client is forced to use carfare.
Complaints that unnecessary trips requiring carfare are expected of clients who must use their meat checks for this purpose.	Throughout the Relief Administration agencies there seems to have been rather a disregard of the client in this respect. The drain on very meager resources for unnecessary carfare is a factor which, insignificant in itself, becomes a very serious source of misunderstanding and ill-feeling. Careful thought should be given to eliminating the need for the expenditure of carfare on the part of relief clients and uniform regulations for supplying carfare should be applied to all departments of the relief work.
ELIGIBILITY.
Complaints that persons not eligible are given relief.	It appears from the intensive study of cases undertaken by this Survey that at least 15% of the families now on relief could be removed from the public relief rolls through intensive investigation and careful checking of resources. Considering that the latest report of 11,564 families on relief might be reduced by 1734 cases at an approximate cost of $48,430, for one month (See cost of relief in San Francisco, page 114), the cost to the taxpayers of this item becomes apparent. For detailed discussion of this subject see section on Rules of Eligibility and Individual Case Studies in the Citizens' Agency and Italian Board of Relief.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
Complaints that persons who are eligible are not given relief.	There is every indication from the studies made by this Survey that this complaint is not justified save in very rare cases. Relief has been generally allowed under conditions in which there was more than reasonable doubt as to eligibility. The general policy throughout the Relief Administration has been to allow relief, and even special consideration, to persons who made loud and frequent protests rather than to make rigid investigation. San Francisco has always pursued a very liberal policy in caring for needy persons and this system has been perpetuated. Practically all of the cases where complaints have been made as to non-granting of relief which this Survey has investigated showed that they fall into either the classification of definite non-cooperation on the part of the client, or that they were non-residents with established homes elsewhere in communities ready to receive them. In many cases transportation to the legal residence has been offered and refused. This type of protesting non-resident is encountered very generally by newspapers and other quasi-public agencies. In the case of one newspaper woman conducting a column devoted to social service work, her investigation proved that of the large number of indignantly protesting persons who claim they had been refused relief unjustifiedly, the vast majority fell into this non-resident group, and that in the few remaining cases there had been absolute refusal to comply with the general regulations of the Relief Administration.

FOOD.

(NOTE: By far the greatest number of justified complaints considered may be classified under direct food relief as administered in the Citizens' Agency. As the Survey has recommended uniformity of relief and the eliminations of direct delivery of food [See Summary and Recommendations, "Food," page 44] the comments are made very briefly.)

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
Complaints regarding quantity of food.	The food budgets in all of the classifications have been based, first, on the Jaffa Budget, and later on the Heller Budget, both recognized nationally as sufficient for the maintenance of health and strength. Complaints in this classification were rather as to the amounts of certain commodities than the question of general adequacy. In many cases lack of knowledge was evidenced on the part of the family as to proper methods of preparation of food, and in some cases lack of proper facilities for cooking. (See section on "Work and Rehabilitation" for suggested cure.)
Complaints regarding quality of food.	In general, the quality of food supplied relief clients appears to have been satisfactory except in the specified instances discussed below.
Substitution of sub-standard canned goods for better types purchased on specification by City Purchasing Agent.	While this Survey encountered no complaints against the quality of canned goods in the families studied, opportunities for substitution and other abuses existed in the warehouse and groceteria, as maintained by the Relief Administration, when the Survey of this institution was made. No responsible executive was in charge of deliveries, and the entire groceteria was administered by persons on relief with very little official supervision. The Survey has recommended the discontinuance of this system entirely, but in any case a rigid inspection directly responsible to the City Purchasing Agent and under his direct supervision should be established wherever food or other commodities are being purchased out of relief funds.
Complaints against quality and condition of fresh vegetables.	In many of the families studied complaints, apparently justified, were made that the fresh vegetables were carelessly selected for packing and very often in wilted and unusable condition. Even refrigerator equipped households would find it difficult to use fresh vegetables a week old, especially leaf vegetables, such as lettuce. The food boxes are delivered only once a week, and the condition of fresh vegetables, however excellent, would certainly suffer. One family reported 10 heads of lettuce and no other vegetables received in one box. There were several similar instances.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
Complaints against quality of bacon.	These complaints were rather numerous in the families visited, and in some cases the clients claimed they had been forced to throw the bacon away.
Complaints against variety.	Many of the families visited complained that the standard box did not meet their requirements. Dry cereals were often thrown away. There appeared to be a good deal of waste from the standard box on this account. Reports have been made to this Survey of commodities exchanged or sold by relief clients who could not use them.
Inability to obtain food required for special diets.	Difficulty in securing special food seems to have worked many hardships among relief clients. The inability to secure food for infants has resulted in some rather severe illnesses. Most families on relief accept the standard box without comment and use it as best they can without complaint, but in many instances with waste and discomfort.
	While provision has been made for the supplying of special diets in certain cases the formidable amount of office procedure necessary to insure delivery has created much confusion and in many cases the client has abandoned the attempt to secure the special food.
Persons officially off relief still receiving groceries.	While accounting provision has been made against this condition, it is very likely that food boxes have been delivered in many instances to persons who should not have received them. This may be due to a variety of causes, all of them originating in the lack of frequent contact with the families on relief by the visitors, and possibly accidental, or even deliberate, confusion of records by persons, themselves on relief, handling records. The recommended District Set-up, with frequent visits, and the elimination of direct food relief will cure this condition.
Deliveries of food boxes late at night.	The number of boxes which must be delivered daily possibly justifies this condition. The increasingly familiar relief administration trucks about the City and stopping at the homes of relief clients present one of the evil conditions which will be eliminated if the recommendations of this Survey are accepted.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
Complaints that milk sent to relief families is not up to legal standards.	Milk is delivered to relief clients from a number of standard regularly inspected milk companies. Any client previously a customer of any milk company may specify that company as the one from which he may receive milk. There is no evidence that complaints against the quality of milk are justified.
Receiving and cashing of relief meat checks, by persons other than the proper recipient.	These checks are delivered with the food boxes and might quite possibly be received and signed for by persons not entitled to them. The checks are made out to cash, and the endorsement can be easily forged. While theft of checks has undoubtedly occurred in a few instances little evidence of regular peculation appears. The recommendation that each client call at the District Office for his weekly allowance and sign for it in person will eliminate the possibility of abuse in this direction.
COMPLAINTS AGAINST ITALIAN BOARD OF RELIEF SYSTEM OF FOOD RELIEF.
Complaints that the stores specified for use of grocery orders are limited in number and clients cannot take advantage of lower priced stores.	This complaint, apparently justified, would be cured by the system of direct cash relief recommended by this Survey.
EUREKA BENEVOLENT SOCIETY	As this group are given cash for food relief allowance none of the above complaints are applicable to this group.
CHINESE DIVISION.
Complaints that all groceries for Chinese families are from one grocery with no alternate.	This complaint is justified. There seems to be no excuse for the continuance of the practice. If direct cash relief is given, as recommended by this Survey, this condition will be automatically cured. In any case, grocery orders should be allowed on any food dealer willing to accept the rules and specifications of the Relief Administration.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
COMPLAINTS OF FOOD BY SINGLE MEN'S GROUP.
Complaints that the food at the kitchen is monotonous.	This complaint appears to be justified, but only to the extent that might be applied to all large institutional kitchens, feeding a large number of persons daily at a minimum cost. (See Recommendations under the section on "Single Men.")
Complaints that special diets for convalescent and ambulatory cases in Single Men's Group cannot be secured.	This complaint, in most cases justified, will be cured by following the recommendations of this Survey under the classification "Single Men."
CLOTHING.
(NOTE: Practically all the clothing given to relief clients has been handled by volunteer agencies using such salvage material as could be collected from the public, and working without any established budget or policy. Considering the conditions under which these volunteer groups have worked the results have been amazingly good. Complaints against the methods of clothing distribution must be considered with the above in mind. Most of the complaints in this regard have been received from the relief workers themselves and not from the clients.)
Clothing supplies insufficient, especially for men and boys.	This condition certainly exists and the New Federal Relief Administration rules allow budgeting for necessary clothing. (See Recommendations under "Clothing.")

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
Complaints that persons on relief are sent to clothing centers where no suitable garments are available.	This is a distressing aspect of the clothing situation. With nothing but salvage goods to draw on, clients have had to take their chances of finding suitable garments, and often have been forced to go from one center to another until the required article is secured. This condition is difficult to adjust until adequate clothing supplies are made available, but every care should be taken by the relief workers sending persons for clothing to ascertain as nearly as possible that the specified garments are available. This is another of the dreary trips from one distant point to another which the relief clients have been forced to make because of awkward administrative set-up.
Complaints that workers at various clothing centers are lacking in patience and diligence in finding suitable garments.	Disappointment and fatigue undoubtedly magnify the feeling of the client toward the volunteer worker attempting to give him clothing. Actual nonexistence of the garments needed has probably been interpreted by the client in some cases as lack of zeal on the part of the worker. There is reasonable evidence that more than ordinary care has been exerted by the volunteer groups in giving the best service possible under the circumstances. (See Summary and Recommendations on "Clothing.")
Complaints that new shoes supplied children are of flimsy quality and not suitable for repairing in many cases.	The very small amount of money allowed for clothing purchases has undoubtedly resulted in the buying of cheap shoes and other articles of clothing. A far-sighted clothing policy carefully planned will cure this condition. It is deplorable but hardly censurable.
Complaints that relief clients have sold or traded clothing which have been given by Relief Agencies.	Some care has been taken to clear the gifts of clothing through the various agencies so that duplication should not occur. Many abuses have undoubtedly arisen through the multiplication of agencies giving out clothing, and the lack of centralization of distribution. A system for more exacting check should be made to cure or at least alleviate these abuses, which do not appear to be numerous.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
RENTS AND HOUSING.
Lack of uniformity in paying of rents for clients on relief.	This complaint is completely justified. There has been no well-defined rent policy up to the present time, and each case has been weighed on its merits, resulting in confusion and bad feeling on the part of all concerned. (For Recommendations see "Summary and Conclusions"—"Rent and Housing.")
Complaints that clients on relief are living in unfit quarters, crowded, and not abiding by legal regulations for sanitation, etc.	This complaint is justified in many cases. It has been recommended by this Survey that no rent be paid for any premises occupied by relief clients without a certificate of inspection by the Board of Health. (See "Summary and Conclusions"—"Rent and Housing.")
Complaints that Relief Administration has encouraged deception and exploitation of landlords on the part of clients.	Some of the practices, apparently justifying these complaints, have been discontinued, but the instability of methods of paying rent for relief clients makes all manner of abuse possible. A uniform policy, as recommended, will eliminate the possibility of misunderstanding and other similar difficulties.
Complaints that rent checks, as now issued, cover (by arbitrary supposition of agency) rent from date of issuance to same date in following month, regardless of date upon which the rent is due and payable. Workers will not discuss rent with client nor authorize it until day it is actually due. Four or five more days pass while the rent authorization and check goes through office routing and mail.	This practice undoubtedly causes much friction and dissatisfaction between landlords and clients even in the cases where the rent is paid by the Relief Administration, and should be adjusted.

PUBLIC UTILITIES AND FUEL.
Complaints that work test for men working for fuel is poorly organized, and that work done for this purpose has not been properly credited.	This complaint was apparently so completely justified that the practice of work test for light and electric payments has been discontinued, although the work test for wood and coal is still in practice. This discrimination between those persons fortunate enough to have gas stoves and those who must use wood and coal stoves for cooking, seems entirely unjust. (See Recommendations on "Public Utilities and Fuel.")
Complaints on the part of clients that kindling and wood supplied is too green for burning.	This complaint is justified and has been recognized by the Relief Administration, which is seasoning the wood now being cut, and supplying coal for fuel.
Complaints of general confusion and lack of uniformity in paying of light, water, and gas bills.	These complaints are apparently thoroughly justified and can be cured only by readjustment of administration practice. (See "Summary and Recommendations" on "Public Utilities and Fuel.")
SINGLE MEN.
Complaints that shelters are crowded and unsanitary.	These complaints are justified. See detailed discussion under "Single Men."
Complaints that there is no provision for convalescent and ambulatory medical cases among single men living in shelters who need a place to rest during the day.	This is a serious hardship, and will be cured by following recommendations cited under "Summary and Recommendations" on "Single Men."
Lack of uniform rule among shelters as to how late men may stay out at night.	This complaint is justified and is based on the fundamental lack of uniformity created by the use of different private agencies, each having its own set of regulations. This condition is subject to the same recommendations as to the establishment of uniform treatment in all classes.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
WORK AND REHABILITATION.
Complaints that men are assigned to work projects with little regard to their fitness for the work.	This complaint is completely justified and has been discussed at length in "Summary and Recommendations" on "Work and Rehabilitation."
Complaints that safety regulations on work projects are faulty and that working conditions are dangerous to the relief clients employed.	There have been no adequate records kept of industrial accidents from which a comparative study could be made, but the fact that three men have been killed on one project in the past few months indicates that this complaint should at least be carefully considered. Practically no official attention has been paid to checking in this respect. For detailed discussion and recommendations see section on "Work and Rehabilitation."
Complaints that work projects are too far from residence of clients.	Some care should undoubtedly be taken through segregation as to residence of relief clients in allotments, but men regularly employed in ordinary industry are seldom chosen by reason of residence in any particular part of the city. Segregation should certainly be made of elderly, feeble, or otherwise incapacitated men in sending them to distant projects or to work which requires a great expenditure of physical energy.
Complaints that City employed foremen do not comply with routine in returning records of work test to relief offices, and that consequent accurate check on meeting of work test on the part of clients is difficult.	This condition exists in a considerable number of cases. Inasmuch as the entire system of relief for families is built on the performing of the work test by the male head of the family, the failure to turn in records creates a hardship in many cases and an entirely unnecessary misunderstanding and conflict between the relief clients and the agencies. Careful regulation of this condition should be made.
Complaints by Relief Workers that the public is taking advantage of the distress of the unemployed by expecting employees to work at starvation wages.	This is one of the most evil results of the unemployment emergency. Housewives using domestic help are the worst offenders in this respect. Relief Agencies have attempted to set a minimum standard of pay when relief clients are sent out to employers, especially for domestic service, but the abuse in this respect is a disgraceful comment on the greed of women whose social position and standing in the community should prohibit such practice.

COMPLAINTS.	COMMENTS.
Complaints that some heads of families do not meet the work test, and yet are receiving relief.	In some cases men with families have been kept on relief though employed full time at such low wages that the relief must be continued or the family be inadequately fed. It is outrageous that public funds should be used to subsidize greedy employers, but this condition is not in the control of the Relief Administration. Public opinion is the only real cure, and should be involved wherever possible.
Complaints by relief workers that relief clients are exploited by unscrupulous private employment agencies who extort fees without rendering any service.	This is another example of inhumanity which should not be tolerated by the decent people of the community. Coordination of City, State and Federal Employment facilities and well-defined plans for vocational segregation and rehabilitation in the relief or related organizations will cure this condition to some extent. This is one of the most disheartening problems which the relief workers must face and cannot be solved without the understanding and support of the general public. Exploitation of the unemployed should be denounced ruthlessly wherever it appears.
MEDICAL CARE.
Inadequate provision for dental care and supplying of eye-glasses, dentures, and other medical appliances.	This condition exists, and is one of the serious problems to be faced by any relief program contemplating rehabilitation and re-employment. There is no allowance under the Federal rulings for these items, and some provision will have to be made if this need is to be met. The Relief Administration has done everything possible in this respect through individual donations from private sources.

SECTION III.
Special Studies.

STUDY OF ONE HUNDRED FAMILIES RECEIVING AID THROUGH THE CITIZENS' AGENCY

In order to obtain a fairly accurate and unprejudiced idea of the unemployment relief situation in San Francisco, the Survey Committee undertook a quick but intensive survey of families in which the breadwinner was unemployed and which, because of this emergency, were receiving aid from City funds. It was hoped that such a survey would not only provide valuable information concerning the actual existing conditions and problems faced by such families but would also assist in formulating plans for a more efficient and satisfactory manner of coping with the unemployment relief situation during the coming winter. In addition, special emphasis was placed upon an investigation into the eligibility of families for City aid, particularly in regard to residence and income qualifications.

Since the time allotted to the survey was limited it was necessary to restrict the study to a small number of families; the sampling was therefore of primary importance. In order to obtain as representative a group of families as possible an attempt was made to select at random one family from the active case file of each visitor employed by the several relief agencies. It was hoped that such a selection would not only eliminate to a great extent the personal equation among visitors but would provide a fair distribution and scattering of cases, inasmuch as the visitors are usually districted throughout the city.

The director of the Survey explained the project to the heads of the several relief organizations handling City unemployment relief funds, and was provided with every courtesy and facility in the undertaking. She personally selected the cases from the files of the various visitors; such cases were carefully scrutinized by her two assistants to ascertain if they were typical unemployment cases, i.e., one in which the family had sought aid exclusively because the male head of the family was unemployed. Priority was given to families with children, and in order to eliminate all cases of long standing where other than unemployment factors may have entered, only those cases which were opened for the first time during the past three years were included in the survey. In order also to preclude any possibility of the case workers' inability to complete the proper investigation and correspondence relative to residence and other eligibility requirements no cases were included which had come on relief for the first time during the past six months, i.e., during the year 1933. If the first case pulled from the files did not meet with these requirements, a second or third was pulled until a typical unemployment case was found.

The case records thus selected were kept in a file provided by the agency for the Survey workers. No visitor was again allowed to handle the record or contact the family until the Survey was completed. The visitor, however, was permitted to send in additional information regarding the case if such were at hand; all such additional data were attached to the case record by the Survey worker.

The Survey worker perused the case records carefully, noting certain items which would aid her in the home interview and taking down definite information regarding residence and other eligibility factors on schedules designed for the purpose.

The two field workers employed by the Survey Committee divided the city into two parts, taking Market street as the dividing line; all families living north of this street were visited by one and all living south by the other field worker.

The families were next contacted, the Survey explained, and their cooperation solicited.[1] Certain information concerning residence was requested; bank books, insurance policies and all papers concerning property or investments were carefully scrutinized. Information regarding the general living conditions—housing, the clothing problem, and the general health of the family—was obtained. An attempt was made to ascertain the source of funds for current expenditures such as gas, electricity, water and fuel. Other matters discussed with the families were recreational facilities, efforts of rehabilitation and the prospects of reemployment. Incidentally the general morale of the families and their relations to the agency were ascertained.

The present report covers data obtained from the case records and home interviews of 100 families which were receiving aid from the City unemployment relief funds through the San Francisco Associated Charities.

The following figures indicate the year these 100 selected families first sought public assistance:

Year Case Opened	Number of Families
1930	14
1931	33
1932 (January 1-June 30, 32; July 1-December 31, 21)	53
	100

It is evident from these figures that most of the families investigated had been on aid for 1½ or more years; all but 21 had been on relief over a year when the Survey was undertaken.

LENGTH OF RESIDENCE IN SAN FRANCISCO.

The number of years' residence in San Francisco was obtained by only one of the field workers (for families living north of Market street). Five of the 50 families visited by this worker reported that the male head of the family had been born and raised in San Francisco; 4 families did not report definitely on the subject; the heads of the remaining 41 families had lived in the city from 2 to 43 years with an average residence of 10 mean, 8 median, years. The following table indicates that nearly one-third of these families had lived in San Francisco less than 5, and three-fifths less than 10 years:

No. Years Residence in San Francisco	Families Reporting No.	Per cent
Less than 5 years	13	31.7
5 to 9.9 years	12	29.2
10 to 14.9 years	9	21.9
15 to 19.9 years	2	5.0
20 years or over	5	12.2
	41	100.0

VERIFICATION OF RESIDENCE.

Confirmation of legal residence was established by the agency in various ways; the majority of the families verified such residence by social reference; employment and business references came next in importance, and confirmation by relatives took third place. The various sources of residence verification may be noted in the following table:

[1]Official credentials from Citizens' Committee were carried by the field workers, although these were seldom, if ever, used.

Source of Residence Verification	No. Families
Social Service Exchange	8
Employment record	37
Business reference	6
Social reference	60
Relatives	13
School records	2
Other: Landlords	4
Property statement	2

Sixty-three of the 100 families gave only one type of such verification; this was usually a social reference which was not always reliable; 24 families gave two sources of confirmation—usually a social reference and an employment record or business reference; 6 families gave three verifications. No residence confirmation of any kind was on file for 7 of the 100 cases investigated.

INCOME.

Twenty-seven of the 100 families reported some definite source of income; this ranged from $10 to $75 and averaged $39.22 mean, $40 median, a month. Eight men were working full time for the Associated Charities, 6 of these were receiving $40, one $35, and one $30 a month for such services. The following table gives some idea of the income range for the 27 families:

Monthly Income	Families No.	Families Per cent
$10—$19.9	2	7.4
20— 29.9	7	25.9
30— 39.9	3	11.1
40— 49.9	7	25.9
50— 59.9	4	14.8
60— 69.9	3	11.1
	27	100.0

Fifty-three additional families reported casual earnings from odd jobs performed by the man or other members of the family, but were not able to give any definite idea of the amounts received; the remaining 20 families reported that they had no source of income whatever.

BANK AUTHORIZATION.

Authorizations permitting search of all bank accounts had been signed by the families. Accounts ranging from $1 to $87.91 were reported in 11 instances; the average bank account for these families was $26.38 mean, $9.77 median.

INSURANCE.

Thirty-four of the 100 families reported that they were carrying life insurance for some member of the family; 27 of the men were insured; such policies ranged from $125 to $5,000—the premiums ranged from $0.33 to $13.68 monthly. Six wives were insured and in 10 families the children were insured for some small amount. Small industrial policies were most frequently reported. Many families reported that they had previously carried insurance but that all policies had lapsed.

The monthly insurance premiums reported by 18 families which were on full food relief were as follows:

Amount of Premium	No. of Families
$ .33	1
1.00	1
1.08	3
1.09	1
2.16	1
2.20	1
2.90	1

3.90	1
6.93	1
7.00	1
7.02	1
7.58	1
12.00	1

STOCKS, BONDS, OR OTHER MARKETABLE PROPERTY.

Only 2 families reported the possession of securities; one man reported that he owned a few "dead" shares of laundry stock and was receiving no dividends; another man reported owning 25 shares of Borden, listed at $35.50 on June 20, 1933, when the home visit was made—a total value of $887. This latter case was, of course, strikingly ineligible for aid from City unemployment relief funds.

REAL PROPERTY.

Owned Homes.

Of the 100 families visited, 20 owned or were buying their homes.* The purchase price of the homes was obtained from 10 of these home owners; these figures ranged from $2,500 to $7,500 and averaged $5,080 mean, $5,000 median. The median value of owned homes in San Francisco according to the 1930 U. S. census was $6,783.

Three homes were owned clear of encumbrance; first mortgages for the 14 families who reported accurately on the subject ranged from $220 to $4,000 and averaged $1,705 mean, and $1,600 median.

Interest payments were met by the family out of casual earnings, from money borrowed from relatives or friends, or from the Associated Charities meat check; very occasionally it was paid directly by the Associated Charities. Most of these payments were in arrears from one to six months.

Interest payments—on both first and second mortgages—ranged from $3.20 to $23.31 and averaged $12.65 mean, $12.83 median, per month.

Money for taxes had usually been raised in some manner. There were two veteran-exempt homes and taxes for the remaining homes ranged from $22 to $100 a year.

ADDITIONAL PROPERTY.

Two families owned unimproved property in addition to their homes. One man owned a lot in San Carlos, San Mateo county, for which he had paid $600—the taxes amounted to $7.50 yearly; the other man, who owned a $7,500 home upon which he reported carrying a mortgage with interest payments amounting to $13.10 monthly, owned an adjoining unimproved corner lot which was assessed for $750.

*One additional family owned a house and lot in Whittier, Cal., where they had formerly lived. This house was now rented for $20 a month. There was a mortgage of $800 on the property.

RENTED HOMES.

Of the 80 tenants, 3 were allowed to live rent free in domiciles owned by relatives; 3 others performed certain services in lieu of rent; the remaining 74 families paid from $10 to $45 a month for housing facilities. Nearly two-thirds of these latter families paid from $15 to $25, inclusive, a month for rent. The average rental was $20.58 mean, $20.00 median.

Monthly Rental	Families No.	Per cent
$10—$14.9	10	13.5
15— 19.9	20	27.0
20— 24.9	22	29.7
25— 29.9	15	20.3
30— 34.9	4	5.4
35 and over	3	4.1
	74	100.0

Mean, $20.58; medium, $20.

The Associated Charities had assisted 39 of the 74 families in paying their rent at one time or another; 20 were having the rent paid by this organization at the time of the Survey visit.

Thirty-four, or 46 per cent, of the 74 tenants were behind in their rent payments; such delinquencies ranged from one to eighteen months and averaged 4.53 mean, 3.05 median, months. This, of course, included only arrears for the present domicile. Many families had piled up delinquency payments at previous residences and had moved to avoid payment of such debts; one family had moved 9 times within 2 years; another 8 times in 2½ years; several had moved four or five times within a 2-year period. Seven families reported definite evictions and 7 others stated that they had received eviction notices before moving on.

TYPE OF DWELLING.

Statistics covering the type of dwelling occupied by the families were available for the district north of Market street only. These were as follows:

Type of Dwelling		No. Families
1-family dwelling		32
Flats:
Furnished	3
Unfurnished	27	30
Apartments:
Furnished	16
Unfurnished	8	24
Housekeeping rooms		14
Total		100

Although most of the families contained children[1], it was evident that only about one-third occupied single-family dwellings—the majority of the families were occupying flats, apartments or cheap housekeeping rooms. Frequently one found the family huddled together in a few dreary basement rooms; on the other hand, one visited families housed in comfortable and attractive modern homes near the park and on the avenues. The Survey visitors rated the 100 homes visited as follows: Excellent, 8; good, 50; fair, 33, and poor, 9.

SIZE OF FAMILY.

Since, in the selection of cases, priority was given to families with children, it was not surprising to find that two-thirds of these families contained 2 or more children; the families ranged in size from 2 to 8 members and averaged 4.37 mean, 5 median, persons. According to the 15th U. S. census, the average size of a San Francisco family in 1930 was 2.51 persons. The following table indicates the size of the 100 families in the Survey:

Size of Family	No. Families

5	20
6	10
7	13

MAINTENANCE.

Gas and Electricity.

Gas and electric bills were frequently paid by the Associated Charities; if paid by the family, funds were often obtained from the Associated Charities meat check; occasionally money for such expenses was obtained from the casual earnings of the father or other members of the family.

The following table indicates the source of payment and the amount paid for gas and electricity:

[2]Associated Charities has paid the bill in part or is assisting the family irregularly.

Although a "shut off" notice had apparently been received by the Associated Charities in all cases before they guaranteed the payment of gas and electricity, 3 families were evidently doing without such facilities more or less permanently; they were using lamps or candles for light and a wood stove for cooking. The Associated Charities was paying and assuming responsibility for only current accounts. All back bills were still an obligation of the family and would eventually have to be paid by such family.

Water.

Water was usually included in the rent; 70 of the 80 tenants reported such an arrangement. The Associated Charities was paying water charges in whole or in part for 13 families; a relative was paying for one family; in the remaining 16 cases the families were paying their own water bill—again the meat check was often used. This charge was usually $1.50 a month.

Fuel.

Wood was generally used for fuel. This was provided by the family, was donated by friends or shops, or was received from the Associated Charities. One man described dragging a log from the beach and cutting it up to provide fuel for the coming winter. There were 6 steam-heated apartments; 4 families were using coal oil stoves—the oil frequently purchased from the Associated Charities meat check; 7 families reported that they had no heating facilities whatever.

Many complaints were received regarding the fuel situation as handled by the Associated Charities; among these were the following:

1—The great distance to the fuel work places. Several men reported that they had to travel two hours to and from work.

2—The amount of work required. One man complained that one-half day's work had to be given for two sacks of kindling only three-fourths full.

3—Kindling is too green. It is impossible to get the fire started with this.

Because of the above conditions, several families reported that they were using the grocery boxes received from the Associated Charities for kindling instead of returning them to the organization.

Food.

Of the 100 families visited, 26 were receiving the standard food box, 58 were served from the groceteria and 16 received their food through the mail order system.

The food was usually adequate in amount but complaints were received regarding the lack of variety, particularly in cases of families of adults; many reported that there were too many starchy foods and that they were precluded from selecting other kinds of food because of the excessive number of units required. Some complained of wilted and spoiled vegetables which had to be discarded while the family endeavored to buy suitable substitutes or did without. Difficulty in securing baby bags when needed was reported; on one visit the mother was greatly disturbed because the baby had been rushed to the hospital in convulsions the night before and the doctor had explained that this illness had been due to the wrong kinds of food being given to the child; the mother told the visitor that she had been forced to give the baby this food as she had not been able to obtain a baby bag.

Clothing.

Clothing consisted mainly of "made-overs" or "hand-me-downs" from relatives or friends; some families reported that they had been fairly well provided with clothing before the man lost his job and were thus able to make their things do; others reported a great need for suitable wearing apparel. The man of the family and the older boys were usually in need of suits and shoes; they felt very much handicapped in looking for work because of their shabby appearance. This was particularly true in the case of the "white collar" workers.

The Parent-Teacher Association appeared to be providing fairly adequately for school children and in some cases for the pre-school child. Twenty families mentioned receiving such assistance.

The Daily News was providing for some families, especially for adults. Although gratitude was expressed for this assistance, there were several complaints as to the manner of handling clothing by this organization.

Twenty-four families reported receiving clothing and shoes from the Associated Charities. Complaints were also received regarding the time and carfare necessary in order to receive such aid, especially in regard to shoe repairing.

Household Equipment.

Several cases of inadequate bedding, blankets, etc., were reported. It has been generally impossible to replace worn-out towels, sheets, etc.

Health.

The general health of the families was good. Public clinics and hospitals appeared to be fairly well patronized in case of illness. Of the 100 families visited, 13 men reported some sort of ailment at the present time; 14 wives were either attending clinics or complained of a more or less serious health condition—2 were diabetic, 2 were pregnant; 14 children were attending clinics; there were several crippled children in the households and two definite cases of tuberculosis—one a young wife, the other an 18-year-old daughter. Several families reported the need of eye-glasses and many needed dental care.

Complaints were made by some families that clinics did not pay much attention to relief patients; that they could not afford the small fees charged; that they had to wait an interminably long time before being attended to; or that they could not afford to buy the medicines prescribed and not supplied by the Associated Charities.

Automobiles.

Thirteen families reported owning cars; the makes and years were as follows:

Make	Year
Cadillac	1920
Chevrolet	1920
Chevrolet	1925
Chevrolet	1927
Dodge	1922
Dodge	1925
Dodge	1926
Dodge	1926
Durant	1926
Studebaker	1925
Ford	T Model (3 families)

Two families owned trucks—one a Ford 1928 model; the other was reported as "an old truck."

One family had turned in the license plates of the car; others reported that they never used the car because of the cost of gasoline; some explained that they used it for errands, for seeking work, or even in the work in which they were at present engaged; only four families reported using the car for recreational purposes.

Recreation.

When questioned regarding their recreational activities, most of the families stated that this consisted only in visiting friends or relatives, or in going on walks, especially in the park if they lived in the vicinity. Nearly half (43) of the families owned radios, 7 had pianos and 3 victrolas; one man was a musician and spent much of his time practicing with his orchestra which incidentally hopes to be reinstated in the Fox Theatre shortly; he spent the remainder of his spare time working in his garden and was growing most gorgeous flowers.

Reading was reported as a definite leisure time activity by others, especially the men; only 10 families reported attending the movies and these hastened to explain that they were taken by friends or relatives.

The children utilized the public and school playgrounds to a great extent; a few mentioned swimming at the beach or at the Fleishhacker Pool and one reported attending affairs at the Community Center. Other activities listed were auto and street car rides, window shopping, handball and church activities; one young man mentioned attending the Y. M. C. A. and one daughter belonged to the Y. W. C. A.

Rehabilitation and Morale.

Little was being done in the way of rehabilitation in these families. As one man explained, it was very difficult under the existing conditions and mental strain to study or improve one's general fitness or efficiency. The majority of the men had been engaged in the unskilled or semi-skilled occupations and did not feel any incentive for improving their lot; the "white collar" men did not have the money for courses of study even if they had been interested in bettering their general knowledge or abilities. Community centers, lectures or night classes of study were seldom if ever mentioned. The children, however, were taking advantage of public and school playgrounds and activities.

The morale of the people was, in general, good. Most of them felt that the "depression" was temporary and that it was only a matter of time before the head of the household and perhaps other members of the family would be back at work and that they would soon return to their former position of independence.

There were cases, however, in which the man, his wife, or both, were very much discouraged; this was especially true of the older men—from 50 upwards—who felt that they would never again be able to provide adequately for their families. Some younger men were also plainly disheartened. One man said he simply did not look for work any more; that he had not even had a casual job for over a year. Others expressed the opinion that such long periods of unemployment and the necessity of public aid were degrading to men accustomed to work, and that they would never entirely recover from such an experience. Some expressed bitterness regarding the situation and were very critical of the existing economic order.

Occasionally one found a member of a family who was apathetic and who was accepting the present situation without question and without any plans or thoughts for the future; these resigned individuals are examples of a broken down morale which will be most difficult to reinstate.

Relations to Agency.

In general there was a friendly and happy relationship between the client and the agency. Most people felt kindly toward the Associated Charities and grateful for the assistance it has rendered.

There were, however, families who, although on relief for a year or more, appeared to have had little contact with the organization. Occasionally the family did not know the visitor; there was no record of a home visit having been made in one instance.

There were, of course, criticisms and complaints; the most bitter being from men who had formerly been on the $40-a-month basis and who for one reason or another were no longer so employed.

There were also families who felt that they were being discriminated against, especially in regard to rent payments—some suggesting that certain visitors were able to obtain more in this regard for their clients than others.

Occasionally a decidedly antagonistic attitude was encountered; in these cases there was bitter criticism regarding the manner in which relief was being administered, but all at least admitted that people had not been allowed to go hungry.

Questions of Eligibility.

All cases investigated were checked up strictly against the rules for eligibility as prescribed by the Citizens' Committee of San Francisco. It was rather illuminating to find that a question arose regarding such eligibility for 32 of the 100 cases in the study.

Questions relative to residence arose in regard to 8 cases; property qualifications were not adhered to in two instances; 7 families had increased their equity in homes while on aid; it was probable that responsible relatives might have cared for 4 additional families; and it appeared that 11 families were receiving incomes in excess of the amounts entitling them to full food relief as set forth on the schedules drawn up by the Citizens' Committee.

After discussing these cases with the agency supervisors and visitors it was apparent that a majority of these families would have to remain on aid at this time due to present need. One felt, however, that had it been possible to investigate the cases carefully when the applications for aid were first received, and had the case load of the visitors been small enough to enable them to do adequate case work, a large part of these families would not have become a charge against City unemployment relief funds.

1—Suggest being allowed to buy own vegetables; 10 heads of lettuce received last week—no other vegetables; difficult to use and not waste and in need of other things.
2—Complained that often food not good; had to throw bacon away several times.

ITALIAN BOARD OF RELIEF

As part of the field study made of families receiving aid from City funds because of unemployment, twenty-five families receiving such aid through the Italian Board of Relief were visited. The method of selecting these cases is described in the introduction to this report.

All the case records are on file at the main office of the Italian Board of Relief, and the closed cases are kept in the same file as the open cases, and since few of the closed cases had closing entries, some difficulty was experienced in choosing twenty-five open cases; that is, families who were receiving aid at the time the Survey was being made. This difficulty was further enhanced by the fact that the agency's visitors, because of the heavy case loads, have been unable to make adequate entries on the case records, and it was finally necessary to check with the accounting files in the office in order to make certain that the twenty-five cases selected were active with the organization. Since the Survey was to deal only with those families where unemployment was the sole cause of need, families known to the agency before the beginning of the business depression were eliminated. In order to make certain that the families had been known to the agency long enough for the necessary investigations of residence, resources and other eligibility requirements to have been made, no case was taken which had become known to the Italian Board of Relief for the first time in 1933. As it happened, all of the twenty-five cases finally selected first applied for public aid some time in 1932—no case later than September, 1932—so that no case studied had been known to the agency less than nine months.

It was expected that the Survey worker would be able to get certain basic information regarding the families from the case records, but it was found that, in only a very few cases, did the case record contain more than the barest face sheet or other identifying and informative material. It was, therefore, necessary to obtain practically all needed information at the time of the home visit, made in each case by the Survey worker.

Residence.

Verification of residence from information contained in the case records was possible in only three instances. In each of these three cases verification had been made through employment records. In two other cases residence verification was possible because these families were buying their homes, and the property statements gave proof of legal residence in San Francisco. In one case there is proof in the record that the family is a non-resident one. It came to San Francisco in December, 1931, and applied for aid in May, 1932. Cook County, Illinois, has acknowledged that this family has legal residence there. In the remaining nineteen cases there was no proof of legal residence in San Francisco, but the Survey worker was convinced that the family had legal residence in all cases, with the possible exception of one case and proof could readily have been obtained through employment or school records.

Income.

Of the twenty-five families studied, ten reported some fairly regular monthly income, ranging from $8.00 to $67.00 a month, as follows:

No. of Families	Income
1	$ 8.00
3	10.00
1	15.00

No. of Families	Income
1	$40.00
1	45.00
1	48.00
1	50.00

From this it appears that half of the families report monthly incomes of $15.00 or less, averaging $10.00 a month. The other half falls into a much higher group; their incomes ranging from $40.00 to $67.00 a month with an average of $50.00 a month.

Five families reported some irregular, casual earnings but were unable to make statements for the month. Six families reported no income, even from occasional odd jobs.

One family reported an income of $25.00 a month from the rental of an upper flat in their home, but explained that this money was used to meet interest and principal payments on the mortgage on the home.

In one family the man was working on the $40.00-a-month basis.

In two families no information as to income could be obtained. Although the Survey worker called on these families eight or nine times, at various hours of the day, no member of the family was ever found at home.

Bank Authorizations.

Signed bank authorizations were found in ten case records. Reports on eight of these had been received; on two no report had been filed. Of the eight reports received and on file in the case record, only one reported an account, the sum of $2.41. Several reports indicated closed accounts, no amounts or dates given. In the remaining fourteen cases there was nothing in the record to indicate that a bank authorization had been signed.

Insurance.

Only five families of the twenty-five reported that they were carrying insurance for some member of the family. Of these, two were endowment policies; the premiums in one case being $3.25 a month and in the other $13.13 a month. This latter family is receiving only partial food relief—groceries and milk. The third family reporting insurance was carrying a straight life policy for the man; the premium being $2.50 a month. The fifth family was carrying a policy for a five-year-old child, which provided nursing service. The premiums on this policy amounted to fifty cents a week.

Eighteen families reported no insurance, although in several cases policies had lapsed. No information was available in two cases.

Stocks, Bonds and Other Marketable Securities.

Only one family reported possession of securities—seven shares of Simmons Bed Company, listed at $21.50 a share, on 7-26-'33. Total value, $150.50.

Real Property.

Of the twenty-five families two were buying their homes. On one there was a mortgage of $2100 on which monthly payments of $10.50 were being made. On the other there was a mortgage of $2500 on which interest payments of $12.50 a month were being made, and a second mortgage of $1548, on which principal payments of $13.39 a month were being made. The home was a two-family dwelling and the family was renting the upper flat for $25.00 a month.

Two families were living with relatives, also on relief, who were buying their homes.

One family had lost the home they were buying in a foreclosure sale, held only a few days before the family was visited by the Survey worker. They were expecting to be allowed to live in the home for awhile, at least, rent free, as the property had been bought in by the woman's brother.

Additional Property.

One family reported owning an unimproved lot in addition to their home. This second piece of property is in Santa Cruz. The purchase price was $775.00 in 1921, and the property is unencumbered.

Rented Homes.

Of the twenty families renting their homes, two were being given rent free by their relatives at the time of the Survey. One was doing some work for the landlord to offset the back payments owed him. In one case no information was available as to the amount of rent paid.

Monthly rents paid by the remaining sixteen families ranged from $15.00 to $24.00 a month, and averaged $20.00 a month.

Only four families of the sixteen were not in arrears with their rent payments. Of these four, one was working on the $40.00 a month basis. The other twelve families were in arrears for periods varying from one month to one year; the average period of arrears being six months. The following table shows the periods in arrears for the twelve families in question.

In four of the sixteen cases where the family pays rent, the Italian Board of Relief is either now helping the family meet the rent or has helped in the past. The following table shows the monthly rentals for the sixteen families in question.

Type of Dwelling.

The housing for the most part was good or at least fair. In only four cases did the Survey worker feel that a change in living quarters for the family was indicated. Given below are the various types of dwellings and the number of families occupying such types of dwellings.

Size of Family.

As mentioned before, in the selection of families only families where there were children were taken. The families ranged in size from three to eight members. The following table indicates the size of the twenty-five families selected.

Maintenance—Gas and Electricity.

Twenty of the twenty-five families were using both gas and electricity. Two were using only electricity; in one case both gas and electricity had been turned off, and in two cases no information was available.

The following table indicates the source of payment in the case of the twenty families using both gas and electricity.

Source of Payment	No. of Families

In the case of the seventeen families attempting to meet their own bills for gas and electricity, it was frequently reported that the meat check was used for this purpose. Often an occasional day's work enabled the family to make payment. Temporary shut-offs were common; the service being turned on either at the request of the Italian Board of Relief or when the family had been able to borrow money to meet the current monthly bill.

The amounts paid for gas and electricity by these seventeen families ranges from $2.00 to $5.00 monthly as indicated below:

The two families without gas service were using a wood stove for cooking.

A number of families reported that they owed back bills which they saw no prospect of paying.

Water.

In fourteen cases this item was included in the rent. In one case the Italian Board of Relief was paying the water bill regularly, and in two cases no information was available. In eight cases the family was attempting to meet the bill, often using its cash food allowance.

Fuel.

A large majority of the families had wood stoves which were used both for cooking and heating. The wood was obtained in various ways, generally the man or children gathering it up from neighborhood sources. In a few cases where there was no wood stove the gas range was used for heat when it was absolutely necessary.

Clothing.

Most frequently it was reported that friends and relatives had helped in the matter of clothing, particularly for the children. Several families had sewing machines, which made it easier for them to utilize these gifts. A few families reported that the children had received clothing from the Parent-Teacher Association and one family had received help in this direction from the Italian Board of Relief. It appeared that the men and grown sons of the families stood most in need of clothing. One man, a bookkeeper, reported that his only suit had been in pawn many times, and that at least once he had been told of a possible job but was unable to apply for it because he could not raise the few dollars necessary to get his suit out of pawn.

Health.

The health of the families was almost uniformly good. Two families reported recent serious illness of children. Slight temporary ailments of children were reported in a few cases, but none at the time the Survey was being made. Only one man reported a definite chronic ailment (rheumatism). In the case of four women there was a question of a more or less serious health condition. Most families made use of clinic facilities when necessary; a few were still availing themselves of the services of a family physician, though the usual fee was not being paid.

Automobiles.

Only two families reported owning cars. One was a 1924 Dodge and the other a 1927 Chevrolet. In both cases the cars were used for work when necessary. Another man had sold his car to a friend who was permitting him to use it when necessary for work.

Recreation.

Almost invariably, friends and relatives were reported to be sole source of recreation for the family. This usually took the form of an outing to the park or beach in an automobile owned by friends or relatives. A few families owned pianos or other musical instruments.

Street play appeared to be more common both with the younger children and the older boys and girls in this group than any form of organized and supervised form of recreation.

Rehabilitation and Morale.

Apparently the question of rehabilitation or training in some trade has never been put to any of the families visited, and there was less response to this point than to any other matter brought up for discussion by the Survey worker. In a number of cases there were children who appeared to need and could profit by some sound vocational guidance.

In general there seemed to be an apathetic acceptance of the depression with its attendant hardships. In a few cases, where the man had had regular employment over a long period of time with the same firm, some bitterness was expressed at being "let out" with nothing to fall back on. Only in one or two instances was there indicated by the woman a feeling that her husband was not making every possible effort to get work.

Food.

Families receiving aid through the Italian Board of Relief are given their food allowance in the form of weekly grocery orders made on various stores or markets. In addition, in those cases where the family is on full food relief, a weekly check is sent for meat and bread, and where there are children milk is also sent to the family.

A large majority of the families visited complained of the inadequacy of the food allowance. Many families felt that they could do better, even on their present allowance, if they were free to shop in the large markets or chain stores, where they believe prices are lower and where they could take advantage of sales. A number of families reported that they owed large bills; in one case it was as high as $50, for additional food that they had had to buy on credit. Bread was most frequently bought in this way.

Questions of Eligibility.

Residence

One family (cited under Residence) had definitely no legal residence in San Francisco.

A second family had come on aid seven months after returning to San Francisco, from ten years' residence in Italy. This family also had legally responsible relatives, evidently able to contribute to its support.

Resources

As cited earlier, one family had stock with a market value of $150.50.

Property—Two Pieces

One family, also cited above, owned a lot, free and clear, in Santa Cruz, in addition to the home. The purchase price in 1921 was $775.

Equity Increases

Principal payments of $13.39 a month were being made by one family, previously cited.

Income

Four families reported cash income in excess of $40 a month. All of these families were receiving full food relief. Two of these families were among the two cases questioned for eligibility under Residence.

In several other cases a closer check on earnings was indicated as being necessary.

THE EUREKA BENEVOLENT SOCIETY*

Since the Eureka Benevolent Society is assisting a comparatively small number of families, only fifteen cases were selected for investigation by this organization. Families were selected on the same basis as were those in the Associated Charities.

An excellent visual card index system was available for making the selection of families; all unemployment cases were easily spotted by the red tabs which had been attached to the index cards.

*Summary prepared by Frances M. Welch.

The following report covers data obtained in regard to fifteen families who were receiving aid from the City Unemployment Relief Funds through the Eureka Benevolent Society at the time of the City survey.

The majority of these families came on aid in 1932; only two applied for assistance in 1931 and only three in 1930.

Social Data.

Most of the men were in the prime of life. Only two were fifty years of age or over. Their ages ranged from twenty-two to sixty-three, with an average of 41.6 mean, 41.0 median, years. The wives were younger, although ranging from twenty to sixty-three years, the average age was 36.2 mean, 33.0 median, years.

Due to the method of selection, all of the families had children. The families ranged in size from three to nine persons with an average of 4.8 mean, 4.0 median, a much larger average than the median San Francisco family, which consisted of 2.51 persons in 1930.

The largest family in the Survey was found in a household in which the father was thirty-seven and the mother thirty-one. There were seven children from two to thirteen years of age. The following table indicates that eight of the fifteen families studied had only one to two children:

No. of Children	No. Families Having Specified No. Children

Residence.

Three of the families reported that the man had been born, raised and had spent all of his life in San Francisco. In the remaining twelve families he had lived in the city from two to thirty-four years with an average residence of 10.2 mean, 10.0 median, years.

With one exception,[1] no case of non-residence was found. Although it was evident that the matter of residence had been carefully investigated by the agency, no tangible proof of such residence verification was found in the case records with the exception of contact with relatives. This matter of verification was discussed with the case supervisor, who explained that information from directories, schools, employers, landlords, relatives and registrars was used to establish residence eligibility. It was, however, unfortunate that no notes of this search had been attached to the case histories.

Income.

Only five families reported any definite source of income. Three of these were earning $40[2] a month paid from the Citizens' Unemployment Relief Funds for full time services; the remaining two families received $22.50 and $25 a month, respectively. One a shoe salesman was employed on Saturdays as an extra man and on occasional busy days, and the other, a bootblack, took in about $1.50 a day, but had to pay fifty cents daily rental for his stand. Seven of the remaining families reported some small occasional earnings from odd jobs. Four reported having no sources of income whatsoever.

[1]See case No. 30,617, under "Questions of Eligibility."

[2]Both of these men were receiving a $5 monthly allowance for their cars, making the total amount received $45 monthly.

Bank Accounts.

According to the records, all families had signed a statement authorizing a search into their bank accounts. Seven of these families were found to have accounts, ranging from $1.22 to $97.48, with an average of $31.27 mean, $17.54 median.

Insurance.

Four families were carrying some sort of life insurance. Two men were insured—one for $1,500 and the other for $2,500. Premiums for the first were paid by the man's former employer; those for the second, amounting to $170.43 a year, by the family with assistance from a special fund[1]. No wives were insured but in three instances; $250 twenty-year endowment policies were being carried for the children. The total weekly premiums paid by the families for these policies were forty cents, seventy-five cents and $1.15, respectively.

Securities or Other Investments.

No securities or other investments were reported by these families.

Housing.

Four of the thirteen families lived in single family dwellings; six in unfurnished flats; four in apartments (two of which were furnished and two unfurnished); the remaining family was occupying two housekeeping rooms in a cheap rooming house and sharing the bathroom with other families. Most of the homes were clean and neat and several were unusually attractive. On the other hand, there were a few untidy, disorderly and dismal abodes.

The number of rooms occupied by the thirteen families included in this analysis[2] ranged from two to six and averaged 4.4 mean, 4.0 median. Five of the thirteen families for whom statistics were available fell below the standard of one room per person adopted by the U. S. Bureau of Labor as the minimum requirement for health and decency[3]. One family of nine persons was occupying a five-room antiquated frame dwelling; a family of six persons was occupying a four-room flat, and the remaining three families were each one room below the Federal standard.

Maintenance.

Monthly gas and electric bills ranged from $2 to $5 and averaged $3.70 mean, $3.75 median.

The Eureka Benevolent Society had assisted eleven of these families to pay such bills at one time or another, which indicated that shut-off notices had been received. Six of the fifteen families were being assisted in this respect at the time of the Survey visit.

Water was included in the rent for all tenants. It was paid by the families, in the case of the two home owners, often from the food check.

Three families occupied steam-heated apartments. One home was heated by gas and one family was purchasing coal oil for heating purposes from the food check. The Eureka Benevolent Society was supplying coal and wood for another family, and the remaining nine families picked up wood somehow or burned trash and rubbish in the kitchen incinerator in order to heat the dwelling.

Only two families were buying their homes. One, an ex-soldier, had purchased his $5,000 home through the California Veterans' Welfare Board and at the time of the survey was paying $35 monthly, covering current and delinquent interest charges.[1] The other family had bought a $2,500 home fourteen years ago and was paying $5 a month interest on the $1,000 mortgage, and taxes for this house were $34 yearly. The other home was tax exempt. In one case a family had a fifth interest in a home and the family was living rent free in the dwelling with other relatives. The remaining twelve families were tenants. The following table indicates that the monthly rentals ranged from $16 to $30 and averaged $20.74 mean, $20 median.

Seven of these families had been assisted at some time or other by the Eureka Benevolent Society in meeting their rent payments. Four were being assisted at the time of the Survey visit.

Food.

The Eureka Benevolent Society issues and mails weekly checks to its clients covering the food allowance for the families. This allowance takes into consideration the sex and age of the persons in the household and is in accordance with the minimum standard for health and efficiency as established by the Heller Committee for Research in Social Economics at the University of California.

The weekly checks for the fifteen families ranged from $6.07 to $12.24 and averaged $7.16 mean, $6.07 median.

Although as mentioned above, the amount of money sent to the families is based on standard budgets, complaints of inadequacy were received in practically every household visited. Most families felt that if an additional dollar or two were added or if the check could be supplemented by one quart of milk daily, the situation would be much improved.

The matter is, of course, aggravated by the common practice of attempting to eke out other expenditures from this check. Occasionally the gas and electric or water bill is paid, carfare is often taken out; at times some article of clothing is purchased.

Clothing.

Clothing was a serious problem. Nearly all families reported a need for clothes, especially for school children. Some families had been assisted by relatives or friends. Three reported aid from the Eureka Benevolent Society and two from the Parent-Teachers' Association. Such assistance, however, was very occasional and most families, coming to the end of their clothing resources, were very much worried about the situation. Some were trying to buy sox for the baby, an occasional pair of shoes for an older child, or a piece of material for a dress from the food check, which, of course, meant inadequate food for the family.

Health.

Nine of the fifteen families visited reported the ill health of some member of the family. Four wives were under the care of physicians or clinics. In three families the children were being treated by the Mt. Zion Clinic or had been sent to the country by the Eureka Benevolent Society because they were delicate or undernourished. One man had been injured and was also diabetic. There was a crippled, imbecilic child in one household.

In considering these figures one must take into consideration the fact that the Eureka Benevolent Society checks up strictly in regard to health conditions, especially in regard to children. Practically all cases of underweight and malnutrition are brought to their attention and the children are either sent to the country for building up their general physique or are supervised by the Mt. Zion Clinic.

Recreation.

Recreational activities of these families consisted mainly in walking, visiting relatives and friends. The children took part in playground activities and sports. Some families reported that they did not go out visiting friends because they could not return such hospitality. One mother described how her small daughter watched her friends going to the neighborhood movie, the tears streaming down her face, since she could not understand why she too could not go.

Most families spent much time outdoors—trips to the park, picnics to the beaches, or even walking about town.

Automobiles.

Five families owned cars. The makes and years were as follows:

Make	Year
Buick	1925
De Soto	1929
Ford	1930
Studebaker	1925
One vehicle described as "an old truck."

The Buick is not being used at present; it is stored in a friend's garage. The De Soto and the truck are being used by the owners in their work with the Eureka Benevolent Society. The Ford sedan is being used by the family in taking the crippled son for an airing, and the Studebaker is used by the son of the family in going to his place of occasional employment at a garage some distance from the home.

Questions of Eligibility.

In checking up the cases against the rules for eligibility established by the Citizens' Agency, questions arose in regard to two cases.

One family, previously resident in San Francisco, had gone to Vallejo and had established a residence there. It returned to San Francisco in 1930 and became dependent before re-establishing residence here. The agency returned the family to Vallejo but the local agency gave no assistance, and the family returned to its former home in San Francisco. As Vallejo had refused to accept responsibility, it appeared unavoidable for the agency to give aid.

In the second case question arose as to special consideration given the family. The bank account had not been searched for the reason that the man was expected to go back into business and it was felt that his standing would be jeopardized. The agency had an intimate knowledge of the family and felt that it could accept his written statement as to his bank account. This family was also carrying an insurance policy, with quarterly premiums of $43, paid by assistance from a special Jewish fund.

Morale and Relation to Agency.

The general morale in the families was good. However, there did not appear to be any very great incentive to going off aid. Most of the families appeared to be hanging tenaciously to the assistance they were receiving and were fearful lest they should lose it. Although fundamentally grateful to the organization for its assistance, frequent complaint was made as to the inadequacy of the check received. In several instances a definite lack of cordiality toward the visitor was displayed by the client.

STUDY OF TWO THOUSAND CASES CLOSED IN THE RESIDENT DIVISION, CITIZENS AGENCY, MARCH TO JULY, 1933

At the peak of relief, in March, 1933, 17,324 families received aid through the Citizens' Agency. For the last week of July the number reported on aid had dropped to 11,022. To secure a picture of what had happened to the families which had been dropped from relief, a study was made of 2000 cases closed between March and July. These 2000 cases were taken from the general closed files. The number of cases closed in the various districts is fairly representative of the case loads of the supervisors and the findings are considered to be typical of the whole number of families where aid was discontinued.

Length of Time on Relief.

Of the 2000 cases, 320 families received aid for only one month or less. This number included emergency cases or families immediately discovered to be ineligible. A total of 275 families received aid for one to two months, 316 from two to three months, 280 from three to four months, and 223 from four to five months. The number on aid less than five months represented 70.6 per cent of the 2000 cases, indicating that the families which had been able to support themselves up to the peak of unemployment during the past winter were the first to get back upon a self-supporting basis. Of the whole 2000 cases only 94 families had been on relief as long as eight months, and only 14 had been on aid for a year or more.

The number of families on relief, classified according to the number of months on aid, is given in the following table:

Reasons for Discontinuing Relief.

The chief cause for discontinuing relief was found to be that the family had become self-supporting, and 1239 of the 2000 cases, or 62 per cent, were taken off aid for this reason. These 1239 families contained 1387 wage earners. The man of the family was working in 1068 families, or 86 per cent of the total cases. In 199 families the wife was working, and 79 sons and 15 daughters were also earning. In 26 additional families the allotments of the sons who had joined the Citizens' Conservation Corps had been sufficient to bring the family up to self-support. This represents a very small percentage of the young men who enlisted in the Citizens' Conservation Corps as the intention in taking enlistments was to reach the neediest families and the $20 a month allotment has not been sufficient, in most cases, to take the families off relief.

One-seventh (14.2%) of the families were removed from the relief lists due to the fault of the family. In 33 instances bank accounts in excess of $100 were discovered by checking through the banks. Six veterans were found to have compensation funds sufficient for their support. Fifty-five men refused to comply with the work test, 28 cases were dropped for some type of fraud and in nine cases couples who had applied for relief were unable to verify their marriages. In 152 families aid was discontinued because the applicant refused to cooperate with the agency, and under this heading is included refusal to sign bank authorization, refusal to make statements as to assets, refusal to give information, and failure to keep appointments. In all of these instances it was felt by the agency that the failure to cooperate indicated that the applicant had resources which would make public assistance unnecessary.

Removal from the city was the cause for discontinuing aid in 215 cases. Of this number ten families were non-residents and were dropped from relief for that reason. As a rule non-resident cases are handled in the Non-Resident Department, so that these figures should be considered in connection with the study of cases in the Non-Resident Department. (See page 118.) Of the other 205 families dropped because of removal, practically nothing is known. The families which left San Francisco because of definite work secured elsewhere are not included in this number but are grouped among the cases which became self-supporting.

A total of 78 families were dropped from aid because of changed circumstances. In 35 cases relatives were found who could give assistance and 27 families were rearranged. In some instances this meant that the mother and children returned to relatives and the man shifted for himself, and in other cases the mother secured work and the children were placed temporarily under foster care. Sixteen families acquired funds which made them no longer dependent.

A total of 50 families were dropped from relief at their own request, with no further information. It is probable that these families had relatives or other resources so that aid was not needed.

The reasons for closing these cases, with the percentage which each group represents of the total, are given in the following table:

Types of Employment Secured.

Of the 1173 men reported as having secured work the records give information as to the type of employment secured by 510 of the men. In 663 cases this information was lacking, as the men are commonly anxious that they should not be contacted by the relief agency in connection with their work, and that their new employers should not know that they have been on relief.

Of the 510 men concerning whose employment data were secured the chief occupations were: Mechanical trades, 65; building trades, 58; transportation and communication, 56; and common labor, 38. Hotels and cafes gave employment to 36. Various forms of selling took 46 men off the relief lists; 31 secured work as janitors, watchmen or elevator operators; and smaller groups went to work in other occupations. In only two cases were the beer or wine industries given directly as work which was taking the men off relief, but under transportation are included truck drivers working in connection with the breweries and part of the work in the building and mechanical trades was also related to the expansion of the breweries.

The occupations listed for the women were largely in the domestic type of work: as domestics, 23; waitresses and cooks, 25; nursing, 10; and hotel and apartment work, 3. The needle trades gave work to 15; office work, 11; and sales work and factory work, each 9.

Detailed figures as to the occupations furnishing work to men and women are given in the table following.

Return to Former Employers and Former Occupations.

One of the points of special interest in connection with the employment of both men and women was to discover, if possible, the number who were taken back by their former employers, or who were returning to former occupations. This fact is of particular significance as it reflects business recovery and also indicates, in general, the desirability, as workers, of the individuals on relief.

Of the 510 men for whom employment data were secured, 233, or nearly 46 per cent, returned to work for their former employers; and 277, or nearly 55 per cent, found work again in their former occupations.

With women, the percentage returning to former employers or to former occupations was much less. Many who found work in domestic occupations had never before been employed in that type of occupation and in general the women's work tended to be more of a makeshift. This contrast is brought out in the following tabulation:

Number of Men and Women Who Returned to Their Former Employers and Occupations.

Rates of Pay.

Rates of pay were reported for only 172 men and 77 women who secured employment. These rates were reported from a wide range of occupations and are probably indicative of current wages. Among both men and women the largest group of workers employed at monthly rates reported wages between $40 and $60 a month. For the men, this group included 23 workers; 12 workers reported wages between $60 and $80 a month, 4 between $80 and $100, and 10 were employed at rates from $100 to $125, and 8 between $125 and $150. Among the women, 14 reported wages in the $40 to $60 group, 12 were to receive from $60 to $80, 4 from $80 to $100, and none above $100. Of the total women monthly workers, 12, or over one-fourth, reported wages below $40 a month.

Among the weekly workers the largest group, for both men and women, received from $15 to $20 a week. Of the men, 19 received less than $15, and 7 of this number received less than $10 a week. Eleven men received from $20 to $25 a week, 9 from $25 to $30 a week, 4 from $30 to $40 a week, and 1 received $40. Among the women only 2 received over $20 a week, and 15 received less than $15, 4 receiving less than $10.

For the men on daily rates the largest groups were paid from $4 to $7 a day. One-fourth of the men received less than $4, and 9 men, or nearly one-fifth, earned over $7 a day. Only 6 women reported daily rates of pay, and of these 3 received less than $2, 2 received between $2 and $3, and 1 had earnings of between $6 and $7.

A summary of the wages reported is given in the following table.

DIGEST OF INFORMATION ON CURRENT FOOD RELIEF METHODS IN TWENTY LARGE CITIES OF THE UNITED STATES.

Note: The information in the following digest is from original material sent in reply to inquiries by this Survey. The names of the writers of these reports and the dates of their letters are given in the first column.

City	Method of Food Relief	Experience with Commissary	Remarks
BUFFALO, N. Y. Irene M. Brick, Nutritionist, Department of Social Welfare. Dated July 25, 1933.	Small group receiving cash relief. Main group receiving grocery orders. Prices set at maximum by check with retail stores. Clients may use any store. Special allowances for medically justified diets, for disease or malnutrition cases. Cooperation on malnutrition problems with school—dietary instructions on medical check-up on each child in malnutrition allowances.	Commissary plan studied but discarded.	"Cash relief together with careful supervision is a satisfactory method."
CANTON, OHIO. J. L. Tuttle, Director, Canton Welfare Federation. Dated July 31, 1933.	Commissary since November, 1931. Buy at wholesale rates lower than has the regular trade.		"Actual savings difficult to compute. Estimate at least 10 per cent differential over retail buying of grocers."

CHICAGO, ILL. Joseph L. Moss, Director, Cook County Bureau of Public Welfare. Dated July 27, 1933.	Milk delivered daily. Box of staple groceries order on retail grocery store. No cash given for any purpose. Amount of grocery order determined by deducting retail cost of ration from total food budget. Restricted buying list. Itemized bills. Grocery store inspection. Budget for a family of 5, $7, July 27. Raised 20 per cent beginning August 1, 1933.		"We are breaking down the present economic order if we remove a large percentage of their trade from the neighborhood grocers who have often carried families on their books until they have reached the breaking point themselves."—"I believe that to remove this privilege (restricted grocery orders) would be greatly to the detriment of family morale."
CINCINNATI, OHIO. Marion Schmadel Goodwin, Case Work Consultant, Associated Charities. Dated August 2, 1933.	Three plans—commissary, retail arrangement with grocers, and cash supplement for food. Commissary used in three-fourths of families. Delivery by trucks to homes. Individual orders made out by case workers for each family—sent to warehouses—orders delivered every two weeks.		"Writer believes 'Cash budget system' for families has the most constructive value in any community program." "Every effort should be made to preserve as much individuality as possible and to fight off the tendency towards standardization that goes with commissaries."
CLEVELAND, OHIO. Stockton Raymond, General Secretary, Associated Charities, and Miss Vocille Pratt, Home Economics Department. Dated July 25, 1933.	Grocery orders at 5 per cent discount. Prices set from wholesale lists.	Experimented with commissary from March, 1931, to August, 1932—500 families. Reason for discontinuing excessive amount of criticism from (1) families, (2) organized business groups, (3) councilmen, (4) Associated Charities workers. Costly in time and hard feelings.	"Grocers believe they are making no profit but want to stay in business so they will have a better chance to collect standing bills by keeping customers coming to their stores."

DENVER, COLORADO. Eunice Robinson, Executive Secretary, Bureau of Charity, City and County of Denver. Dated July 24, 1933.	Operating for past six months on R. F. C. money. No cash given. Grocery orders on any store for limited commodity list.	May be forced to try commissary on account of radical cuts in relief funds. Will probably use the warehouse plan, in operation in Cincinnati, if necessary.	"Some evidence that grocers cash grocery orders and falsify list of commodities. Advantages of order system that client may get better prices and change grocers if the service is not satisfactory. Believe that groceries should be limited to stores agreeing to abide by rules, and investigate by secret inspectors in frequent check."
DETROIT, MICHIGAN. Irene E. Murphy, Director of Case Work, Department of Public Welfare. Dated August 4, 1933.	Three methods in use: 53 per cent issued as grocery orders on any retail store of client's selection; 24 per cent in form of cash wage for the exclusive item of food. Hours worked (at 35c per hour) determined by size of family. Maximum hours (family of 12) 40 hours. Small proportion of families fed in congested districts at cafeterias. Merely as economic expedient and not recommended. Budget changed as prices fluctuate.	"Repeatedly discouraged all proposals to impose a commissary on the city of Detroit." Objections based on Harvard School of Business Research findings as to cost of operation.	"In view of study it seems extreme folly for a municipal government to enter into the most difficult business—purchasing and distribution of perishable food." "We have studiously tried to stay away from the commissary plan, both on the basis of economy and social values."

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. Wm. R. Harriman, Superintendent of Charities. Dated July 21, 1933.	95 per cent through County Welfare stores. Central store and 23 depots in various sections of the city—open 1 or 2 days a week, according to volume of business. Grocery orders issued to clients in remote districts. $1 in cash and 25c for each additional member monthly. Standard package value (present) July 21, 1933. 1—$1.16 2—$1.68 (weekly allowance) 3—$2.68 4—$3.11 (no fresh meat) 5—$3.60 14—$6.28 (salt pork-canned-corn beef-compound (?))	Commissary with cash and grocery order in some cases.	"Found that application of standard package is most satisfactory. But little complaint about quality and quantity."
MILWAUKEE, WIS. Wm. L. Coffey, Manager. Dated August 5, 1933.	6,000 families on work relief. These families given cash to amount of budget. No discount asked of retail grocers for relief clients. Operates a commissary for part of relief cases. Twelve stations from which clients carry meat and groceries themselves. Packaging done by inmates of County Infirmary without compensation. Overhead estimated at 9 per cent. Requisitions for food are made out in home by visitor, then checked and sent to relief station, where goods are given to client on presentation of identification card. Estimates a differential of at least 60 per cent in cost of buying retail.		"We estimate on our work budgets that the food for clients on relief will cost them 50 per cent above our purchase price. The difference is a little greater than this but we allow all men on the work program extra hours to cover items not ordinarily supplied to people receiving direct relief." "If Milwaukee County had enough money to do an ideal job, we probably would put most of our families on a cash basis."

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. M. U. S. Kjorlaug, Superintendent, Division of Public Relief. Dated August 1, 1933.	Grocery orders—limited list of commodities. Prices fixed each month by grocerymen on maximum prices. No cash given. Two years in operation. Orders checked in detail. Investigators checking on sales of goods not on allowed list, and if found, contract is canceled. Affidavits on back of monthly bill from each grocer.	Never tried.	"We never tried the commissary system here because from our investigation of it a year and a half ago we determined that it was not practical, feasible, or economical way of distributing food orders."
NEW YORK CITY, N. Y. Mary L. Gibbons, Director, Department of Public Welfare, Emergency Home Relief Bureau. Dated July 26, 1933.	Grocery orders on 9000 authorized stores. Allowance schedule based on food prices in New York City. Grocers given list of allowed commodities. Voucher has the same purchasing power as cash.		"If cash is not given, then the voucher system is, in our opinion, the most satisfactory and in the end the most economical."
PHILADELPHIA, PA. Dorothy C. Kahn, Director, Philadelphia County Relief Board. Dated July 29, 1933.	Grocery order system reasonably satisfactory.		"Would prefer cash relief—cites findings of Family Welfare Association."

PITTSBURGH, PA. Geo. P. Mills, Executive Director, Allegheny County Emergency Relief Board. Dated July 27, 1933.	Food orders written on an individual grocer selected by client. Orders may be written for one or two weeks. Prices controlled by Fair Price Committee of wholesale and retail grocers, including chain store representatives. No cash or scrip given.	Carried on community market (commissary) in one section of county for about two years—now discontinued.	"The authorities of the city and county have never been favorable to the idea (commissary) and we have now closed the unit we had in operation."
PORTLAND, ORE. Emma M. DuBruille, Executive Director, Family Relief Unit. Dated July 22, 1933.	Food orders on limited list. No cash given. Committee of retail grocers makes maximum prices, at regular intervals. Substitution or irregularity published by removal from list of approved stores.	Commissary plan never tried, but careful study made before discarding the idea.	"Present plan satisfactory. Good cooperation with merchants and clientele. We believe we are working on a very sound social policy in keeping our trade in normal retail channels and at the same time are able to control prices and quantities, as well as quality of food purchases. We have been, for quite some time, convinced that the economies supposedly adherent to the commissary system of relief distribution are mythical. We feel that our present system is conducive to keeping up a good morale on the part of the recipients of relief, as well as eliminating many of the difficulties attendant on a commissary plan, and we hope to be able to continue indefinitely with our present method of relief distribution."

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Estelle E. Hawley, Nutrition Counselor, Department of Public Welfare. Dated July 25, 1933.	Blank orders issued on grocers. Returned to Welfare office every two weeks by grocers, with original sales slips for corresponding time. Duplicate slips turned in by client in return for new food order. Five hundred grocery stores on list. Six inspectors make irregular inspections. No cash given. Contract with milk dealers for milk delivery under way.	Never tried.	"Working toward making commodities on list selectable only in definite type groups to insure balanced diet."
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. Virginia McMecher, Director, Salt Lake City and County Relief Committee. Dated August 15, 1933.	All agencies, public and private, issue orders on grocery stores. Orders written by case workers in all agencies. Equitable distribution of trade is regulated by food order division. All complaints by clients referred to food order division, which clears with grocers for correction of abuses.	Commissary installed September, 1932. Discontinued March 1, 1933. County (public) began issuing grocery orders in December, 1932. Private agencies used commissary until March, 1933. Since then commissary entirely discontinued.	Writer came to Salt Lake after abandonment of commissary (January, '33) and had no personal experience with commissary there. "I found (January, '33) that almost the entire time of case workers was spent writing grocery orders, with the result that families were suffering for other types of service. Set up a division of grocery clerks in county office. This released a large amount of energy on part of social worker."

SCRANTON, PA. Francis L. Hill, Supervisor of Case Work, Family Welfare Association. Dated July 31, 1933.	Always given grocery orders. First on specified grocers with whom definite arrangements as to price lists were had. Now, in accordance with state relief plan orders read, "to any vendor of food in Pennsylvania." Give some cash out of private funds to families not eligible for state relief.	Never tried.	"Believe that families can do much better when they have cash to handle. When unemployment relief on such a large scale as it has been here (Scranton) cash plan disadvantageous on account of ignorance of families' buying habits."
SEATTLE, WASH. Dorothy C. Meyer, Relief Officer, King County Welfare Board. Dated August 3, 1933.	Grocery order at agreed price—wholesale plus 10 per cent maximum price. Sales prices may be taken advantage of and prices set each week by grocery committee—list prepared by Home Economic Department, University of Washington. Special diet vouchers are issued. Grocers selected by client from approved list who have agreed to abide by rules.	Had commissary.	"Commissary allowed no choice of food—partiality in handing out groceries. A great deal of waste. Relief Officer Dorothy C. Meyer believes commissary to be expensive and inadequate."
ST. LOUIS, MO. Kirk E. Latta, Executive Secretary, Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment. Dated July 24, 1933.	Clients have grocery order mainly on grocers dealt with in the past. Orders given from various agencies. Grocers submit itemized bills. Luxuries not allowed. Food Distribution Committee, made up of wholesale, retail grocers and representatives of relief agencies. All bills discounted 2 per cent.	Studied the commissary idea, but discarded it.	"In St. Louis there have been none of the food riots, food demands, or food lines prevalent in many cities where commissary operation has been attempted."

TACOMA, WASH. Margaret S. Dustan, Chief Supervisor, Pierce County Welfare Board. Dated July 27, 1933.	Grocery order—weekly determination of price by wholesale grocers meeting with County Welfare Board. Price list then sent to grocers. Nutrition group works with food committee on seasonable food changes.

RENT ANALYSIS.

Amount of Rent Paid.

From October, 1932, to July, 1933, the Relief Administration has steadily increased the proportions of funds allocated for rents. In October payment for rent by the Citizens' Agency represented 7.3 per cent of total relief expenditures, and in July this percentage had increased to 10.5 per cent.

No city funds were paid for rents through the Eureka Benevolent Society until April, 1933. In that month they represented 12.5 per cent of total relief expenditures. In July this allowance had increased to 20.9 per cent.

The Italian Board of Relief has paid very little rent. In October, 1932, rent expenditures were 1.8 per cent of the total, and in July, 1933, the percentage had increased to 3.2 per cent.

The proportion of funds expended on "Rent Allowance" has increased similarly and more sharply. This "Rent Allowance" covers wages paid at the rate of $40 a month plus food relief for full-time work by persons on relief. It is granted partly to assist families in paying rent and partly in payment of needed work. The system of administering relief developed during the past winter has called for the employment of large numbers of these $40 a month workers. Under the new federal regulations these numbers will be reduced.

In the Citizens' Agency, rent allowance increased from 4.3 per cent of total expenditures in October to 7.4 per cent in July. In the Eureka, from 0.7 per cent in December to 1.9 per cent in July; in the Italian Board of Relief, from 0.9 per cent in October to 3.4 per cent in July.

Number of Rents Paid.

The proportion of cases on aid for whom rent was paid during the month of June, 1933, is given in the following table. This indicates that rent was paid by the Citizens' Agency for 22.9 per cent of the total number of families on aid during the month; by the Eureka for 22.6 per cent, and by the Italian Board of Relief for 6.1 per cent.

However, the total number of families on aid during the month includes emergency cases for whom rent is seldom paid, and also families going off relief and new families coming on relief, and is much greater than the largest number of families on aid at any one time which would be a fairer basis on which to compute such a proportion.

The largest number of families on aid during the month were on relief during the week ending June 3. On this basis, the Citizen's Agency paid rents for 26.5 per cent of its relief families; the Eureka, 26.8 per cent, and the Italian Board of Relief, 7.4 per cent.

In considering the entire problem of rent it should be noted that the agencies state that approximately 1400 of the families on relief in June owned their own homes; some 800 families had sons in the Citizens' Conservation Corps, allotting rent money to their families; and 600 workers were on the $40-a-month basis. This would make a total of about 2800 families for whom no rent had to be paid. If this 2800 were deducted from the total number of families it would appear that the Relief Administration in June was paying almost exactly one-third of the rent bill.

In this table is also given the number of rents paid by the month and by the week. Monthly rents are paid in houses, flats or apartments, and the weekly rents represent families quartered in housekeeping rooms. From these figures it will be noted that the Citizens' Agency paid rents in June for some 1300 families living in housekeeping rooms, or about two-thirds as many as were living in more stable and more normal dwellings. The Eureka paid only two weekly rents out of a total of 92. The Italian Board of Relief paid even more weekly rents than the Citizens' Agency, 31 weekly out of a total of 65.

Average Rents Paid.

The average amount of rent paid by the family agencies during June is tabulated below. The average rent paid by the Citizens' Agency was lower than the other agencies, but their families are smaller. In the Citizens' Agency the families averaged 3.3 persons; in the Eureka, 3.7, and in the Italian Board of Relief, 4.2.

AVERAGE DAILY AND MONTHLY COST OF RELIEF IN SAN FRANCISCO.

The average monthly cost per family and the average daily cost per person on relief in San Francisco from October, 1932, to July, 1933, are given in the tables below. The costs are computed for each of the three agencies separately. As the practices of the three agencies differed, particularly in the matter of food distribution, this comparison of costs is important and significant.

In size, the Citizens' Agency families averaged 3.2 members in July, 1933; the Eureka, 3.6, and the Italian Board of Relief, 4.3. In percentages the Eureka families are 12 per cent larger than the Citizens' Agency families, and the Italian families 34 per cent larger. Comparisons of the monthly costs per family should take into consideration these differences in the size of the families.

The Citizens' Agency has distributed groceries from the commissary, supplemented by milk and cash for meat and bread. The Eureka has given cash only, and the Italian Board of Relief has given grocery orders, supplemented by a milk and meat check.

On the basis of daily food costs per person, the daily food costs of the Italian Board of Relief has been slightly lower than the others, and the Eureka costs have been the highest. On the total average daily costs per person, the Italian Board of Relief cost has been decidedly lower than the other agencies, due to the small amounts given in rent and service. Until April, 1933, the Eureka paid all rents from private funds, which was largely responsible for their low total figure previous to April. In May the daily cost per person aided by the Eureka was 32 cents, exactly the same as the figure for the Citizens' Agency. In June and July the Eureka cost was lower.

The figures here given were computed by the Relief Administration and include all public, but not private, expenditures. All of the agencies have received supplementary aid from the Community Chest, but it has not been possible to segregate these amounts accurately from other activities of the agencies. For example, the total administration cost of the Eureka in 1932 was practically identical with the corresponding cost in 1928 and 1929. While the City has paid little toward the administrative cost of the Eureka, the handling of the unemployment cases has added little to the customary costs of the agency. The Eureka, on the other hand, has paid a larger proportion of its funds for rent than has the Citizens' Agency (excepting May, 1933, when a special fund was made available), and this would largely offset the additional administration costs now carried by the Eureka from private funds.

*Estimated from total number of weekly rents paid. A total of 2152 weekly rents were paid in June, usually for one week out of two or three, from which it is estimated that rent was paid for 1300 families.

With the different methods of handling relief and of keeping records and accounts, closer analysis of costs is not possible, but it would appear from the figures of the Relief Administration that the daily costs of caring for a person on a cash basis by the Eureka has not been more than the cost of providing groceries through the Citizens' Agency.

HANDLING OF CASES IN THE WOMEN'S DIVISION.

The Women's Division of the Unemployment Relief Administration was established July 1, 1931, as a part of the general unemployment relief program of the City of San Francisco. The work was divided into two departments, relief and unemployment. The relief department gives care to the single woman and the woman with one dependent. Only women who are considered employable and who have been residents of the city for one year are accepted for relief. The employment bureau registers for employment any unemployed woman who has been a resident of the city for a year.

All applications for relief are subjected to a thorough investigation in order to determine the resources and abilities of the applicants. A visit is made to the home, and relatives and references are contacted. A liberal use is made of the Social Service Exchange. All cases are cleared through the local banks and the U. S. Postal Savings. A property check-up on every applicant is made through the Assessor's office. Former employers are consulted in order to determine casual employment, possible reinstatement, and length of residence.

The basis for granting relief is three days' service for three weeks' supply of groceries; the service being technically known as the work test. The majority of women are sent to the three work centers maintained by the Unemployment Relief. These centers are under the direction of three paid supervisors and are sponsored by volunteer workers of philanthropic organizations. One center is situated at the Red Cross sewing room in the Civic Auditorium. New garments are made here for distribution through the Unemployment Relief Salvage Shop. Another sewing center is located in the Hearst School, under the direction of the Parent-Teacher Association. At this center new garments are made, as well as old garments repaired and renovated, all of which are properly distributed to needy public school children. A third center, situated at the Lilienthal School, prepares box lunches for men and women meeting the work test. A group of unemployed women at this center also renovates old clothing and makes up new garments which are distributed through the Salvage Shop. Another group of unemployed women meet the work test in the homes of dependent families where the mother is in the hospital or unable to discharge her household duties. Unemployed women who have had clerical experience are detailed to the various social service organizations of the city. A large group of foreign women, residents of the community for many years but still unable to speak English, have been sent to the public schools for instruction in lieu of the work test.

The work of these unemployed women has been profitable to the community and helpful to the women themselves. Since most of the women are detached women, living alone, with very little opportunity for social intercourse, the work provided for them relieves the monotony of their long search for employment and gives them the feeling that they are still useful members of society. They work under favorable conditions in a work day of seven hours, and are supervised by understanding individuals. For the most part the women have been more than willing to do the chores allotted to them. Both the unemployed women themselves and the workers in charge of them feel that the work test has done much to maintain morale and prevent demoralization.

In the beginning rent was paid by the Women's Division only in case of eviction. In order to avoid more serious social disaster it has often been necessary to give a more liberal interpretation of this rule. The agency pays rent in cases of illness of the woman or her dependent, and also takes care of the rent for the overwrought and somewhat psychopathic cases. By agreement with the Girls' and Women's Housing Council the Women's Division can house unemployed women in the girls' clubs at the nominal fee of $5 a week for board and room. Another group of women has been able to meet rent by employment in the various social service agencies on the basis of $30 a month plus groceries. At the present time about 150 women are thus employed.

The employment department, by obtaining part-time work, has been able to help another group. Through the generosity of a woman citizen who has contributed a monthly sum of money, it has been possible to give additional assistance.

Food is supplied to the women through the grocery department of the Citizens' Agency. In cases where a special diet is required upon recommendation of a physician, the equivalent of groceries is given in money.

The employment department secured 2255 positions from July 1, 1931, to May 31, 1933. Of these positions, 828 were permanent. The policy of the office is to send to positions the best available woman, regardless of whether she is a relief case or not. The work records of the women are investigated by contacting former employers. The employment department works closely with the State Free Employment Office and other non-commercial employment agencies. In conjunction with the non-commercial agencies, under the auspices of the Committee on Non-Family Women and Girls of the Community Chest, the employment department assisted in establishing minimum standards of wages and hours in domestic work. The employment department also has sought to stimulate positions by publicity in newspapers and periodicals and by contacting employers.

An effort has been made to rehabilitate some of the unemployed women. The Cogswell School offered courses in domestic science during 1931 and 1932. During the year about sixty women availed themselves of the opportunity for instruction in cooking and household economy, but because of reduced income these courses were abolished with the closing of the school term in 1932. An effort was made to organize other courses along these lines, but it has not as yet met with any success due to lack of resources. Training courses in practical nursing have been given at the Laguna Honda Home since 1931. Several scholarships in business colleges were obtained for women who had been forced, through lack of funds, to give up their business training. Many women have benefited from the instruction in sewing given them in the sewing centers.

At the very beginning of its work the Women's Division found it necessary to establish a medical department to provide care for women who became ill and also to establish the employability of certain women suffering from chronic and nervous ailments. This work has been under the supervision of a physician and medical social service worker. Through the kindness of an interested individual, a monthly sum was donated for dental care, glasses and surgical appliances. The medical department has made a special effort to adjust the overwrought and psychopathic cases. Some of these women, together with others physically handicapped by age and infirmity, have been placed at the Goodwill Industries, where they work five days a week at $1.50 a day; half of the wages being paid by the Women's Division.

A study was made of applications for relief to the Women's Division for the eight months' period, November, 1932, through May, 1933. This study showed 1779 women had made applications for aid, and of this number 1227 were placed on relief. The investigation of cases was made with care and thoroughness, and the 552 women not given relief were found ineligible or were in need of some other form of assistance.

Of the 1227 cases placed on aid, 731 were still on aid at the end of May and 496 had been dropped. Of those dropped, 335 were discontinued at the request of the client because she had secured employment, left the city, married, or for some other reason no longer needed aid. Relief was discontinued by the agency in 130 cases because the applicant was found to be ineligible, refused to cooperate, or had some change in status which made further relief unnecessary. In thirty-one cases the woman was transferred to some other social agency for care; in most instances for the reason that she was found to be unemployable and consequently not the type of person for whom the special services of the Women's Division were designed.

RESIDENT SINGLE MEN'S DIVISION.

Up to December, 1932, there were but two alternatives for the cases of single men needing relief: (1) They could be sent to the Single Men's Registry, where they would be assigned to beds in the shelters and meals at the community kitchen; (2) they could be referred to the Salvation Army or the Volunteers of America.

In December, 1932, the Resident Single Men's Division was established under the Citizens' Agency to assist men, particularly older men, who wished to avoid the degradation of the shelters and bread line. Food relief was given to the men who could provide housekeeping quarters and maintain themselves with this limited amount of relief.

The handling of cases has followed the general policy of the family relief cases. Eligibility is investigated, bank accounts searched and resources checked. A regular case history is kept, similar to the case histories of the family agencies. The men come to the agency weekly for their groceries and meat check. Special food is given to those for whom diets have been prescribed, and in cases where a man is unable to carry his groceries home the delivery is made by some other client. At the time of the weekly call the men give signed statements as to their earnings. If earnings exceed $20 a month, food relief is discontinued.

At the end of June 482 men were receiving food relief through the Resident Single Men's Division. The monthly cost per man, including administration, was $1.15, slightly less than the cost of food and shelter through the Men's Registry.

Classification of the men receiving relief at the end of June, as to age, was as follows:

Age	Number	Per Cent
Total	482	100.0
20—29	33	6.8
30—39	49	10.2
40—49	97	20.1
50—59	156	32.4
60—69	102	21.1
70—79	45	9.4

By employability the men were rated as follows:

	Number	Per Cent
Total	482	100.0
Normally employable	368	76.4
Unemployable on account of illness or mental handicap—
Institutional cases	15	3.1
Outdoor cases	26	5.4
Unemployable on account of age—
Institutional cases	10	2.0
Outdoor cases	63	13.1

From these tables it will be seen that 83 per cent of the men assisted by the division were over forty years of age, and 62.9 per cent were over fifty years. Over three-fourths of the men were considered employable under normal conditions; twenty-five men should have been in institutions, and eighty-nine others could have managed by themselves with assistance.

No rent is paid for any of these men. They manage either to earn rent money through casual jobs or secure rent free in return for services rendered.

Some clothing, mainly second-hand suits and shirts, has been donated and distributed through the division, but the supply has been wholly inadequate, especially as to shoes. In many cases the clothing conditions are deplorable and the men are forced to walk the streets in search of work wearing shoes through which the feet are frequently exposed.

The significant contribution made by the Resident Men's Division has been as a demonstration that the single man could be enabled—and at no greater cost than through the shelters and kitchens—to continue in their status of independent, partially self-supporting citizens, ready to go back into industry when the opportunity presents itself.

NON-RESIDENT CASES.

At the end of March, 1933, the Non-Resident Department of the Citizens' Agency was transferred to the Ferry Building and placed under the direction of the Travelers' Aid Society. The expenses of the department continue to be carried by the Relief Administration.

At the time of the transfer about 900 active cases were sent down from the Citizens' Agency, and special efforts have been made to clear these and the incoming cases. To secure a picture of the situation, a study was made of all the cases in the closed files, which had been closed between March and August, 1933. This included a total of 648 cases.

The length of time that these non-resident families had been on aid is given in the following table. Practically one-fifth of the cases were cleared within one month and one-third were cleared within two months. However, practically one-third of these non-residents received aid for over five months, and one-fourth were assisted for seven months or longer, while forty-nine families were on aid longer than a year.

These figures, showing the length of time relief was given to non-resident cases, should be compared with the corresponding table for the 2000 closed resident cases. (See page 98.) It will be noted by this comparison, that non-resident families have been receiving relief for nearly as long periods as have the resident families.

The foregoing tabulation as to the length of time aid was given to non-resident cases before the relief was discontinued and the cases closed is supplemented by the following table, which shows the length of time on relief of cases still active in the Non-Resident Department, August 8, 1933.

Of the 269 cases in the active files, twenty-seven, or 10 per cent, had been on aid for more than a year. Thirty per cent had been on aid over eight months, and 50 per cent had been on aid over five months. All of these longer term cases represent problems transferred to the present Non-Resident Department in March of the present year.

Causes for Closing Non-Resident Cases.

Of the cases closed in the Non-Resident Department, almost one-third were known to have left the city. One hundred and fifty families were returned to their legal residence, and fifty-eight other families were known to have gone away.

The cases of 157 families were closed when their status as non-residents was established and they refused to return to their place of legal residence. Forty-four families moved, leaving no address. These two groups constitute almost a second third of the total. Their present condition and whereabouts are not known.

Of the balance, 132 families secured work and became self-supporting. Relatives offered to assist ten families; three families acquired funds, and eight families were transferred to some other agency, making them still dependent.

One of these applicants was discovered to have a bank account. Another was a veteran with an available bonus. Two couples were unable to establish their marriage, and forty-three other families were dropped for failure to cooperate, usually meaning refusal to give information.

The causes for discontinuing relief in these cases are given in detail in the following table:

FEDERAL EMERGENCY RELIEF ACT OF 1933.

That Congress hereby declares that the present economic depression has created a serious emergency, due to widespread unemployment and increasing inadequacy of state and local relief funds, resulting in the existing threatened deprivation of a considerable number of families and individuals of the necessities of life, and making it imperative that the Federal Government cooperate more effectively with the several states and territories and the District of Columbia in furnishing relief to their needy and distressed people.

ROLL CALL FOR THE INTRODUCTION OF RESOLUTIONS, BILLS AND COMMUNICATIONS NOT CONSIDERED OR REPORTED UPON BY A COMMITTEE.

Communication Re Municipal Projects.

Supervisor Colman presented a communication from the Building Managers Association of San Francisco, Down Town Association, San Francisco Bureau of Governmental Research, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce and the San Francisco Real Estate Board, urging that in transmitting the proposed municipal projects to the Federal Regional Administrator for approval the Red Mountain Bar Power House project be submitted as an entirely separate proposition from the proposed transmission line and power distribution project.

The foregoing communication was read by the Clerk.

Whereupon, Supervisor Colman moved that a copy of these protests, with a record of the vote of this Board of Supervisors, be forwarded to Secretary Ickes and Justice Wardell, and the members of the Advisory Board, of which Supervisor Havenner is a member. Motion seconded by Supervisor Brown.

The subject-matter was discussed by Supervisors Colman, Shannon, Brown, McSheehy, Stanton and Canepa.

Supervisor Stanton presented a newspaper clipping from the Daily News pertinent to the question, which was read by the Clerk.

Supervisor Colman thereupon withdrew his motion as previously presented, Supervisor Brown agreeing, and further moved:

That, in transmitting to the Federal Regional Advisor for approval, the power projects be separated into two proposals:

First, Red Mountain Bar be submitted as involving the sum of $1,000,000;

Second, and the proposed transmission line designated as involving $5,308,000.

Supervisor McSheehy arose to a point of order on Supervisor Colman's motion and referred to previous action taken by the Board thereon.

The Chair sustained the point of order and Supervisor Colman accepted the ruling.

Whereupon, the communication was ordered received and placed on file.

Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors deeply regrets the passing of our late confrere and member of the Board of Supervisors, William S. Scott.

Communication from the National Recovery Administration.

San Francisco, September 16, 1933.

To the County Chairmen:

The agreement cited below is sent to you for your information and guidance. I think it very important indeed that the communities in your County be induced to set up an Unemployment Registration Bureau, with the purpose to see that employers give preference to Californians and to heads of families. Copy of ordinance is herewith enclosed. I am also enclosing list of County Chairmen appointed by John A. Stellern, Director of Employment, State of California. Let me suggest that you establish immediate contact with the representative in your County.

Sincerely,

GEORGE CREEL, Chairman,
District Recovery Board, National Recovery Administration.

After a conference with Supervisor Carl W. Miles, Chairman, Citizens' Advisory Committee, Municipal Unemployment Registration Bureau of San Francisco, Charles M. Wollenberg, Municipal Director of Relief; John A. Stellern, Director of Reemployment, State of California, and Mr. Richard C. Stillwell, Manager, Veterans' Division, U. S. Employment Service, the following statement was issued by Mr. George Creel, Regional Director of the NRA:

"The San Francisco Unemployment Registration Bureau, a City agency designed to register the names of all bona fide unemployed San Francisco residents, is doing a necessary and valuable work. I am recommending to NRA leaders that they have similar bureaus established in every California community.

"I am forwarding copies of the legislation creating San Francisco's Bureau to all County Chairmen urging them to bring the matter immediately before all Boards of Supervisors and City Councils. Those County Chairmen are also being instructed to establish immediate contact with the County Chairmen already appointed by Mr. Stellern so that the task of reemployment will be free from duplication and confusion.

"As we begin active work on the various projects receiving NRA fund aid, these various Bureaus can cooperate helpfully with the Federal Reemployment Service.

"Employers will be asked to give preference in hiring new help, to capable heads of families who are bona fide residents of their particular communities.

"I wish to point out that the fact that a man or woman is registered with one of these Bureaus by no means necessarily indicates he or she is on relief."

Referred to Committee.

Supervisor Shannon presented:

Printing Contracts to Be Awarded Only Where There Is the Fullest Cooperation with the NRA Program.

(Code No. ———)

Resolution No. 1022, as follows:

Whereas, some two weeks ago bids were opened for printing the Great Register, and ten bids were received at 5½ cents per line, which is the lowest price bid for this work in over ten years; and

Whereas, a bid is now submitted at 3¾ cents per line, which is obviously a "cut throat price" that will not stand up under the NRA Code and afford a decent profit or an adequate wage as contemplated in the "New Deal"; and

Whereas, the Printers' Board of Trade, representing, as it does, the legitimate printing industry of this city, with its large capital investment and large payroll of employees, is pledged to cooperate in spirit and letter with the National Recovery Program, and by that pledge and cooperation become subject to "racketeering" practices of printers who have little or no investment in San Francisco and do not conform to the same high standards as long-established San Francisco firms; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors as a matter of sound public policy and considering the exigencies of the times, go on record as favoring awards of contracts, not on a basis of "cut throat" competition, but only to such local firms as have legitimate and long-established places of business and have been affording employment to our people during these distressing times, both of which employers and employees, are unitedly cooperating in the fullest measure with the NRA program for the revival of business and the profitable re-employment of our people.

Further Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors request our Purchaser of Supplies to use his prerogative of rejection of bids by rejecting the above-mentioned low bid and award to the next highest responsible bidder.

On motion referred to the Public Welfare Committee.

In Memoriam: Fred Nicholas.
(Code No. 5.91)

Supervisor Shannon presented:

Resolution No. 1023, as follows:

Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors records the passing of Fred Nicholas, former President of District Council No. 22, Carpenters of America, and prominent in all the activities of the Building Trades Council for the last 25 years, and formerly Supervisor of the City and County of San Francisco.

Fred Nicholas had a host of friends, was a stalwart in the labor movement, and, together with the late P. H. McCarthy, former President of the Building Trades Council, made history in the cause of organized labor. He was a Supervisor of this City during the trying period of 1906, when the City was destroyed by fire and earthquake, and he played an important part in its rehabilitation.

Further Resolved, That when this Board of Supervisors adjourns today it does so out of respect to his memory, and the Clerk is directed to convey to the relatives of the deceased this Board's deep sympathy and commiseration in his death.

Further Resolved, That the President of the Board of Supervisors be authorized to appoint a Committee to represent the City and County at the funeral services.

Absent—Supervisors Gallagher, Havenner, Peyser—3.

Also, Resolution No. 1024, as follows:

Resolved, That this Board records with deep commiseration the passing of Charles L. Neumiller, President of the Board of State Prison Directors, and Chairman for many years of the State Central Committee of the Republican Party.

Mr. Neumiller was a man active in the public affairs of this City and State for many years, and is a distinct loss to his friends, constituents and family.

Further Resolved, That when this Board of Supervisors adjourns today it does so out of respect to the memory of the deceased, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the family of the late Mr. Neumiller, and the President of the Board of Supervisors be requested to appoint a proper committee to represent the City and County of San Francisco at his funeral.

Adopted by a rising vote, as follows:

Ayes—Supervisors Breyer, Brown, Canepa, Colman, Hayden, McSheehy, Miles, Power, Roncovieri, Shannon, Spaulding, Stanton—12.

Providing for Audit of Controller's Books and Accounts and Notice of Recommendation.

(Code No. 9.061)

Resolution No. 902, as follows:

Whereas, it is incumbent upon the Board of Supervisors, under the provisions of section 68 of the Charter, to order an annual audit of the Controller's books of accounts, records and transactions to be made by one or more certified accountants; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors does hereby order an audit of the said Controller's books of accounts, records and transactions for the fiscal year 1932-33, and for the purpose of making said audit does hereby engage and retain the firm of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery, certified public accountants, and hereby fix the compensation of said firm as follows, to-wit: For supervising accountant, $50 per day; for senior accountant, $25 per day; for junior accountant, $15 per day, together with such office expenses, including typewriting, as may be incidental to the preparation of a full report of the audit of said accountants; and be it not exceed the sum of $7,500, and shall be paid from Appropriation Item No. 3, 1933-34, Appropriation Ordinance.

Supervisor Miles moved adoption of the foregoing resolution.

The subject-matter was discussed at length by Supervisor Miles, McSheehy and Stanton.

Supervisor McSheehy moved that the matter be rereferred to the Finance Committee and be advertised in the official newspaper, calling for bids for such service.

Supervisor Miles explained that he had taken up matter of calling for bids with a number of the leading certified auditing and accounting firms and was advised that a standardized price has been established by the various companies, and that no advantage to the City would be served in calling for bids, and therefore has recommended that the work be authorized as set forth in the resolution presented.

Ayes—Supervisors McSheehy, Stanton—2.

Noes—Supervisors Breyer, Brown, Canepa, Colman, Miles, Power, Roncovieri, Shannon, Spaulding—9.

Absent—Supervisors Gallagher, Havenner, Hayden, Peyser—4.

ROLL CALL FOR THE INTRODUCTION OF RESOLUTIONS, BILLS AND COMMUNICATIONS NOT CONSIDERED OR REPORTED UPON BY A COMMITTEE.

Public Library Service.

Supervisor Brown asked if the Clerk had any report from the Board of Library Trustees in response to his motion that public libraries be kept open Sundays and holidays for the accommodation of the unemployed who had no means for other recreation and was answered in the negative. He thereupon read a personal reply from said Board stating reasons why request could not be complied with and comparing service rendered public in San Francisco with inferior service rendered in other cities.

Parking in the Financial District.

Supervisor Peyser: We passed an ordinance repealing parking in the Financial District which has not been in effect. People are still receiving tags on the streets. He asked that the Clerk direct a communication to the Chief of Police asking why the ordinance has not been put in effect and also that he be requested to include that the present "No Parking" signs be taken down.

So ordered.

Relative to N. R. A. Loan for Public Works.

The following matters were read by the Clerk:

The Hon. J. Emmet Hayden, President of the Board of Supervisors and Acting Mayor, San Francisco.

With reference to the thirty-day term limitation we have been assured that if we do our part the government will not stand on technicalities. It is our opinion that bond election upon projects be deferred until federal approval has been secured. Trip to Washington will depend upon further developments. We will be home Friday, 8:20 a. m. Would you be good enough to transmit this message to the members of the Board of Supervisors today in session and have manifolded copies of it presented to Justice Wardell and Supervisor Havenner. We all extend regards.

ANGELO J. ROSSI.
LEONARD S. LEAVY.
ANDREW J. GALLAGHER.

The Hon. J. Emmet Hayden, President of the Board of Supervisors and Acting Mayor, San Francisco.

Had a very satisfactory conference with Secretary Ickes, he assured us as well as all other members attending conference that it is his sincere desire to cooperate on public works advances speedily and to the fullest extent. Federal government in Washington extremely eager for speedy submission of municipal requests. We quote from Secretary Ickes address as follows: "Believe me you cannot be as anxious as I am to put this public works money to work. I fully realize the seriousness of the situation. I want your help, your friendly cooperation. I want you to show me how to give you a share of this money, show me quickly and you will get the money quickly." We further quote from the Secretary: "We are willing to advance you as an outright give thirty per cent of your outlay for labor and material on an approved plan; we ask you to pay for the balance of the project, but we are willing to help you to finance your share. We will advance you the remaining seventy per cent upon approved security and by approved security I don't mean that we will be as finicky about the security that you may offer as would be the investment bankers with whom you are accustomed to deal." It is apparent to us any delay will be chargeable to us. We therefore urge that every effort be exerted in the direction of cooperation with the State Advisory Board, for we feel definitely satisfied that Washington will act upon our recommendations without delay. We further quote from the Secretary's address. "We are not being technical. We are not wound about with red tape those who cry out about red tape in some instances, at least, are themselves entangled in red tape. We are willing to give a municipality the benefit of the doubt. We do not even ask that any municipal project be brought to us in perfect engineering, legal and financial form before approving it. We have adopted a system of tentative allocations of funds on my motion."

The Hon. J. Emmet Hayden, President of the Board of Supervisors and Acting Mayor, San Francisco.

The Special Board of Public Works about a month ago adopted a resolution as follows:

"Resolved, That upon a proper prima facie showing that a proposed State or Municipal public works project is socially desirable is satisfactory from an engineering point of view and can be financed under the law. The public works administration may make an allocation of the money required for such project on the condition that not later than thirty days after such allocation the financial and engineering feature of said project be worked out and a final contract satisfactory to the Administrator of Public Works be executed, failing which the tentative allocation shall be without effect."

Motion.

Supervisor Shannon moved that the projects heretofore approved by this Board be submitted to the voters at the general election of November 7, 1933.

Amendment.

Supervisor Peyser, seconded by Supervisor Hayden, moved as an amendment to defer action until Friday, and in the interim we send a wire to Mr. Ickes asking his opinion as to whether it is advisable to submit these matters to the people at a bond election before or after their approval by himself.

Amendment lost by the following vote:

Ayes—Supervisors Breyer, Brown, Colman, Hayden, Miles, Peyser—6.
Noes—Supervisors Canepa, Havenner, McSheehy, Power, Roncovieri, Shannon, Spaulding, Stanton—8.

Noes—Supervisors Breyer, Brown, Colman, Hayden, Miles, Peyser—6.
Absent—Supervisor Gallagher—1.

Action Deferred.

Thereupon, Supervisor Shannon moved we recess at end of today's session until Friday, at 2 p. m., for further consideration of proposed bond issue for public works project.

Motion.

On motion of Supervisor Shannon, the following telegram was ordered sent to Mr. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior:

"In line with policy of the National Administration urging speed on local NRA projects, this Board of Supervisors voted Monday to hold a $35,000,000 City and County Public Works Bond Election on November 7, 1933. Before the vote to submit the proposals to the people in November this Board was advised by the Mayor's Conference in Chicago that it would be more desirable and better policy to delay the election until after the projects are given tentative Federal approval. The Board will finally vote Friday, September 29, whether to hold an election November 7 or postpone it until after NRA approval is obtained. If it is not too presumptuous this Board would like your advice as to whether to speed the election or wait for Federal approval. It is of the utmost importance if the local NRA program is to proceed expeditiously, that you kindly advise us as to your attitude and the attitude of the National Administration in the matter of the election date before noon, Friday, September 29."

Unemployment Relief Loan.

The following was presented and read by the Clerk:

Resolution of the Emergency Relief Committee of the County of San Francisco, requesting the Board of Supervisors to apply for a loan under the provisions of the Unemployment Relief Bond Act of 1933.

Final Passage.

The following emergency ordinance was presented by Supervisor Miles and finally passed by the following vote:

Making an Appropriation of $416,000 to the Citizens' Relief Committee for the Purpose of Meeting the Expenses of Caring for the Indigent Sick and Dependent Poor of the City and County of San Francisco for the Month of September, 1933.

(Code No. 9.051)

Bill No. 432, Ordinance No. 9.05192, as follows:

Making an appropriation of $416,000 to the Citizens' Relief Committee for the purpose of meeting the expenses of caring for the indigent sick and dependent poor of the City and County of San Francisco for the month of September, 1933.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco as follows:

Section 1. The sum of four hundred and sixteen thousand ($416,000) dollars is hereby appropriated to the Citizens' Relief Committee for the purpose of caring for the indigent sick and dependent poor of the City and County of San Francisco for the month of September, 1933.

Section 2. That said appropriation is made from such state, federal and municipal funds as are in the Treasury of the City and County of San Francisco and are available for the purpose of caring for the indigent sick and dependent poor of said City and County.

Section 3. This ordinance is passed as an emergency measure and the Board of Supervisors by the vote by which this ordinance is passed does hereby declare that an emergency actually exists which necessitates the immediate passage of this ordinance, the said emergency being as follows, to-wit: That the appropriation herein made is necessary for the preservation of the health and safety of a large number of the residents and inhabitants of the City and County of San Francisco and for the uninterrupted operation of the work of the Citizens' Relief Committee.

Section 4. This ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its approval.

Relief Survey Committee's Recommendations.

Supervisor Havenner: In view of the completion of the report of the Expert Committee appointed by this Board to make a survey of relief, the fact that printed copies are now available and supplied to the members of the Board of Supervisors and other responsible officials of the government, I think it desirable to request the Citizens' Advisory Relief Committee to make a report to this Board at the earliest possible moment of their recommendations for putting the various suggestions into effect.

I think that the press of yesterday carried a despatch from the Chicago Conference of Mayors quoting a National Administrator of Relief, stating that it would be the policy of the Federal government for the abolishment of food relief and the substitution of cash or "scrip" relief. That is one of the recommendations contained in the report of the Survey Committee.

I would, therefore, request that the committee be asked to report at the earliest possible moment as to what recommendation of survey should be adopted.

So ordered.

Resolution Withdrawn—Award of Contract for Printing Great Register.

Supervisor Shannon asked permission to withdraw resolution heretofore presented by him and referred to the Public Welfare Committee relative to award of contract for printing great register.

Supervisor Power as chairman, together with the other members, the Welfare Committee agreed to withdrawal.

Whereupon, Supervisor Shannon was permitted to withdraw resolution from the Board and from the record.

(Code No. 5.2)

Supervisor Miles presented:

Resolution No. 1030, as follows:

Whereas, the Honorable George Creel has submitted to the President of the United States his resignation from the office of chairman of the District Recovery Board of the National Recovery Administration, effective October 1, 1933; and

Whereas, his untiring efforts to promote the success of this most important part of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's recovery program have been in the largest degree responsible for the enthusiastic support accorded the NRA by every section of our population in San Francisco and the entire West; and

Whereas, as a result of this response, San Francisco and California appear to be definitely emerging from the business and industrial depression which so seriously blighted our people; and

Whereas, this evident return to normal conditions in our economic life will spell the resumption of prosperity and happiness to our people; and

Whereas, it is of vital importance that the splendid work initiated by Mr. Creel be continued; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco does hereby express the heartfelt appreciation of its members and the citizens of San Francisco for the splendid, unselfish work of the Honorable George Creel in their behalf; and be it

Further Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors does hereby petition His Excellency, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President of the United States, to prevail upon the Honorable George Creel to reconsider his resignation and continue his patriotic activities as District Chairman for the National Recovery Administration; and be it

SPECIAL ORDER.

School Building Program.

The Board of Education having been invited to attend today's meeting in re School Building Program under the NRA, President Phillip Lee Bush and Superintendent Jos. Marr Gwinn appeared.

Philip Lee Bush, President of the Board of Education, explained the program to the Supervisors, declaring it would provide safe schools as well as relieve serious overcrowding in the high schools and junior high schools.

The George Washington High School, he said, will accommodate 2500 pupils. Only the first half of the Marina Junior High would be constructed at this time, to hold 1000 to 1200 pupils, eventually 1600. The Lawton School would also be only a first unit, replacing existing bungalows.

Concerning old schools to be remodeled, Mr. Bush said the Starr King, Irving M. Scott and Patrick Henry would utilize only ground floor classrooms, abandoning upper stories, and altered to provide French windows, which with present hallways would give a double and speedy means of evacuating children in case of fire.

The three-story building at Francis Scott Key School would be replaced by a new building with the seven-year-old second building on the site remodeled as above. Parent-Teachers Association's request to move the school two blocks farther south will be considered in the meantime.

By means of iron stairways, the Twin Peaks and Douglas Schools' fire hazards can be eliminated, said Mr. Bush, adding that the proposal to consolidate the two schools had been abandoned. The Fremont School has been converted into a two-story school since it was partially destroyed by fire in April, and nothing will be done about a new building until a new site is obtained, probably requiring several years.

Superintendent Jos. Marr Gwinn was also heard in explanation of the school program.

Mrs. Eric W. Hammond, 350 Sixteenth avenue, representing Parent-Teachers Association, was heard in support of the program of the Board of Education as presented.

Mrs. Thos. I. Best, representing Sunset Transportation and Improvement Club, spoke for the replacement of the Francis Scott Key School by a new school on the present site in accordance with plan for replacement of firetrap schools heretofore approved.

Approved.

Whereupon, the revised $3,000,000 program of school construction was approved for inclusion in the City's $35,000,000 list of N. I. R. A. projects.

Schools Provided.

As submitted and approved, the revised program provides the following construction:

New schools: George Washington High School, Thirtieth avenue and Geary street, $1,200,000; Marina Junior High School, Fillmore and Chestnut streets, $385,000; Lawton Elementary School, Thirtieth avenue and Lawton street, $100,000.

Old schools replaced: Glen Park, $300,000; Agassiz, $175,000; Sunshine, $115,000; Buena Vista, $200,000, and Visitacion, $250,000. These schools were included in the bond issue defeated last June.

Old schools partially remodeled: Starr King, $95,000; Irving M. Scott, $75,000; Patrick Henry, $85,000, and Francis Scott Key, $100,000.

For sundry changes and general additions an item of $180,000 was included, and for strengthening schools suspected of earthquake weakness, $240,000.

Three Not Included.

Three schools for which provision was made in the defeated bond issues, were not included in the revised program: Twin Peaks, Douglass and Fremont.

To the Honorable The Board of Supervisors, City Hall, San Francisco.

Gentlemen: Immediately upon being advised of the special meeting called by your Board for this afternoon, I proceeded to draft a report of the most important discussions that took place at the Conference of Mayors of the United States, held in Chicago, September 22 and 23.

While many matters of interest in connection with municipal governments were reviewed, I feel the most important item discussed was the public works program.

The conference was indeed honored by the presence of the Secretary of the Interior, the Honorable Harold L. Ickes, who, in a very definite and detailed manner outlined the Federal Government's attitude in connection with the works program.

My telegram of September 25th conveyed many important excerpts from the Secretary's address. Feeling that the said address was of sufficient importance, I am herewith transmitting to you a complete copy of it, and suggest that it be made a part of your proceedings of today and that manifold copies be made of it and be distributed to each member of the Board for his information and consideration.

The Secretary's message very clearly reflects the cooperative attitude of the Federal Government in connection with the N. R. A. program, and its eagerness to aid the municipalities in putting it into operation. The Secretary stressed the fact that "red tape" does not nor will not apply in so far as Washington is concerned. It is up to us to reasonably satisfy his department that the project for which we ask aid is socially desirable, satisfactory from an engineering standpoint and can be financed under the law.

In my personal conference with the Secretary, he reassured me of his desire to cooperate and made it very clear that the broadest interpretation would obtain in considering recommendations.

It was only after my conference with the Secretary and the members of the Executive Committee of the conference that a wire was sent to Acting Mayor Hayden suggesting that a special bond election be deferred until Washington acts upon our requests.

It was the consensus of opinion of those attending the conference that the Government's prior approval of projects would materially aid the electorate in reaching a favorable decision. I concur in that viewpoint and feel that any other course would confuse the public mind and predicate against the issue.

If the Federal Government will agree to accept our recommendations or any part of them, then let us go to the voters with a convincing and definite program. I am in full accord with the Board's thought in overcoming delay and getting the quickest possible action, but above all things, we want favorable action. It is, therefore, for this reason, and this reason alone, that I reiterate my recommendation as contained in my telegram of September 25th. I am sure you will share with me in the great pleasure of knowing that our requests, as drawn up by our Controller, Leonard S. Leavy, were the subject of many flattering compliments. In fact, Mr. Betters, executive secretary of the Mayors' Conference, very frankly admitted that Mr. Leavy's drafts were most thorough and understandable, and requested copies to be furnished him, for it is his purpose to use them as models for other cities to follow.

The worthwhileness of the conference and the urge for its continuation is beyond question. However, I return home thoroughly convinced that only in this organized effort could the splendid understanding now obtaining between the municipalities and the Federal Government be established.

I trust you will not consider me immodest when I tell you the address which I made at the opening banquet, and which was nationally broadcast through the courtesy of the National Broadcast System, was most graciously received, for I received many personal and telegraphic compliments. I am sure the compliments were intended for the City and County of San Francisco, because my address dealt with our splendid form of government and the City and County's very enviable financial position.

I did not proceed to Washington, for I did not believe it necessary. Secretary Betters and a committee of three from the conference are now there and will keep me informed. Subsequent developments only will determine whether a delegation should or should not go back there. In order that you may partly visualize conditions away from home, I offer information given to me by the executive secretary of the conference, that there are not fifteen cities of sizable population in the United States financially solvent. I also learned that the city of Chicago's Tax Anticipation Notes of 1931 are now being liquidated and that Chicago, on the day I left there, was paying salary warrants amounting to $1,900,000 for the last half of June of this year. Furthermore, Mayor Kelly of Chicago informed those present at the conference that notwithstanding the fact that Chicago has met its maturing bond obligation, it found it extremely difficult to dispose of its bonds.

Herewith attached are copies of resolutions passed by the conference favoring the passage of amendments to the Federal statutes:

a. Permitting postal savings banks to accept municipal funds as public depositories.

b. Favoring legislation under which tax warrants, notes or certificates may be issued as collateral or may be purchased by some Federal governmental agency.

In conclusion may I add that within the next ten days I expect a transcript of the full proceedings of the conference and upon its receipt you may expect a copy for your files.

I am also having manifolded copy of the address delivered by the Hon. Harry Hopkins, Federal Relief Administrator. I feel this, too, will be of interest to the members of your Board.

Respectfully submitted,

ANGELO J. ROSSI, Mayor.

Privilege of the Floor.

On motion of Supervisor McSheehy, Justus Wardell was granted the privilege of the floor.

Justus Wardell, Regional Advisor, National Recovery Administration, addressed the Board. He declared that it would be better if we could hold the bond election on October 7 instead of November 7, as the whole purpose of the N. R. A. is to get men on the relief roll back on the pay roll. It would not be advantageous to send a delegation to Washington to advocate a loan—it would be of no benefit to make a personal appeal.

Mayor Rossi read a telegram expressing his views and the attitude of the Federal Administrator, to-wit:

The Hon. J. Emmett Hayden, President of the Board of Supervisors and Acting Mayor.

Had a very satisfactory conference with Secretary Ickes. He assured us, as well as all other members attending conference, that it is his sincere desire to cooperate on public works advances speedily and to the fullest extent. Federal Government in Washington extremely eager for speedy submission of municipal requests. We quote from Secretary Ickes' address as follows: "Believe me, you cannot be as anxious as I am to put this public works money to work. I fully realize the seriousness of the situation. I want your help, your friendly cooperation. I want you to show me how to give you a share of this money; show me quickly and you will get the money quickly." We further quote from the Secretary: "We are willing to advance you as an outright gift 30 per cent of your outlay for labor and material on an approved plan. We ask you to pay for the balance of the project, but we are willing to help you to finance your share. We will advance you the remaining 70 per cent upon approved security and by approved security I don't mean that we will be as finicky about the security that you may offer as would be the investment bankers with whom you are accustomed to deal." It is apparent to us any delay will be chargeable to us; we, therefore, urge that every effort be exerted in the direction of cooperation with the State Advisory Board, for we feel definitely satisfied that Washington will act upon our recommendations without delay. We further quote from the Secretary's address: "We are not being technical. We are not wound about with red tape. Those who cry out about red tape in some instances, at least, are themselves entangled in red tape. We are willing to give a municipality the benefit of the doubt. We do not even ask that any municipal project be brought to us in perfect engineering, legal and financial form before approving it. We have adopted a system of tentative allocations of funds on my motion."

Telegrams.

The following were presented and read by the Clerk:

San Francisco, September 26, 1933.

Harold L. Ickes, Federal Administrator of Public Works, Interior Building, Washington, D. C.

On motion of Supervisor Warren Shannon the following was ordered directed to you: "In line with policy of the National Administration urging speed on local NRA projects this Board of Supervisors voted Monday to hold a thirty-five million dollar City and County Public Works Bond Election on November 7, 1933. Before the vote to submit the proposal to the people in November this Board was advised by the Mayors' Conference in Chicago that it would be more desirable and better policy to delay the election until after the projects are given tentative Federal approval. The Board will finally vote Friday, September 29, whether to hold an election November 7 or postpone it until after NRA approval is obtained. If it is not too presumptuous this Board would like your advice as to whether to speed the election or wait for Federal approval. It is of the utmost importance if the local NRA program is to proceed expeditiously that you kindly advise us as to your attitude and the attitude of the National Administration in the matter of the election date before noon Friday, September 29."

J. S. DUNNIGAN,
Clerk Board of Supervisors, San Francisco, California.

Wire to Secretary Ickes, Washington, D. C.

September 28, 1933, 2 p. m.

"Supplementing telegram sent to you yesterday by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, asking your advice as to whether City should submit thirteen separate bond issues for public works projects aggregating thirty-five million dollars at the general election on November 7, or postpone submission of any of these bond propositions until after Federal approval is obtained. Under State Constitution a two-thirds favorable vote of the people is required to carry any bond proposition. Six of the fourteen members of the Board of Supervisors who voted against submission of all of these issues on November 7 felt that to submit bond propositions aggregating thirty-five million dollars in advance of Federal approval would result in the failure of all or most of the propositions to carry, in which case even though they might later be approved by the Federal Public Works Administration, the Board of Supervisors could not resubmit defeated projects to the people until an election late in June, 1934. In advising the Board of Supervisors on the question of submitting these propositions at the November 7th election, or postponing said submission until after P. W. A. approval is obtained, this factor of a possible seven or eight months delay should be taken into account."

J. EMMET HAYDEN,
Acting Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco.

Phoned Telegram.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28, 1933, 8:40 a. m.

Re Tel. 26th.

Mr. Dunnigan. Present projects to State Engineer as soon as possible. Tentative approval can be given at Washington prior to bond election. If projects disapproved here no necessity to hold election.

(Signed) H. M. WAITE.

(Message to be delivered later.)

Long Distance Call From Washington, D. C.

September 29, 1933, 2:30 p. m.

From H. M. Waite to Hon. J. Emmet Hayden:

Thirteen separate bond issues for public projects, representing about $35,000,000.

"I suggest that you immediately get these projects before the State Board and have them act upon them, and get them to Washington as soon as possible. Will try and get consideration of them just as soon as possible. The Board there will make allotments for such of the projects as it can accept. Then you can go before the electorate with such issues as have been allotted.

"We will wire the California Board to get them there as soon as possible. If they can get them to me and they pass here and there in a week. Grant of 30 per cent. Loan the money on the 70 per cent. Takes full financial information.

"Or you might sell your own bonds much quicker if you only ask for a grant. You have to decide whether or not it is to your advantage to sell your own bonds in the open market or sell them to the Federal government.

"If you get them all into the State Board as soon as possible we will hurry them through as fast as we can, so that you can have your election in November on such measures as you approve."

Motion Defeated.

Supervisor Colman moved the privilege of the floor to Mr. Geo. Pressley, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Wm. Nanry, representing the Bureau of Municipal Research.

Supervisor Shannon objected and the Chair declared that under the rules the privilege of the floor could not be allowed.

Declaratory Resolutions for Bond Issue Projects.

Whereupon the Finance Committee presented the following resolutions and asked for unamimous consent for their consideration and there was no objection, to-wit:

Water Supply Additions and Pipe Lines, etc., Bonds 1933.
(Code No. 15.021)

Resolution No. 1045, as follows:

Francisco of municipal improvements consisting of additions to the water supply and distribution system of said City and County, including all necessary lands and rights of way, an additional pipe line crossing San Francisco Bay, a pipe line from Crystal Springs connecting with the University Mound reservoir, construction of a new reservoir basin adjacent to University Mound reservoir, construction of a reservoir in Sunset Heights district located between Twenty-second and Twenty-eighth avenues and Ortega and Rivera streets, and the extension, construction and improvement of pipe lines connecting reservoirs throughout the City and extending mains and replacing obsolete and inadequate pipes in the water distribution system and the installation of proper shutoff valves throughout said distribution system, all of said improvements designed for the purpose of providing an adequate water supply and fire protection to the residents of San Francisco and adjacent territory, and that the estimated costs of said improvements are and will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said City and County.

Resolved, by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, as follows:

Section 1. It is hereby declared and determined that public interest and necessity demand the construction and completion by the City and County of San Francisco of municipal improvements consisting of additions to the water supply and distribution system of said City and County, including all necessary lands and rights of way, an additional pipe line crossing San Francisco Bay from the Irvington Portal of the Hetch Hetchy aqueduct to the easterly portal of the Pulgas tunnel and thence discharging into the Crystal Springs reservoir, including the necessary valves, auxiliary fittings, pipe lines and appurtenances.

A new pipe line and necessary appurtenances connecting the Crystal Springs reservoir with the University Mound reservoir for the purpose of adding to the storage facilities of the University Mound reservoir.

The construction of a new reservoir basin adjacent to the present University Mound reservoir providing an additional storage capacity of approximately 100,000,000 gallons of water, the said basin to be roofed, and for all necessary valves, appurtenances and pipes pertinent thereto.

The construction of a new reservoir in the Sunset Heights District located between Twenty-second and Twenty-eight avenues and Ortega and Rivera streets, with the necessary appurtenances, pipe lines to connect the same with the San Andres pipe line and with the distributing main from the Lake Honda reservoir, the said reservoir to be of similar construction to that of the University Mound reservoir above described.

The construction of a pipe line and appurtenances connecting the San Andres pipe line and the University Mound reservoir providing the means of supplying water in an emergency to the University Mound district in the event of breakage of the Crystal Springs line.

The extension of a pipe line, and appurtenances, from Twenty-fifth and Potrero avenue through the South of Market industrial area and the Down-Town business district to Battery and Broadway necessary to meet the growing demands.

The construction of a new main extending from College Hill reservoir along Guerrero or adjoining streets to Market street and thence to the vicinity of Buchanan and O'Farrell streets necessary to augment the capacity of the present main.

The construction of a small reservoir adjacent to the central pump station which would serve the district between Fortieth avenue and the Great Highway and extending from Balboa street to Sloat boulevard, which reservoir would also regulate the capacity for the supply of water used at the central pumps.

The replacing of 6- and 8-inch mains located throughout the City, which are sufficient for domestic demands but insufficient for fire protection, and the installation of 12- and 16-inch mains with secondary feeder pipes connecting with the primary supply of water from the distributing reservoirs.

The replacing of 2-inch wrought iron steel pipe with 6- and 8-inch cast iron pipe throughout the City where the present pipe is deemed insufficient for fire protection purposes, and the installation of gate valves throughout the distributing system, and appurtenances, to permit shutting down of the water supply at one point without interfering with the service in adjacent blocks.

That all of said work is designed for the conveyance of water to the City and County of San Francisco and other communities, and that the estimated costs of said construction, all appurtenances thereto, land, rights of way, materials and supplies are and will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said City and County.

Section 2. That the estimated cost of such improvements to the water supply and distribution system described in Section 1 hereof is the sum of $12,095,000.

Section 3. It is hereby determined and declared that of said sum of $12,095,000, no part can be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of the City and County in addition to the other necessary expenses thereof or other funds derived from taxes levied for that purpose and will require the incurring of a bonded debt in the amount of $12,095,000.

Section 4. The bonds described herein shall not be offered for sale or sold unless the United States Government, through the National Industrial Recovery Act or other legislation or the Administration Board or Body functioning thereunder, shall make or agree to make a grant to the municipality of not less than 30 per cent of the cost of the labor and materials employed upon the improvements described herein.

Section 5. This resolution shall take effect immediately.

Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Supervisors Brown, Canepa, Havenner, Hayden, McSheehy, Miles, Peyser, Power, Roncovieri, Shannon, Spaulding, Stanton—12.

No—Supervisor Colman—1.

Absent—Supervisors Breyer, Gallagher—2.

Reconsideration Defeated.

Before the result of the foregoing vote was announced Supervisor Brown changed his vote from no to aye and moved for reconsideration at the next meeting.

Supervisor Havenner moved suspension of the rules.

Motion carried.

Ayes—Supervisors Canepa, Havenner, Hayden, McSheehy, Miles, Peyser, Power, Roncovieri, Shannon, Spaulding, Stanton—11.

Noes—Supervisors Brown, Colman—2.

Absent—Supervisors Breyer, Gallagher—2.

Supervisor Havenner moved immediate reconsideration of the vote on Resolution No. 1045.

Whereupon, the question being put: "Shall the vote whereby Resolution No. 1045 was adopted be reconsidered?"

The roll was called and reconsideration defeated by the following vote:

Ayes—Supervisors Brown, Colman—2.

Noes—Supervisors Canepa, Havenner, Hayden, McSheehy, Miles, Peyser, Power, Roncovieri, Shannon, Spaulding, Stanton—11.

Absent—Supervisors Breyer, Gallagher—2.

Explanation of Vote.

Supervisor Peyser: I merely wish to say that I voted "aye" for the purpose of putting this thing in operation without fixing the date, but I may state that unless the Federal government has passed on the program of projects, and all of them, and which we are considering, that when the matter comes up finally for the final vote I shall vote "no."

Supervisor Miles: I desire the same explanation in connection with my vote.

* * * * * * * * * * *

Supervisor Brown: I would just like to say for the record and like to have it made a part of the record, that my vote "no" on these projects does not mean necessarily that I am opposed to any or all of them, I am just opposed to the submission of them now, and I reserve the right to change my vote when I vote on the submission of these matters at a later date.

Supervisor Shannon: I would like to explain why I objected to Mr. Presley having the privilege of the floor, a gentleman for whom I have a high regard; my sole purpose was to get a vote, and I felt Supervisor Colman was filibustering.

Supervisor Colman: The gentleman was certainly in error. I would also like to explain my vote. I want to say for the record that I am voting "no" on submission of these matters before Federal approval has been received, and with that in view I am voting "no," and when Federal approval comes I reserve the right to change my vote.

Supervisor Peyser: I want the privilege of filing a written explanation of my vote in connection with these resolutions.

Supervisor Shannon: I so move.

The President: Is there any objection? (No response.)

So ordered.

Supervisor Hayden explained his vote: We do not want to throw monkeywrenches into the recovery machinery, but we must insist on common sense procedure. To refuse to support these resolutions now might place us in the false light of trying to block recovery. I will therefore vote for the resolutions with the definite understanding that I will vote against submission in November unless, before October 16, 1933, the Federal government has acted on our recovery program.

Resolution No. 902, as follows:

Whereas, it is incumbent upon the Board of Supervisors, under the provisions of section 68 of the Charter, to order an annual audit of the Controller's books of accounts, records and transactions to be made by one or more certified accountants; now, therefore, be it

Motion.

Supervisor McSheehy moved to reconsider.

No second.

Whereupon, the resolution was declared adopted and the following statement ordered spread in the record:

September 25, 1933.

To the Honorable, the Board of Supervisors, City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen: On July 17, 1933, Resolution 902, calling for the annual audit of the Controller's Office by a certified accountant at the expenditure of $7,500 be let to Lybrand, Ross Bros. and Montgomery and that they be empowered to employ accountants whose salaries shall run from $15 to $50 per day, and not to exceed $7,500.

At the time this resolution was received, I objected to it, that it was a positive waste of public funds and that bids should be called for the same as any other contract work as clearly defined in section 95 of the City Charter. Ten members of this Board agreed with me and the resolution was referred back to the Finance Committee with instructions to call for bids.

Last Monday, September 18, 1933, the Finance Committee recommended that the same firm be awarded the contract that they recommended two months ago, on July 17, 1933, and the Chairman of the Finance Committee verbally stated that he conferred with four certified accountant firms and that they all informed him that the price stated by Lybrand, Ross Bros. and Montgomery was correct.

This resolution was introduced by the Chairman of the Finance Committee just at the time when this meeting was about to adjourn and I am sorry to state that eight members voted in favor of the resolution. I gave notice of reconsideration and I hope and trust that it will be reconsidered for these reasons:

1. Sections 95 to 100, inclusive, clearly state under what conditions contracts shall be let and we, as the Legislative Department, should be the last Department in the City government to countenance a subterfuge whereby we are letting a $7,500 contract to a firm who contemplate paying their employees $50, $25 and $15 per day. It is a positive waste of public funds.

2. I believe that if any citizen should enjoin this Board for letting this contract that a permanent injunction would be issued against us.

3. We are establishing a dangerous precedent. If the same holds good in reference to certified accountants, it will hold good on almost any kind of construction work. Thousands of dollars will be lost.

4. I think it is an insult to ten members of this Board that the Finance Committee did not follow out the instructions given to them on July 17, 1933, and not merely ask men, who were engaged in the same line of endeavor their views on such an important matter of this kind.

I trust, gentlemen, that you will rescind the action of this Board in reference to the vote on last Monday and if you do rescind, I will immediately move that the letting of this contract be taken in the hands of the Board and that bids be called for as prescribed in Section 95 of the Charter. In doing this we will be following out the mandate of the Charter. I know that bids will be received and that a large sum will be saved.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES B. McSHEEHY, Supervisor.

Used Car Dealers Ordinance.

(Code No. 11.00)

On recommendation of Committee on Fire, Safety and Police.

Bill No. 435, Ordinance No. 11.0005, as follows:

Regulating the business of dealing in used motor vehicles; defining used automobile dealer and used motor vehicle and establishing procedure for procurement of permits to engage in said business; fixing the amount of bond therefor; providing penalties for the violation thereof and repealing all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict therewith.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco, as follows:

Section 1. Definitions. For the purpose of this ordinance a used automobile dealer is defined to be any person, firm or corporation engaged in, or conducting or managing, or carrying on the business of buying or taking in trade for the purpose of resale, or offering for sale, or consigning to be sold, or otherwise dealing in used motor vehicles as the term "Motor Vehicle" is defined in Statutes of 1923, Chapter 266, as amended, provided, however, that no insurance company, finance company, transportation company or other persons coming into the possession of automobiles in the regular course of business who shall sell such motor vehicles to licensed used automobile dealers exclusively shall be deemed a used automobile dealer.

Any person, firm, or corporation selling more than two used motor vehicles in any calendar year shall be deemed a used automobile dealer and the burden of proving that such seller is not in fact operating as a used automobile dealer shall be placed upon such seller.

A used motor vehicle is a motor vehicle which has been once sold or registered for use on the highways, or one that has been operated by any person for a distance in excess of twice the distance necessary to transport the same from the place of business of the local distributor of such motor vehicle to the place of business of the dealer. A motor vehicle used for demonstration purposes is a used motor vehicle within the meaning of this ordinance.

Section 2. No person, firm or corporation shall hereafter begin to operate any business as a used automobile dealer, as defined in Section 1 of this ordinance, without first having received a permit in writing so to do from the Chief of Police of the City and County of San Francisco.

Before receiving or acting upon any application for the granting of a permit to a used automobile dealer, the Chief of Police shall require:

First: The payment of the sum of fifty ($50) dollars as a fee thereof.

Second: An affidavit signed by the applicant showing that said applicant is to conduct the business at a fixed place where used motor vehicles are, or will be, displayed for sale. Said application for a permit must be signed by the applicant and if applicant is a corporation or partnership, the same must be signed by a duly authorized officer on behalf of the corporation, or by all the members of the partnership, and the same must contain the names and addresses of all officers of the corporation or of all the partners.

Third: The applicant shall file with the application a bond in the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars, which shall run to the City and County of San Francisco and to any person, firm or corporation who shall sustain any injury covered by the bond. Such bond shall be executed by the applicant as principal, and by a corporation which is licensed by the Insurance Commissioner of this State to transact the business of fidelity and surety insurance, as surety. The bond shall be conditioned that the principal will indemnify any and all persons, firms or corporations for any direct loss suffered by dishonesty on the part of the principal in the substitution of a motor vehicle other than the one selected by the purchaser, failure through dishonesty to deliver a clear title to those legally entitled thereto, for any misappropriation of moneys or property belonging to a purchaser being made in payment of a motor vehicle sold by the principal, for any loss due to an alteration of a motor vehicle on the part of the principal so as to deceive the purchaser as to the year model of any motor vehicle sold. Such bond shall remain in full force and effect until the license of the principal is revoked or until the bond is cancelled by the surety. The surety may cancel said bond and be relieved of further liability thereunder by giving fifteen (15) days written notice to the Chief of Police of the City and County of San Francisco. The aggregate liability of the surety for any and all claims which may arise under such bond shall in no event exceed the amount of the penalty of such bond regardless as to the length of time it shall remain in force or the number of renewal licenses issued thereunder. Any person, firm or corporation who sustains an injury covered by this bond, may, in addition to any other remedy that he may have, bring an action in his own name upon the bond for the recovery of any damage sustained by him, provided, however, that no such action may be brought and maintained after the expiration of one year from and after the time of the alleged dishonest act complained of may have occurred.

No such application shall be required of any person, firm or corporation holding a permit as a used automobile dealer upon the date this ordinance becomes effective, but on and after the effective date of this ordinance, said person must comply with all other provisions of this ordinance and upon the expiration of the existing license, must secure a renewal thereof in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance, and provided further that at the time of securing such renewal license there must be filed by said used automobile dealer, bond in the form provided for in this section.

Section 3. Upon the receipt of said application, as provided in the preceding section, the Chief of Police shall cause to be investigated the character and business of the applicant, the location at which such applicant proposes to engage in business as specified in said application, and thereafter may issue a permit to said applicant which shall be effective for the remaining portion of the current year, provided, however, that persons holding a permit upon the date this ordinance becomes effective shall not be required to file a new application.

Section 4. A fee of five ($5) dollars shall be charged for any application for a change of location of the place of business for which a permit has been granted as a used automobile dealer, and a fee of five ($5) dollars shall be charged for a change of ownership; provided, however, that the five ($5) dollars charged for a change of ownership shall apply only in cases where the new owner is already operating under a permit as a used automobile dealer. In the event of the dissolution of a copartnership holding a permit under the provisions of this ordinance, the partner continuing the business shall be entitled to retain said license and cause the same to be transferred into his own name, and the retiring partner may also have a license issued in his name upon the payment of a fee of five ($5) dollars and the filing of the bond in the form provided for in Section 2. No unlicensed person shall be admitted as a member of any partnership unless such person shall comply with all of the provisions of Section 2. Any used automobile dealer having at least one place of business may secure a permit for any additional locations by filing an application in the form heretofore mentioned without furnishing a new bond upon the payment of the sum of five ($5) dollars for each application for additional locations sought under the provisions of this ordinance. Only one person, firm or corporation may conduct a used automobile dealer's business at any particular established place of business, unless any other person, firm or corporation desiring to conduct a business at the same location has also received a permit from the Chief of Police, and fulfilled the conditions required in Section 2 hereof.

Section 5. Every used automobile dealer must have, in addition to his City and County license, a State license, and the number assigned by the Motor Vehicle Department of the State of California to such dealer under his State license must be posted and filed with the Chief of Police prior to issuance of a permit, and in the event the State Motor Vehicle Department refuses to issue to any dealer a State license, the Chief of Police must revoke or refuse to issue the City and County permit, it being mandatory that a State dealer's license is, and will be, necessary to retain a City and County permit.

Section 6. Every person having a used car permit must within twenty (20) days after the effective date of this ordinance file with the Chief of Police of the City and County of San Francisco the number assigned to such dealer under State license issued by the State Motor Vehicle Department.

Section 7. Any one who now holds, or may hereafter hold, a permit as a used automobile dealer, and who discontinues business for a period exceeding ninety (90) days, will automatically relinquish all right or interest in said permit and the same shall automatically be revoked without any further action on the part of the Chief of Police.

In the event that the bond filed as provided in Section 2 shall be cancelled by the surety thereon, at any time, the used automobile dealer in whose favor such bond was filed, shall, within fifteen (15) days after notice of such cancellation, file a new bond, and in the event that such new bond shall not have been filed within said period of fifteen (15) days, the license of said automobile dealer shall automatically be revoked without any further action on the part of the Chief of Police.

Section 8. Every used automobile dealer shall keep a record of the purchases, or consignments, or sales or exchanges of each and every motor vehicle purchased, or sold, or consigned to be sold, or exchanged by him or them, and said record shall at all times be open to the inspection of the Chief of Police, or any peace officer; and said used automobile dealer shall, within forty-eight (48) hours after the purchase, or receipt of such vehicle or vehicles, make out and mail to the Chief of Police a full and complete report of such vehicle or vehicles. Said report shall contain the name and address of the person, firm or corporation from whom purchased or received, the make, State license number, motor number, serial number, style and seating capacity of any used motor vehicle purchased or received. Said report shall be written in the English language in a clear and legible manner on blanks to be furnished by the Chief of Police.

Section 9. The permit of each person, firm or corporation licensed as a used automobile dealer under the provisions of this ordinance shall be prominently displayed in the place of business of such dealer. There must also be displayed in a conspicuous place on the front building line of the place of business the name of the firm, person or corporation to whom the permit has been issued, such name to be in letters not less than six (6) inches in height, and the same must be legible for fifty (50) feet.

Section 10. Every person, firm or corporation operating under the provisions of this ordinance shall be held strictly responsible for the conduct of his, their, or its employees in so far as the sales of used automobiles or motor vehicles are concerned; it shall be his, their or its duty to see that no used automobile or motor vehicle is sold by any person or persons in or upon his, their or its premises or location or locations, unless such person or persons has a permit as provided for in this ordinance, or is an employee of a person holding such permit.

Any violation or violations of this section shall be deemed sufficient grounds to suspend or revoke the permit of any person, firm or corporation so operating or allowing or permitting any one to sell used cars from their premises, unless the person so selling was either the agent or employee of the person holding a permit, or unless said person, or persons, so selling has a permit of his, their or its own; and it shall be mandatory upon any permittee under this ordinance to determine whether or not the person, or persons, he allows or permits to sell cars, from any used automobile lot or premises operated by the said permittee, has an unrevoked permit from the Chief of Police to engage in the used automobile business, or is an employee of such permittee.

Section 11. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to engage in, conduct, manage or carry on the business of used automobile dealer within the City and County of San Francisco who, or which, does not first receive therefor a permit as herein provided from the Chief of Police, and who, or which, does not have a fixed and determined place of business for the conduct of such business of used automobile dealer, at which place of business he, they or it displays the vehicles offered for sale.

Section 12. Every person having a used car permit shall file with the Chief of Police a monthly report on or before the tenth day of each month, which report shall state the name and address of each person engaged by him or doing business in his place of business who has come in contact with the public in a sales capacity during the preceding calendar month.

Section 13. In the event that any person, firm or corporation holding a permit as a used automobile dealer, as herein defined, shall violate, or cause or permit to be violated, any of the provisions of this ordinance, or any provision of any other ordinance, or of any law relating to or regulating such used automobile business, or any law regulating the business of dealer in motor vehicles to which such used automobile dealer shall be subject, or shall conduct or carry on such business in an unlawful manner, or shall cause or permit such business so to be conducted, or carried on, or shall fail to pay within thirty (30) days after the same shall have become final any judgment entered against him arising out of the misrepresentation of any motor vehicle, or out of any fraud committed in connection with the sale of any motor vehicle, or shall be guilty of any other conduct, whether of the same or of a different character than hereinabove specified, which constitutes fraud or dishonest dealing, it shall be the duty of the Chief of Police, in addition to the other penalties provided by this ordinance, to suspend or revoke the permit issued for conducting or carrying on such business. In the event any person, firm or corporation is issued a permit under the provisions of this ordinance and the same shall be revoked by said Chief of Police, no permit shall be granted to such person, firm or corporation to conduct or carry on such business within six (6) months from the date of such revocation. No permit shall be suspended or revoked until a hearing shall have been had by the Chief of Police relating to such suspension or revocation, notice of which hearing shall be given in writing to the permittee and served at least five (5) days prior to the date of the hearing thereon; such service to be upon the holder of such permit, or his manager, or his agent, which notice shall state the ground of complaint against holder of such permit, or against the business carried on by him, them or it, and also shall state the time when, and the place where such hearing will be held. Said notice shall be served upon the holder of such permit by delivering same to such person, firm or corporation, the manager, or agent thereof, or to any person in charge of, or employed in the place of business of such holder, or if such person, firm or corporation has no place of business, then at his, their or its place of residence, or by leaving such notice at the place of business or residence of such person, firm or corporation. In the event the holder of such permit cannot be found, and the service of such notice cannot be made upon him, them or it, in the manner herein provided, then a copy of such notice shall be mailed, postage fully prepaid, addressed to each holder, or such permittee, at his, their or its place of business, or residence, as set forth on said permit, at least five (5) days prior to the date of such hearing. Under the provisions of this section, the Chief of Police shall have power to suspend or revoke the licenses of a corporation as to any officer acting under its license and the license of a copartnership as to any member acting under its license without revoking the license of such corporation or such copartnership.

Section 14. It shall be unlawful for any used automobile dealer to advertise in any newspaper, or through any other medium, that he, they or it has for sale any automobile, which automobile is not actually for sale at the premises at the time the advertisement is inserted in the newspaper or medium and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation not to discontinue the advertisement of any automobile immediate upon the selling of same. Within forty-eight (48) hours after any automobile that has been advertised for sale has been sold or withdrawn from sale it shall be mandatory for the used automobile dealer to request withdrawal, in writing, of any advertisement relative to such automobile from any newspaper or any other medium in which he, they or it might have been advertising for the sale of such automobile prior to actual sale.

Section 15. It shall be unlawful for any used automobile dealer to sell any used automobile or motor vehicle from any place other than the fixed and established place of business, for which the permit has been granted to him, them or it, by the Chief of Police, to conduct the business of selling used automobiles or motor vehicles—except that such sales may be made by a licensed used automobile dealer from the registered place of business of any used automobile dealer holding a permit hereunder.

Section 16. Every used automobile dealer, person, firm or corporation who, or which, engages in, conducts, manages or carries on the business of used automobile dealer within the City and County of San Francisco, who, or which, does not first receive a permit, as herein provided, from the Chief of Police of the City and County of San Francisco, and who, or which, does not have a fixed and determined place of business for the conduct of such business of used automobile dealer, at which place of business, he, they or it, display the vehicles offered for sale, or who violates any other provisions of this ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred ($500) dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail for not more than six (6) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, or if a corporation, be punished by a fine of not to exceed one thousand ($1,000) dollars.

Section 17. That any and all ordinances, or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance, are hereby repealed; but only such parts of said ordinances as may be in conflict herewith.

Section 18. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid or unconstitutional by the decision of any court of competent jurisdiction, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of the ordinance. The Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid or unconstitutional.

Bill No. 436, Ordinance No. 15.0211, as follows:

Calling and providing for a special election to be held in the City and County of San Francisco on Tuesday, the 7th day of November, 1933, for the purpose of submitting to the voters of the City and County of San Francisco a proposition to incur a bonded debt of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount of $12,095,000 for municipal improvements consisting of additions to the water supply and distribution system of said City and County, including all necessary lands and rights of way, an additional pipe line crossing San Francisco Bay, a pipe line from Crystal Springs connecting with the University Mound reservoir, construction of a new reservoir basin adjacent to the University Mound reservoir, construction of a reservoir in Sunset Heights District located between Twenty-second and Twenty-eighth avenues and Ortega and Rivera streets, and the extension, construction and improvement of pipe lines connecting reservoirs throughout the City and extending mains and replacing obsolete and inadequate pipes in the water distribution system and the installation of proper shutoff valves throughout said distribution system, all of said improvements designed for the purpose of providing an adequate water supply and fire protection to the residents of San Francisco and adjacent territory, and providing for the form, denomination, rate of interest, fixing payment of interest, and retirement of said bonds, and said bonds are not to be offered for sale or sold unless the United States Government shall make or agree to make a grant to the municipality of not less than 30 per cent of the cost of the labor and materials employed upon the improvements, and prescribing notice to be given of such election.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco, as follows:

Section 1. A special election is hereby called and ordered to be held in the City and County of San Francisco on Tuesday, the 7th day of November, 1933, for the purpose of submitting to the electors of said City and County a proposition to incur a bonded debt of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount of $12,095,000 for municipal improvements consisting of additions to the water supply and distribution system of said City and County, including all necessary lands and rights of way, an additional pipe line crossing San Francisco Bay from the Irvington Portal of the Hetch Hetchy aqueduct to the easterly portal of the Pulgas tunnel and thence discharging into the Crystal Springs reservoir, including the necessary valves, auxiliary fittings, pipe lines and appurtenances.

A new pipe line and necessary appurtenances connecting the Crystal Springs reservoir with the University Mound reservoir for the purpose of adding to the storage facilities of the University Mound reservoir.

The construction of a new reservoir basin adjacent to the present University Mound reservoir providing an additional storage capacity of approximately 100,000,000 gallons of water, the said basin to be roofed, and for all necessary valves, appurtenances and pipes pertinent thereto.

The construction of a new reservoir in the Sunset Heights District located between Twenty-second and Twenty-eighth avenues and Ortega and Rivera streets, with the necessary appurtenances, pipe lines to connect the same with the San Andres pipe line and with the distributing main from the Lake Honda reservoir, the said reservoir to be of similar construction to that of the University Mound reservoir above described.

The construction of a pipe line and appurtenances connecting the San Andres pipe line and the University Mound reservoir providing the means of supplying water in an emergency to the University Mound District in the event of breakage of the Crystal Springs line.

The extension of a pipe line, and appurtenances, from Twenty-fifth and Potrero avenue through the South of Market Industrial Area and the Down Town Business District to Battery and Broadway necessary to meet the growing demands.

The construction of a new main extending from College Hill reservoir along Guerrero or adjoining streets to Market street and thence to the vicinity of Buchanan and O'Farrell streets necessary to augment the capacity of the present main.

The construction of a small reservoir adjacent to the central pump station which would serve the district between Fortieth avenue and the Great Highway and extending from Balboa street to Sloat boulevard, which reservoir would also regulate the capacity for the supply of water used at the central pumps.

The replacing of 6- and 8-inch mains located throughout the City which are sufficient for domestic demands but insufficient for fire protection, and the installation of 12- and 16-inch mains with secondary feeder pipes connecting with the primary supply of water from the distributing reservoirs.

The replacing of 2-inch wrought iron steel pipe with 6- and 8-inch cast-iron pipe throughout the City where the present pipe is deemed insufficient for fire protection purposes, and the installation of gate valves throughout the distributing system, and appurtenances, to permit shutting down of the water supply at one point without interfering with the service in adjacent blocks.

Section 2. The estimated cost of the municipal improvements described herein was fixed by the Board of Supervisors by resolution No. 1045, passed by more than two-thirds of said Board and approved by the Mayor, in the sum of $12,095,000, and such sum is too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of the City and County in addition to the other necessary expenses thereof or other funds derived from taxes levied for that purpose.

The method and manner of payment of the estimated cost of the municipal improvements described herein are by the issuance of bonds of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount required therefor. The said bonds shall not be offered for sale or sold unless the United States Government through the National Industrial Recovery Act or other legislation or the Administration Board or body functioning thereunder shall make or agree to make a grant to the municipality of not less than 30 per cent of the cost of the labor and materials employed upon the improvements described in section 1 hereof.

Out of funds realized from the sale of the bonds provided for herein, interest which may become due on said bonds during the actual period of construction of the municipal improvement described herein and during the period of six months immediately following the completion of the same may be paid out of the proceeds of sale of the said bonds.

Section 3. The special election hereby called and ordered to be held shall be held and conducted and the votes thereat received and canvassed, and the returns thereof made and the result thereof ascertained, determined and declared as herein provided and according to the laws of the State of California providing for and governing elections in the City and County of San Francisco, and the polls for such election shall be and remain open during the time required by said laws.

Section 4. The said special election hereby called shall be and hereby is consolidated with the General Municipal Election to be held Tuesday, November 7, 1933, and the voting precincts, polling places and officers of election for said General Municipal Election be and the same are hereby adopted, established, designated and named, respectively, as the voting precincts, polling places and officers of election for said special election hereby called, and as specifically set forth by the Registrar of Voters of polling places and election officers for the said General Municipal Election.

The ballots to be used at said special election shall be the ballots to be used at said General Municipal Election.

Section 5. On the ballots to be used at such special election and on the voting machines used at said special election, in addition to any other matter required by law to be printed thereon, shall appear thereon the following:

"Water Distribution Bonds, 1933—To incur a bonded debt in the sum of $12,095,000 for extensions to the water supply and distribution system owned by the City and County of San Francisco."

To vote against the proposition and thereby refuse to authorize the incurring of a bonded indebtedness to the amount of and for the purpose stated herein, stamp a cross (X) in the blank space to the right of the word "No."

Where voting machines are used at said special election the said voting machines shall be so arranged that any qualified elector may vote for the proposition by pulling down a lever over the word "Yes"

under or near a statement of the proposed proposition appearing on cardboard, paper or other material placed on the front of the machine, and said act shall constitute a vote for the proposition, and by pulling down a lever over the word "No" under or near a statement of the proposed proposition appearing on cardboard, paper or other material placed on the front of the machine, shall constitute a vote against the proposition. Said voting machines and the preparation of the same are to be used in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 96 of the Statutes of 1923, and amendments thereto.

Section 6. If at such special election it shall appear that two-thirds of all the votes cast thereat were in favor of and authorized the incurring of a bonded debt for the purposes set forth in said proposition, then such proposition shall have been accepted by the electors, and bonds shall be issued to defray the cost of the buildings, lands, other properties and structures described therein. Such bonds shall be of the form and character known as "serials."

Said bonds shall be dated December 1, 1933, shall bear interest at the rate not to exceed 6 per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, shall be of the denomination of $1,000 each, and the principal and interest thereof shall be payable in lawful money of the United States either at the office of the Treasurer of the City and County of San Francisco or at the office of the fiscal agent of said City and County in the City of New York. Explanation of Vote.

Supervisor Peyser: I merely wish to say that I voted "aye" for the purpose of putting this thing in operation without fixing the date, but I may state that unless the Federal government has passed on the program of projects, and all of them, and which we are considering, that when the matter comes up finally for the final vote I shall note "no."

Supervisor Miles: I desire the same explanation in connection with my vote.

* * * * * * * * * * *

Supervisor Brown: I would just like to say for the record, and like to have it made a part of the record, that my vote "no" on these projects does not mean necessarily that I am opposed to any or all of them, I am just opposed to the submission of them now, and I reserve the right to change my vote when I vote on the submission of these matters at a later date.

Supervisor Colman: I would also like to explain my vote. I want to say for the record that I am voting "no" on submission of these matters before Federal approval has been received, and with that in view I am voting "no," and when Federal approval comes I reserve the right to change my vote.

Supervisor Peyser: I want the privilege of filing a written explanation of my vote in connection with these resolutions.

Supervisor Shannon: I so move.

The President: Is there any objection? (No response.)

So ordered.

Declaration of Public Policy, Financing Public Improvements.

(Code No. 5.2)

Supervisor Havenner presented:

Resolution No. 1060, as follows:

Whereas, the City and County of San Francisco has made application to the Government of the United States, as provided in the National Industrial Recovery Act, for a grant of thirty (30) per cent of the cost of the labor and materials to be employed and used upon certain municipal improvements which it is proposed to construct by the proceeds of certain bond issues to meet the cost of said improvements, less the said grant to be made by the Government of the United States; and

Whereas, it is anticipated that said requested grant of thirty (30) per cent of the cost of the labor and materials to be employed and used on said improvements will be more readily granted if the City and County of San Francisco can finance the remainder of the cost of said improvements by the sale of its bonds to private parties and to private corporations, rather than to sell said bonds to the Government of the United States; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco does hereby make the following declaration of policy, to-wit:

That the City and County of San Francisco will, as far as possible, finance such portion of the cost of said municipal improvements as are not covered by said grant from the Federal Government, by the sale of its bonds voted for said improvements, to private parties or corporations, in so far as said sale can be made at a reasonable rate of interest and, if said bonds cannot be so sold, then that the City and County make application to the Federal Government through the proper agency to purchase said bonds.

Explanation of Vote.

SUPERVISOR BROWN: I would like to make a general statement. I am perfectly willing to reserve it until later, but if the Board sees fit to have me do so I shall be glad to make a general statement now in regard to my vote on these bond matters.

THE PRESIDENT: You had better make it now, please.

SUPERVISOR BROWN: I have felt all along through the question of these bond issues that the point of paramount issue before the Board of Supervisors, and before the people, was the relief of unemployment; that there was no other consideration that should weigh so heavily in our minds as that particular item; that the most necessary thing is the relief of unemployment, and we have here the tools with which to affect that relief in large measure. I have felt, however, that as another circumstance which certainly should be before us at the same time, was the question of how far the City of San Francisco should be prepared to go in the raising of funds for the purpose of relieving that unemployment, and it seemed to me a question to be largely determined by the citizens, by the ability of the citizens to pay for them, what the undertakings should be, and that if the program was so large, so ambitious, as to jeopardize the City's ability to pay, and which would reflect itself in these bonds, that is, in the interest and redemption thereon, then that program should be curtailed to such an amount as could be handled by San Francisco without embarrassment to its financial structure. It seemed to me that there were certain of these bond issues that might not receive the approval of the Federal Government. However, the bond issues have all received the approval of the Federal Government, and that approval has been given after a very careful consideration, not only by the local and State authorities, but by the national authorities, and I, as one member of this Board, do not feel competent to go contrary to that opinion, arrived at after a very careful consideration and study of the questions.

I am mindful, however, that our vote does not necessarily mean that the people of San Francisco will, by a two-thirds majority, vote approving each and every one of these bond issues, and what we are doing today is placing before the people the opportunity to make that choice, and the ultimate responsibility for the success or failure of any one particular bond issue rests upon that choice of the people, which will be expressed on November 7th at the polls.

It is therefore my intention, regardless of the views I have expressed in the past, today to vote to submit each and every one of these issues to the people. By so doing I do not necessarily imply that I am in favor of every one of the bond issues, because I am not in favor of some two or three of them, but because of the action of the Federal Government I feel I am not qualified to oppose submission to the people.

SUPERVISOR COLMAN: I would like to give my reasons, Mr. President, for my vote.

I have taken the attitude in the past that I did not think it was humanly possible that both the state body and Federal body would be able to give us their approval, and what their opinion was on all of these projects which we submitted to them, in that short time. They certainly have done a remarkable job. I did not think it was possible, and they are entitled to a great deal of praise, which they certainly have from me, for so promptly handling the situation here, particularly by the Advisory Committee and by Justus Wardell, and then their prompt submission to the Federal authorities, and their very prompt elimination of all red tape, and then coming here with their recommendations, it apparently being the opinion of both the State Advisory Board and the Federal Board that all of these projects must come within the requirements of the National body. Each one of them, in the opinion of the authorities, after a very careful investigation, has been approved.

Now, in my opinion, some of those projects have a greater degree of merit than have others, and I, too, was very much surprised at the approval of some, but it has come, and therefore, with a view to doing my full share towards the relief of unemployment and complete cooperation, I am going to vote for submission of all of them to the people.

SUPERVISOR HAVENNER: Would the Supervisor yield for a moment?

SUPERVISOR PEYSER: Certainly, Supervisor Havenner.

SUPERVISOR HAVENNER: The Board invited Mr. Wardell to come over here, and we have now kept him waiting for quite a little while, and I would like to move the privilege of the floor to Justus Wardell.

* * * * * * * * *

SUPERVISOR PEYSER: Mr. President, I want to explain my vote.

Mr. Chairman, the last time I voted, I voted to pass these bond issues on second reading with the statement that if the Federal Government approved the program I would vote "Yes" on final passage. I just want to state that the difference of opinion I had has now been solved, that is, it was a matter of procedure, I believing that the Government's approval should be first given before submitting these bonds to the people for approval. The Federal Government's approval now being here, I believe that the responsibility lies with the people, and I am now going to vote to pass these bonds for submission to the people.

SUPERVISOR HAVENNER: Mr. President, Members of the Board: I think that the reason Washington acted so promptly upon the public works program presented by the City and County of San Francisco was that this City had met the spirit and intent of the Recovery Act as probably no other city in this country has done up to this time, and I believe our example is going to be followed by many other cities throughout the country.

We have put this question up to the people, the responsibility is yours, it is not ours. These projects have been selected by a representative group of citizens, and they have met the test of the representatives of the Federal Government in Washington. First, are they socially desirable—and Washington has stated "Yes" that they are socially desirable. Second, are they sound financially—and Washington has said that San Francisco's projects are sound financially. Third, will they put the required number of men from this community back on the payrolls and off of the relief rolls—and Washington has said that they will do those things. So, ladies and gentlemen, the question is up to you. We are not going to try to influence your vote, except to put up to you the responsibility which is yours when you go to the ballot box.

I happened to be present at a luncheon a short time ago, attended by some of the visiting Congressmen and Senators, who were here last week, and one of the gentlemen asked this question: "If the N. R. A. program should fail, what next?" And one of the Senators said that the next step would probably be a capital levy, and this man asked of him how would the capital levy operate, and the gentleman replied that the government in such an extremity would be obliged to go to the people and say, "You own five, ten or fifty thousand dollars worth of property, and the government, in order to meet this levy, will have to levy upon you up to twenty per cent of the value of your holdings." That was subscribed to by other members present. It is the mature judgment of a group of men representing our people in Washington. So, ladies and gentlemen, this matter is in your hands, and we are merely going to put it up to you in this way, in exactly the manner I have used here this afternoon.

* * * * * * * * *

SUPERVISOR BROWN: Mr. President, in connection with number three, the Red Mountain Bar Power House project, I should like to say that I have left all along that number three should have been submitted as two separate and distinct proposals, the power house project as one and the transmission and distribution system as another. I think it is probably a serious mistake to have those two projects lumped together, and furthermore to have them listed on the ballot as the Red Mountain Bar Power House bonds, which I understand they will appear as. Nevertheless, despite my feeling that these two matters should be separated, in view of the Federal approval and State approval, I propose to vote "Aye."

SUPERVISOR COLMAN: Of course, the Board knows my views also. I fought strenuously to have the two projects separated. However, again, my views did not meet the concurrence of either the State body or the National body, and, of course, I yield to them, they know a great deal more about it than I do, and in view of a statement made today by Supervisor Havenner, which I think is a very fair one, speaking on number three, the real facts should be presented to the public, and I shall take Supervisor Havenner at his word 100 per cent when he promised today that in debate on these matters they would be presented just exactly as they are and would be put up to the public for their approval or disapproval.

Final Passage.

The following matters, heretofore passed for second reading, were taken up and finally passed by the following vote:

Used Car Dealers Ordinance.

(Code No. 11.00)

On recommendation of Committee on Fire, Safety and Police.

Bill No. 435, Ordinance No. 11.0005, as follows:

Regulating the business of dealing in used motor vehicles; defining used automobile dealer and used motor vehicle and establishing procedure for procurement of permits to engage in said business; fixing the amount of bond therefor; providing penalties for the violation thereof and repealing all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict therewith.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco, as follows:

Section 1. Definitions. For the purpose of this ordinance a used automobile dealer is defined to be any person, firm or corporation engaged in, or conducting or managing, or carrying on the business of buying or taking in trade for the purpose of resale, or offering for sale, or consigning to be sold, or otherwise dealing in used motor vehicles as the term "Motor Vehicle" is defined in Statutes of 1923, Chapter 266, as amended, provided, however, that no insurance company, finance company, transportation company or other persons coming into the possession of automobiles in the regular course of business who shall sell such motor vehicles to licensed used automobile dealers exclusively shall be deemed a used automobile dealer.

Any person, firm, or corporation selling more than two used motor vehicles in any calendar year shall be deemed a used automobile dealer and the burden of proving that such seller is not in fact operating as a used automobile dealer shall be placed upon such seller.

A used motor vehicle is a motor vehicle which has been once sold or registered for use on the highways, or one that has been operated by any person for a distance in excess of twice the distance necessary to transport the same from the place of business of the local distributor of such motor vehicle to the place of business of the dealer. A motor vehicle used for demonstration purposes is a used motor vehicle within the meaning of this ordinance.

Section 2. No person, firm or corporation shall hereafter begin to operate any business as a used automobile dealer, as defined in Section 1 of this ordinance, without first having received a permit in writing so to do from the Chief of Police of the City and County of San Francisco.

Before receiving or acting upon any application for the granting of a permit to a used automobile dealer, the Chief of Police shall require:

First: The payment of the sum of fifty ($50) dollars as a fee thereof.

Second: An affidavit signed by the applicant showing that said applicant is to conduct the business at a fixed place where used motor vehicles are, or will be, displayed for sale. Said application for a permit must be signed by the applicant and if applicant is a corporation or partnership, the same must be signed by a duly authorized officer on behalf of the corporation, or by all the members of the partnership, and the same must contain the names and addresses of all officers of the corporation or of all the partners.

Third: The applicant shall file with the application a bond in the sum of five hundred ($500) dollars, which shall run to the City and County of San Francisco and to any person, firm or corporation who shall sustain any injury covered by the bond. Such bond shall be executed by the applicant as principal, and by a corporation which is licensed by the Insurance Commissioner of this State to transact the business of fidelity and surety insurance, as surety. The bond shall be conditioned that the principal will indemnify any and all persons, firms or corporations for any direct loss suffered by dishonesty on the part of the principal in the substitution of a motor vehicle other than the one selected by the purchaser, failure through dishonesty to deliver a clear title to those legally entitled thereto, for any misappropriation of moneys or property belonging to a purchaser being made in payment of a motor vehicle sold by the principal, for any loss due to an alteration of a motor vehicle on the part of the principal so as to deceive the purchaser as to the year model of any motor vehicle sold. Such bond shall remain in full force and effect until the license of the principal is revoked or until the bond is cancelled by the surety. The surety may cancel said bond and be relieved of further liability thereunder by giving fifteen (15) days written notice to the Chief of Police of the City and County of San Francisco. The aggregate liability of the surety for any and all claims which may arise under such bond shall in no event exceed the amount of the penalty of such bond regardless as to the length of time it shall remain in force or the number of renewal licenses issued thereunder. Any person, firm or corporation who sustains an injury covered by this bond, may, in addition to any other remedy that he may have, bring an action in his own name upon the bond for the recovery of any damage sustained by him, provided, however, that no such action may be brought and maintained after the expiration of one year from and after the time of the alleged dishonest act complained of may have occurred.

No such application shall be required of any person, firm or corporation holding a permit as a used automobile dealer upon the date this ordinance becomes effective, but on and after the effective date of this ordinance, said person must comply with all other provisions of this ordinance and upon the expiration of the existing license, must secure a renewal thereof in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance, and provided further that at the time of securing such renewal license there must be filed by said used automobile dealer, bond in the form provided for in this section.

Section 3. Upon the receipt of said application, as provided in the preceding section, the Chief of Police shall cause to be investigated the character and business of the applicant, the location at which such applicant proposes to engage in business as specified in said application, and thereafter may issue a permit to said applicant which shall be effective for the remaining portion of the current year, provided, however, that persons holding a permit upon the date this ordinance becomes effective shall not be required to file a new application.

Section 4. A fee of five ($5) dollars shall be charged for any application for a change of location of the place of business for which a permit has been granted as a used automobile dealer, and a fee of five ($5) dollars shall be charged for a change of ownership; provided, however, that the five ($5) dollars charged for a change of ownership shall apply only in cases where the new owner is already operating under a permit as a used automobile dealer. In the event of the dissolution of a copartnership holding a permit under the provisions of this ordinance, the partner continuing the business shall be entitled to retain said license and cause the same to be transferred into his own name, and the retiring partner may also have a license issued in his name upon the payment of a fee of five ($5) dollars and the filing of the bond in the form provided for in Section 2. No unlicensed person shall be admitted as a member of any partnership unless such person shall comply with all of the provisions of Section 2. Any used automobile dealer having at least one place of business may secure a permit for any additional locations by filing an application in the form heretofore mentioned without furnishing a new bond upon the payment of the sum of five ($5) dollars for each application for additional locations sought under the provisions of this ordinance. Only one person, firm or corporation may conduct a used automobile dealer's business at any particular established place of business, unless any other person, firm or corporation desiring to conduct a business at the same location has also received a permit from the Chief of Police, and fulfilled the conditions required in Section 2 hereof.

Section 5. Every used automobile dealer must have, in addition to his City and County license, a State license, and the number assigned by the Motor Vehicle Department of the State of California to such dealer under his State license must be posted and filed with the Chief of Police prior to issuance of a permit, and in the event the State Motor Vehicle Department refuses to issue to any dealer a State license, the Chief of Police must revoke or refuse to issue the City and County permit, it being mandatory that a State dealer's license is, and will be, necessary to retain a City and County permit.

Section 6. Every person having a used car permit must within twenty (20) days after the effective date of this ordinance file with the Chief of Police of the City and County of San Francisco the number assigned to such dealer under State license issued by the State Motor Vehicle Department.

Section 7. Any one who now holds, or may hereafter hold, a permit as a used automobile dealer, and who discontinues business for a period exceeding ninety (90) days, will automatically relinquish all right or interest in said permit and the same shall automatically be revoked without any further action on the part of the Chief of Police.

In the event that the bond filed as provided in Section 2 shall be cancelled by the surety thereon, at any time, the used automobile dealer in whose favor such bond was filed, shall, within fifteen (15) days after notice of such cancellation, file a new bond, and in the event that such new bond shall not have been filed within said period of fifteen (15) days, the license of said automobile dealer shall automatically be revoked without any further action on the part of the Chief of Police.

Section 8. Every used automobile dealer shall keep a record of the purchases, or consignments, or sales or exchanges of each and every motor vehicle purchased, or sold, or consigned to be sold, or exchanged by him or them, and said record shall at all times be open to the inspection of the Chief of Police, or any peace officer; and said used automobile dealer shall, within forty-eight (48) hours after the purchase, or receipt of such vehicle or vehicles, make out and mail to the Chief of Police a full and complete report of such vehicle or vehicles. Said report shall contain the name and address of the person, firm or corporation from whom purchased or received, the make, State license number, motor number, serial number, style and seating capacity of any used motor vehicle purchased or received. Said report shall be written in the English language in a clear and legible manner on blanks to be furnished by the Chief of Police.

Section 9. The permit of each person, firm or corporation licensed as a used automobile dealer under the provisions of this ordinance shall be prominently displayed in the place of business of such dealer. There must also be displayed in a conspicuous place on the front building line of the place of business the name of the firm, person or corporation to whom the permit has been issued, such name to be in letters not less than six (6) inches in height, and the same must be legible for fifty (50) feet.

Section 10. Every person, firm or corporation operating under the provisions of this ordinance shall be held strictly responsible for the conduct of his, their, or its employees in so far as the sales of used automobiles or motor vehicles are concerned; it shall be his, their or its duty to see that no used automobile or motor vehicle is sold by any person or persons in or upon his, their or its premises or location or locations, unless such person or persons has a permit as provided for in this ordinance, or is an employee of a person holding such permit.

Any violation or violations of this section shall be deemed sufficient grounds to suspend or revoke the permit of any person, firm or corporation so operating or allowing or permitting anyone to sell used cars from their premises, unless the person so selling was either the agent or employee of the person holding a permit, or unless said person, or persons, so selling has a permit of his, their or its own; and it shall be mandatory upon any permittee under this ordinance to determine whether or not the person, or persons, he allows or permits to sell cars, from any used automobile lot or premises operated by the said permittee, has an unrevoked permit from the Chief of Police to engage in the used automobile business, or is an employee of such permittee.

Section 11. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to engage in, conduct, manage or carry on the business of used automobile dealer within the City and County of San Francisco who, or which, does not first receive therefor a permit as herein provided from the Chief of Police, and who, or which, does not have a fixed and determined place of business for the conduct of such business of used automobile dealer, at which place of business he, they or it displays the vehicles offered for sale.

Section 12. Every person having a used car permit shall file with the Chief of Police a monthly report on or before the tenth day of each month, which report shall state the name and address of each person engaged by him or doing business in his place of business who has come in contact with the public in a sales capacity during the preceding calendar month.

Section 13. In the event that any person, firm or corporation holding a permit as a used automobile dealer, as herein defined, shall violate, or cause or permit to be violated, any of the provisions of this ordinance, or any provision of any other ordinance, or of any law relating to or regulating such used automobile business, or any law regulating the business of dealer in motor vehicles to which such used automobile dealer shall be subject, or shall conduct or carry on such business in an unlawful manner, or shall cause or permit such business so to be conducted, or carried on, or shall fail to pay within thirty (30) days after the same shall have become final any judgment entered against him arising out of the misrepresentation of any motor vehicle, or out of any fraud committed in connection with the sale of any motor vehicle, or shall be guilty of any other conduct, whether of the same or of a different character than hereinabove specified, which constitutes fraud or dishonest dealing, it shall be the duty of the Chief of Police, in addition to the other penalties provided by this ordinance, to suspend or revoke the permit issued for conducting or carrying on such business. In the event any person, firm or corporation is issued a permit under the provisions of this ordinance and the same shall be revoked by said Chief of Police, no permit shall be granted to such person, firm or corporation to conduct or carry on such business within six (6) months from the date of such revocation. No permit shall be suspended or revoked until a hearing shall have been had by the Chief of Police relating to such suspension or revocation, notice of which hearing shall be given in writing to the permittee and served at least five (5) days prior to the date of the hearing thereon; such service to be upon the holder of such permit, or his manager, or his agent, which notice shall state the ground of complaint against holder of such permit, or against the business carried on by him, them or it, and also shall state the time when, and the place where such hearing will be held. Said notice shall be served upon the holder of such permit by delivering same to such person, firm or corporation, the manager, or agent thereof, or to any person in charge of, or employed in the place of business of such holder, or if such person, firm or corporation has no place of business, then at his, their or its place of residence, or by leaving such notice at the place of business or residence of such person, firm or corporation. In the event the holder of such permit cannot be found, and the service of such notice cannot be made upon him, them or it, in the manner herein provided, then a copy of such notice shall be mailed, postage fully prepaid, addressed to each holder, or such permittee, at his, their or its place of business, or residence, as set forth on said permit, at least five (5) days prior to the date of such hearing. Under the provisions of this section, the Chief of Police shall have power to suspend or revoke the licenses of a corporation as to any officer acting under its license and the license of a copartnership as to any member acting under its license without revoking the license of such corporation or such copartnership.

Section 14. It shall be unlawful for any used automobile dealer to advertise in any newspaper, or through any other medium, that he, they or it has for sale any automobile, which automobile is not actually for sale at the premises at the time the advertisement is inserted in the newspaper or medium and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation not to discontinue the advertisement of any automobile immediate upon the selling of same. Within forty-eight (48) hours after any automobile that has been advertised for sale has been sold or withdrawn from sale it shall be mandatory for the used automobile dealer to request withdrawal, in writing, of any advertisement relative to such automobile from any newspaper or any other medium in which he, they or it might have been advertising for the sale of such automobile prior to actual sale.

Section 15. It shall be unlawful for any used automobile dealer to sell any used automobile or motor vehicle from any place other than the fixed and established place of business, for which the permit has been granted to him, them or it, by the Chief of Police, to conduct the business of selling used automobiles or motor vehicles—except that such sales may be made by a licensed used automobile dealer from the registered place of business of any used automobile dealer holding a permit hereunder.

Section 16. Every used automobile dealer, person, firm or corporation who, or which, engages in, conducts, manages or carries on the business of used automobile dealer within the City and County of San Francisco, who, or which, does not first receive a permit, as herein provided, from the Chief of Police of the City and County of San Francisco, and who, or which, does not have a fixed and determined place of business for the conduct of such business of used automobile dealer, at which place of business, he, they or it, display the vehicles offered for sale, or who violates any other provisions of this ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred ($500) dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail for not more than six (6) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, or if a corporation, be punished by a fine of not to exceed one thousand ($1,000) dollars.

Section 17. That any and all ordinances, or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance, are hereby repealed; but only such parts of said ordinances as may be in conflict herewith.

Section 18. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid or unconstitutional by the decision of any court of competent jurisdiction, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of the ordinance. The Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid or unconstitutional.

ROLL CALL FOR THE INTRODUCTION OF RESOLUTIONS, BILLS AND COMMUNICATIONS NOT CONSIDERED OR REPORTED UPON BY A COMMITTEE.

Protest of The San Francisco Real Estate Board and San Francisco Building Owners and Managers Association Against Certain Bond Issues.

The following copy of a letter to the State Advisory Board was read by the Clerk:

San Francisco, Cal., October 5, 1933.

Honorable State Advisory Board, Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works, Los Angeles, California.

Gentlemen: The undersigned, SAN FRANCISCO REAL ESTATE BOARD and SAN FRANCISCO BUILDING OWNERS AND MAN-

AGERS ASSOCIATION, after consideration of the thirteen proposed public works projects submitted by the City and County of San Francisco, aggregating $34,941,000, wish to urge upon your Honorable Board your disapproval of the following:

New Hall of Justice	$2,900,000
Streets and Boulevards	2,100,000
Livestock Exposition	1,250,000
Yacht Harbor completion	815,000
Aquatic Park completion	700,000
Central Warehouse and Garage	325,000
Municipal Railway extension	63,000
Total	$8,153,000

Separate protest has been made to your Honorable Board by the undersigned organizations, in conjunction with others, against the proposed Transmission and Distribution system, $6,308,000.

The basis for our protest against Federal approval of the above listed projects is that such approval will involve local bond issues totaling $8,153,000 and an annual charge for bond interest and redemption in the early years of over $700,000, giving an increase of about nine cents in the City's annual tax rate.

The balance of San Francisco's proposed projects, aggregating $15,595,000 of self-liquidating projects, and $4,885,000 of other projects, will, if approved, involve a further increase in the tax rate. In view of the heavy commitments involved therein and the large and growing tax burden for existing bonded debt, it is our belief that the additional debt charges involved in the above listed projects will constitute a burden beyond the capacity of San Francisco taxpayers.

Respectfully submitted,

SAN FRANCISCO REAL ESTATE BOARD,

SAN FRANCISCO BUILDING OWNERS AND MANAGERS ASSN.,

Report of Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee on Survey Committee Recommendation.

The following was read by the Clerk:

October 12, 1933.

Hon. Board of Supervisors, City Hall, San Francisco, Cal.

Attention: J. S. Dunnigan, Esq., Clerk.

Gentlemen: The Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee has received a letter, dated October 10, 1933, and signed by J. S. Dunnigan, Clerk of your Board. The letter reads as follows:

"On motion of Supervisor Havenner your attention is again called to the letter of September 26th, copy attached; also extract from Journal of Proceedings.

"Supervisor Havenner wishes an immediate reply to this query."

In writing the above letter, the fact that, on September 29th, your letter of September 26th was answered by me, as Chairman of the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee, appears to have been overlooked. A copy of my letter of September 29th is therefore attached hereto.

The Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee, at its meeting held on October 11, 1933, directed me to make the following further report on the subject of your inquiry:

At the meeting of the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee, held on October 4, 1933, the first report of the special sub-committee appointed to consider the recommendations contained in the report of the Survey Committee was presented to the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee and approved and adopted. The report so adopted is set forth in the minutes of the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee, as shown in the following extract from the minutes:

"Reporting for the special sub-committee 'to consider the recommendations contained in the report of the Survey Committee,' Mr. W. P. Fuller, Jr., chairman, stated he had communicated with Dr. Lucas relative to additional supporting data not included in the report, and the doctor had informed him the secretary of the Survey Committee would turn over to the sub-committee such data as they had. This had not yet been received, but probably would be to hand a little later. The sub-committee had reached two conclusions:

"(1) The report of the Survey Committee was of major importance and demands full consideration; and

"(2) The recommendation contained in the report relative to cash relief should be considered first. This recommendation is to be found on page 45 of the report, and is as follows:

" 'After careful detailed study of the present situation in San Francisco and from detailed information obtained within the past few weeks directly from the administrators of relief in twenty of the largest cities of the country, the Survey Committee recommends the establishment of a uniform system of cash allowance for food relief for all persons on emergency aid in San Francisco; with milk delivered to families which include children.'

Of the twenty cities mentioned, fourteen give no cash at all; two, negligible amounts; and four are giving cash relief in varying amounts, although (with one possible exception) none in as large percentage as San Francisco is and has been giving. Mr. Fuller called attention to the statement of the Milwaukee manager as quoted in the report, page 105:

" 'If Milwaukee County had enough money to do an ideal job, we probably would put most of our families on a cash basis.'

"Mr. Fuller stated that the sub-committee does not suggest that the recommendation of the Survey Committee is wrong. The sub-committee is entirely sympathetic to the principle of cash relief. However, it has been commonly believed over the country that cash costs more. That is the reason why the same authorities who recommend cash are, generally speaking, using it either not at all or in quite limited degree. The decision is the responsibility of the Relief Committee and the sub-committee feels that, before reaching a decision, the Committee should take all practicable steps to determine whether a cash system will increase the total cost and, if so, how much.

"Mr. Fuller further stated that the sub-committee faced the contradiction between the recommendation of the Survey Committee, which recommended full cash relief with right of full selection, and the County Medical Society, whose special sub-committee had recommended the continuation of the standard box only, for all families on relief, thereby taking out of the program the entire right of selection.

"Mr. Kaplan, Director of Family Relief, recommended an experiment be made as follows:

" 'In order to provide a factual basis for decision as to the advisability of changing our present form of relief distribution to a cash system, I recommend that a limited experiment be made in the application of cash relief according to the following plan:

" '1. That for the purpose of the demonstration two areas of the city be chosen, representing a fair cross-section of the population, both in character and as regards number of families involved—approximately 10 per cent of the total family relief group would constitute a fair sample.

" '2. That prior to the undertaking the staff of the district offices to be charged with the immediate administration of the experiment be organized for its effective conduct. This could be done within a month.

" '3. That the cash allowance be computed so as not to exceed 5 per cent over and above all present tangible costs, conservatively estimated, of operating the commissary system. Such present costs would include the grocery ration, meat and bread check, some allowance for wastage, the overhead of the commissary, time of investigating and clerical personnel in the district offices now occupied with grocery distribution problems.

" '4. That before the experiment be put into effect the retail cost of the present standard box be determined by pricing in neighborhood stores.

" '5. That a dietitian be engaged to aid in the specialized instruction and supervision of those families placed on a cash basis.

" '6. That during the conduct of the experiment there be special supervision and study to answer the various vital questions which have been raised with regard to the relative merits of the two forms of relief distribution.'

"Mr. Fuller explained the recommendation of Mr. Kaplan had been approved by the Director and had the approval of the sub-committee."

A portion of the foregoing report of the special sub-committee has been underlined in this letter in order to correct a misapprehension, which appears to be quite general, regarding the past practice of San Francisco as compared with the twenty other cities mentioned in the matter of giving cash relief in whole or in part.

Further action on the recommendations of the Survey Committee was taken at the last meeting of the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee held on October 11, 1933. At that meeting the special sub-committee presented its second report, reading as follows:

"SECOND REPORT OF SUB-COMMITTEE ON SURVEY REPORT.

"October 11, 1933.

"On October 4 the sub-committee submitted recommendations in respect of cash relief which, in the opinion of the sub-committee, is the most important change suggested by the Survey Committee.

"The sub-committee decided that the next subject to be considered was the 'Administrative Set-Up' as outlined by the Survey Report, pages 30 to 38. It would seem advisable to reach definite decisions on the Administrative Set-Up before acting in detail on the scores of miscellaneous recommendations contained in the Survey Report.

"In respect of Administrative Set-Up the sub-committee finds a host of valuable suggestions in the report and fully agrees with the fundamental idea of the Survey Committee that the relief organization should be expanded and strengthened through the enlistment of additional advisory and executive personnel both paid and volunteer. The purpose of the sub-committee's recommendations, as set forth below, is to carry out this fundamental objective.

"We recommend:

"1. That the standing sub-committees of the Emergency Relief Committee be discontinued;

"2. That in their place a series of voluntary advisory committees be created, each committee to deal with a particular field of the relief problem, such as ways and means, medical and health, food, public relations, etc.;

"3. That the advisory committees be kept small and be composed almost exclusively of professional experts in the different fields;

"4. That the best qualified available persons be selected as chairmen of the advisory committees;

"5. That the Emergency Relief Committee assign one member to represent it on each advisory committee;

"6. That the advisory committees shall consider all problems falling within their respective fields and shall present their findings and recommendations to the Emergency Relief Committee;

"7. That the chairmen of the advisory relief committes shall attend meetings of the Emergency Relief Committee;

"8. That each advisory committee be assigned a secretary from the paid staff of the organization, it being understood that one secretary would serve more than one Advisory Committee;

"9. That, if these general recommendations are approved, the committee proceed at once to work out details of function and personnel, and actually to install the advisory committees; and that, to facilitate the formation and installation, a paid secretary be temporarily assigned for this purpose and no other;

"10. That the first business of each advisory committee shall be the consideration of those recommendations of the Survey Committee which fall within its field;

"11. That the executive staff be expanded and strengthened by the addition of certain department heads or assistant executives; and that the Director of Relief, having regard for the recommendations of the Survey Committee, present to the Emergency Relief Committee his detailed recommendations.

"This report is not complete in that, even if adopted as written, certain Survey recommendaitons, in addition to those to be referred to advisory committees, will remain for consideration. A later report will be submitted.

"It is to be noted that a number of Survey recommendations, including decentralizing into districts and the formation of a complaint board, are already in effect.

"In so far as the organizational recommendations of the Survey Committee and the sub-committee differ, the reason is as follows: The sub-committee believes that the Administrative Set-Up described in the Survey Report, while ideal in theory, will not work because, week in and week out, it calls for more time from a volunteer committee than in actual practice any volunteer committee will be able to give."

This report, also, was approved and adopted by the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee. The necessary steps for putting the recommendations into effect will be taken as soon as practicable.

The special sub-committee is continuing its study and will make further reports on other recommendations of the Survey Committee with all possible promptness.

Very truly yours,

M. C. SLOSS,
Chairman Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee.

September 29, 1933.

J. S. Dunnigan, Esq., Clerk, Board of Supervisors, Room 235, City Hall, San Francisco, Cal.

Dear Sir: I am directed by the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee to acknowledge receipt of your letter of September 26, 1933, and to advise you that the report of the Survey Committee on unemployment relief administration reached the members of the Committee only a few days ago.

At the last meeting of the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee the chairman was authorized to appoint a special sub-committee to examine the recommendations of the Survey Committee and to report thereon to the general committee.

I have, as chairman, appointed a sub-committee of five members and the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee will take action on the recommendations of the Survey Committee at the earliest time practicable.

Yours very truly,

Hunger March Provisional Committee
United Front Conference

San Francisco, Cal., October 9, 1933.

Board of Supervisors, San Francisco, Cal.

Gentlemen:

Whereas, you members of the Board of Supervisors by a vote of eleven to two recommended cash relief for the jobless of San Francisco County.

Whereas, the Citizens' Advisory Committee decided to experiment and give cash to only 10 per cent of the jobless, with no provisions for rent, gas, light and water.

Whereas, the Charity Workers' Protective Union and Unemployed Councils have for years been demanding and fighting for cash relief.

Resolved, That we delegates, representing many labor and fraternal organizations, in a United Front Conference at Carpenters' Hall, protest the action of the Citizens' Advisory Committee and demand that said Committee be instructed to carry out the recommendations of the Supervisors and demands of the unemployed and small business men for cash relief for all of the jobless.

HUNGER MARCH PROVISIONAL COMMITTEE,
UNITED FRONT CONFERENCE,

P. J. GARRISON, Secretary.

Supervisor Peyser asked for the City Attorney's opinion as to just what is the jurisdiction or power of the Board of Supervisors over the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee.

City Attorney O'Toole stated that it was his opinion, in so far as State and local relief is concerned, that the Board of Supervisors has power to make any recommendation or direction; with respect to Federal aid he said there is some question.

Cash or Scrip Relief in Lieu of Groceries.

(Code No. 19.071)

Thereupon, Supervisor Miles presented:

Resolution No. 1079, as follows:

Whereas, the Committee heretofore appointed at the request of this Board to advise this Board as to the present method for the distribution of relief in the City and County has reported in favor of cash or scrip relief, as against relief in the form of supplies; and

Whereas, we are financing relief by Federal, State and municipal funds, the distribution of the first-mentioned funds being under the jurisdiction of the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Board of Supervisors that relief should be distributed to all those in need in San Francisco, by either cash or scrip, the latter to be redeemable at local stores, the amount of said relief to be within the discretion of the said Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee.

Supervisor Colman objected to consideration of the foregoing at this time and insisted that rules required its reference to Committee.

Point of order well taken and resolution referred to Finance Committee.

Thereupon, the members of the Finance Committee conferred and reported unanimously in favor of its adoption.

Privilege of the Floor.

Dr. William Palmer Lucas, chairman of the Survey Committee which originally recommended cash relief, made a last-minute attempt to forestall the order, but without avail.

"The Committee is as anxious to start cash relief as you are," he said, "but they can't install it overnight. It would upset a great deal of the relief mechanism to attempt it. Let them go at it slowly."

Adopted.

Whereupon, the roll was called and the foregoing resolution adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Supervisors Canepa, Havenner, Hayden, McSheehy, Miles, Peyser, Power, Shannon, Spaulding, Stanton—10.

Noes—Supervisors Breyer, Brown, Colman—3.

Absent—Supervisors Gallagher, Roncovieri—2.

Protest Against Use of Alcatraz Island as a Federal Prison.

(Code No. 5.2)

Supervisor Havenner presented:

Resolution No. 1081, as follows:

Whereas, the Federal Government proposes to change the disciplinary barracks of the United States Army, located at Alcatraz island, to a Federal prison for hardened criminals; and

Whereas, Alcatraz island itself would be inadequate because of its small area to provide outdoor work for these men; and

Whereas, the location of said criminals in our beautiful Bay would attract their associates to the neighboring cities and towns; and

Whereas, such new population would contaminate our communities and necessitate increased police forces, as well as lowering our present high standing for law and order among the States in the Union; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors protest to the Federal Government regarding the change.

Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Supervisors Breyer, Brown, Canepa, Colman, Havenner, Hayden, McSheehy, Miles, Peyser, Power, Roncovieri, Shannon, Spaulding, Stanton—14.

Absent—Supervisor Gallagher—1.

Supervisor Havenner requested that a copy of the foregoing resolution be sent to the United States Attorney-General.

In Memoriam: Daniel J. O'Brien

(Code No. 5.91)

Supervisor Colman presented:

Resolution No. 1085, as follows:

Whereas, after many years of faithful, strenuous public endeavor as an official of this City and State, our beloved friend, Daniel J. O'Brien, former Chief of Police of San Francisco and Director of the State Department of Penology, has been called by the Almighty Father to his eternal reward; and

Whereas, we all knew and loved "Dan" O'Brien for his outstanding honesty, fidelity and truth—a man among men, a faithful, conscientious, devoted citizen and father who endeared himself to all; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Board in adjourning today does so out of respect to his memory, and expresses to his bereaved family and relatives its deepest sympathy and commiseration at his untimely passing; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the family of the deceased, and that the Clerk of this Board be directed to convey its sincere sorrow to the bereaved wife and family.

Adopted unanimously by rising vote.

In Memoriam: Mrs. Margaret A. Bryant.

(Code No. 5.91)

Supervisor Havenner presented:

Resolution No. 1084, as follows:

Whereas, death has called from this life Mrs. Margaret A. Bryant, beloved wife of our fellow official, Edward F. Bryant, Tax Collector; now, therefore, be it Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors extends its deepest sympathy to the family of Edward F. Bryant in his hour of sorrow, and that a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes of the Board, and that a committee be appointed by the President to represent the Board of Supervisors at the funeral services.

Adopted unanimously by rising vote.

Amendment to "Prevailing Wage" Ordinance, Conforming to N. R. A. Code.

(Code No. 9.092)

Supervisor Havenner presented:

Resolution No. 1083, as follows:

Whereas, this Board has heretofore by Resolution No. 561 and No. 574 fixed the highest general prevailing rate of wages to be paid to various craftsmen and employees who are employed by or who render service to the various contractors performing contracts for the City and County of San Francisco; and

Whereas, certain codes regulating the wages of said employees have been adopted under and by virtue of the act of Congress of the United States commonly known as the National Industrial Recovery Act, and under and by virtue of authority of an act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An act to authorize the adoption and approval of State codes of fair competition for certain trades, industries or subdivisions thereof, etc.," approved August 4, 1933, and also under and by virtue of the act of the Legislature of the State of California commonly known as the California Industrial Recovery Act, which codes fix the minimum wage to be paid to the persons belonging to said trades and industries and the maximum number of hours that each of said persons shall work during each day or week; and

Whereas, the City and County of San Francisco should comply to the fullest extent with the codes adopted under and by virtue of authority of the National Industrial Recovery Act and with the said acts of the Legislature of the State of California above mentioned in the payment of wages and compensation to persons employed; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That Resolutions No. 561 and No. 574 hereinbefore mentioned be and they are hereby modified so that the highest general prevailing rate of wages, as specified in said resolution, shall in all cases comply with the rate of wages fixed by any code adopted in conformity with the National Industrial Recovery Act or in conformity with the aforesaid acts of the Legislature of the State of California; and be it further

Resolved, That all departments entering into contracts for and on behalf of the City and County of San Francisco shall specify in said contracts as the highest general prevailing rate of wage to be paid to persons employed on said contracts the wage specified in any code adopted as aforesaid unless the wage specified in the aforesaid resolutions is higher than the wage specified or fixed by said codes, and further, that all of said contracts shall provide that they will be executed under and in compliance with the provisions of said codes.

Privilege of the Floor.

Messrs. La Forrest, Gerhardt and Martin, representing the crafts affected, were heard urging action at this time on the Bernal Heights boulevard job.

Whereupon the foregoing resolution was referred to the Finance Committee and the following motion was adopted.

Motion.

Supervisor Havenner moved that the Director of Public Works be advised that the Board of Supervisors is considering a general modification of Resolutions Nos. 561 and 574, fixing the highest general prevailing rate of wages to be paid to craftsmen and employees employed or rendering service to various contractors performing contracts for the City and County, which would require all departments entering into contracts for or on behalf of the City and County of San Francisco to specify in said contracts as the highest prevailing rate of wages to be paid to persons employed on any such contracts, the rate specified in any code adopted under the provisions of the N. R. A., unless the wage specified in the aforesaid resolution is higher than the wage specified or fixed by said code, and that the Board of Supervisors requests that these provisions be carried out in connection with the contract to be let for the improvement of Bernal Heights.

Adolph Uhl Criticizes N. R. A. Bond Report.

Adolph Uhl was granted the privilege of the floor on motion of Supervisor McSheehy and called attention to what he called errors in the report of Edward J. Cahill, Manager of the Public Utilities Commission, on Project No. 3 of the N. R. A. program. He declared that there was no allowance in the estimate of cost for depreciation, that the other figures were based on assumptions that the bonds would sell at 4½ or 5 per cent, which is not probable.

Supervisor Peyser moved, with reference to statement of Adolph Uhl that depreciation was not considered in the report of the Public Utilities Commission in connection with the proposed issue of Water Bonds, that before statement is issued to the voters the Public Utilities Commission be requested to check its figures and estimates since report was first made.

Motion carried.

Edward J. Cahill, Manager of the Public Utilities Commission, was sent for and replied to Mr. Uhl, explaining how his report was compiled and denying that sufficient allowance had not been made to cover all contingencies.

Thereupon, Supervisor Shannon endeavored to question Mr. Uhl on his position as to the distribution of municipal power in San Francisco at this time. After an answer that was unsatisfactory to Supervisor Shannon, Mr. Uhl refused to answer further questioning and left the chambers.

President Hayden directed Police Officer Thos. Gorman to go after Mr. Uhl and request him to return and hear the explanation of the Board of Supervisors and to answer the questions of Supervisor Shannon.

Officer Gorman returned and informed the Sergeant-at-Arms and the President that Mr. Uhl had refused to return and listen to the answer to his complaint or to answer questions.

President Hayden thereupon declared that Mr. Uhl had "run out" and Supervisor Shannon gave notice that hereafter he would refuse the privilege of the floor to Mr. Uhl.

Geo. F. Baker, representing Knights of Civilization, was also heard in opposition to N. R. A. bonds projects and refused further hearing.

Reception to Senator Marconi.

Supervisor Hayden presented:

Resolution No. 1080, as follows:

(Code No. 5.3)

Supervisor Shannon presented:

Resolution No. 1100, as follows:

Whereas, the retail sales tax of the State of California has resulted in considerable confusion and loss of business to many merchants; and

Whereas, because of the application of the retail sales tax to foodstuffs an unjust burden is imposed upon the small wage earner and the unemployed; and

Whereas, the subjects of taxation in the State of California, if adequately levied upon, are more than sufficient to provide the needed revenue without resorting to a tax on foodstuffs; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors does hereby favor an amendment to the sales tax of the State of California exempting foodstuffs, and requests that action on such amendment be taken immediately by the Legislature in special session; and be it Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the Assembly, and to each member of the Legislature from San Francisco.

Presentation of Jas. McCormick of Modesto.

President Hayden presented a visitor from Modesto in the person of Jas. McCormick, former San Franciscan and totally blind. He delivered an eloquent, inspiring and optimistic address, urging faith and confidence on the part of the people for our public officials, who are doing their level best at this crisis of our national life.

Complaint of Charity Relief Workers.

On motion of Supervisor Shannon the following were granted the privilege of the floor, representing Charity Workers' Protective Union: Enoch Bryant, 909 McAllister street, and Vic Peterson, 2562 Pine street. They complained that a family named Owens, four in number, one a baby of three years, had been denied relief because the father had refused to produce a marriage certificate; that a committee of six charity workers had been refused admittance to relief headquarters at Moulton School to present this case to those in authority, but the committee was refused admission. They demanded food and shelter for the family, which they said were facing starvation and eviction.

The Sergeant of Police of the district informed the Chair that the statement was not correct that a hearing was not given. A committee of two were permitted to present the matter.

Whereupon, a transcript of the statement was ordered referred to Superintendent Wollenberg.

Motions.

In the matter of protest by representatives of members of the Charity Workers' Protective Union, Supervisor Shannon moved that in the event said organization has matters that it desires to present to the Board of Supervisors, it appoint a committee of two or three representatives, who will be privileged to present such matters to the Board in regular session on Monday afternoons.

Carried.

Supervisor McSheehy presented a relief check for 80 cents which had been reduced from $1 and was received each week as relief money by a party at 1102 Masonic avenue, Apt. 18, and requested that Superintendent Wollenberg be requested to explain the reduction.

So ordered.

Supervisor Havenner asked to hear from the Purchaser of Supplies. Clerk read letter from Mr. Brooks.

SUPERVISOR HAVENNER: It would seem to me to be a proper function of the officials of this City and County to inquire at the time the bids are opened into the ability of the bidder to comply with the codes that may apply to his particular industry or activity. I had in mind particularly the bids which have been awarded with respect to the use of trucks in the City service. The statement has been made to me that it would be impossible for some of the successful bidders for the use of trucks in the City service to comply with the NRA standards. I do not know whether this is true or not. I want to have it explained to the members of the Board. Can you give us any information about that?

MR. BROOKS: No, sir. In making awards we confined ourselves to seeing that the bids were at least equivalent to the wage scale. The City Attorney advises that we have no authority to reject bids as long as the bids are equal to the amount of the wage scale.

SUPERVISOR HAVENNER: I would like to have the City Attorney here. If we are letting contracts for trucks with driver for a very small amount over the wage scale of the truck driver himself, we are setting up conditions making it impossible for the bidder to live up to the code of the NRA.

ADJOURNMENT.

There being no further business the Board, at 6:30 p. m., adjourned.

J. S. DUNNIGAN, Clerk.

Approved by the Board of Supervisors October 30, 1933.

Pursuant to Resolution No. 3402 (New Series) of the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, I, John S. Dunnigan, hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of the Journal of Proceedings of said Board of the date thereon stated and approved as recited.

ROLL CALL FOR THE INTRODUCTION OF RESOLUTIONS, BILLS AND COMMUNICATIONS NOT CONSIDERED OR REPORTED UPON BY A COMMITTEE.

Reception to His Excellency, Senator Guglielmo Marconi.

After the transaction of other business, the following proceedings were had in Re Reception to Senator Guglielmo Marconi:

(At this point His Honor Mayor Angelo J. Rossi entered the chambers, escorting to the rostrum the Honorable Senator Guglielmo Marconi. Prolonged applause.)

THE PRESIDENT: Mr. Mayor, Your Excellency, Senator Guglielmo Marconi, and the Chief Administrative Officer: I want to say that the Board of Supervisors today have passed a resolution conferring on His Excellency an honorary citizenship of San Francisco. I would like to have the Clerk of the Board read the resolution as adopted.

Mayor Requested to Name Senator Guglielmo Marconi Honorary Citizen of San Francisco.

(Code No. 5.99)

The following resolution was thereupon read and unanimously adopted:

Resolution No. 1111, as follows:

Whereas, Senator Guglielmo Marconi has by his marked genius and ability made great contributions to the world of science; and

Whereas, the development of wireless telegraphy and the perfection of the radio have been the outstanding works of the distinguished Senator from Italy; and

Whereas, Senator Marconi has honored San Francisco by his keen interest and enthusiasm in the progress of this municipality; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco be and is hereby respectfully requested to name Senator Guglielmo Marconi an Honorary Citizen of this City and County in recognition of his genius and of the contributions he has made to the world of science.

THE PRESIDENT: For the information of his Honor the Mayor, the resolution gives the authority to his Honor the Mayor of making of Senator Marconi an honorary citizen of San Francisco.

I think the honor of making the presentation of our distinguished guest to this Board and the citizens here assembled should be given to his Honor the Mayor, Angelo J. Rossi. Therefore I request that he present the distinguished visitor to this gathering. Mayor Rossi. (Applause.)

MAYOR ANGELO J. ROSSI: Mr. President, our Honored Guest, Members of the Board of Supervisors and Fellow Citizens: Just a week ago today it was my proud privilege and pleasure to welcome on behalf of the people of San Francisco one of the most distinguished persons in all the world, Senator Guglielmo Marconi.

It is unnecessary for me to tell this audience what he has done for humanity, or the many lives that have by his genius, and his invention, been saved from the ocean, or on land, and the many homes that were accorded the pleasure and the privilege of listening to the programs over the radio throughout the world.

San Francisco is indeed highly honored by his visit, and his dear wife, the Marchesa. They have been with us for the past week, and for the last three days it was my great pleasure to accompany them to California's playground in the Yosemite Valley. I will leave it to our distinguished guest to tell you what his impressions were; but today I bring him to you in order that you may meet him, and it is with a great deal of pride, and with a great deal of pleasure, that I present to you, my fellow citizens and members of the Board of Supervisors, His Excellency, the Senator Guglielmo Marconi. (Prolonged applause.)

SENATOR GUGLIELMO MARCONI: Mr. President, Mayor Rossi, Members of the Board of Supervisors and Ladies and Gentlemen: It is a very great honor, indeed, for me to be permitted to speak here to you today, and to express my feeling of very deep appreciation and gratitude for the reception that you have given me here today; and the reception I have received from all classes of citizens of this great city. I had heard a great deal about California, and especially about San Francisco, but I must say that in reality it has exceeded my expectations.

My expectations have also been exceeded by the kindness of your Mayor and all public officials in your city. I have, as much as it has been possible in such a short time, visited parts of the city, and also under the guidance, and as a guest of your Honorable Mayor, I was able to visit that beautiful National Park, Yosemite Valley, where I had the pleasure of passing three days between a journey of going and coming, together with my wife, with Mrs. Rossi and the Mayor, and others connected with the administration of the city. I not only was able to admire the beautiful park, that beautiful district in which nature reveals itself in absolutely unspoiled fashion, but I also had the pleasure and privilege of visiting the public works which this city is constructing, the power plant, and the water supply, and the reservoirs for this city, and I was struck by their efficiency, and not only by their efficiency but by the enthusiasm of all those who worked there.

I hope that when you can, some of you will visit Italy. Every great country has something of interest to the citizens of other countries. We may have something of interest to you; you have a great many things that we can and intend to learn from you; but there is one thing that you cannot learn from anybody and that is the art, or the sense, or the quality of hospitality. You are absolute masters in that, because this sense of hospitality and courtesy to others I think comes direct from your heart.

It is a satisfaction to me as an Italian to see a man of Italian descent chief administrator of this city, and set an example of good citizenship and of service to his city and to his country; and in ending these words I want to say again how deeply I appreciate the very great honor which you have done me by conferring upon me the honorary citizenship of this great city.

It is from the bottom of my heart that I thank you, and I must repeat myself—I have said it in several other places, but I must say it here today again: I shall never forget the courtesies and kindnesses that have been extended to me and to my wife by the City of San Francisco, by its Mayor and by the citizens. Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you all very much. (Prolonged applause.)

THE PRESIDENT: Needless to say that I, as the President of this Board, and the Board, are proud and honored to make you one of our citizens through his Honor the Mayor, Angelo J. Rossi.

On behalf of the Board of Supervisors, and speaking for them, I am now going to call upon Supervisor Andrew J. Gallagher who will make the response for the assembled Board.

Supervisor Gallagher.

SUPERVISOR GALLAGHER: Mr. Mayor, Your Excellency, Senator Marconi, Mr. President and Fellow Members and Citizens: A few moments ago the President of the Board indicated that I might have the great honor of responding on behalf of this Board to the remarks by you, by His Excellency, the Senator. I count that a great privilege, for if ever there was a citizen of the world—if ever there was a man on whose shoulders, and around whose person, might be draped the flags of all the world, I think it is our distinguished visitor here today.

We are probably all too young, and I speak of practically every man and woman in this room, to remember with vividness the dangers, the uncertainties, the heart-breaking situation on the seas of the world, when a vessel left the waters of a home country for some country thousands of miles away. The goodbyes given in those days were goodbyes of a kind that intimated that perhaps they might never meet again, that perhaps the wildness of the seas, and the waters of the oceans of the world, might be the final farewell for those people who left on long pioneer journeys, or in commerce and trade. Then a great miracle was performed in our time, this seemingly impossible, unexpected thing, that which men believed could only come by a wave of the magic wand, if it might be called that, of Divine Providence itself, was announced to the world, and all the thoughts, all the brain and all the study of the gentleman who honors us today was required in its perfection, and humanity throughout the world gave a prayer of thanks that he who traveled on the distant and wild waters of the oceans of the world might at least through the study, and the self-sacrifice, too, of this great genius, feel a comparative safety in the future.

If that were all—he might have stopped there, because the honors that would have come to him for that alone, and the prayers and thanks of humanity would surely have been enough for any one man's lifetime, but he has not stopped there. We see now—we have seen, of course, some predictions in the centuries gone by, things we all dreamed of and felt impossible, and at one time it was stated, and stated seriously, by religious persons, that if man attempted to conquer the forces of—particularly in the air, and combat with God in those things which seemingly he had retained as mysteries of the future, that those who might attempt it might find themselves in conflict with God Himself. That was seriously stated at one time, if you will remember. Yet, what have we seen as a result of this man's brain, this man's study, and not least of all his self-sacrifice? We have seen ships flying in the air with not a man on board; we have seen them controlled from the earth in all their movements, and landed with not a human hand touching anything but electrical apparatus; we have witnessed great ships, battleships, which we all hope some day, and I am sure the Senator does—and soon perhaps—become obsolete, and out of place, so that the people of the world may meet in peace—we have watched great battleships of a tonnage heretofore unthinkable, maneuvered from the shores without a soul on board; we have heard the voice of His Excellency, accompanied by that of the Pope, over thousands and thousands of miles of space; we sit in comfort in our homes and we listen to the voices of rulers of the earth, and men of prominence everywhere, as far as Russia—further beyond, indeed, in comparative comfort, and I am sure that not an hour goes by but what someone must direct up a prayer of thanks that God was good enough to give this man to the human race, so that all of the blessings and the benefits of his study, and his genius—and also that of his colleagues, of course, but he particularly, may have come to us within our time. Even now he is not finished. Today, I think he would tell you, if he cared to go into detail, now comes the great mystery of television. Probably not ready now, but as he predicted the other night in his remarks, now will come the great solving of the mystery of television, and we shall see each other through the air, and over the electrical network as we converse perhaps over the telephone, or in other manners.

We deprecate no great commission, no great king, no great president, and no great ruler, when we say that we welcome this man, and when we make him a citizen of San Francisco, and there is no other man—at least not within my time, and I think not within yours—who deserves more the welcome that he has received. I congratulate his fellow Italian citizens, who are first, of course, with their pride of race, and their magnificent feeling for this man, and the stock he has sprung from. We, too, Senator Marconi, are proud of the Mayor of Italian descent who presides over this city. We are prouder, I think, in the fact that he is Mayor; in the fact that this is a cosmopolitan community. It is a small melting pot of all the nations of nearly all the world, and it may interest you to know that this brother in the blood of yours, this Italian Mayor—we do not call him an Italian Mayor, but this Mayor of Italian blood, received very generously, of course, of the support of all of those races, including the one from whose blood I came, the Irish, and we do not feel that we have made anv mistake.

You are tremendously welcome here in San Francisco; we are glad to have you; we wish that we could keep you. We want to express to the Marchesa our kindest regards, and our regret at her inability to be here.

We would like to say, when you do return to your home, to that Premier, as I like to call him, your Mussolini, that we are watching with a great deal of interest his progress. We congratulate him on the stupendous tasks of bringing the Italian nation back to its peak after its decline in power. We trust he will go forward, and succeed, with the help of this nation, and every other nation of the world, to wipe out from the doings of mankind the warfare, the embattlement, the clash, that comes, and the sacrifice of human blood, and misery, that comes with the struggles of the nations of the earth.

We wish to you, sir, a pleasant, happy and successful journey wherever you go. We hope you will return again, and we want you to feel, and express to your fellow Italians that we admire their art, we admire their science, we admire their splendid progress particularly since the War, and we admire the many thousands of them who have lived with us, those who have come to us from your country, but we admire you most of all. Thank you. (Applause.)

THE PRESIDENT: Any other Supervisor who would like to give rise to his feelings? Supervisor Gallagher covered the field pretty thoroughly. The Senator wants an opportunity, in a brief way, to respond to Supervisor Gallagher.

Senator Marconi.

SENATOR GUGLIELMO MARCONI: I want to thank Supervisor Gallagher very sincerely for what he has said. Unfortunately, I am not an orator like him, and I cannot answer adequately all the kind things he has expressed. I can only say that I have some Irish blood myself, and I was very glad to hear an Irishman say such very kind things about me.

I am sorry my wife was unable to come here today, because I think she would have been delighted to share in the reception with which you have honored me. I want to express how grateful I am for this Board giving up a portion of your valuable time in receiving me here today.

Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you very much. (Applause.)

THE PRESIDENT: I would like to have the Supervisors step forward and meet the Senator.

(Whereupon a short recess was taken, during which time the Supervisors were presented individually to Senator Marconi.)

The United Front Hunger March Committee Hearing.

THE CLERK: We have a communication from the United Front Hunger March Committee.

THE PRESIDENT: Read the communication.

(The Clerk thereupon read the communication.)

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: I move that they be heard by the Board.

THE PRESIDENT: Is there any objection? Five minutes each. So ordered.

(Delegation comes forward.)

THE CLERK: What is your name, please?

MR. NEAL HICKEY: Neal Hickey, 616 Baker street.

Mr. Chairman, and Honorable Supervisors: I am representing the committee of 8,000 organized workers of San Francisco in the national hunger march. I have three demands to be presented to you now, and we ask for an answer today.

The first demand is that a committee of unemployed, or elected by the unemployed, work with the relief administration and participate in all distribution of any relief in the City of San Francisco, that this committee sit on the Citizens' Relief Board, and also on every relief situation in San Francisco.

The other demand, one of the other demands, is that accident insurance be paid to all workers who are killed or injured on relief jobs. In the past we have had several cases where the workers have been killed and their families have not received any compensation.

And the third and last demand is, that this Board of Supervisors goes on record endorsing the Federal unemployment relief bill for the unemployed of San Francisco and throughout the United States.

Those three demands we ask for an answer today, so we can present them to our next organization meeting.

THE PRESIDENT: Next gentleman?

THE CLERK: P. Romney, 672 Sixth avenue.

MR. P. ROMNEY: Mr. Chairman, and members of the Board: I am representing the four different single men's organizations, the soup kitchens and flop houses. As we have seen, up to now they have been completely forgotten. In everything that has gone through there has been nothing ever said for us. Many of these men are voters and all are residents. In the first place, there was a delegation of twenty that was elected to come up here, and only three of us were allowed to come in, and I will ask the Board of Supervisors to allow the rest to come in.

Our grievances are these: The soup kitchen every day is getting worse: there is no sugar, no milk in the mush in the morning. The flop houses are chuck full, and in such condition that it is impossible to breath at night. Last night at Seventh and Folsom one man went crazy and nearly killed several men, nearly killed the doctor that came up to see him, and also the guard who came to take him away. These conditions are impossible for men to live in. There was another man died in the same flop house. This situation is something that the Board of Supervisors should take up.

Our outfit is here to protest to the Supervisors for turning over this whole outfit to the relief. We pay the Supervisors to represent the City, and the Board of Supervisors should have authority to go ahead and do these things, and not turn it over to the committee, who have no responsibility to the voters who have elected you here to represent the people of San Francisco.

We hereby ask you to give the cash relief immediately, and not discriminate as it is. We know there are several groups in San Francisco in relief, several groups get scrip, and others money, this being gained sometimes by means of nationality, and certain cases by special privileges. We believe all of us are entitled to the same rights. This discrimination should be discontinued immediately, and four or five thousand men in the flop houses should be given some consideration. In the Sixth street flop house, blankets are being taken away; the men are going cold in the front room where there is a terrible draft; in the room in the back there is no ventilation. On Howard street there is no blanket, and with these conditions you will have disease and sickness. We are asking for medical examination of sick men down there, that should be in the hospitals instead of dying in the flop houses, and going crazy. It is impossible for the men to sleep; this situation, I say, it is disgraceful, not only to San Francisco, but to the United States altogether, and we protest, and ask you to take it up immediately today and see what can be done. (Applause.)

Mr. Chairman, and Board of Supervisors: Last Monday the Charity Workers' Protective Union brought up a case that was not satisfactorily taken care of in the meantime. A family of four children, partial food has been issued. This man was transferred to the nonresident department. On protest they said they would re-investigate it. The re-investigation was made, and he was told he would be transferred back to limited relief provided he showed a merit certificate, which he refused to do. After coming to this Board, and going back, he was given emergency rations of $2.60, two-day ration for his family of that size. With that he could not buy the Mellin's Baby Food which is prescribed, the baby having been taken off the breast, and could not use the mother's milk, so he went back Saturday morning to get another emergency ration, which they held up until they re-investigated the man's change from the nonresident department. Eventually, after much discussion, they gave him another order, and he asked Mrs. Connors to make that in two parts so he could buy this Mellin's food for the baby, which she refused to do, or told him he could only have it in one. She called up two grocery stores and asked if they carried Mellin's food, which they do not. She asked the grocery store to send out to the drug store and get this Mellin's food, in order that he could have it for the baby, which the groceryman refused to do. So after that—and remember, he asked, "I am not asking an additional order, take it out from this order, but give me the sixty-seven or sixty-nine cents in one tag for that baby food,"—so he came up to 51 Gough street about noon Saturday, and they seen fit to give him the order for the milk, and instead of deducting it from his emergency order they gave him an additional sixty-nine cents in order that he could get the baby's food.

Yesterday I was out to see another family, eight in the family, six children ranging from five and a half to seventeen, and their water had been shut off and they have been packing water from the service station since last Wednesday. I went down Thursday to see the relief administration—I might mention that this family was on relief, and went off on June 17th and came back recently and have received three boxes. These people have been carrying water from the service station since last Wednesday. Thursday this woman went down to see the visitor, the visitor said she would be out to see them immediately. The husband is in bed sick, crippled, and this man has a high fever, and night sweats—and, by the way, they were told the doctor would be there to see him on Thursday morning. The doctor came Friday night, at nine-thirty, and this family lives in a three-floor flat, there is no bell, the bell is out of order, and there is a big sign at the bottom of the stairs, saying, "Knock hard. Bell doesn't ring." The doctor left a card at nine-thirty Friday night and said he would be back, and he hasn't been back since. All these children are in bare feet. Last Saturday they got a box of groceries which regularly checks at $4.25, and instead of being $4.25 added to that, it was $1.94. All of these children need shoes, also one of the children needs glasses.

Here is another case, seven in the family, living at 340 Washington street: They have a couple of beds, one lantern, one oil stove, practically no furniture; this man is formerly secretary of the Hoisters' Union.

Here is another family, 1072 Van Ness, destitute, relief cut off. Here is another family, 900 Texas street. This family came to San Francisco some year and a half ago from Los Angeles. They lacked ten days of being in San Francisco the required time. One of the grown children went up to the administration looking for employment, and they had no employment, but they found out she only lacked ten days of being here the required time, and they asked her if she needed food and she said they did need food, so they volunteered to give her half—put her on non-resident relief.

Here is another family, 870 Silver, I don't know whether they have got relief or not. This man is half-starved, sick and very low.

Now, we object to the way this housing is handled, this moving around. The relief people give us $2 for a deposit, and we usually take that deposit and try to get a landlord to allow us in for one week, then we come back and get another $2; then we stay in this place until the landlord throws us out, and when the landlord throws us out, then we get another $2 from the relief. Our gas, electricity and water has been shut off. These grievances will all stand investigation, also on this moving around system.

I would like to comment on the report that Supervisor Power made here last February in regard to that. If I am not mistaken Supervisor Power was chairman of the Welfare Committee at that time and he said he had investigated these grievances with the people on relief, and he read a report wherein he said the Welfare Committee investigated these grievances and in that report it stated that evictions were being taken care of as soon as discovered, and gas and electricity turned back on as soon as they were turned off. I happen to know that that report was false, because I was sitting back in the audience with my gas and electricity turned off, and my water turned off, before I got any relief, with the full knowledge of the relief administration. If this Welfare Committee made any investigation, I don't know where it was—in the City Hall or out amongst the unemployed—but that report is false, and that can be verified; also that the relief administration knew that they were off.

Another thing, because we are unemployed we don't want to scab, we don't want to go over and do work on the bridge. If we are going to work on the City work, give us useful work so we don't have to go down to the Associated Charities.

We also want participation in the distribution of this relief by our duly elected representatives. There are many cases where, if there was a committee of unemployed to function with the relief, that many people would not be made to suffer.

There is one case I know—where this woman absolutely refused to supply this order for the Mellin's food. That was a question of purely personal grudge, because when they got up here they got the order, they gave them not only money for the baby food but also fifteen cents for carfare without him asking it.

Also there was a lady at 1177 Pine street with cancer, one breast eaten entirely off, this arm was swollen up, and her fingers stuck out like that (indicating). We went to verify it, and then we went to Doctor Quinn, and got a written statement from him that this old lady was in a dying condition, and needed simple, nourishing food. We took this case back to the relief administration over on Pine street and finally they gave an order, forty-cent emergency order, and promised to send a visitor Tuesday. Wednesday morning this visitor had never showed up, and Thursday, finally after going back and making contact, Thursday morning they did send a woman down—I called up in the morning, and one of their visitors said Mrs. So-and-So is just put on her hat and coat to leave. That was ten o'clock, and she got down there about three-thirty in the afternoon. I spoke with her afterwards, and she said first she had to go and make some investigations before she got down there, she had to go down and see the doctor, and then the priest, she must get all the information, so she would know how to handle it. Finally, when I saw Doctor Quinn, he said they had had no contact with Doctor Quinn. He gave her two weeks to live, he said it was not necessary to transfer her to the hospital. It took exactly one week to get any food for that old lady, and when food was issued they sent out the regular box. The first day I was there a neighbor of the old lady came in with a can of Grade C peas—you Supervisors know what kind they are—they were brought in here—that had come with this box, and opened them up and mashed them and made soup out of them, and that can on the inside was ready to begin to corrode, and that is what the lady had for dinner. A week later the charity administration agreed to send her food, but food from the groceteria, food that the old lady can't eat. She can't possibly lie down, she has to sit up in a sitting position because it chokes her. We asked that this old lady have liquid diet for what time she was remaining. If she went to the hospital that was adequate relief. We weren't concerned with whether she went to the hospital or not, but the point is, after a week they finally decided they would send this regular box, and then, after seeing Doctor Quinn, they finally changed this and decided to send her something she could eat, so they finally gave her $2.50 a week. The point is, in this case, the visitor, Mrs. Baldwin, was up very frequently with this case, she used to come down and get the son and take him for an automobile ride, used to call up Doctor Quinn every day or so, and when we brought this to the attention of Doctor Quinn, he said, "Mrs. Baldwin used to call me up every few days to see how Mrs. Bishop was," and come to find out, Mrs. Baldwin had been there on relief, and she and the son had a few words, and the old lady had to suffer for it.

All these demands are not unreasonable, and we want an answer to these today just what your action will be. It is important to us that we know, because that is our only existence, and we must know what action you will take on them today, because the unemployed are living in such a terrible condition that they must be altered. There is just one more thing I want to bring in. This is a letter from James H. Parker, attorney-at-law, San Francisco, October 24, 1933.

"Dear Sir: I must insist on your making a substantial payment to Heyman Brothers or we shall have to take possession of the premises." This man is a World War veteran and is only five or six weeks back. This demands that something must be done.

I want to remind you that we want an answer to these demands today. (Applause.)

THE CLERK: Gene Rand, 37 Grove street.

GENE RAND: Mr. Chairman, and Board of Supervisors: I am here representing specifically the cause of these children in San Francisco who are today starving, and to prove that I have brought a living example with me here today. I want you all to look at him, a young boy, an American citizen, from American parents, workers, who have worked for this City, and built this City, helped to build this City. The gentleman over here didn't want me to bring the boy up, I guess he didn't want you to see what he looks like. Take a good look at him. This boy has been stricken, at the age of thirteen, with tuberculosis. Look at him again. That is the situation that the children of San Francisco are in today, and it is time that the Board of Supervisors, in whose hands it is—in whose hands the situation lies, that you take notice and do something about this.

Now, this boy has been specified to have tuberculosis. His name is Herman Work. He has been examined by the County doctors, and the County doctors have issued statements to the effect that this boy has tuberculosis. They have, however, done nothing to see that this boy gets into the County Hospital, or gets into some sort of a health institution where he will be properly and adequately taken care of. When the family went to the authorities charged with this so-called relief, to ask for milk and eggs for the proper food for this boy, who should be in bed, the authorities said they would send some milk and eggs last Monday. Now, it is a week since then, and they have not sent anything for the child. There are two more children in the house subject to this contagious disease, and you gentlemen, it is up to you to see that something is done for them. We demand that Herman Work, age thirteen, be immediately, at once, immediately put into a health institution where he shall have the proper food and proper care. This is your example of your citizens of San Francisco, future citizens.

We also demand in the name of those children of the unemployed today going to school that those children be furnished with free carfare and lunch. These children can not have healthy minds and bodies and try to get any decent education when they are starving, and when their parents are in no condition to feed them properly, it is up to you to feed them. Your boys are not suffering, but the children of the unemployed in San Francisco are, and since it is entirely in your hands it is time you take notice of this and do something about these children. It is time you waked up to the fact, and that is why you have this group here today supporting the demands of young Herman Work, a tubercular boy. It is a shame, a disgrace to the citizens of San Francisco that a young boy, aged thirteen, should have acquired tuberculosis. It simply a case he has not been properly fed and properly taken care of, and I want these demands to be taken care of here today, and I want an answer here today in the name of those children of San Francisco who are starving, and what is more, Herman Work has a few words to say on what his teacher has said, and what his doctor has said about this. (Applause.)

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: May I ask you what doctor treated him?

GENE RAND: Herman will tell you, if you will let him.

HERMAN WORK: Doctor Owens said—first I went to the County Hospital out on Potrero avenue, and out there—well, then, they took x-rays, October 3rd at three p. m., and they never said anything about it until four weeks later. After that they told me to go to Doctor Owens, and I went there and Doctor Owens said, "Well, this is a very serious case," he said, "I will send you milk and eggs," and there are two other children in the house who will catch it if they stay around there much longer."

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: Where do you live, may I ask?

MR. HERMAN WORK: 4588 Tehama.

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: And you said you went to the doctor, where?

MR. HERMAN WORK: Yes, right over there; you can go over there and see for yourself.

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: That is all right. Where was Doctor Owens, where did you go to him, what location, or where was he?

MR. HERMAN WORK: Right over at this hospital.

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: At the City Emergency Hospital.

GENE RAND: May I also add that if the thousands of dollars that will be spent for the Armistice Day parade, November 11th—I suggest that some of this money be spent to provide adequate relief for the unemployed children.

THE PRESIDENT: All right, the delegation may retire.

SUPERVISOR CANEPA: May I ask for a report from Doctor Owens on this particular boy's case? I am interested, and would like to know.

THE PRESIDENT: From Doctor Owens. No objection. You ask for that report?

MR. NEAL HICKEY: Here is the mother of the child, Mr. Chairman.

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: I would like to ask the privilege of the floor for the mother of the child, if you don't mind; I think the mother should be heard.

THE PRESIDENT: No objection. So ordered.

MRS. WORK: Well, I am not in fit shape here to make a speech at all, as I have heart trouble and should not be out, as I have been refused by the doctors to do anything excitable, but I will tell you what I know about Herman's case. I took him up there about last Monday, and the doctor—the case was found to be a t. b. case, and there are two young children in the home, and I explained the case thoroughly to the doctor, not Doctor Owen, but the other fellow that was there, and he said right away he should have a nurse down there, and he should have fresh eggs and milk, and I said, "Look here, Doctor, the child should be taken away from the other children," and he said, "No, just leave him right there," and he would increase my food, and that is all—that is all he could do for Herman.

THE PRESIDENT: Thank you.

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: I feel this entire matter should—I have made the statement before, and I would like to make it again today—I don't hesitate to make it, and I make it with some knowledge, because I have been on the Health Committee for fourteen years, and it was only yesterday I found out—about three weeks ago my attention was called to a case somewhat similar to this, on Howard street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth, by the police officer of this City and County, and this particular police officer made an effort to try to have this child removed to the Emergency Hospital or the San Francisco Hospital, and the facts are that there is no room there; and I went into the matter, and I found about three weeks ago there were 320 patients on the waiting list asking for admittance to the hospital. I was at the San Francisco hospital last week, and every bed is occupied in the hospital, every portion of the wards are occupied with beds. I am making that positive statement. San Francisco Hospital today has more patients in it than it has ever had in the history of that hospital, and it is the same thing with the tubercular section of the hospital.

Now, I will say this, if there is one effort that the San Francisco Hospital is making today it is an effort to take care of a boy in the incipient stages of tuberculosis, because we all know that tuberculosis is contagious. This particular case, I would say to these people, as frankly as I can, we want action and I would like to have this Board refer this case to the Health Committee of this Board, and I feel that we will get action in this particular case. It is not an easy matter to get action, on account of the very crowded conditions of our San Francisco Hospital, and this condition that exists, and I am talking from first hand information, and from a direct investigation in reference to the hospital. I say this to you, Mrs. Herman, because I feel we will get action in a case of this boy, and I ask my colleagues if they will refer this case to the Health Committee. I happen to be a member of that committee.

GENE RAND: I want to thank the Supervisor for the information, but I might offer a solution that there are thousands of empty buildings today that could be turned into hospital quarters if you so desire. (Applause.)

THE PRESIDENT: Any objection to placing this matter in the hands of the Health Committee?

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: Madam, I know you are interested in this boy. Have you any objection to having this matter referred to the Health Committee?

GENE RAND: We want to see action immediately, is all.

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: All right; I ask that it be referred to the Health Committee.

SUPERVISOR HAVENNER: I move that a transcript be made of the statements made during this hearing, and that the transcript be referred to the Advisory Committee with a request for report.

SUPERVISOR McSHEEHY: I will gladly second that, and in doing so I point out this—Supervisor Shannon made a motion here a week ago today, in inviting and asking these reports, and we are simply following out that motion. I gladly second Supervisor Havenner's motion, and I know we will have a reply a week from today.

THE PRESIDENT: Any objection? So ordered.

N. R. A. Work for San Francisco Residents.

(Code No. 19.071)

Supervisor Miles presented:

Resolution No. 1108, as follows:

Whereas, there are thousands of unemployed San Francisco residents who because of economic stress have been forced to accept relief from the City and County of San Francisco, and who have been placed in the unbearable position of not being able to pay the rent of the homes in which they live; and

Whereas, this has caused an increasingly difficult burden to be carried by the owners of this property who because of these conditions in many instances have not been able to pay their taxes, and the majority of whom have, nevertheless, shown the utmost consideration for their tenants; and

Whereas, there are also thousands of unemployed San Francisco residents who because of economic stress have been receiving relief from the City and County of San Francisco, who own their homes, and who have mortgaged their property and have not been able to pay either interest on these mortgages, or their taxes; and

Whereas, they are now in danger of losing all title to their property, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco respectfully call the attention of the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee to this situation, and request that they consider the possibilities of designating certain of the NRA work projects to relieve these two classes of unemployed, namely, (1) those who have not been able to pay rent, (2) those who have not been able to pay interest on mortgaged homes, or taxes. The money to be received by those engaged in the designated NRA work projects, if possible, to be used in paying past due rent, interest and taxes, while those so engaged continue to receive relief from the City and County of San Francisco.

Whereas, during the San Francisco-Peninsula Pacific International Air Pageant, to be held under the auspices of the National Aeronautic Association on December 16 and 17, San Francisco will be host to scores of men and women famous in aviation who will participate in the pageant; and

Whereas, the attention of the world will be focused on San Francisco during the San Francisco-Peninsula Pacific International Air Pageant and the desirability of San Francisco as a year-round site for such activity will be stressed; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it be the sense of this Board of Supervisors that a suitable welcome be tendered the famous aviators of the world participating in the San Francisco-Peninsula Pacific International Air Pageant; and be it further

Resolved, That His Honor, Angelo J. Rossi, Mayor of the City and County of San Francisco, be hereby authorized and requested to appoint a citizens' committee to arrange for a suitable and fitting welcome for the distinguished men and women of aviation who will at that time be our guests.

Veterans' Welfare Board of California to Deal Leniently With Indigent and Unemployed Veterans Who Are Delinquent in Home Loan Payments.

(Code No. 5.3)

Resolution No. 1110, as follows:

Whereas, there are approximately five hundred San Francisco War Veterans who are delinquent in their monthly payments on their homes to the Veterans Welfare Board of California; and

Whereas, these veterans are purchasing homes under provisions of the Veterans' Welfare Act of the State of California, and the State Attorney General has ruled that these homes are properties of the State of California, and the Veterans purchasing said homes cannot receive benefits of the Federal Home Loan Act which provides for the suspension of principal and interest payments for a period of time, and

Whereas, many of these veterans are receiving public relief and cannot pay the regular monthly principal payments, and the accumulating delinquencies have already caused many veterans to lose their homes, and many are threatened with dispossession; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, that the Veterans' Welfare Board of California be petitioned to take steps to re-write contracts to absorb delinquencies, and accept the payment of interest from all veterans on public relief, and extend this consideration to bona fide unemployed veterans as well; and be it further

Resolved, That it be the sense and purpose of this resolution to extend every possible leniency to beneficiaries of the Veterans' Welfare Act, which would be possible under the Federal Home Loan Act, and in keeping with the President's request that families should not be dispossessed of their homes.

(Code No. 17.12)

The following bill was introduced in the Board on Roll Call and referred to the Joint Finance and Health Committee:

Bill No. 455, Ordinance No. 17.121, as follows:

Authorizing and empowering the Director of Health to obtain hospitalization for persons entitled thereto at the expense of the City and County in privately owned hospitals during periods of emergency and when the normal accommodations of the San Francisco Hospital make it impractical to afford said persons hospitalization in said San Francisco Hospital, and authorizing the Director of Health to make rules and regulations which will govern the conditions under which said persons will be admitted into and maintained and cared for in said privately owned hospitals, and providing the manner in which contracts shall be entered into by the City and County with said privately owned hospitals.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco, as follows:

Section 1. Whenever, as a result of unusual increase of the usual number of persons requiring hospital care, due to epidemic, catastrophe, unemployment conditions, or other causes, the normal accommodations of the San Francisco Hospital are insufficient to afford hospitalization and care of those entitled thereto in said hospital, the Director of Public Health may cause contractual agreements to be entered into with any privately owned hospital in the City and County of San Francisco for the hospitalization of those persons who, under ordinary conditions, would be entitled to care and hospitalization in the San Francisco Hospital.

Section 2. The Purchaser of Supplies shall, upon the request of the Director of Health, and after advertising for bids therefor in the manner provided by law, enter into contracts with any privately owned hospital or hospitals for hospital service and care of said above mentioned persons upon such conditions and specifications as shall be prepared and submitted to him by the Director of Public Health, the terms of such contract or contracts to be for such period or periods as the Director of Public Health shall specify, said term, however, not to exceed one year. When the offers or bids of any of said privately owned hospitals shall be the same, the Purchaser may enter into said contracts for said care and hospitalization of said persons with any or all of said hospitals whose bids are the same, provided that before any contract is entered into with any hospital, the Director of Public Health shall certify to the Purchaser of Supplies that said hospital qualifies as to the standards and conditions specified by said Director of Public Health in his specifications submitted to the said Purchaser, and upon which said bids were submitted. No contract shall be entered into unless the Controller shall first certify that the necessary funds are available to meet the amount to become due under said contract, provided that when the amount to become due under any such contract is not determined in advance, then, in that event the Purchaser may approve purchase orders issued by the Director of Public Health covering the possible service to be rendered by the contracting hospital during any particular period of time not exceeding one month.

Section 3. In any contract entered into with any privately owned hospital, said hospital shall agree therein that from time to time during the term of such contract it will, upon the order of the Director of Health, receive into said hospital and care for and maintain therein, according to the terms and conditions specified and adopted by said Director, any person who would, under ordinary conditions, be entitled to care and hospitalization in the San Francisco Hospital, the stay in said hospital of said person so received therein to be determined by said Director. All amounts to become due to said hospital, pursuant to said contract, shall be payable monthly upon warrants issued and paid as provided by law.

Section 4. The Director of Health shall have full power and authority to determine the qualifications of any hospital offering to afford hospitalization as provided by this ordinance and no contract shall be entered into with any hospital which does not possess the qualifications provided for by said Director. And when any hospital shall, during the term of any contract, cease to possess said qualifications, the Director may cancel said contract or refuse to order persons admitted thereto.

Section 5. The Director of Public Health shall also, in advance of advertising for bids for the service provided for in this ordinance, prepare specifications governing the character of care, service and hospitalization which shall be furnished to the persons herein mentioned, and no other service shall be furnished to said persons at the expense of the City and County, except upon written order of the Director of Public Health.

Section 6. The Director of Public Health may at any time cause any person received into any hospital, under any contract entered into by virtue of this ordinance, to be removed therefrom when it is deemed advisable to remove said person to any other hospital, or when, in the opinion of said Director, said person has sufficiently convalesced to be removed from said hospital, and when said Director shall notify any hospital that any patient received therein under any contract has sufficiently convalesced to be removed therefrom, the City shall not be liable for the care or hospitalization of said person after the expiration of forty-eight hours after said notice is given.

Section 7. The Director of Public Health, or his representative, shall at all times have access to any hospital in which the persons mentioned herein are being cared for for the purpose of investigating the character of the care, maintenance and hospitalization being furnished to said persons.

Section 2. The annual fee for any person, firm or corporation securing a permit under this ordinance shall be $——— for each ambulance payable in advance. Every person, firm or corporation operating any private ambulance under the provisions of this ordinance shall have a Subdivision 3. Any permit holder may adopt a color or combination of color scheme which may be exclusively allotted to such holder, by the Director of Public Health.

Subdivision 2. The term "ambulance" shall not be used or displayed on any vehicle or conveyance, public or private, unless used to move a sick or injured person.

Subdivision 3. No vehicle or conveyance which will in any manner be used or shall be used for the removal or conveyance of the dead shall be used as an ambulance.

Subdivision 4. No person or persons who, in any manner, personally handles the dead shall operate or be employed in the operation of any ambulance.

Where one ambulance is used for double-stretcher cases the charge shall be a one and one-half rate.

Section 7. Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars and not more than five hundred ($500) dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail for not more than one hundred (100) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Every day that a violation of this ordinance occurs shall constitute a separate and distinct offense.

Section 8. If any section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The Board of Supervisors hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance, and each section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, subdivisions, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

Adjustment of Teaming Contracts to N. R. A. Code.

The following were presented and read by the Clerk:

Communication from the Building Material Drivers' Union No. 216, requesting that certain City officials should not take advantage of the depression to lower the standard of living and wage conditions contrary to the N. R. A. Code be cancelled and new bids called for to meet the N. R. A. Code of fair practice and higher wages.

Referred to Finance Committee.

Also, communication from Leonard S. Leavy, Controller, calling attention to the fact that following the adoption of various codes under the N. R. A. committees have been formed to decide on a fair and just upcharge to be levied against orders and contracts entered into with the City prior to the adoption of said Code, and in connection therewith are billing the City of San Francisco for such upcharge, and requesting that we cooperate in the spirit of the President's recommendations in this respect and asking that this Board of Supervisors determine upon a policy, and if the upcharge is to be absorbed that it enact and prepare legislation amending the contract and purchasing ordinances, and provide additional funds necessary.

Referred to Finance Committee.

Board of Supervisors Protests Federal Loan of $3,200,000 for Apartment Houses, Old Odd Fellows' Cemetery.

(Code No. 5.2)

Supervisor Shannon presented:

Resolution No. 1126, as follows:

Whereas, application has been made to the Government by a group of persons representing private interests for a loan of $3,200,000 for the erection of a group of apartment buildings on twenty-eight acres of land situate on the old Odd Fellows' Cemetery, setting forth to provide approximately 3000 rooms for rental at $11 per room per month; and

Whereas, it has appeared in the daily papers that the Federal Administrator of Public Works has given his approval to said application; and

Whereas, it appears that the intent and purposes of loans by the Federal Government is to create labor and give employment to the unemployed during these depressed times, and that deep consideration has also been given to the necessity of bettering household and living conditions in congested districts of the large and densely populated cities throughout the country; and

Whereas, San Francisco cannot be considered among these cities of congested housing and living conditions, by reason of the great variety of homes, flats, apartment houses and modern hotels, as well as many vacant areas of land existing within the City and County; and

Whereas, the great majority of apartment house owners, real estate owners and dealers have voiced their disapproval of the project and also the approval by the Federal Administrator of Public Works, for the reason that a great proportion of the present buildings erected through large expenditures of money and investment for rental purposes are entirely vacant and laying idle through lack of demand and necessity; and

Whereas, the addition of these proposed groups of buildings would be a detriment to the present vested interests, inflicting conditions directly in opposition to the purposes for which Federal moneys are to be expended; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Board of Supervisors, for reasons heretofore set forth, are unalterably opposed to the consummation of this project out of Federal moneys at this time, and would respectfully call the attention of officials at Washington to the lack of necessity of such group of buildings being required by reason of congestion, character or otherwise in our community; and further, the advertised rentals of such premises to be $11 per room per month would be of no benefit to the great majority of our wage earning citizens dependent upon nominal rentals, and add to existing vacancies, detrimental to real estate investment in San Francisco; and be it

Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to his Honor the Mayor and the Chief Administrative Officer for presentation to the Federal Administrator of Public Works at Washington as an expression of protest to the Government loan for said project.

Referred to Public Welfare and Building Committee.

Reclamation of South Beach Tidelands.

Adolph Uhl, Supervisor-elect, was, on motion, granted the privilege of the floor and urged that the Board of Supervisors sanction and approve his proposed trip to Washington, D. C., to appear before the new Civic Works Administration as sponsor for the project of grading lands and filling in tidelands at South Basin as the best means of affording work for the unemployed and the development of industrial and commercial properties to be given free as an inducement to commercial enterprises to establish them in San Francisco.

He declared that his expenses would be paid by the Good Government League.

Resolution Refused Adoption.

Whereupon, Supervisor Spaulding presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Whereas, the securing of work for our unemployed is of paramount importance at this time; and

Whereas, the Federal Government has indicated that funds for putting our idle to work during the coming winter will be provided; and

Whereas, it is of great importance that funds so expended shall be utilized for improvements which shall be permanent so far as possible; and

Whereas, the reclamation of South Basin lands will provide for necessary industrial lands and at the same time give employment to a greater number of our unemployed than would be possible under any similar project; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, that we approve presenting the plan for the reclamation of South Basin lands to the Federal Government for part of the expenditure to be made by them in the City and County of San Francisco, and hereby authorize Mr. Adolph Uhl to attend the Conference at Washington, D. C., November 15th, called for the purpose of considering the various plans and projects in connection with said work and with a greater percentage of funds expended for man power.

Supervisor McSheehy and Supervisor Colman objected to the introduction of the resolution, and the Chair ruled that it must go to committee unless it had unanimous consent.

The following telegram, however, was agreed to and, on motion of Supervisor Colman, seconded by Supervisor McSheehy, by unanimous vote, the Clerk was directed to send same to Mayor Rossi, at Washington, D. C., to-wit:

Supervisor Gallagher brought attention to the protest of Mrs. Best and Mrs. Dowling, representing the Francis Scott Key School's allotment in the proposed bond issue, but was informed by Assistant City Attorney Dion Holm that nothing could be done about it. Whereupon the following resolution was presented and adopted:

Determining and Declaring that Public Interest and Necessity Demand Acquisition and Construction of New School House Buildings.

(Code No. 21.31)

Resolution No. 1128, as follows:

Determining that public interest and necessity demand the acquisition and construction of certain new school house buildings in the City and County of San Francisco, and the acquisition of certain lands therefor, and the acquisition of certain other property including furnishings and structures necessary to be used in and about said school house buildings, and for the purpose of making repairs, alterations, additions, betterments and replacements to existing school house buildings, and that the cost thereof is and will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income of said City and County.

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, by a vote of more than two-thirds of all of its members, does hereby determine that public interest and necessity demand the acquisition and construction of certain new school house buildings in the City and County of San Francisco and the acquisition of certain lands therefor and the acquisition of certain other property, including furnishings and structures to be used in and about said school house buildings, and for the purpose of making repairs, alterations, additions, betterments and replacements to existing school house buildings, and which are necessary and convenient to carry out the objects, purposes and powers of the City and County of San Francisco; and be it Further Resolved, That the said Board of Supervisors does hereby determine that the cost of said school house buildings, lands, structures and other property necessary and convenient to be used in and about said school house buildings will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said City and County, and that a proposition to incur a bonded indebtedness for the purposes herein mentioned should be submitted to the electors of the City and County of San Francisco.

Telegram.

On motion of Supervisor Colman the following was ordered sent to Mayor Rossi:

San Francisco, November 15, 1933.

Honorable Angelo J. Rossi, Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C.

Today the Public Utilities Committee had a consultation with representatives of all important bond houses, who advised that the bond market generally and also the municipal bond market has fallen decidedly, and that their best judgment is that our bonds recently voted will be bid on a basis that the bonds will pay at least 5½ per cent interest. We deem this rate of interest excessive, as representations were made during bond campaign that bonds would be marketed paying 4½ per cent interest. It is, therefore, evident if the Government would buy our bonds at 4 per cent it would result very greatly to the interest of San Francisco and would put men to work very much sooner. Your attention is directed that an interest rate of 5½ per cent spread over, in some instances, the next thirty years would result in an excessively high cost of the projects approved by the people, and if such is shown to be the fact it may result in the rejection of all bids for the purchase of bonds, which would delay the prosecution of the work approved by the people and delay the placing of men to work. It has been estimated that 5½ per cent interest would result in an added charge to the City of three and one-quarter million dollars as compared with bonds sold bearing 4 per cent interest. Without jeopardizing the present basis upon which the Government has made a grant of 30 per cent of cost of labor and materials used in the bond projects, we recommend you use your best efforts to interest the Government in purchasing our bonds at 4 per cent interest rate and thus keep down the cost of the projects to the City and hasten the placing of men in jobs.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,
J. S. DUNNIGAN, Clerk.

Section 1. A special election is hereby called and ordered to be held in the City and County of San Francisco on Tuesday, the 19th day of December, 1933, for the purpose of submitting to the electors of said City and County the following proposition, to-wit: The proposition of incurring a bonded debt of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount of three million dollars ($3,000,000) for the acquisition and construction of certain new school house buildings in the City and County of San Francisco, and the acquisition of certain lands therefor, and the acquisition of certain other property, including furnishings and structures necessary to be used in and about said school house buildings, and for the purpose of making repairs, alterations, additions, betterments and replacements to existing school house buildings.

The method and manner of payment of the estimated cost of the municipal improvements described herein are by the issuance of bonds of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount required therefor. The said bonds shall not be offered for sale or sold unless the United States government, through the National Industrial Recovery Act or other legislation or the Administration Board or body functioning thereunder, shall make or agree to make a grant to the municipality of not less than 30 per cent of the cost of the labor and materials employed upon the improvements described in Section 1 hereof.

Bill No. 464, Ordinance No. 21.312, as follows:

Calling and providing for a special election to be held in the City and County of San Francisco on Tuesday, the 19th day of December, 1933, for the purpose of submitting to the voters of the City and County of San Francisco a proposition to incur a bonded debt of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount of three million dollars ($3,000,000) for the acquisition and construction of certain new school house buildings in the City and County of San Francisco, and the acquisition of certain lands therefor, and the acquisition of certain other property, including furnishings and structures necessary to be used in and about said school house buildings, and for the purpose of making repairs, alterations, additions, betterments and replacements to existing school house buildings, and providing for the form, denomination, rate of interest, fixing payment of interest, and retirement of said bonds.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco as follows:

Section 1. A special election is hereby called and ordered to be held in the City and County of San Francisco on Tuesday, the 19th day of December, 1933, for the purpose of submitting to the electors of said City and County the following proposition, to-wit: The proposition of incurring a bonded debt of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount of three million dollars ($3,000,000) for the acquisition and construction of certain new school house buildings in the City and County of San Francisco, and the acquisition of certain lands therefor, and the acquisition of certain other property, including furnishings and structures necessary to be used in and about said school house buildings, and for the purpose of making repairs, alterations, additions, betterments and replacements to existing school house buildings.

Section 2. The estimated cost of the municipal improvements described herein was fixed by the Board of Supervisors by Resolution No. 1128, passed by more than two-thirds of said Board and approved by the Mayor, in the sum of three million dollars ($3,000,000), and such sum is too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of the City and County in addition to the other necessary expenses thereof or other funds derived from taxes levied for that purpose.

The method and manner of payment of the estimated cost of the municipal improvements described herein are by the issuance of bonds of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount required therefor. The said bonds shall not be offered for sale or sold unless the United States government, through the National Industrial Recovery Act or other legislation or the Administration Board or body functioning thereunder, shall make or agree to make a grant to the municipality of not less than 30 per cent of the cost of the labor and materials employed upon the improvements described in Section 1 hereof.

Section 3. The special election hereby called and ordered to be held shall be held and conducted and the votes thereat received and canvassed, and the returns thereof made and the result thereof ascertained, determined and declared as herein provided and according to the laws of the State of California providing for and governing elections in the City and County of San Francisco, and the polls for such election shall be and remain open during the time required by said laws.

Section 4. The said special election hereby called shall be and hereby is consolidated with the Special State Election to be held on Tuesday, December 19, 1933, and the voting precincts, polling places and officers of election for said Special State Election be and the same are hereby adopted, established, designated and named, respectively, as the voting precincts, polling places and officers of election for said special election hereby called, and as specifically set forth by the Registrar of Voters of polling places and election officers for the said Special State Election.

The ballots to be used at said special election shall be the ballots to be used at said Special State Election.

Section 5. On the ballots to be used at such special election and on the voting machines used at said special election, in addition to any other matter required by law to be printed thereon, shall appear thereon the following:

"School House Bonds, 1934—To incur a bonded indebtedness in the sum of $3,000,000 for the acquisition and construction of certain new school house buildings in the City and County of San Francisco, certain lands therefor, and other property and structures necessary to be used in and about said school house buildings."

To vote for the proposition where ballots are used, and to incur the bonded indebtedness to the amount of and for the purpose stated herein, stamp a cross (X) in the blank space to the right of the word "Yes." To vote against the proposition and thereby refuse to authorize the incurring of a bonded indebtedness to the amount of and for the purpose stated herein, stamp a cross (X) in the blank space to the right of the word "No."

Where voting machines are used at said special election the said voting machines shall be so arranged that any qualified elector may vote for the proposition by pulling down a lever over the word "Yes" under or near a statement of the proposed proposition appearing on cardboard, paper or other material placed on the front of the machine, and said act shall constitute a vote for the proposition, and by pulling down a lever over the word "No" under or near a statement of the proposed proposition appearing on cardboard, paper or other material placed on the front of the machine, shall constitute a vote against the proposition. Said voting machines and the preparation of the same are to be used in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 96 of the Statutes of 1923, and amendments thereto.

Section 6. If at such special election it shall appear that two-thirds of all the votes cast thereat were in favor of and authorized the incurring of a bonded debt for the purpose set forth in said proposition, then such proposition shall have been accepted by the electors, and bonds shall be issued to defray the cost of the buildings, lands, other properties and structures described therein. Such bonds shall be of the form and character known as "serials."

Said bonds shall be dated January 1, 1934, shall bear interest at the rate not to exceed 6 per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, shall be of the denomination of $1,000 each, and the principal and interest thereof shall be payable in lawful money of the United States either at the office of the Treasurer of the City and County of San Francisco or at the office of the fiscal agent of said City and County in the City of New York. Said bonds shall be designated "School House Bonds, 1934," and shall be numbered from 1 to 3000, both inclusive, and shall be payable $300,000 thereof one year from the date of said bonds, beginning with the lowest number, and $300,000 thereof of the next higher numbers on the same day in each succeeding year until all of said bonds shall be paid.

Section 7. Bonds issued hereunder may be converted into registered bonds upon presentation to the Treasurer of the City and County of San Francisco, in which event such Treasurer shall cut off and cancel the coupons of said bonds and shall sign a statement stamped, printed or written upon the back or face of the bond to the effect that the Thereafter, and from time to time, the bond may be transferred by such registered owner in person or by attorney duly authorized on presentation of the bond to the Treasurer, and the bond be again registered as before, a similar statement being stamped, printed or written thereon.

All bonds issued hereunder are exempt from all taxation within the State of California.

Section 8. About three weeks ago Williams called to see his visitor, saying he had trouble with his landlord, who wanted him to move. He was asked to find out how much he owed his landlord and help would be given him. He never came back. Then came the eviction notice. He was immediately seen and was asked to look for another place, and the Relief Administration would pay a month's rent. He refuses to do so.

The Relief Administration has persuaded the Sheriff's office to postpone the eviction until tomorrow, the 21st, in the hope Williams will secure another house. This he will not do.

Hospitalization for Indigent Sick.

(Code No. 17.12)

Bill No. 455, Ordinance No. 17.121, as follows:

Authorizing and empowering the Director of Health to obtain hospitalization for persons entitled thereto at the expense of the City and County in privately owned hospitals during periods of emergency and when the normal accommodations of the San Francisco Hospital make it impractical to afford said persons hospitalization in said San Francisco Hospital, and authorizing the Director of Health to make rules and regulations which will govern the conditions under which said persons will be admitted into and maintained and cared for in said privately owned hospitals, and providing the manner in which contracts shall be entered into by the City and County with said privately owned hospitals.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco, as follows:

Section 1. Whenever, as a result of unusual increase of the usual number of persons requiring hospital care, due to epidemic, catastrophe, unemployment conditions, or other causes, the normal accommodations of the San Francisco Hospital are insufficient to afford hospitalization and care of those entitled thereto in said hospital, the Director of Public Health may cause contractual agreements to be entered into with any privately owned hospital in the City and County of San Francisco for the hospitalization of those persons who, under ordinary conditions, would be entitled to care and hospitalization in the San Francisco Hospital.

Section 2. The Purchaser of Supplies shall, upon the request of the Director of Health, and after advertising for bids therefor in the manner provided by law, enter into contracts with any privately owned hospital or hospitals for hospital service and care of said above mentioned persons upon such conditions and specifications as shall be prepared and submitted to him by the Director of Public Health, the terms of such contract or contracts to be for such period or periods as the Director of Public Health shall specify, said term, however, not to exceed one year. When the offers or bids of any of said privately owned hospitals shall be the same, the Purchaser may enter into said contracts for said care and hospitalization of said persons with any or all of said hospitals whose bids are the same, provided that before any contract is entered into with any hospital, the Director of Public Health shall certify to the Purchaser of Supplies that said hospital qualifies as to the standards and conditions specified by said Director of Public Health in his specifications submitted to the said Purchaser, and upon which said bids were submitted. No contract shall be entered into unless the Controller shall first certify that the necessary funds are available to meet the amount to become due under said contract, provided that when the amount to become due under any such contract is not determined in advance, then, in that event the Purchaser may approve purchase orders issued by the Director of Public Health covering the possible service to be rendered by the contracting hospital during any particular period of time not exceeding one month.

Section 3. In any contract entered into with any privately owned hospital, said hospital shall agree therein that from time to time during the term of such contract it will, upon the order of the Director of Health, receive into said hospital and care for and maintain therein, according to the terms and conditions specified and adopted by said Director, any person who would, under ordinary conditions, be entitled to care and hospitalization in the San Francisco Hospital, the stay in said hospital of said person so received therein to be determined by said Director. All amounts to become due to said hospital, pursuant to said contract, shall be payable monthly upon warrants issued and paid as provided by law.

Section 4. The Director of Health shall have full power and authority to determine the qualifications of any hospital offering to afford hospitalization as provided by this ordinance and no contract shall be entered into with any hospital which does not possess the qualifications provided for by said Director. And when any hospital shall, during the term of any contract, cease to possess said qualifications, the Director may cancel said contract or refuse to order persons admitted thereto.

Section 5. The Director of Public Health shall also, in advance of advertising for bids for the service provided for in this ordinance, prepare specifications governing the character of care, service and hospitalization which shall be furnished to the persons herein mentioned, and no other service shall be furnished to said persons at the expense of the City and County, except upon written order of the Director of Public Health.

Section 6. The Director of Public Health may at any time cause any person received into any hospital, under any contract entered into by virtue of this ordinance, to be removed therefrom when it is deemed advisable to remove said person to any other hospital, or when, in the opinion of said Director, said person has sufficiently convalesced to be removed from said hospital, and when said Director shall notify any hospital that any patient received therein under any contract has sufficiently convalesced to be removed therefrom, the City shall not be liable for the care or hospitalization of said person after the expiration of forty-eight hours after said notice is given.

Section 7. The Director of Public Health, or his representative, shall at all times have access to any hospital in which the persons mentioned herein are being cared for for the purpose of investigating the character of the care, maintenance and hospitalization being furnished to said persons.

Endorsing the State Water Plan.

(Code No. 5.3)

Resolution No. 1172, as follows:

Future development of California industry and agriculture is entirely dependent on the future supply of fresh water.

Progress in California can be sure only if we take immediate steps to conserve our available water and power resources, as outlined by the great Central Valley Water Project.

California's present and future development and its prosperity as a great State depends upon conservation of its waters, prevention of dangerous floods in the great Central Valleys and control of the salt water incursion in the rich and fertile areas of the State.

The Central Valley Water Project, vital in every aspect, is California's great opportunity to insure progress and development.

It will mean work for 25,000 people, thus bringing tremendous social benefits to every city and county in California. The Federal Government, if this plan is approved, will advance $170,000,000 to California for this project, thus it will not cost California taxpayers a single dollar. It means that California business will find renewed hope and renewed channels for the future.

The Central Valley Water Project, greater than Boulder Dam, is vital and commands the loyal support of our citizens.

The entire program is of the type most favored by President Roosevelt in his splendid efforts to restore the entire nation to a basis of normal living.

The Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco believe in further development, in progress and in the destiny of California. It believes that the Central Valley Water Project will serve to accomplish these desired objectives and calls upon the patriotic and militant people of California to fight and to work for this tremendous issue which means so much to the future of our great State.

Conference of Newly-Elected and Hold-Over Supervisors.

Supervisor McSheehy presented:

Communication from Adolph Uhl requesting postponement of proposed conference meeting of newly-elected and hold-over Supervisors from November 28, 1933, until December 12, 1933, at 2:30 p. m.

Registration for C. W. A. Employment.

Supervisor Gallagher called to the attention of Supervisor Miles and the Board that he had been advised that the list of resident unemployed compiled under our ordinance by the San Francisco Registration Bureau would not be availed of by the Federal Administration in putting its

C. W. A. program into effect in this city, but that the Free State Employment Bureau list would be the one.

Supervisor Miles declared that he was aware of the situation and was in conference with Mr. Branyan of the State Bureau, offering the services of San Francisco registration which has all the necessary information as to resident unemployed that the State Bureau is lacking.

Liberalization of State Liquor Law.

Supervisor Gallagher called attention to petition of Hotel Owners' Association that is being circulated, proposing amendment to the State Constitution liberalizing the liquor law to permit service in hotels and fixing an annual license of $250. He urged that the Legislative Committeee give some attention to the matter in San Francisco's interest from a revenue point of view. He pointed out that before prohibition under local option laws San Francisco derived over $800,000 from liquor and that under the initiative petition of the hotelmen fixing an annual license of only $250, San Francisco will derive only 40 per cent of the estimated total of $150,000. Formerly, he said, the liquor licenses paid for the police surveillance necessary for control and regulation of the liquor business.

Supervisor Peyser said he would give the matter consideration.

J. S. Dunnigan, Esq., Clerk, Board of Supervisors, Room 235, City Hall, San Francisco, Calif.

Dear Sir: I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 23d advising me of the resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors on November 20th, requesting information as to the selection of projects, employment of workers, and administration of funds in connection with the Federal civil works program.

Our Committee has been working diligently to put the program into operation and has already been able to put a number of men at work. It will take a few days to gather definite data, but these will be furnished as soon as they are available.

Yours very truly,

M. C. SLOSS,

Chairman, Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee and Civil Works Administration.

(Attention Mr. J. S. Dunnigan, Clerk)

November 24, 1933.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, City Hall, San Francisco, Calif.

Gentlemen: I acknowledge receipt of your letter of November 23d, requesting information of the Public Utilities Commission concerning projects it has in mind to suggest to the Civic Works Administration.

Please be advised that the Public Utilities Commission has suggested that the Balboa Reservoir of the San Francisco Water Department, located at the intersection of Ocean avenue and Phelan avenue, be built. The program has been accepted by the Civic Works Administration, and is starting immediately.

The employment of workers and the administration of funds in connection with the project are entirely in the hands of the Civic Works Administration officials.

Very truly yours,

E. G. CAHILL,
Manager of Utilities.

Reports on Evictions of Unemployed on Relief.

The following were read and ordered printed in the record:

Re: Williams, John-Helen, 1647 Folsom street, No. 34461.

November 25, 1933.

Mr. J. S. Dunnigan, Clerk, Board of Supervisors, City Hall, San Francisco.

Dear Mr. Dunnigan: Mr. John Williams appeared at the Board of Supervisors on November 13th, presenting an eviction notice on that day. He stated that nothing was being done in regard to his rent.

The case records show that on October 27, 1933, a visitor called at the home of the Williams family. As they stated on that date that they were to be put out the visitor advised the family to look for new quarters and call at her office on Tuesday, October 31, for final arrangements. As the rent at that location was $21 a month the visitor advised them to find a place where the rent would not exceed $20, the limit which can be paid by the Relief Administration. On November 8th Mr. Williams appeared at the office stating that he could not find a place unless we would guarantee that the rent would be paid monthly.

When I advised the visitor on November 14th that Mr. Williams had appeared before the Board of Supervisors she sent a man to call on the family. Mr. Williams was advised that a month's rent could be paid for him in an unfurnished flat or that he could be moved into housekeeping rooms and store his furniture if he could not find any unfurnished flat.

Mr. Williams was told to call at his visitor's office that afternoon but he never appeared.

On November 24th the visitor informed me that Mr. Williams had been given a $5 deposit and that he was almost sure he had a new location to which to move.

Because of the problems involved in getting this family housed the sheriff has not as yet actually evicted them.

Very truly yours,

(Miss) EVELYN HYMAN,
Complaint Bureau.

P. S.—Mr. Williams has obtained work under the Civil Works Administration and will therefore be able to handle his own rent problem.

November 22, 1933.

Re: Steadman, George, 2240 Bryant street.

Mr. J. S. Dunnigan, Clerk, Board of Supervisors, City Hall, San Francisco:

Dear Sir: On Monday, November 20th, Mr. Steadman appeared before the Board of Supervisors, stating that he was in need of rent on that date.

This family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Steadman and their two children, 19 and 10 years of age, has been on relief intermittently since December 21, 1929. The dependency in this family was caused by Mr. Steadman's unemployment.

On August 20, 1933, the 19-year-old daughter obtained employment but did not inform the Relief Administration until October 6th. Relief was discontinued, as this employment had not been reported, and it was also discovered that Mr. Steadman was getting some work at the California Golf Club as a caddy. On October 17th Miss Steadman called at the office, stating that she had lost her job in the cannery. She also stated that her father was earning only $15 a month at the golf course, although a wage verification disclosed the fact that he was earning $30. As the father claimed that they were without any funds at that time, food relief was started. However, Miss Steadman failed to make any satisfactory explanation as to what she had done with the money she earned while she was working. From that date until the present Mr. Steadman has made continual efforts to have payment of his rent authorized.

On November 16th Mr. Steadman called at the office with the final eviction notice, stating he was to be put out. He claimed it would be possible for him to move to an unfurnished apartment if he were given the money. Therefore he obtained a $5 deposit from the district office. As yet Mr. Steadman has not succeeded in finding satisfactory lodgings and presenting receipt to his visitor that the $5 deposit has been paid.

Very truly yours,

(Miss) EVELYN HYMAN,
Complaint Bureau.

Authorizing the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee to Enter Agreement With the State Department of Natural Resources of the State of California Re the Employment of Single Unemployed Men.

The following was prepared by the City Attorney, read by the Clerk and referred to the Finance Committee:

(Code No. 19.071)

Resolution No. 1167, as follows:

Whereas, at the present time there are a large number of single men receiving relief from the Emergency Relief Committee of the City and County of San Francisco; and

Whereas, the State of California, through the State Department of Natural Resources, has established camps in various places outside of the City and County of San Francisco where single men over the age of twenty-one years, who by reason of unemployment are in indigent circumstances, are received and given work and paid therefor at the rate of forty-five cents per hour and furnished with food, lodging and first-aid attention in the event of injury and a charge for said service of fifty cents per day being made against said persons; and

Whereas, there are in San Francisco many persons who by reason of unemployment are in indigent circumstances and who are desirous of going to said camps and accepting said employment under the above-mentioned conditions; and

Whereas, before the aforesaid persons will be accepted in said camps, the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee must agree that the City and County of San Francisco will assume responsibility for the hospitalization of said persons in the event of accident or sickness and for the burial of any of said persons who should die while in attendance at said camps; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Citizens' Emergency Relief Committee enter into an agreement with the State Department of Natural Resources of the State of California, under the terms of which said agreement single unemployed men over the age of twenty-one years who are residents of the City and County of San Francisco will be received into said camps upon the conditions hereinbefore mentioned and that the City and County of San Francisco will assume responsibility for hospitalization when the same is necessary, and for the burial of any of said men who may die while in camps, provided the cost of said burial would, under ordinary conditions, be a charge against the City and County of San Francisco.

(In connection with the foregoing, Supervisor Shannon declared that he understood that men were employed at 50 cents a day and suggested that the Finance Committee see if the amount can be increased to $1 per day. So ordered.)

Report of Controller on $1,000,000 for Relief.

A report from the Controller on the City's loan of $1,000,000 from the State for unemployment relief was presented, read, and referred to the Mayor.

Bill No. 464, Ordinance No. 21.312, as follows:

Calling and providing for a special election to be held in the City and County of San Francisco on Tuesday, the 19th day of December, 1933, for the purpose of submitting to the voters of the City and County of San Francisco a proposition to incur a bonded debt of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount of three million dollars ($3,000,000) for the acquisition and construction of certain new school house buildings in the City and County of San Francisco, and the acquisition of certain lands therefor, and the acquisition of certain other property, including furnishings and structures necessary to be used in and about said school house buildings, and for the purpose of making repairs, alterations, additions, betterments and replacements to existing school house buildings, and providing for the form, denomination, rate of interest, fixing payment of interest, and retirement of said bonds.

Section 1. A special election is hereby called and ordered to be held in the City and County of San Francisco on Tuesday, the 19th day of December, 1933, for the purpose of submitting to the electors of said City and County the following proposition, to-wit: The proposition of incurring a bonded debt of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount of three million dollars ($3,000,000) for the acquisition and construction of certain new school house buildings in the City and County of San Francisco, and the acquisition of certain lands therefor, and the acquisition of certain other property, including furnishings and structures necessary to be used in and about said school house buildings, and for the purpose of making repairs, alterations, additions, betterments and replacements to existing school house buildings.

Section 2. The estimated cost of the municipal improvements described herein was fixed by the Board of Supervisors by Resolution No. 1128, passed by more than two-thirds of said Board and approved by the Mayor, in the sum of three million dollars ($3,000,000), and such sum is too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of the City and County in addition to the other necessary expenses thereof or other funds derived from taxes levied for that purpose.

The method and manner of payment of the estimated cost of the municipal improvements described herein are by the issuance of bonds of the City and County of San Francisco to the amount required therefor. The said bonds shall not be offered for sale or sold unless the United States government, through the National Industrial Recovery Act or other legislation or the Administration Board or body functioning thereunder, shall make or agree to make a grant to the municipality of not less than 30 per cent of the cost of the labor and materials employed upon the improvements described in Section 1 hereof.

Section 3. The special election hereby called and ordered to be held shall be held and conducted and the votes thereat received and canvassed, and the returns thereof made and the result thereof ascertained, determined and declared as herein provided and according to the laws of the State of California providing for and governing elections in the City and County of San Francisco, and the polls for such election shall be and remain open during the time required by said laws.

Section 4. The said special election hereby called shall be and hereby is consolidated with the Special State Election to be held on Tuesday, December 19, 1933, and the voting precincts, polling places and officers of election for said Special State Election be and the same are hereby adopted, established, designated and named, respectively, as the voting precincts, polling places and officers of election for said special election hereby called, and as specifically set forth by the Registrar of Voters of polling places and election officers for the said Special State Election.

The ballots to be used at said special election shall be the ballots to be used at said Special State Election.

Section 5. On the ballots to be used at such special election and on the voting machines used at said special election, in addition to any other matter required by law to be printed thereon, shall appear thereon the following:

"School House Bonds, 1934—To incur a bonded indebtedness in the sum of $3,000,000 for the acquisition and construction of certain new school house buildings in the City and County of San Francisco, certain lands therefor, and other property and structures necessary to be used in and about said school house buildings."

To vote against the proposition and thereby refuse to authorize the incurring of a bonded indebtedness to the amount of and for the purpose stated herein, stamp a cross (X) in the blank space to the right of the word "No."

Where voting machines are used at said special election the said voting machines shall be so arranged that any qualified elector may vote for the proposition by pulling down a lever over the word "Yes" under or near a statement of the proposed proposition appearing on cardboard, paper or other material placed on the front of the machine, and said act shall constitute a vote for the proposition, and by pulling down a lever over the word "No" under or near a statement of the proposed proposition appearing on cardboard, paper or other material placed on the front of the machine, shall constitute a vote against the proposition. Said voting machines and the preparation of the same are to be used in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 96 of the Statutes of 1923, and amendments thereto.

Section 6. If at such special election it shall appear that two-thirds of all the votes cast thereat were in favor of and authorized the incurring of a bonded debt for the purpose set forth in said proposition, then such proposition shall have been accepted by the electors, and bonds shall be issued to defray the cost of the buildings, lands, other properties and structures described therein. Said bonds shall be designated "School House Bonds, 1934," and shall be numbered from 1 to 3000, both inclusive, and shall be payable $300,000 thereof one year from the date of said bonds, beginning with the lowest number, and $300,000 thereof of the next higher numbers on the same day in each succeeding year until all of said bonds shall be paid.

Section 3. In any contract entered into with any privately owned hospital, said hospital shall agree therein that from time to time during the term of such contract it will, upon the order of the Director of Health, receive into said hospital and care for and maintain therein, according to the terms and conditions specified and adopted by said Director, any person who would, under ordinary conditions, be entitled to care and hospitalization in the San Francisco Hospital, the stay in said hospital of said person so received therein to be determined by said Director. All amounts to become due to said hospital, pursuant to said contract, shall be payable monthly upon warrants issued and paid as provided by law.

Section 4. The Director of Health shall have full power and authority to determine the qualifications of any hospital offering to afford hospitalization as provided by this ordinance and no contract shall be entered into with any hospital which does not possess the qualifications provided for by said Director. Endorsing Central Valley Water Project.

The following matter was taken up:

(Code No. 5.32)

Resolution No. 1172, as follows:

Future development of California industry and agriculture is entirely dependent on the future supply of fresh water.

Progress in California can be sure only if we take immediate steps to conserve our available water and power resources, as outlined by the great Central Valley Water Project.

California's present and future development and its prosperity as a great State depends upon conservation of its waters, prevention of dangerous floods in the great Central Valleys and control of the salt water incursion in the rich and fertile areas of the State.

The Central Valley Water Project, vital in every aspect, is California's great opportunity to insure progress and development.

It will mean work for 25,000 people, thus bringing tremendous social benefits to every city and county in California. The Federal Government, if this plan is approved, will advance $170,000,000 to California for this project, thus it will not cost California taxpayers a single dollar. It means that California business will find renewed hope and renewed channels for the future.

The Central Valley Water Project, greater than Boulder Dam, is vital and commands the loyal support of our citizens.

The entire program is of the type most favored by President Roosevelt in his splendid efforts to restore the entire nation to a basis of normal living.

The Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco believe in further development, in progress and in the destiny of California. It believes that the Central Valley Water Project will serve to accomplish these desired objectives and calls upon the patriotic and militant people of California to fight and to work for this tremendous issue which means so much to the future of our great State.

Privilege of the Floor.

Mr. Varley, representing Fred Athern, chairman of a State-wide committee opposed to the Central Valley Water project, was granted the privilege of the floor. He asked that action be postponed in order that the opposition might be given a hearing at next meeting.

He declared that the Central Valley Water scheme was an ill-advised project that had no positive assurance of Federal aid as claimed, that if it failed as a revenue producer it would become a terrible burden on the taxpayers and probably eventually sold to the private power interests.

Geo. Holberton, representing the Central Valley Water project, explained the plan in detail, declared that it was not ill-advised but had been under consideration for eleven years, had received the approval of State Chamber of Commerce, State and Federal engineers, would pay for itself and would not be a burden on the taxpayers.

W. T. Locke and J. T. Comber expressed themselves as in favor of the project.

Edw. Vandeleur, representing San Francisco Labor Council, also addressed the Board, strongly urging the adoption of the resolution.

Adopted.

Whereupon, the foregoing resolution was adopted by the following vote:

Additional Appropriation for Health Department.

The following was read and ordered spread in the Journal:

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH

Central Office, Civic Center

November 28, 1933.

Mr. Alfred J. Cleary, Chief Administrative Officer, City and County of San Francisco.

Dear Mr. Cleary: At a meeting in the Controller's office today it was agreed to recommend that the Department of Public Health be allowed the sum of $53,542 out of the Emergency Fund as an additional appropriation for the following purposes:

The San Francisco Hospital has been caring for a daily average of 1158 patients since July 1, 1933, and cannot care for this number with its present appropriation.

The present budget will allow the caring for of only 1131 patients daily at the rate of the last fiscal year, $2.65 per patient day, and we feel justified in asking for an increase in appropriation to the San Francisco Hospital of $50,000 to care for a daily average of patients—1161 patients at $2.70 per day, the increase in per diem cost being due to increase in costs of supplies.

This $50,000, if appropriated, to be placed to the credit of:

Appropriation 169	$10,000
Appropriation 170	40,000
	$50,000

In preparing our budget estimate for this fiscal year it was intended to close the Potrero Emergency Hospital upon the opening of the Alemany Hospital. This was not done and the Potrero Emergency Hospital has remained open and to continue its being open will require from November 1, 1933, the salary of a surgeon:

Eight months at $200 per month	$1,600
Less 12½ per cent	200
	$1,400

Also it was not intended to maintain a full 24-hour ambulance service at the Alemany Hospital. It is maintained for 16 hours per day and for the full 24-hour service there will be required from December 1, 1933:

One Steward	$165
One Driver	175
Seven months	$340	$2,380
Less 10 per cent		238
		$2,142

This total sum of $3,542 to go to the credit of Appropriation 174-1 or if the salary ordinance is amended to the credit of Appropriation 174.

I trust that you will approve this request and forward it to the Mayor and the Controller for their approval and to the Finance Committee of the Board of Supervisors for appropriate action.

Sincerely,

J. C. GEIGER, M. D.,
Director of Public Health.

Approved:

ALFRED J. CLEARY, Chief Administrative Officer.

ANGELO J. ROSSI, Mayor.

LEONARD S. LEAVY, Controller.

Whereupon, the following bill was presented by Supervisor Miles, who moved its passage as an emergency measure:

Supplemental Appropriation of $53,542 for Additional Hospitalization.

Bill No. ———, Ordinance No. ———, as follows:

Supplemental appropriation of $53,542 out of Appropriation 6 (Emergency Reserve Fund), Fiscal Year 1933-1934 ($50,000 to the credit of San Francisco Hospital, divided $10,000 to the credit of Appropriation 169 and $40,000 to the credit of Appropriation 170, and $3,542 to the credit of Appropriation 174-1), for additional hospitalization required for the dependent sick and dependent poor of the City and County of San Francisco.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco, as follows:

Section 1. There is hereby set aside and appropriated out of Appropriation 6 (Emergency Reserve Fund), Fiscal Year 1933-1934, the sum of $53,542 to the credit of San Francisco Hospital ($10,000 to the credit of Appropriation 169, $40,000 to the credit of Appropriation 170, and $3,542 to the credit of Appropriation 174-1) for additional hospitalization required for the dependent sick and dependent poor of the City and County of San Francisco.

(Approved by the Mayor and the Chief Administrator.)

Thereupon, after discussion as to the elimination of the Potrero Hospital service and 24-hour service at the Alemany Emergency Hospital, the foregoing bill was, on motion of Supervisor Havenner, referred to the Finance Committee.

Authorizing and empowering the Director of Health to obtain hospitalization for persons entitled thereto at the expense of the City and County in privately owned hospitals during periods of emergency and when the normal accommodations of the San Francisco Hospital make it impractical to afford said persons hospitalization in said San Francisco Hospital, and authorizing the Director of Health to make rules and regulations which will govern the conditions under which said persons will be admitted into and maintained and cared for in said privately owned hospitals, and providing the manner in which contracts shall be entered into by the City and County with said privately owned hospitals.

Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco, as follows:

Section 1. Whenever, as a result of unusual increase of the usual number of persons requiring hospital care, due to epidemic, catastrophe, unemployment conditions, or other causes, the normal accommodations of the San Francisco Hospital are insufficient to afford hospitalization and care of those entitled thereto in said hospital, the Director of Public Health may cause contractual agreements to be entered into with any privately owned hospital in the City and County of San Francisco for the hospitalization of those persons who, under ordinary conditions, would be entitled to care and hospitalization in the San Francisco Hospital.

Section 2. The Purchaser of Supplies shall, upon the request of the Director of Health, and after advertising for bids therefor in the manner provided by law, enter into contracts with any privately owned hospital or hospitals for hospital service and care of said above mentioned persons upon such conditions and specifications as shall be prepared and submitted to him by the Director of Public Health, the terms of such contract or contracts to be for such period or periods as the Director of Public Health shall specify, said term, however, not to exceed one year. When the offers or bids of any of said privately owned hospitals shall be the same, the Purchaser may enter into said contracts for said care and hospitalization of said persons with any or all of said hospitals whose bids are the same, provided that before any contract is entered into with any hospital, the Director of Public Health shall certify to the Purchaser of Supplies that said hospital qualifies as to the standards and conditions specified by said Director of Public Health in his specifications submitted to the said Purchaser, and upon which said bids were submitted. No contract shall be entered into unless the Controller shall first certify that the necessary funds are available to meet the amount to become due under said contract, provided that when the amount to become due under any such contract is not determined in advance, then, in that event the Purchaser may approve purchase orders issued by the Director of Public Health covering the possible service to be rendered by the contracting hospital during any particular period of time not exceeding one month.

Section 3. In any contract entered into with any privately owned hospital, said hospital shall agree therein that from time to time during the term of such contract it will, upon the order of the Director of Health, receive into said hospital and care for and maintain therein, according to the terms and conditions specified and adopted by said Director, any person who would, under ordinary conditions, be entitled to care and hospitalization in the San Francisco Hospital, the stay in said hospital of said person so received therein to be determined by said Director. All amounts to become due to said hospital, pursuant to said contract, shall be payable monthly upon warrants issued and paid as provided by law.

Section 4. The Director of Health shall have full power and authority to determine the qualifications of any hospital offering to afford hospitalization as provided by this ordinance and no contract shall be entered into with any hospital which does not possess the qualifications provided for by said Director. And when any hospital shall, during the term of any contract, cease to possess said qualifications, the Director may cancel said contract or refuse to order persons admitted thereto.

Section 5. The Director of Public Health shall also, in advance of advertising for bids for the service provided for in this ordinance, prepare specifications governing the character of care, service and hospitalization which shall be furnished to the persons herein mentioned, and no other service shall be furnished to said persons at the expense of the City and County, except upon written order of the Director of Public Health.

Section 6. The Director of Public Health may at any time cause any person received into any hospital, under any contract entered into by virtue of this ordinance, to be removed therefrom when it is deemed advisable to remove said person to any other hospital, or when, in the opinion of said Director, said person has sufficiently convalesced to be removed from said hospital, and when said Director shall notify any hospital that any patient received therein under any contract has sufficiently convalesced to be removed therefrom, the City shall not be liable for the care or hospitalization of said person after the expiration of forty-eight hours after said notice is given.

Section 7. The Director of Public Health, or his representative, shall at all times have access to any hospital in which the persons mentioned herein are being cared for for the purpose of investigating the character of the care, maintenance and hospitalization being furnished to said persons.

Petition for the Creation of a New Street.

(Code No. 12.08)

Resolution No. 979, as follows:

Whereas, there has been presented to this Board of Supervisors and pending in the Streets Committee of same, a petition asking for the creation of a new street off Wisconsin street, which shall serve as an adequate entrance to the Potrero Playground; which new street, including all costs, is estimated at twelve thousand ($12,000) dollars; and

Whereas, the Board of Playground Directors and the Park Commission both have replied that they are without sufficient funds to construct same; and the property owners adjacent to the playground, while desirous of said street, have as yet expressed no willingness to pay any of the costs thereof; and

Whereas, it has been a well established policy of this Board to (in cases where property owners are unable to bear the whole cost) assist financially on the basis of 50 per cent property owners and 50 per cent from City funds; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Streets Committee is requested to hold a meeting of all assessable property owners, representatives of improvement clubs, the City Engineer and such others as may be qualified, and at said meeting the following suggestion be considered, i. e.:

1. That the City of San Francisco will purchase a right of way of sufficient length and width to provide a new street at a point recommended by the Director of Works.
2. That the City will construct a temporary roadway thereon as an entrance to said Potrero Playground.

SPECIAL ORDER—3 P. M.

Disposal of Garbage.

December 11, 1933—On motion of Supervisor Spaulding, the proposition of John P. Holland and any other proposition for the disposal of garbage was made a Special Order of Business for 3 p. m. this day.

City Administrator requested to have report on subject matter for this hearing.

Report of Chief Administrative Officer.

The following was presented and read by the Clerk:

December 18, 1933.

To the Honorable, the Board of Supervisors, City and County of San Francisco, City Hall, San Francisco.

Gentlemen: In response to motion by Supervisor Spaulding, duly carried by your Board at its meeting on Monday, December 11th, allow me to report as follows:

Garbage has been disposed of at Bayshore by the fill and cover method since September, 1932.

There has been no valid cause for complaint with the exception of a short period when the contractor was moving the railroad tracks to a new location, and during this interim, it was impossible to complete the sanitary fill as rapidly as garbage was deposited each day.

You are respectfully referred to my recommendation under date of April 24, 1933, recommending a sanitary fill on the marsh land owned by the City and County of San Francisco to the east of and immediately adjacent to Mills Field in San Mateo County.

Application has been made by the Chief Administrative Officer and the Manager of Public Utilities to the Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County under date of October 9, 1933, for a permit to make a sanitary fill on these lands. To date, the Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County have taken no action on the application.

I am advised by the City Attorney's Office that the City and County of San Francisco has the legal right to fill its own property above referred to and to dispose of its garbage there by the sanitary fill process, provided that no nuisance attaches to the operation.

This City's right to make a sanitary fill at Bayshore on the lands of the Southern Pacific Railroad was contested by the Bayshore Sanitary District, and the Superior Court, after full examination of the facts in question, found that the City had the right to fill private property in the manner specified and that no nuisance attached thereto. Herewith I am transmitting a copy of the Court's ruling.

In view of these facts, I recommend that your Honorable Board declare as its policy the disposition of San Francisco's garbage by sanitary fill on the marsh lands owned by the City and County of San Francisco, to the east of and immediately adjacent to Mills Field in San Mateo County.

I recommend that the City Engineer, the Director of Public Health, and the Manager of Utilities, be instructed to prepare specifications for such a sanitary garbage fill, and that the final condition on the filled lands be suited to the purposes of the San Francisco Airport.

I also recommend, in the event the Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County refuse or neglect to grant the requested permit, that your Honorable Board grant a revocable permit on a day to day basis for the disposition of San Francisco's garbage under specifications to be prepared as above mentioned, and that immediately after the contractor commences work, a suit be filed and pressed to its earliest possible conclusion; so that we may establish the right of San Francisco to dispose of its own garbage upon its own property in San Mateo County.

I further recommend that your Honorable Board expresses its policy that after such suit shall have been satisfactorily concluded a contract be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder for disposing of the City's garbage under these specifications for a contract period of ten (10) years, and that the communities of San Mateo County that wish to avail themselves of the right to utilize the same filling place for the purpose of disposing of their own garbage be permitted to do so under an equitable agreement.

Respectfully submitted,

ALFRED J. CLEARY,
Chief Administrative Officer.

Privilege of the Floor.

Chief Administrator Cleary was heard at length:

He referred to the bond issue of $286,000 for the construction of runways at the San Francisco Municipal Airport and the use of a garbage fill for that purpose. This, he said, was favored by the Manager of the Airport and the Manager of the Public Utilties Commission, and will create land for runways that will convert Mills Field into a class A airport. He referred to the application made to San Mateo County to dump garbage for the purpose and to the delay of its Board of Supervisors to act on the application. If the Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County, he said, does not act on this application, San Francisco should put the matter right before the courts. It would be undesirable, he said, to award contracts for garbage fill and cover over an extended period of time before these rights are satisfactorily determined. We can have the specifications ready, then, in a period of three weeks we can ask for competitive bids and award contracts to the lowest responsible bidder for the disposal of garbage in accordance with plans, etc., of the Manager of Public Utilities Commission.

Garbage Disposal.

Motion.

Supervisor Gallagher moved that the Engineering Department be requested to draw specifications for garbage disposal by the fill and cover method, to be presented to this Board of Supervisors when completed.

Amendment.

Supervisor Hayden moved to amend as follows: That the report of the Chief Administrative Officer and the motion made by Supervisor Gallagher be referred to the Health Committee and said committee make report thereon at the next meeting of the Board. (Health Committee agreed to meet Wednesday at 2 p. m.)

City Attorney to Represent San Francisco in Rate Litigation.

The following was presented and read by the Clerk:

December 26, 1933.

The Honorable Board of Supervisors, City Hall, San Francisco, Calif.

Gentlemen: Recently there has been terminated a lengthy proceeding before the Railroad Commission of the State of California in which gas rates charged by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company were under investigation.

This office represented the city in all of the numerous hearings held, and a judgment of the Commission was rendered in which the majority of the consumers in San Francisco received substantial reductions for rates charged in serving natural gas. We contended for lower rates than were actually put into effect by the Railroad Commission, but nevertheless, as above stated, the decision will result in substantial savings when placed in effect. In addition, the proposed rates were to be retroactive, and subscribers will receive refunds on their bills from July 16, 1933.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company has filed proceedings in the United States District Court to enjoin the Railroad Commission from putting into effect the new rates. The Court in its discretion may permit the city to intervene in the case and assist in an endeavor to have the lower rates put into effect.

You are respectfully requested to advise me if you desire this office to intervene in the proceedings in the United States District Court. In the event you do, the enclosed form of resolution should be passed.

Yours truly,

JNO. J. O'TOOLE, City Attorney.

Whereupon, the following resolution was adopted.

(Code No. 6.023)

Resolution No. 1211, as follows:

Resolved, That the City Attorney is hereby directed to appear in behalf of the City and County in those certain proceedings now pending in the District Court of the United States, wherein the Pacific Gas and Electric Company has endeavored to restrain the taking effect of rates fixed by the Railroad Commission ordered to be charged by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for natural gas.

Whereas, the California State Park Commissioners, in conjunction with the County of Sonoma, contemplate the establishment of Bodega Bay Park, on Bodega Bay; and

Whereas, the people of San Francisco and the Bay cities are entitled to the public recreational facilities afforded by an Ocean Shore Park and the establishment of the Bodega Bay Park would be easily accessible to the people of the Bay Region, and more particularly the residents of San Francisco; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, that the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco does hereby endorse the Bodega Bay Park project, and respectfully requests its establishment by the Board of California State Park Commissioners.

Appropriation for Interest on $1,000,000 Note to State of California.

The following was presented and read by the Clerk:

December 26, 1933.

The Honorable the Board of Supervisors, City and County of San Francisco.

Gentlemen: Please refer to my letter of November 23, 1933, relating to interest and redemption of the one million dollar loan received by the City and County of San Francisco from the State of California under the provisions of the California Unemployment Relief Bond Act of 1933.

On page two thereof:

"Irrespective as to whether the Board will endeavor to arrange a new contract, thereafter agreeing to place $100,000 in the budget for the ensuing fiscal year as the first payment of principal, it will be necessary as at January 1, 1934, to make the first interest payment as shown in the tabulations, viz: $5,491.57.

"It is therefore suggested that the Mayor be requested to approve an appropriation in this amount."

The City Attorney has prepared the proper ordinance for the necessary appropriation and it is requested that this be passed as an emergency ordinance this day in order that the moneys will be available to the State of California as at January 1, 1934.

Yours very truly,
